FROM DAILY OF THURSDAY.

BEFORE JUSTICE SMITH.—The examination of Chas. Palmer, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon H. Williamson, commenced yesterday morning, was adjourned until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The case of Libbie Reinheimer vs. H. C. Vining & Co., claim for $99 for work performed, has been before Justice Smith for the past few days. It will probably be finishee to-morrow. This is a case in which a wife sues a firm of which her husband is a member, for wages due her for services rendered the firm.

CITY OF PANAMA.—The steamship City of Panama was detained in San Francisco one day longer than the schedule time allowed. To make up for her detention, she will come only as far as Seattle, sending the Tacoma freight and passengers up in one of the Sound steamers. By so doing, she can make her stay on the Sound shorter and resume her regular schedule time.

☞ The total amount realized by the sale of the wreck of the bark Windward, with its tackle, etc., amounted to $5,200, on amount considerably in excess of expectations. Everything will be turned over to the purchasers this afternoon.

AUCTION.—The remainder of the tackle and furniture of the bark Windward was sold on the wharf this morning, everything bringing fair prices. The bidding on some lots was very prices. The things were bought up principally by junk dealers and seafaring men.

DETAINED.—The North Pacific was detained by fog and consequently did not get down until 9 o'clock this morning.

LEFT.—Mr. Wildman, owner of "Vanity Fair," has suspended operations here for a time and gone over to Newcastle.

☞ We call attention to the ad. of Pinkham & Saxe, to be found in another column. They are selling off their stock of hats and clothing so as to make improvements in their store for a large stock of Spring goods.

☞ The steamer Yakima came over from Port Gamble this morning after a load of vegetables for that place.

☞ The funeral of John Cousins, who died suddenly on Monday night, took place yesterday afternoon.

☞ Ten per cent. above cost for hats and clothing at Pinkham & Saxe's for 60 days. *

FROM DAILY OF FRIDAY

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.—A number of gentlemen have interested themselves in the project of getting up a Centennial celebration here. They are confident that a large enough sum can be obtained to get up a first-class celebration, such a one as will bring into town everybody from the surrounding milling towns. They propose to start in at once, and do not think that six months is any too long a time for the preparations for such a celebration.

RETURNING. — Mr. L. Wolff, formerly engaged in the dry-goods and clothing business in this city, and who moved his store to Tacoma at the time of the terminus excitement, is going to return to this city. He has engaged the building formerly occupied by the county officers and will move his stock of goods down as soon as the building is ready for him.

☞ A new building which is being put up in the Chinese quarter, was saluted this afternoon, by the Chinese in the neighborhood, with the letting off of a dozen or two packs of fire-crackers, according to the custom of their country.

☞ Pinkham & Saxe are selling off Hats and Clothing at 10 per cent. above cost, for cash. *

CREAM CAKES. — Piper has commenced making those delicious cream cakes, for which he is celebrated. They can be had from him in any quantity, on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

MARRIED.—In this city, on the evening of the 13th inst., by Rev. A. Atwood, Capt. Matson, of the bark Harvest Home, to Miss Charlotte Nilson. The vessels in the harbor were decorated with flags in honor of the event, and many were the congratulations tendered the Captain.

THE OLD FOLKS CONCERT.—The Old Folks intend giving a series of concerts for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church, commencing a week from Monday. Quite a number of the amateur vocalists of the city are to take part in them.

☞ The last and largest of the three safes belonging to the county was finally hoisted up to its position in the Auditor's office, in the second story of the new bank this morning. The contract for moving the safes was let for $125 in county scrip.

SUITS COMMENCED.—Four attachment suits and one suit for the recovery of personal property were commenced yesterday before Justice Scott. The papers were served to-day.

☞ The spars for the new barkentine building at Bell Town are to come from up the river, probably from John Burns' logging camp.

BEFORE JUSTICE SMITH.—The trial of Chas. Palmer, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was concluded this afternoon. After hearing the arguments of counsel, the Court found him guilty of assault and battery and fined him $25 and costs. The point on which the difference between a simple assault and an assault with a deadly weapon, seemed to turn, was whether in threatening complaining witness with a pistol, the defendant had any intent to inflict bodily injury, which the evidence failed to prove, so he was found guilty of the lesser offence. Andrews for the defence; Young for the Territory.

LIGHT MAIL.—The North Pacific last night brought back from down-Sound one of the lightest mails ever received from that direction. The whole mail consisted of half a dozen letters from Port Madison and about the same number of papers from Victoria.

GRAIN FOR OLYMPIA. — The steamer Libby, after her return from Whatcom, went down to Coupeville after a load of grain for Olympia. She will probably be back here this evening.

DIED.—On the 13 inst, Willie W. Ballard, eldest son of W. G. and Mary E. Ballard, aged 11 years, 1 mo. and 2 days. Funeral at M. E. Church to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

☞ The steamer Alida came down from Olympia last night, bringing down a quantity of freight, including several cords of cottonwood bolts.

☞ Carl Bosco, the illusionist, has entered into an engagement as business manager with the celebrated Prof. Herrmann.

☞ The steamer Colfax was here to-day.

☞ A Detroiter got home at midnight the other night with a black eye and a boozy step, and as his wife met him at the head of the stairs she exclaimed:

"Why, you've been fighting!"

"Yes'm," he meekly replied, as he leaned on the rail.

"And some one has blacked one of your eyes!" she continued, as the tears came.

"Don' cry, zharling," he said, in a coaxing voice, as he put his hand on her head; "'f hadn't had a chance to run, he'd have blacked both of 'em!"—Detroit Free Press.

ARREST OF STAGE ROBBERS.—On last Wednesday afternoon, Sheriff Thorn of Calaveras, Detective Hume of San Francisco, J. W. Surface of Ione City, and Deputy Sheriff Ross of this place, made a descent upon a cabin situated on Jackson creek, about three miles below town, for the purpose of arresting a gang of highwaymen who have been plying their vocation on quite an extensive scale in the way of robbing stages, etc., in Calaveras county and other counties for the past year or more. It had been previously ascertained by Sheriff Thorn that three of the gang had been making their headquarters in the cabin above referred to, whereupon he obtained the assistance of Detective Hume and the other gentlemen mentioned for the purpose of making the arrest, correctly anticipating that some trouble would be encountered in capturing them. The officers approached the cabin as cautiously as possible; but one of the robbers, who had caught sight of them before they got into the cabin, jumped through a back window, and made a hasty retreat to the chapparel near by. Upon seeing him Deputy Sheriff Ross started in pursuit of the fugitive, when the highwayman turned upon and fired a shot at him from a large six-shooter, but the shot did not take effect, and the highwayman continued his journey to the chapparel. Ross immediately returned the shot with his pistol, but missed his aim also, and the highwayman made his escape. Meanwhile the other officers had entered the cabin and captured the two remaining robbers, both of whom are Austrians. After "going through" the cabin and discovering a quantity of arms and ammunition, a large supply of provisions, and a number of crucibles and other suspicious-looking implements, which were evidently used for the purpose of melting up and otherwise rendering gold and silver bars unrecognizable, the prisoners were brought to town and safely lodged in jail. The officers are still in pursuit of the escaped highwayman, and feel confident they will soon succeed in capturing him. Sheriff Thorn has been busily engaged for several months in ferreting out this notorious gang, and he thinks that there are now only three of them at large, as one or two of them were arrested at Auburn at the same time that the arrest was made here, on the authority of a dispatch sent to the officers of that county, and another having been arrested in Calaveras county As to the guilt of the parties arrested here last Wednesday there can scarcely be a doubt, as Sheriff Thorn says he is already in possession of sufficient evidence to convict them.—Amador Dispatch.

CHARLES KINGSLEY AND THE BOYS.—His sympathy with the sports of boys was naturally strong and keen. One morning, he told me that some of his land in Hampshire was within reach of the boys of Wellington college, when they were abroad engaged in paper chases. "Young rascals," he said, "they play the mischief with my fences, too. One day, a great gap was pointed out to me in one of my fences, and I was told that it was made by those young fellows. So I got wind of their next paper chase in my direction, and I went out to read my friends a lesson respecting the property of their neighbors. Sure enough, before long I saw the 'hares' coming straight toward me and my gap, and I prepared to meet them. But when they were close upon me, the excitement of the chase, which had been for some moments coming over me, got the better of my resolution; and if I did not throw down my stick and tear off with them as fast as my legs would carry me! In a hundred yards or so, I was dead beat, and when the pack came, a minute or two later, and set to work to break down my fence worse than ever, I had not the breath in me to remonstrate with them, even if I had had the inclination."—Good Words.

PRINTING OFFICE SECRETS. — The Brunswick Telegraph says that a properly conducted printing office is as much a secret society as a Masonic Lodge. The printers are not under an oath of secresy but always feel themselves as truly in honor bound to keep secrets as though they had been put through triple oaths. Any employee in a printing office who willingly disregards this rule in regard to printing office secrets, would not only be scorned by the brethren of the craft, but would lose his position in the office at once. We make this statement because it sometimes happens that a communication appears in a newspaper under an assumed signature which excites comment, and various parties try to find out who is the author. Let all be saved the trouble of questioning the employees or attachees of the printing office. They are "know-nothings" on such points as these. On such matters they "have eyes and ears, but no mouth," and if they fail to observe this rule, let them be put down as dishonorable members of the craft.

A MAN OF DISTINCTION.—While the delegates from Mississippi were enroute to the National Railroad Convention at St. Louis, a little scene occurred in a sleeping car worthy of being noted. Walking into the sleeping-coach at Milan, one of the Mississippi delegates, stretching himself to his full height, demanded in thunder tones of the conductor:

"Which is my berth, sir?"

"I don't know that you have one," replied the conducter.

"What sir?" answered the Mississippian indignantly, "Didn't my Secretary arrange this matter?"

The conductor looked a little puzzled.

Do you treat men of distinction as if they were commoners? Do you know who I am sir?"

The puzzled conductor answered that he did not.

"Well, sir," continued the Mississippian with lofty air and blustering tone, "I require extra attention when I travel. I'm a man of distinction."

The conductor drew his tablet from his pocket and began to scan it closely in the hope of finding this distinguished gentlemen's cognomon, or else to place it there, and it was with something of a tremor that he inquired:

"What might be your name, sir?"

"My name? Gen. Beauregard, sir."

A modest, unassuming gentleman sitting within an arm's length of the tall, bony Mississippian, looked somewhat curiously into his face and smiled. A moment later a Louisiana delegate called out, "Gen. Beauregard," and the Mississippian was about to answer, when the quiet and unassuming Frenchman arose from his seat and passed out of the car. As the Mississippian recognized the features of Gen. Beauregard, he slipped away into a retired corner and declared that he was henceforth only a private citizen with no more lofty tide than that of plain doctor.—Vicksburg Herald.

☞ To-day I saw old General Sutter, on whose land gold was first discovered in California, stepping out of a car on the avenue. A more pitiable instance of great old age, uncompensated and neglected, I never knew. It was in his mill-race near Sacramento the precious gold dust was first seen by Americans. He is a native of Switzerland, but went to the Sandwitch Islands to cultivate oranges, and thence to the Pacific coast of America, where he took a large tract of land under a Mexican grant, with the hope that the United States would, some day, stretch out to him. But it came, like Jupiter to Danæ, in a golden shower, and the rush of miners trampled over his fields, killed his herds and made desolation in place of the fair estate they had found. From that discovery came the most enormous tribute Nature ever paid to man. The present year's yield of gold in California cannot be less than $100,000,000 in specie, and while this immense runnel of wealth has been flowing for more than a quarter of a century and great merchants and bankers have been made by its possession, poor old Sutter, on the brink of the grave, is unable to find an ear in which he can tell his story. He is now more than 80 years of age, and lives in a little cottage at Litiz, Pa., where he is educating his grandchildren at a German school. The whole world has been exercised by Ralston's fate and Flood & O'Brien's fortunes; yet here is the man at the source of this mighty romance with scarcely a place to lay his head. He is a kindly, gentle old person, but he has passed his age. Some morning during the session there will be an announcement of his death, and then perhaps Congress will give the tardy stint of its generosity to "the golden farmer." He has a claim for damage here.—Washington Letter.

☞ Some boys, while hunting rabbits in a village near Philadelphia, the other day came across a box containing $40,000 in bank-notes, hidden near the edge of a river. The notes were issued by the Shenandoah Valley Bank of Virginia, and some of them were unsigned. They had evidently been stolen before the breaking out of the rebellion, and hidden in the place where the boys found them.

DUEL IN A BEDROOM.—The body of Joseph Goldman, the Polish Jew, who was shot by his ex-partner on election day, still lay yesterday where it had fallen, in the top room at 106 Delancey street. The rooms underneath are occupied by a family named Wideman. One of the girls was alone in her room at about 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and heard a violent struggle overhead, and immediately thereafter a number of pistol shots fired in such rapid succession that she could not count them. A heavy fall followed, and, supposing that the stove had been overthrown in the scuffle, she ran from her room shrieking fire. The occupants of the adjoining rooms quickly congregated on the landing. They, too had heard the pistol shots. A hand-to-hand struggle was evidently still in progress above when David Parison, the tenant of the room, entered the house. He went up stairs and found his door bolted, and the sounds within were those of a death struggle. He ran down stairs and went out, as he said, to summon policemen. Just as he went out the last shot was fired and another fall was heard. Then all was still, and a minute afterward John Beckel, the owner of the house, entered. When Officer Henkin arrived he heard many conflicting stories, and a score of terrified men and women followed him up stairs. He forced the door, but was prevented from opening it entirely by what proved to be the body of Davis Jeroslaw lying behind it. He was still breathing slightly, and he had a small bullet hole on the side of his right temple. Goldman's body lay face upward at the other side of the room, but the apartment was so small that the bodies were not four feet apart. One bullet had entered close to the right ear, and another had penetrated the right temple. He was almost dead. A small seven barrel revolver was clutched in his stiffening fingers, and a weapon precisely similar was lying by Jeroslaw's side. Four of the chambers were empty and Goldman's pistol seemed to have been fired twice. The plaster had been knocked from the ceiling in two places by the bullets, and a broken pane showed where a third ball, and perhaps others, had passed through the window.—New York Sun.

Telegraphic

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A Special from Cairo, says there have been important Egyptian successes in Abysinia.

In the Harvest Queen case, the testimony is a little conflicting. The best opinion acquits the Adriatic and agrees that the course of the sail vesssel with which the steamer collided, was very erratic and that the Adriatic did the best possible to avoid and was backing when the sailer touched her bow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 15.—It is semi-officially announced that the Porte has ceased its endeavors to avoid receiving representatives from the European powers, respecting the introduction of reforms in Turkey. The Prussian and Austrian Embassadors at Constantinople have assumed a decided tone on this subject thus demonstrating the complete harmony of the two powers in their attitude to the Porte.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—Sir John W. Glover, the newly appointed Governor of New Foundland, has arrived here for the purpose of settling the difference between England and France in regard to the New Foundland fisheries. It is believed that he is authorized to purchase the relinquishment by France of her privileges for a considerable sum in money.

MADRID, Jan. 15.—The Vatican has approved the appointment of Cardinas as embassador to that court. The Carlist commanders are endeavoring to induce their partisans to renew the campaign in Catalonia, but their efforts meet with small success.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Madrid special reports that the Spanish Government has sent out a diplomatic note in reply to the American circular on Cuban Affairs. The reply is quite belligerent in tone and takes high ground on all the questions raised by the United States. The note declares that the commerce between Cuba and the United States, has not suffered to any appreciable extent by the insurrection; instead of having been diminished it has in reality been increasing, and is constantly increasing; so the United States Government had no occasion for complaint and no tenable ground for its proposed action or interference in the affairs or troubles existing in Cuba. That the territory of the United States is a constant refuge for Cuban outlaws who are permitted to hatch conspiracies to the detriment and injury of the Spanish Government. In this, the laws of nations are outraged. All just and equitable claims between the United States and Cuba have been amicably and fully satisfied or are in the course of adjustment.

The Spanish note is believed to be the work of Senor Jovellar.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A special from Vienna says the Austrian Foreign Office are confident that England will assent to Count Andrassy's note.

Lord Derby recently expressed his dissatisfaction to the Austrian Embassador because England had not been asked to assist in drawing proposals for reforms in Turkey instead of being merely requested to endorse them.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 15.—The report of the proposed sale of St. Thomas to Germany is contradiced.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 15.—The Powers have relinquished their intention of making a collective communication to the Porte on the basis of Count Andrassy's scheme for reform in the disaffected provinces. The Embassadors now confine themselves to oral and friendly communications of counsel and proposition to which the Porte is disposed to listen.

VIENNA, Jan. 16.—Count Andrassy's note mentions several reforms as urgent. Of these the most important are the establishment of the equality of all religious denominations; alteration of the system of taxation and changes in the administration of justice especially, and in the acceptance of the evidence of Christians in the Courts.

LONDON, Jan. 16.- A Vienna telegram to the Daily News states that the British Vice Consul in Crete has received numerous intimations from influential inhabitants that they are in favor of the annexation of the Island by Great Britain.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.-Immediately after the sermon this morning the Plymouth Church committee to make arrangements for the advisory Council, met and decided to invite all the churches to take part in the mutual council, except those of Storrs and Buddington, which are considered hostile.

Gold closed at 113.

Jan. 16.—The attempt to call a congregational council for the purpose of deciding the question as to the right of Plymouth Church to drop from its list of membership the name of Mrs. Moulton, has finally failed.

In arranging the list for the council the names of Dr. Storrs and Dr. Buddington were included among other clergymen. The committee of Plymouth Church entered a protest against their serving, on the ground that they were partial and had enmity against the Church. When some of the other churches heard that Dr. Storrs and Dr. Buddington's churches would be left out, they also declined to serve and the calling of the council was abandoned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—A number of cases have been unearthed in the city, of divorces procured by fraudulent representations, the parties, defendants, being out of the State. It is believed to be the work of a certain divorce bureau, which has done considerable advertising lately.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Washington special dispatch gives a rumor that ex-Governor Morgan of New York has a letter in his possession from Gen. Grant, in which the President, in direct, explicit language declares himself opposed to a third term, and asserts, positively, that he will refuse nomination. The correspondent however says, it is impossible to trace the rumor to any authentic source.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—The Times' Washington special says, rumors of war are again revived with ten fold intensity by pretty well authenticated persons.—That the last response to the famous American note, which was sent some weeks ago to foreign governments has been received, and the purport of these responses is not known, but as most of the European governments have given their adhesion to Monroe doctrine, it is hardly probable that there will be any very serious objection to whatever propositions Mr. Fish may have at Grant's dictation made to outside powers. Its confirmed opinion of certain well informed classes based upon observation, and from conclusions drawn from open and continuous preparations on part of the navy department, that war is meditated if intervention in Cuban affairs or recognition of the belligerents is pushed. The old story of Grant's purpose to keep himself the center figure of national necessity has been revived with the announcement of the proposed interference. Sharp eyes have been watching navy expendures, and distrustful patriots have been condensing the genesal war outlay of the past 3 or 4 months; the signs supplementing Grant's unmistakable language in his message are held to mean a determination to push through the Cuban question. Even though war be the immediate result. So soon as a cabinet council shall have been held on the texts of the notes received from foreign governments, a special message will be drawn up as intimated in the President's previous document, and congress invited to consider the propriety of at once interfering in the Cuban difficulty.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Post Office established at Friday Harbor, San Juan county, W. T.; John Taylor Postmaster.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 17.—The Prince of Wales has left Delhi for Lahore and Cashmere. The Rajah of Cashmere is preparing a magnificent reception.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The Times in an editorial urging adhesion to Count Andrassy's note, says the Sublime Porte was never in so critical a state. If the opportunity Count Andrassy's note now offers is not improved, the powers will be forced to apply rougher methods to wider area. England may be able to determine whether the occasion shall be seized or not. She stands therefore, in a position of peculiar responsibility. The Times' Berlin special says the government will close the Ursaline Convent school on the first of April next.

Dilworth & Sons' Cotton mills at Manchester have been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at £600,000.

Jan. 18.—A dispatch from Vienna asserts that Montenegro has purchased 15,000 muskets, that the bargain was made through a Russian agent, and the arms paid for with Russian money.

BERLIN, Jan. 17.—The preparations for a grand display at the Philadelphia Exhibition have been completed except the appointments of the members of the German jury and the completion of the catalogue.

PARIS, Jan. 17.—A Grand Electoral Committee of the Conservative Union, has been formed under the presidency Gen. Chargarnier. It appeals to all who support the manifesto issued by President MacMahon.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Gold closed at 13 @ 13⅛.

It is rumored that negotiations are progressing for a new contract between the Pacific Mail and Panama R.R., with prospects of success, and that those for refunding to the former Company the amount expended by Stockwell, while the subsidy bill was pending, are on the eve of completion.

The following is a letter of General Beauregad, applying for the removal of his political disabilities:

NEW ORLEANS, Jan, 9.

DEAR GENERAL: My friends here, believing that I can be of service to the State of Louisiana, by becoming a member of the proposed Levee Board of Commissioners, have expressed a desire that I should apply to have my legal disabilities removed, in order that there should be no doubt of my ability to hold a State appointment. I beg you, therefore, that you will present to Congress my application for the removal of my disabilities. Yours.

(Signed.) G. T. BEAUREGARD.

To Gen. G. B. Gordon, U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C.

Secretary Fish was before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, by invitation, and in general terms informed the Committee of the present condition of the Cuban question. He did not specially state the terms of the circular recently addressed to foreign nations on that subject, but intimated that it merely asked their moral support in the event of the mediation or the intervention of the United States and alluding to the recent telegram from Madrid, he said he did not regard its tone as unfriendly. As to the negotiations now in progress, they were conducted in a conciliatory manner, on both sides, and certainly without threats on the part of the United States.

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, received a letter from Augustus Schell, saying: "We will issue a call to-morrow for the Democratic National Committee to meet at Washington on the 22d of February, to fix the place and time for holding the convention for nominating candidates for President and Vice President.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—Flood & O'Brien have in contemplation a monster exhibit for the Centennial exhibition of the entire gold and silver product of the Con. Virginia and California mines for the month of May. A strong force of men equal to the task of taking out ore sufficient to yield $10,000,000 will be put on and by means of arrangement with Sharon and other mills, the ore will be reduced. It is rumored that is the intention of O'Brien to dispose of it to the Government, taking one-half in cash and the remaining half in bonds.

CINCINNATTI, O., Jan. 17.—Edward Richardson, a prominent citizen of Massilon, Ohio, and a member of the city council, was shot and instantly killed yesterday by his wife. She states the act was committed in self-defense, as her husband was appraaching her to cut her throat with a razor. It is thought to have been a premeditated affair. The coroner's verdict has been that Richardson came to nis death by a pistol shot fired by his wife, Emily Richardson.

The Memphis Appeal says: "Thursday night a body of disguised men took four negroes from the jail at Friar's Point, Miss., and shot them to death. The mob reached town soon after dark and compelled the jailer to surrender the jail keys, which were in the court house safe. The mob then entered the jail and unlocked the cells in which were confined four desperate negroes—Jim Stokes, Bob Young, Carey Irwin and Tom Pugh. The prisoners were quickly tied and taken a mile from town and riddled with bullets. There were fifty or sixty men in the mob, half of them being negroes. The men were quite hasty yet sure in their work, and as soon as they had tied the prisoners they hurried them out on the Sheriff Ridge road, where they were riddled with bullets and left. Jim Stokes, one of the negroes murdered, burned a gin belonging to Mr. Branch on the night of January 7th, having six weeks before robbed a man on the road. Bob Young was thought to have been engaged with Stokes in a number of robberies, and had stabbed a man in an effort to kill him. Pugh was guilty of arson and robbery, and had burned Capt. Howard's gin and stables, thirteen horses and mules being burned in the stables.

☞ It is just as easy to build a stack of wheat as to load a wagon. While building the butt of the stack the heart must be kept full. When you begin to take it in keep it fuller, so that the stack will never take rain. If the heart is not kept full it is very easy to build a stack that looks well, but it will not save. I have built hundreds of stacks, and never had one apoil, while some of my neighbors who have much nicer looking stacks always have more or less spoiled wheat.

☞ On a fishing and shooting expedition some very strange stories were told in the evenings. Shots are made and fishing feats are performed after dinner occasionally of a kind seldom known at other times. On the occasion referred to, the romancing had been extraordinary. A canny Scotchman in the corner was at length poked up to know if he ever heard anything as wonderful as the story last related, which referred to the abundance of fish in an English river. "No," said he, "unless it was years ago when I was fishing in the Highlands, near Loch Awe. The first thing I saw in the mornin' when I looked out o' ma bedroom window was a salmon—I'll warrant he was fifty pounds weight—so tame that he was gaun picken about the yard wi' the hens."

SUDDEN ATTACHMENT.—It is related of Curran, the famous Irish orator and wit, that he was one evening sitting in a box at the French Opera, between an Irish noblewoman, whom he had accompanied there, and a very young French lady. The ladies soon manifested a strong desire to converse, but neither of them knew a word of the other's language. Curran, of course, volunteered to interpret, or in his own words, "to be the carrier of their thoughts, and accountable for their safe delivery." They went at it at once, with all the ardor and zest of the Irish and French nature combined; but their interpreter took the liberty of substituting his own thoughts for theirs, and instead of remarks upon the dresses and the play he introduced so many finely-turned compliments that the two ladies soon became completely fascinated with each other. At last, their enthusiasm becoming sufficiently great, the wily interpreter, in conveying some innocent questions from his countrywoman, asked the French lady "If she would favor her with a kiss." Instantly springing across the orator, she imprinted a kiss on each cheek of the Irish lady, who was amazed at her sudden attack, and often afterwards asked Mr. Curran, "What in the world could that French girl have ment by such conduct in such a place?" He never revealed the secret, and the Irish lady always thought French girls were very ardent and sudden in their attachments.

TEACHING CHILDREN COURAGE.—Courage is a vital element of Christian chivalry. Without it, indeed, neither truth nor fidelity to promise can be hoped for. The coward is sure to be afraid when truth means punishment, and sure to retreat from his engagements when they involve peril. We need valiant souls that have learned to endure and scorn pain, and to face danger fearlessly and promptly when duty requires. Some parents evade this vital part of training by glosses and deception. A mother who has taken her boy to the dentists to get a tooth out will often say, if he is shrinking, "Sit still, my boy, it won't hurt you." Now she knows it will hurt him, but thinks if she can only get him by this device to set still and let the dentist get hold of the tooth, then his discovery of the pain will not hinder its extraction. This is a double mistake. It destroys her boy's confidence in her; for he detects her in a lie. And though it gets the boy this time to sit still, it is under the delusion that there is to be no pain, whereas he should be taught to face the pain and scorn it. This makes the difference between cowards and heroes. A regiment of poltroons could march up to a battery as cheerfully as a regiment of heroes, if they thought there was no enemy at the guns. The difference is, that heroes know the danger and yet face it valiantly.

CÆSAR SMITH AS A FINANCIER.—The "man and brother" is arriving, though by slow degrees, at the technical securities. With him, as with his less deeply frescoed fellow-citizen, absolute security for the capital invested is of higher moment than large interest.—Thus it was with Mr. Cæsar Smith, who applied recently to his neighbor, Mr. Thompson, for a little advice.

"Mr. Thompson," asked Mr. Smith, "would you lend Cuff Jones forty dollars if you was me?"

"What security can he offer?"

"A morgidge,"

"A mortgage? Why, what has he got to mortgage?"

"Dat's what bodders me, Mr. Thompson. I know he don't own nuffin but de duds on his back."

"Well, then, how can he give you a mortgage?"

"Dat's de queshun, Mr. Thompson. No, he can't do it, and I's made up my mind, dat he cant have de money unless he gives me note of hand."

YOUNG LIONS NURSED BY A TERRIER.—Carefully caged in the dimly-lighted lower regions of the Central Park Museum are two young lion cubs. They are three weeks old, a pair, lion and lioness, fine, healthy little creatures, and in two weeks more will be old enough to be shown to the public. They are the progeny of the pair of beasts known as Lincoln and Jenny, in the museum. But the mother being, from confinement or some other cause, unable to nurse them, they were at once given to a large terrier whose puppies were taken away, and who plays the part of a foster-mother. She seems, indeed, as fond of the cubs as if they were her own offspring, and covers with caresses, though they are already half as big as she is. It is a curious fact that lions raised in captivity are not as gentle as those captured and tamed. The parents of these cubs, which were caught when wild, and tamed, are very tractable, while some of the other lions which were born and brought up here are sullen and ferocious.—New York Times.

A BLAMED MONOPOLY.—An honest old Granger recently approached the affable young man who adorns the general delivery window of the post office at Atlanta, and asked—

"Is there any letter for the Griggers here?"

The young man shuffled through the "G's" deck and said—

"No, sir!"

"Any for the Stebbiness?"

The young man counted the "S" deck and said—

"No, sir!"

"Well, any for the Bunces?" and the old man put on his specks to see for himself.

The young man fanned the "B's" out, and again said—

"No, sir!"

"Then, dang it, young man, is there any letters for the Middlebrookses?" and the old man emptied some peanut-shells out of his pocket to make room for the letters.

The young man slung the "M's" faster than a tramp printer in a country newspaper shop, and wearily said—

"No, sir!"

"Then, who in thunder is all them thar letters and pigeon-holes fur, anyhow, by gum?" ripped out the indignant old man; and before the young man had time to reply, the old Granger was shuffling down the street, swearing that "this here post office is a blamed mernopoly, like everything else these days!"

Lee's war-horse Traveler, for the museum of Washinton and Lee University at Lexington Va.

IN THE PROBATE COURT.—In the Probate Court this morning, in the matter of the estate of J. D. Clossen, deceased. After hearing the closing arguments of counsel, the Court rendered a decision revoking the letters testamentary of J. T. Kenworthy, executor, on the ground of his having wasted and mismanaged the estate. The decision recited that he had sold the property on ten months' time, without interest, without having been sufficiently authorized to do so by the devisee. Abigail Clossen, taking in payment therefor a mortgage on the property to himself as attorney in fact for the devisee. By so doing, he had alienated the rents of the estate without receiving any return, and cast two clouds upon the title, preventing a subsequent sale, ordered by the Court.

LOCOMOTIVE MOVING.—The large locomotive of the S. C. & T. Co. having become disabled, the Company sent up the river for the old locomotive now used by the Renton Coal Co. The engine was put on a barge and towed down the river, arriving here at 9 o'clock. By 12 o'clock everything was got ready and the locomotive hauled out on beach by Woodward's warehouse, and by four o'clock it was on the track. It was hauled along by a four-horse team and a gun-tackle purchase.

SCANDINAVIAN ASSOCIATION.—The residents of Seattle and vicinity of Scandinavian descent are requested to meet in Yesler's Hall, on Saturday evening at half past seven o'clock, for the purpose of forming a Scandinavian Association, the principal object of which will be the encouragement of immigration to this country from the North of Europe.

☞ The bark Aureola arrived here this morning.

DANGEROUS ACCIDENT.—Mrs. Phelps, the mother-in-law of Hon. J. B. Montgomer, who had engaged passage on the City of Panama for San Francisco, met with a severe and dangerous accident on board that boat last evening about 9 o'clock. While walking around the saloon she crossed over a covered hatchway and went into her stateroom. In four or five minutes she left her room and started to go across the same hatchway, not noticing that in the interval the covering had been taken off, and fell through into the lower hold, a distance of about 20 feet. She alighted on some pelts, which in a manner deadened her fall, or she would undoubtedly have been killed. Her right arm was doubled under her as she fell and sustained a compound fracture, the bone above the elbow being badly splintered for two inches and the joint completely crushed. Mrs. Phelps is an elderly lady, large and heavy, weighing considerably over two hundred pounds, and it is wonderful that the fall did not more seriously injure her. She was taken to the residence of Mr. M. A. Kelly and Drs. Calhoun and Baker summoned. They extracted from the arm a number of pieces of splintered bone, one of them nearly an inch in length, and set the arm. It was certainly a piece of reprehensible carelessness to leave a hatch open in the main saloon of a steamer crowded with passengers, without having any one left in charge of it.

CARRIED BY.—The North Pacific, for the second time in a week, carried by the down-Sound mail, and not only that but failed to to take the mail away from this place. The fault in this instance seems to be divided around. The steamer was compelled by stress of weather, to lay in Port Townsend until 6 o'clock yesterday morning, before going over to Victoria. Consequently she did not get here until 5 this morning instead of 7 or 8 last evening, her usual time for arriving here. The Postmaster went home, leaving word with the watchman to call him when the steamer got in, which he failed to do and the mail was carried by, there being no one up to receive it.

SOLD.—A bad sell was perpetrated yesterday on the City of Panama. Mr. Freeman, agent of the Company, was informed, through what source we do not know, that 60 passengers from Portland would come over on the evening train, to take passage for San Francisco. As these, with the number expected from here and Victoria, would crowd the boat considerably, extraordinary preparations were made for their accommodation. Some thirty mattrasses were bought here, with blankets, sheets, etc., and the Alida was chartered to bring the passengers down from Tacoma. Midnight came and the Alida had not arrived. The Panama waited until 6 o'clock and finally was compelled to leave. The Alida arrived here at noon to-day and reported that instead of 60, not one solitary passenger came over on yesterday's train from Portland to take passage on the Panama.

CITY OF PANAMA.—The following are the passengers: Mrs. J. M. Nollup, R L Anderson, Philip Wist, wife and three children, P Bartells, Mrs E Clendenin, John Holworth, Geo Platt, John Frier, Thos. McGuire, Peter Rody, J Francis, J E Remmel, W I Wadleigh, Mrs. Wadleigh, J H Jenkins, B Williams, W H Hyde, T D Shorts, R Brelel, T M Gray, J Hummell, J Stott, H Taggart, J Morgan, J M Lynch, A Sterns, Jas. Russell, Miss Sarah Hawkins.

For freight she had several bales of hides and pelts and a number of miscellaneous items.

OLD FOLKS CONCERT.—H. L Yesler has consented to take part in the Old Folks concert on Monday evening. He will sing a solo "Old Grimes." It is expected to be the great event of the evening.

☞ The public meeting to take steps in regard to celebrating the Centennial will be held at Yesler's Hall, this evening. Turn out to it, everybody.

VANITY FAIR.—Mr. Wildman, the proprietor of Vanity Fair, has returned from the Seattle Coal Mine and opened up in the Auditor's old office.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—If you want a first class pair of boots or shoes, go to Geo. I. Lambert No. 6, Cherry Street. 1

SHELLS.—Prof. Elwell had an auction sale of a large amount of shells, vases, fancy goods, etc., last evening. He opens again to-night, at which time he will present even a better assortment. He is located in Keach's building.

☞ Any person desiring to engage in a safe manufacturing business would do well to correspond immediately with R. H. Hewitt, Olympia. *

A GLOOMY NEGOTIATION.

A Man Who Wanted to Buy a Coffin.

[From the Danbury News.]

Mr. Phipps, of the firm of Phipps & Eodge, the Danbury undertakers, was sitting in his shop, Saturday afternoon, ruminating gloomily upon the hard times, when the door opened and in came a stranger. The visitor was a slim-faced man, dressed in a dun-colored suit of rather tight-fitting clothes. He looked clear around the room, carefully avoiding a glance at the undertaker until the circuit was completed.

Then he looked curiously at him and said:

"Is the boss in?"

"Yes, sir, I'm one of them. Is there anything I can do for you, sir?"

"Well, that'll depend on how ye kin deal, I reckon," replied the stranger, in a tone of subdued shrewdness. "I have just had to shoulder a pretty heavy affliction. My old woman went under yesterday." He paused, and looked interrogatively over the array of coffins and caskets.

"Your wife is dead?" inquired Mr. Phipps, with professional anxiety.

"You've hit it square, boss," replied the stranger, with an approving nod.

"What time yesterday did the sad event occur?"

"About 5 P. M., as near as we kin reckon."

"Pass away peacefully?"

"Lit out without a groan," explained the bereaved. "She'd been sick off an' on for about two years an' better. Not right down sick all that time, but then I don't think that she done a square days' work in two years. It's been a great expense all through, but I don't complain, howsumever. I came in today to see about fixin' her up."

"Ah, yes; you wish to secure a burial-case. We have as you see, various kinds. You will want something rather nice, I fancy," said Mr. Phipps.

"Well, yes; I want something that will show considerable grief an' sorrer, but nothing that's goin' to upset folks, you know. We are plain people, boss, an' at a time like this—with a great affliction shouldered on us—we don't feel like rilin' up the neighbors. If it was a huskin' bee, now, or a barn raisin' even, I'd calculate to make their eyes prance right around in their heads. But," and he sighed heavily, "this is a hoss of another color."

"How would this do?" suggested Mr. Phipps, indicating a plain rosewood.

"What is the price of that? You see, boss, we live over in Baxter Plain. It's a small place, an' there ain't much style. We don't want to go in too heavy, you know.

"Certainly not; but this a very neat-looking article."

"Yes," coincided the widower, "it does seem as if one needn't feel uneasy with that coffin in the front room, an' the room full of people,"

"I can let you have that for $45."

"Jee—Oh, I couldn't think of paying that. Forty-five dollars! Why, you kin git a wagon in two colors for that money. You see, boss, this is a plain country funeral, and not a torch-light procession," feelingly explained the widower.

"How will this do, then?" next inquired the undertaker, hastily pointing to another article of common wood, brightly stained.

"How much is that?"

"Only eighteen dollars."

"Eighteen dollars, hey? Well, that's much more like it. Still, don't it strike you that $18 is pretty steep for these times?"

"Not for an article like that, sir. I can assure you that such a coffin could not have been bought for a cent less than $22 one year ago."

"It may be cheap as you say," ruminated the bereaved; "yet $18 is a good big pile of money. I want something nice of course, but I don't want to jump in so mighty heavy as to make people think I never had a funeral before. You get at what I mean?"

"Oh, yes, perfectly. You want an article that will look respectable and in keeping with your circumstances, but yet you do not wish to be too demonstrative in your sorrow."

"By jinks, I guess you've got it squar on the head," said the pleased sufferer.

"Now this is an article that just answers the purpose, in my judgment, and I have had years of experience."

"Yes, yes, you must 'av tucked in a heap of 'em," said the stranger, in a tone of unqualified respect. "This is a sound one, I suppose?"

"Perfectly so; we use the very best kinds of wood," explained Mr. Phipps.

"Just see here a minute," exclaimed the stranger, suddenly and impressively drawing the undertaker to one side. "You say that coffin is sound as a nut, an' you want eighteen dollars for it? Now, I want you to understand there is nothing small about me, an' that I've got just as much respect for the dead as any other man living, I don't care where you snake him from. But Winter is coming on, you know, an' we owe a little to the living as well. That's a sound coffin, an' a sound coffin does well enough in the right place you know; but I want to ask you as a man of experience in these things, an' undeastanding what grief is, if you ain't got a box of that pattern that's got some defect in the wood, that you could knock off a little on?"

"I haven't, sir."

"Just think a minnit, please," he anxiously resumed. "Nothing a little rotted?"

The undertaker shook his head.

"With a worm-hole or so in—I don't mind a dozen!" suggested the sorrowing one.

"No."

"Or a little sappy? Don't answer too quick. Just a little sappy where it wouldn't be seen by the public, you know?"

"I haven't such a piece of wood in the establishment. We use none that is imperfect."

"Eighteen dollars it is, then? sighed the afflicted.

"Yes, sir."

"I must take it, I suppose," he observed; "but when the neighbors see that coffin, they'll old J—— has struck a gold mine. Now, mark my words." And he passed gloomily out.

☞ The letter attributed to Thomas Carlyle, flinging disdain on American colleges, has already been denounced as a hoax. What he really wrote to President Elliot, under date of Nov. 23, was as follows: "Some days ago I received your courteous and obliging letter and along with it the University diploma appointed for me on the 30th June last, which now lies safely reposited here. In return for all which I can only beg you to express to the Governing Boards of the University my lively sense of the honor they have done me, and my cordial thanks for this proof of their friendly regard, which I naturally wish may long continue on their part. Toward Harvard University I have long had a feeling of affection—in some respect, almost veneration—and to Harvard and to you, its distinguished President, I now cordially wish all manner of prosperity and good esteem from wise men on both sides of the ocean."

Puget Sound Dispatch.

Telegraphic

LONDON, Jan. 11.– The Times has a dispatch from Ragusa which reports that Server Pasha has been reappointed special Commissioner at Moostar. Chefket Pasha and Nedjeb Pasha will return to Constantinople.

Over 3,000 soldiers have been frozen to death near Danoza, and many are in the hospital from frost-bite.

The Vienna correspondent of the Standard reiterates his statement that Austria is calling out her reserves and maintains that it is true. He shows that it has not been officially contradicted.

A dispatch to the Deutsch Zeitung, asserts that signs pointing to the occupation of Bosnia, by Austrians, multiply and that places where troops are to cross the Una river are absolutely fixed.

The Paris correspondent of the Times writes that M. Dufauer's resignation unexpected. Say's withdrawal alone would not have shaken the Cabinet, but the resignation of Say, Dufauer and Willon would have deprived the Ministry of its entire liberal element and necessitated an immediate convention of the Assembly. Consequently a Cabinet Council was immediately called and held under the presidency of MacMahon. There was a warm scene between Say and Buffet. The latter complained of the difficulty created by publicity of rumors of disagreements in the Cabinet and suggested that the difculty be solved by the publication of a programme signed by all the Ministers thereby demonstrating the unity of the views of the Cabinet. M. Dufauer concurred and suggested that a programme conciliatory and non-exclusive, be framed to sucure the adhesion of all moderate men. It was therefore agreed that Dufauer, Willon, DeCases and Buffet should draw up a programme which will be submitted to the Cabinet to-day. It was also suggested that President MacMahon should also sign the programme. The foregoing is the situation at the present hour. The resignation of Say and Dufauer holds good, unless an agreement is effected.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—M. Dufauer, Minister of Justice, has issued a circular to the Procurateurs General, saying the new press law is solely intended to repress violent language against and insure respect for the constitution, and is not to touch the liberty of public discussion. Magistrates are recommended not to undertake political prosecutions, as the law only deals with offenses punishable at common law. The circular is very liberal and moderate throughout.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Panama papers from Lima announce the complete destruction by an earthquake, on the 4th of Dec., of Abanacy. Between 4 P. M. of the 4th, and 5 A. M. of the 5th, no less than 37 earthquake shocks occurred.

A severe flood inundated the business part of Valparaiso. Two lives were lost and $150,000 worth of property destroyed.

Several women have been registered in some of the towns in Chili, as qualified voters and will exercise the right of suffrage at the approaching elections.

The counsel for Jos. Loeder is making preparations for a suit against Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, claiming damages for malicious prosecution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Republican Senators held a caucus to-night to consider Morton's bill to provide for and regulate the counting of the votes for President and Vice President. The caucus agreed to abolish the 22d Joint rule and support Morton's bill in lieu of it. A new feature of the latter is, when the two Houses separate to decide on any objection that may have been made to counting the electoral vote or votes from any State, or for the decision of any other question pertaining thereto, each Senator and Representative may speak on such objection or question ten minutes, and not oftener than once, provided after such debate has lasted 2 hours, it shall be in the power of the majority of each House to direct that the main question shall be put without debate.

Senator Kelly's bill for the removal of Indians from Umatilla reservation differs from Mitchell's bill, in providing that the lands shall be appraised and sold at public sale in tracts not exceeding 40 acres and the proceeds to be invested in Government bonds for the benefit of the Indians.

Jan. 12.—The Senate confirmed John C. Hillman, of Vancouver; Robert G. Stuart, of Olympia, Receiver of Public Money.

OTTAWA, Can., Jan. 12.—A faction fight took place last night after the election at Saleman Point, between two families named Scarf and Rogue and their respective adherents. There were 50 men on each side; the fight was a desperate and bloody one. Fifteen men were dangerously wounded and full half an acre of snow was saturated with blood.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The correspondent of the Times telegraphs: I affirm that the Ministerial crisis is not only not settled, but is rather aggravated.

Jan. 12.—Paul de Cassagnac, in an article, violently opposes M. Ollivier as candidate for the Department of Vare. He says M. Ollivier shows a lack of moral sense in putting forward his discreditable personality and that his presence in the Assembly would be a calamity to the Imperial cause.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says: In the Cabinet meeting yesterday, M. Dufauer protested against Buffet's proposed programme and positively refused to sign it. President MacMahon intervened and proposed that he alone should sign the programme. He appealed to the devotion of the Ministers to terminate the crisis. The Ministers accordingly agreed that the proclamation of the President be published to-day and that each Minister shall, as formerly, follow his own line of policy, but that all shall rally around the Marshal and give him their co-operation.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 11.—The Prince of Wales has arrived in Delhi.

MADRID, Jan. 11.—The Epoca, in reply to an article in the London Times, holding Spain responsible for any injury done British vessels by Carlist batteries, says Spain can do nothing beyond punishing the authors of the damage to foreign shipping.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Foreign Office has a dispatch from Commissioner Cave saying that the Egyptian authorities in every way facilitated his mission.

A dispatch from Paris says the news received from England seems to show that the British Government is about to give her adhesion to Count Andrassy's work in Turkey.

A telegrm from Vienna says the Porte intends to confine the reforms proposed by the European powers to Herzegovina, thus avoiding trouble with the incensed Mohammedan majority in Bosnia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—The legislative committee appointed to examine causes of steamship disasters on Pacific Coast met this morning. Five or six marine surveyors were examined, mainly as to the condition of steamships plying on the Coast and more especially ships of G. N. P. line, which it was evident was the objective point. The testimony in general was to the effect that ships of that line were well appointed and found seaworthy and as well adapted to the business in which they were engaged as vessels on similar service on the Atlantic Coast. As regards the Pacific, the general evidence of witnesses placed her lower in rating than other ships of the line, but still sound and seaworthy. Captain Waterman, as Inspector of Hulls, testified his investigation of the loss of the Pacific was open to any one except reporters. In issuing certificates to all steamers which was proof of their soundness he thought he never gave a certificate to any vessel not seaworthy. Thomas Caranought testified he was a journeyman caulker; worked on some of the steamers; had been on board the Wm. Tabor when he could see daylight through her. On ship California I found I could pull out with my hand some of the planks passed over by Waterman. I have come across vessels where we could drive iron right through the seams. Ship carpenters are afraid to give evidence here because if they did they would never get a stroke of work again. I have been with Capt. Waterman on surveys and have tried the ship with a beetle; she would be bad and require caulking but Captain Bob would go into the cabin and see the Captain and come out declaring her all right.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—Arrived, bark Mormion, Seattle; bark Menshikoff Seattle.

PORT BLAKELY, Jan. 13.—Sailed, bark Pallas, Valparaiso; and schooner W. L. Beebe, San Buena Ventura, Cal.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A special from Berlin says: Turkish representatives abroad have been instructed to declare that any intervention incompatible with the dignity or independence of the Porte will be rejected. It is expected that England will advise the Porte to consider Count Andrassy's programme. If the Sultan declines to do so, the rebels will be likely to derive greater advantage than ever from the countenance from Montegrans and Dalmatians.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 12.—The sublime Porte has received a dispatch from the Turkish commander in Herzegovina dated Jan. 6th, announcing that tranquility is restored every where except in the district between Trebigne, Bilck, and Gatchko, bordering on Montenegro.

PARIS, Jan. 12.– The Journal De Paris says that all the Ministers will retain their portfolios, at least for the present. The cabinet to-day approved the text of the proclamation of Marshall MacMahon.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—The Ecclesiastecal Court opened its proceedings to day. They were aimed at the deposition of Dr. Paul Melchers, archbishop of Cologne.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The amount of bullion gone into the Bank of England on balance to-day was £100,000. The bullion in the bank increased £378,000 the past week. The proportion of the bank reserve for liability is 36¼ per cent.

A dispatch from Paris to the Daily Telegraph says the French Ministry of Works will send to the Philadelphia Exhibition plans of recent public works and the Municipal Council of Paris will contribute models.

A dispatch from Paris says the rumors in regard to the situation of the Ministry are various and conflicting. It is asserted that all the Ministers will sign the proclamation. Another report has it that Buffet alone is prepared to sign it and that all who do not sign it to-day will be considered as resigning.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—The Cabinet, in council to day, reached an agreement, whereby the threatened Ministerial modification is averted. The Council will re convene on Monday. After this decision was arrived at, a semi-official announcement was published that M. Buffet would countersign the proclamation re-affirming the programme of Feb. 12, 1875. The tenor of this announcement convinces every one that crisis continues. If the entire Cabinet had, as agreed to, kept silence and allowed MacMahon to speak alone, Buffet hould have undergone defeat, as Leon Say's resignation, which he provoked, would not have been accepted. Buffet, by signing the proclamation, gains a double result. He puts himself forward as the inspirer of the President and pledges the Cabinet, collectively, to the policy set forth in the proclamation. This means that Say and Dufauer can retain office only because they have sacrificed their wills and ideas to those of M. Buffet. Say and Dufauer doubtless yielded because they felt that the prolongation of the crisis was perilous. The peril, however, has simply changed shape by means of the proclamation. MacMahon, instead of the Cabinet, enters the electoral arena and endorses Buffet's policy, which it was destined to defeat. The principle of the programme is to oppose as enemies of order, those who demand a revision of the Constitution before 1880, or who attack the prerogative of the President. The Journal des Debates asserts that Leon Say remains a candidate for the Senate in Seine-et-oise on the same list as before.

The proclamation of President MacMahon, countersigned by Buffet, was published to-day. In it the President appeals for the support of law, order and good government at the general election and hopes the country will secure the necessary repose after being torn and distracted by agitation, discord and misfortune. He says it is known he did not desire his present power but having been invested with it, France could rely on him to exercise without weakness. He hopes God will aid him in the fulfillment of his mission. The President also says he thinks the country's institutions ought not to be revised before they are honestly tried. The conservative and truly liberal policy which he always intended to pursue should prevail.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The Senate in Executive session, confirmed the nomination of Chas. Hopkins, United States Marshall of Washington Territory.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 13. — The House passed a resolution this morning requesting the senators and members of Congress from Pennsylvania to vote for $2,500,00 as a Centennial appropriation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Gold closed at 12⅞.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—The Legislative Committee on Commerce and Navigation continued its investigation into the condition of steamships of this port to-day. The evidence of some mechanics was taken to the effect that several ships on the coast are in a very bad condition, decayed and unseaworthy. It will be attempted to be proven that some half a dozen vessels were purchased by Goodall, Nelson & Perkins Steamship Co. from the Pacific Mail Co. at a price less than the amount it would cost to have built one of them. The inquiry will be resumed this afternoon.

Another chapter in the second history of the failure of the Bank of California has come to light. The Examiner last evening, published an extract from a letter from the San Francisco correspondent of the New York Sun, dated December 24th, 1875, to the effect that the Burling Bros. had commenced proceedings against the Trustees of the Bank of California, charging them with such negligence and misconduct in the management of the bank as to render them personally liable. The complaint was prepared by Hall McAllister, and among the material allegations were that Ralston had fraudulently over issued 900 shares of stock of the bank and had allowed sundry loans and over drafts on the bank to an amount aggregatind about $2,000,000 to $4,000,000, and had appropriated to his own use $4,500,000 and that when the Trustees of the bank saw the complaint they settled with the Burling Bros. on their own terms. On inquiry from competent authorities, the facts in the case appear to be that the Burling Bros. had borrowed money for Ralston, giving their own notes for the amount and taking bank stock as security. When the bank failed the Burlings found themselves owing several hundred thousand dollars on those transactions, without security. The stock of the bank being then of no value there was a disposition shown on the part of the bank authorities to leave them to carry the burden. They accordingly brought suit as above described. On which, a compromise was offered, Sharon, to whom the Ralston estate had been turned over, settling with Burling Bros. at 75 cents on the dollar, leaving them to shoulder the balance of the indebtedness. The suit never came into Court and has been kept very quiet until the present time, but few being aware that proceedings had ever been commenced.

The Safe Deposit Co. will soon commence paying dividenes monthly, of $10,000.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Post says it is feared that the ships Harvest Queen and Cape Camorin, the loss of which which has already been reported, came in collision off Tuscan last Friday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A fire this forenoon in Jersey City burned from numbers 210 to 216, inclusive, and extending back 250 feet, causing the loss of property estimated at $850,000.

Jan. 14.—Gold closed at 12⅞ @ 13.

From information received here it is stated beyond doubt that the Harvest Queen, a full rigged ship of the Black Ball line, was sunk by a collision in the Irish Channel and that her crew, numbering thirty men, were lost. It is believed from statements made by the sailors of the steamship Adriatic, that it was that vessel which came in collision with the Harvest Queen. There is no collision on the log of the Adriatic, and Capt. Jennings explained to the agent of the line that the collision was so slight that he did not think it worth while to say anything about it. He saw the ship approaching in a zig zag course so that he deemed it unsafe to keep the Adriatic on her course. Accordingly he stopped the steamer, reversing the engines, but the ship kept on approaching, and the steamer had backed so far that white water was just about even with the funnels, when suddenly the ship turned about, crossing our bows and struck her jib-boom on on our anchor-stock. Understanding that cries for help had been heard from the water, ordered our boats to be lowered, thinking some sailors had been swept overboard. The ship itself sailed off as if nothing had happened, and after keeping the steamer hove to about three hours, I ordered the bells to ring to go ahead.

The Committee of Railroad Agents requested the Executive Committee to call a special meeting of the Convention on February 9th, at Louisville, to consider the reduction of passenger rates to the Centennial Exposition.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.–The Republican's Kansas City special says the Times of that city has information from Kerwin, Ks., Jan. 11, to the effect that some Otoe Indians had been massacred by a band of Sioux. Great excitement is said to prevail among the settlers in the neighborhood of Bloomington. All are prepared to leave should the Indians make a demonstration.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—"The next Union Republican National Convention for candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, will be held at Cincinnati, on Wednesday, the 14th of June, 1876, at 12 o'clock, noon, and consist of delegates from each State, equal to twice the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress and two delegates from each organized Territory and the District of Columbia.

"In calling conventions for the election of delegates the Committees of the several States are recommended to invite all Republican electors, and other voters without regard to past political differences, or party affiliation, who are opposed to reviving sectional issues and desire to promote friendly feeling and permanent harmony in the country by maintaining the Constitutional rights of every citizen, including the full and free exercise of the right of suffrage without intimidation and fraud. Of the continued prosecution and punishment of all official dishonesty, and of an economical administration of Government by honest, faithful and capable officers who are in favor of making such reform in the Government, as experience may suggest. Who are opposed to impairing the credit of the Nation by depreciating its obligations and in favor of sustaining it in every way with faith and financial honor; who hold that the Common School system is the nursery of American liberty and should be maintained absolutely free from sectarian control; who believe for the promotion of these ends, that the direction of the Government should continue to be confined to those who adhere to the principles of 1776 and supports them as incorporated in the Constitution and laws and who favor recognizing and strengthening the fundamental principle of National unity in the Centennial Year of the Republic." (Signed.)

E. D. MORGAN,
Pres. Rep. Nat. Com.
W. CHANDLER, Sec.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—A Times Washington special says: Since Congress has set its face against all subsidies, there has been a general impression that the Texas Pacific's scheme had disappeared for the session. It has been found upon inquiry, however, that a quiet canvass has been going on for the securing of one section in the House, by a pledge of support, on the part of the Southern members, to coveted measures desired by the North and Northwest.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The House Committee on Judiciary, to-day, on motion of Lawrence of Ohio, who purposely voted with a majority of the Committee, reconsidered its action with reference to the limit of the term of the Presidential office. The Committee after discussion, agreed to present a Constitutional Amendment fixing the term of office at four years and thereafter, forever, making the incumbent of the office ineligible for re-election.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—There is a report on the street, believed to be on good authority, that Grennan and Cranney, prominent lumber manufacturers and owners of the Utsalady Mill, Puget Sound, have failed. The Agent of the firm here professes to know nothing of the kind.

A TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT IN AUSTRIA.—Few tragedies better deserve the name of "horror" than that which transpired but a few days ago on the railroad near Gopfritz, in Austria. At a few minutes past 1 in the morning, as a train of fourteen carriages with 128 passengers, was crossing a bridge some 40 feet in height, the engine ran from the rails, and plunged into the chasm, dragging all but one of the cars with it. About a dozen passengers were killed, and as many more seriously injured, the others, wonderful to relate, (for the cars were headed on each other and smashed to fragments), escaping with but slight wounds or bruises. The engineer and stoker were crushed to jelly, and the chief guard decapitated. A mail clerk was fatally scalded, though death did not release him for several hours during which he lay beneath the ruin, audibly lamenting the fate of his family and entreating for water, which could not be conveyed to him. A pregnant woman, whose mother's brains were dashed out by an iron bar by her side, escaped uninjured, and gave birth to her child while yet entangled in the wreck. Examination showed that the slaughter was not the result of an accident, for hands accustomed to railroad work had removed the nuts and bolts from five rails on one side of the curve and then replaced the rails so that the track appeared safe and untouched. The affair is all the more horrible because but a little while before three attempts had been made in a precisely similar manner to wreck trains on another road.
