TO THE DESPONDING.

Take this for granted, once for all—
There is neither chance nor fate,
And to sit and wait for the sky to fall
Is to wait as the foolish wait.

The laurel longed for you must earn—
It is not of the things men lend;
And though the lesson be hard to learn,
The sooner the better my friend.

That another's head can have your crown
Is a judgment all untrue,
And to drag this man, or the other down,
Will not in the least raise you!

MAJOR AND MINOR.

A bird sang sweet and strong
In the top of the highest tree;
He sang: "I pour out my soul in song
For the summer that soon shall be."

But deep in the shady wood
Another bird sang: "I pour
My soul on the solemn solitude
For the spring that return no more."

Letter from Canada.

MONTREAL, Canada, Feb. 25th, 1880.

DEAR PARKER:—Understand please that I am not in Canada for the purpose of giving you the opportunity to say that you have a foreign correspondent, but to visit a relative. It is fearfully and wonderfully cold here. Trains of cars cross the St. Lawrence river on ice, and save thousands of dollars in bridge tolls. The sleepers are frozen into the ice, the rails laid on them, and every week day you can see the novelty of a railroad train on ice. The people know how to dress for cold weather. Fur caps and coats are as common here as an Oregon broadcloth suit in Walla Walla. I find my friend of great use to me here among this French speaking population, and if you make a mistake they are so polite they do not laugh at you. The poorer classes here live on a soup made out of dried peas, which they cook along with a piece of pork and eat with a coarse black bread. They are a cheerful, strong, healthy people, just such as you need to settle in Washington territory, and raise 50 bushels of wheat to the acre. The Romish church has great power here over the Canacks, and from what I have seen I am inclined to believe that they are as well off under this form of religion as they would be under any other.

They have no desire to take the trouble to think for themselves and are perfectly content with being superstitious. I admire great rivers, like our Columbia, and here is a grand one—the St. Lawrence—two miles wide here at Montreal, and spanned by a very magnificent bridge of iron resting on twenty foot piers of solid stone masonry, so contracted as to be able to resist the enormous pressure of the ice fields which come sweeping down the river when the cold long winter breaks up. Stevenson and Ross were the engineers of this grand work. The length of this bridge is 9194 feet; height above water level 60 feet; it is tubular in shape, and cost $6,300,000. It is, in fact, one of the wonders of the world, and as we contemplate it our mind is filled with admiration for the great genius who planned and built it. All the Canadians with whom I engage in conversation seem to take pleasure in predicting that trouble will come upon our American institutions and that our way of choosing our chief ruler will get us into hot water. They even think that time is not far in the future. I try to hold my own with them in argument; point them to their troubles in Ireland, and to the fact that the royal families of Russia have lately barely escaped assassination, but they tell me their form of government is very different from that of Russia, but they do not dispute the fact that their people are somewhat in bondage, and that they have not even the one blessing of free education. This city possesses some very handsome buildings. The Windsor hotel in the grandeur of its proportions reminds me of the Palace in San Francisco. They use in construction a very handsome dark blue limestone, which has the effect of giving to their structures an air of dignity and tranquility. Among the industries peculiar to this country is that of extracting tannic acid from hemlock bark. The mill I visited grinds, in twenty four hours, fifty cords of bark which is deposited in deep vats, then saturated with hot water, and the liquor thus obtained run off into a large vessel from which it is drawn up and boiled in vacuum until it is of standard strength and consistency for tanning purposes. It is then put in barrels and shipped to different points of the States and other countries. At the mill I visited they were filling an order for China. Beer drinkers may be gratified at knowing that a Chicago man has made beer with this "extract of hemlock bark," using it in the place of hops or aloes. It has a very pungent taste, as well as a binding effect on the bowels of the person who drinks it, but as it is cheap in comparison with hops or aloes, the time may come when every beer drinker will, like Socrates "drink the hemlock." Until then, ADIOS.

GREAT ENTERPRISES.—The present time is fruitful in schemes of great magnitude. There are already projected:

A new suspension bridge over Niagara river.

A new Atlantic cable in addition to that now in course of construction.

A ship railroad across the Isthmus of Darien. A railroad over the Desert of Sahara, connecting Algeria and Soudan.

A canal which conveying the waters of the Mediterranean into the sands of Africa, shall make a great inland sea and fertilize arid wastes.

The establishment of water communication between the Black and Caspian seas.

Add to these enterprises, most of which seem likely be undertaken in the near future—

Erickson's scheme for utilizing the sun's heat.

Erickson's scheme for utilizing electricity.

The various plans of geographical discovery.

The solution of the mysteries of Central Africa and the civilization of the savages.

The destruction of the plagues.

The adjustment of the relations of labor and capital.

ALL the Ute chiefs appear to be in favor of an early peace and an easy compromise. Anything the government has to give them, rom a Henry-Martini rifle down to a farm n fee simple, well stocked with cattle, they will gladly accept. They are high-minded, considerate fellows, these predatory butchers of the border. There is nothing they are not willing to do to fix up matters with Mr. Schurz, excepting to pick out and surrender a dozen men who are willing to be hung just for the fun of the thing. What more could be asked? If secretary Schurz is unable to wrestle with the conundrum, let secretary Ramsey try it a while.

Dry Creek on the Fence Question.

The negative said that the assertion of the affirmative that the "no fence law" would give us more rapid increase of population remained to be proved. People who are about to come here do not inquire as to whether we have a "no fence law." They ask if we have good land, climate and transportation facilities, and when they are satisfied on these points they come. The speaker on the affirmative who had complained of the cost of fencing, had put it at too high a figure. The first speaker on the negative had a neighbor whose ditch fence had lasted fifteen years, and had served all the purposes for which fences are made. Such a fence would cost only $85 per mile—$192 for fencing a quarter section, which would take the value of sixty-four days of the labor of the poverty stricken first speaker of the affirmative. In giving the gross receipts from a township put in wheat, the speaker neglected to give the cost of cultivating it. If every township in Eastern Washington were put in grain the stock interest would be effectually exterminated. Nothing is truer than that mixed husbandry is necessary to prosperity. Years will come when we will have partial failures of crops, by unusual severity of weather, or by such artificial causes as grasshopper invasion—a contingency by no means remote or improbable. There will be years when good grain crops in other portions of the world will reduce the demand for and profit upon our grain to such a minimum as hardly to repay the cost of cultivation. A country to be prosperous must be self-sustaining. The "no fence law" would be a death blow to our sheep and wool interests. Every year thousands of head of cattle are driven from our Territory to the eastern market, and they bring in cash to the country. Under the "no fence law," hardly enough would be raised for home consumption. We would have no such things as woollen mills, tanneries, boot and shoe factories, etc.

It is claimed by the affirmative that portions of Eastern Washington, unfit for farming, would be relegated to stock. But men will not keep stock in a country where they are compelled to herd, when they can avoid this by removal. In the middle of a scope of country fit only for grazing, a man can plow up a few acres of ground and compel stock men around him to hire herders. All stock men are not trespassers. Most of the men in this country who own stock, are farmers also. Their cattle feed upon government land, which should be free to the use of all of Uncle Sam's children, and is, under the present law. No one monopolises the ranges. Under the "no fence law" the railroad companies could force stock men to pay them whatever they asked for pasturage upon their open lands, or make them pay damages. The "no fence law" would depreciate present improved farms, and the incoming poor men would have to bear a heavier share of the tax than now. Farmers who are now paying taxes on fencing would refuse to consider them under the head of improvements, and stock men would be, of necessity, forced to drive their stock away—no tax from that quarter. An acre of unfenced land would be as valuable as one fenced, and the owner would have to pay the same taxes. Speculators and business men in town would take up land and hold it on speculation only; since the improvements necessary for securing it would be very little. Under the present law, this land will be taken up by more bona-fide farmers. The passage and enforcement of a "no fence law" would involve a continuous litigation, the taxes to pay for which would soon pay for fencing all the land in Eastern Washington. But I have already taken up too much of your space in my rambling arrangement of the arguments, pro and con, and have not now given half. The judges decided unanimously in favor of the negative.

SUBSCRIBER.

SIR WALTER RALEIGH NEVER IN AMERICA.

Every few weeks we see in print something about Sir Walter Raleigh's visit to this country, and his sojourns in Virginia, where indeed, some persons have assumed to have his blood through connections formed by him when in that colony. Hardly any historic error is commoner than this. It occurs continually, not only in newspapers here and abroad, but in books claiming to have been prepared with care.

The cause of this wide-spread mistake is, doubtless, that Sir Walter did set sail hither, in 1579, with his half brother, Sir Humphrey Gilbert who had obtained a liberal patent for establishing a plantation in America. One of their vessels was lost, and the other so crippled, it is said, in an engagement with a Spanish fleet, that they put back without making land. Four years later Raleigh, weary of inactivity as a courtier, used his influence with Queen Elizabeth to promote a second expedition to these shores. Prevented at the last moment by an accident from coming in person, he left the command to Sir Humphrey, who sailed from Plymouth with five ships (June, 1583), and reached Newfoundland, of which he took possession in the name of the Queen. The voyage was very unfortunate in many ways, and Gilbert himself, in returning home, went down with one of the only two vessels he had left. Raleigh fitted out other expeditions to America, and is reputed, but incorrectly, to have named Virginia after Elizabeth, in honor of her supposed maidenhood. She herself so designated the colony, and conferred upon her favorite the order of knighthood for the efforts he had made to further its progress. Raleigh, however never set foot on, or even saw this land. Still, a work with so much reputation and of such pretense as Chambers' Encyclopedia says in its article on Raleigh, (we quote from the London edition of 1877): "The spirit of enterprize was, however, restless in the man, and, in 1584, a patent having been granted him to take possession of lands to be discovered by him on the continent of North America, he fitted out two ships at his own expense, and shortly achieved the discovery and occupation of the territory known as Virginia." What does this mean if it does not mean that Raleigh came over in his ships? The Cyclopedia commits the same blunder in divers places, of which this is one: Speaking of the potato, it says it was twice carried to England without attracting much notice, till it was a third time imported from America by Sir Raleigh. If standard work, ranked as an authoritative work of reference, makes the glaring mistake, is it strange that newspapers and hastily-written books should trip on the same point.

BLANK DEEDS at the STATESMAN office.

Lucky and Unlucky Months.

February.—The man who is born in this month will love money much, but the ladies more; he will be stingy at home but prodigal abroad. The lady will be a humane and affectionate wife and tender mother.

March.—The man born in this month will be rather handsome, and he will behonest and prudent but will die poor. The lady will be a passionate chatterbox, somewhat given to fighting and in old age will be fond of the bottle.

April.—The man who had the misfortune to be born in this month will be subject to maladies. He will travel to his advantage, for he will marry a rich and handsome heiress, who will do what no doubt you all understand. The lady will be tall and stout with little feet, little wit but will be a great talker and withal a great liar.

May.—The man born in this month will be handsome and amiable. He will make his wife happy. The lady will be equally blest in every respect.

June.—The man will be of small stature, passionately fond of women and children, but will not be loved in return. The lady will be a giddy person and fond of coffee; she will marry at the age of twenty-one, and will be a fool at forty-five

July.—The man will be fair; he will suffer death for the wicked woman he loves. The female born in this month will be passably handsome, with a sharp nose and sulkey temper.

August.—The man will be ambitious and courageous, but too apt to cheat. He will have several maladies and two wives. The lady will be amiable and twice married, but her second husband will cause her to regret her first.

October.—The man will have a handsome face and florid complexion; he will be wicked in his youth and always inconstant. He will promise one thing and do another and always remain poor. The lady will be pretty, a little given to contradiction, a little coquettish, and sometimes too fond of wine. She will have three husbands who will die of grief, and she will best know why.

November.—The man will have a fine face and be a gay deceiver. The lady of this month will be large, liberal and full of novelty.

December.—The man born in this month will be a good sort of person, though passionate. He will devote himself to the army, but he will be dishonored by his wife. The lady will be amiable and handsome; she will have a good voice and a well proportioned body. She will be married once, and will remain poor but continue honest.

The Fashionable Call.

The fashionable call is a curious sort of thing. It must be paid, and no one really wants to pay it. It would be an offence to neglect it, but no one actually desires to receive it. It is too short for conversation, for the interchange of ideas, or for the satisfaction of friendship. Where ladies set a day apart for the reception of calls it is at least possible to fulfill the duty with grace and comfort; but where there is no fixed time the day's occupation is broken in upon, and a long walk or ride taken in order to sit immured in a darkened parlor for a space of time varying from a quarter to three quarters of an hour. While the lady is to recieve one leaves important occupation to dress herself for our reception, and then to say a few words on the weather, or some equal interesting topic; and then we're off again.

This is a successful call; but if it be a fine day the lady called upon will generally be found absent, making calls upon other ladies who are also out calling; and if it be a rainy day disliable will generally prompt a whispered "not at home," sometimes quite audible in the parlor.

And now comes the problem never quite solved by any woman. If Mrs. A. calls on me when I am not dressed for the reception of guests, shall I keep her waiting, or go to her at once in crimping pins and a wrapper, or say, "not at home?"

Of course, people never keep their intimates waiting for such reason; but formal calls deserve a formal reception. Callers who merely do their social duty are generally very short of time, and all women know that criticism is sure to follow the call. I do not pretend to decide what shall be done.

On the whole, the true spirit of the morning call is perfectly summed up in the little bit of fun now floating through the papers:

"Lady of the house, (reading, on a sofa.) 'What! Callers! Dear me! what a bother! Say I am not at home, Nora. Not at home, you understand.' CALLERS (descending the steps)—'How nice! Not at home again! We've paid twelve calls, and every one has been out! If we're only as fortunate with the rest, we shall be able to get through the whole twenty before five o'clock.'"

AN INDIAN FIGHT ON PAPER.—A correspondent of the Cincinnatti Gazette writing from the classic shades of Squaw creek, in Idaho, gives a graphic account of a terrible fight with Indians in the Saw Tooth range. The party were out prospecting, when they discovered a large band of Indians who afterwards discovered them, but owing to a dense fog ran almost up to the muzzles of their rifles. The three prospectors opened fire and each killed his Indian; the rest fled, of course, when one of the party rushed out and captured three well-filled Henry rifles with which they kept the enemy at bay when they were surrounded. Just in the nick of time another party of twenty prospectors came to the rescue and succeeded in sending nineteen redsknis to their happy hunting grounds. No doubt it is all true, but what bothers us is to know what the Indians were doing all this time, and why, Oh! why, was not the news sent to us instead of to Ohio.

Herd or No Fence Law.

HOW IT WORKS WHERE TRIED.

The following letter, published in the Country Gentleman, a paper of high standing, we commend to the attention of our readers by reason of its bearing on the present "no fence" issue in this territory:

EDITORS COUNTRY GENTLEMEN:—The immense increase of machine work has for some years, in agriculture as in manufacturing, superseded to a large extent hand labor, but this has not been regretted in the latter industries, as it only compelled men to find a better employment in the cultivation of the acres which are offered at almost nominal prices to the actual settlers who have the pluck and industry to carve out a home and eventual fortune on the virgin soil of the expanding western area of tillage. But now the cry comes up even from Kansas that the willing laborer cannot get work even as harvesters "because the self-binders take all the work away." But, worse than that, the capitalists of the east and west, the men who make easy fortunes by stock speculation, in merchandise and real estate operations, band together and purchase millions of acres of the best wheat lands which they work mainly by machinery and steam and horse power, employing little manual labor, and that only for a portion of the year, and then harvesting largely renumerative crops, returning nothing to the soil, and thus sweep it clean of its producing qualities. Then passing on to "pastures new" they leave behind a surface as barren and unprofitable as that from which the gold is directly washed by the system of gravel mining. Large and small fields of wheat and corn are noticed by the traveler, without sign of a house, hedge or fence in the vicinity; belonging to lawyers, land agents, and others doing business in the adjacent towns, and especially and largely to officers of the railroads, and it is estimated that quite one-half of the wheat grown in the southern and middle portions of Illinois is produced under this system of cultivation. These capitalists taking their own time, get the higher price for their produce, whilst the small farmer, dependent on his crops to pay his interest and family expenses, is forced into the market and compelled to sell at a ruinous rate, getting a half or third less than his rich competitors.

In Minnesota are farms ranging in extent from 50,000 acres to two and three thousand owned by presidents of railroads, New York bank presidents, German bankers, Boston and New York capitalists, cultivated mainly by machinery, having stations only a mile or two apart, where are a house and necessary barns and a boarding house for the hands employed during the planting and harvests. Everything is carried on as in a vast manufactory, the laborers working nearly thirteen hours a day, all of whom are, with a few exceptions, discharged before the winter season and sent adrift to find some other employment. The conspicuous absence of women and children on the large farms is a striking feature, and in no case was the permanent residence of a family to be found on them, nor anything that could be called a home—the idea of home does not pertain to them; they are simply business ventures—no expense for schools or churches, no need of saving a tenth for charities, nothing expended except for a return of twenty or fifty "per shent."

These large capital farmers obtain special rates for transportation of their products, largely below the rates charged to the small farmers, and obtain their machinery and farming implements at a heavy discount from published prices.

A noticeable feature throughout the vast regions where this machine cultivation is carried on, is the great abundance of unemployed labor, and the number of men (who, when employed, receive scanty pay) thrown out of occupation during the winter months. A more deplorable, because more largely extended and far-reaching, evil is the condition of the small farmers of the great wheat-growing regions, who cannot compete with the bonanza farms, and who are running behind without prospect of their affairs eventually mending. They, during a small portion of the year, have to raise enough for the support of themselves and families for the entire year, and enough to sell so as to provide food and clothing and pay interest, while their competitors, during the five months from November 1st to April 1st, dispense with nearly all their hands, and their machinery lies idle, but exacting no demands for nourishment or support.

But the worst part of this system of farming is the robbery of the land, skinning it of its virginity, and in no wise returning any compensating benefits. How long will even the low average of the present wheat production continue under these manufacturing operations? Even the poorest Irish tenant cultivation is immeasurably superior to this, because from each cabin and byre some restoration is made to the soil from which a living is eked out, and the superior English farming yearly adds to the natural productiveness of the land. When "not a dollar of the gross amount or net profit received from the products of the soil is returned and placed upon the land from which it is taken, except in the construction of the fewest buildings necessary to shelter and protect the laborers in the working season, and for the care of the work stock and tools," how long can such cultivation abuse the best of soils without permanently destroying it? "On the whole 5,300 cultivated of the Grandin farm" (and this is only one of many) "there was not one family finding a permanent home by virtue of title in soil, where there should have been at least one to every fifty acres of plow land, or 106 families," or 106 houses instead of five, 106 barns instead of three, and a population of 500, where there is not one fixed inhabitant.

While we have been exercising our sympathy over the decay of the independent farmers in Great Britain, and holding up our hands in horror at the idea of so few individuals owning the whole area of territory in each of its three kingdoms, we are actually starting upon a system much worse—letting our richest territories be taken possession of by corporations, or equally soulless bonanza kings, and the tillers of the soil are deprived of their natural rights and privileges. If the tenant system of farming in Great Britain is an evil of great magnitude, its features are not so bad as those disclosed by the keen-eyed observers who have recorded what they have discovered in the West; for the British tenants hold and occupy the lands on long terms, keep up its fertility, gives support to numerous persons and there is no danger of the territory they occupy becoming in a few years a barren waste.

Certainly some remedy is to be applied to the state of affairs which I have set out. The "mortmain," or dead hand, is as pestiferous in its hold of land by secular as by religious bodies, and there should be some legislative restriction upon the number of acres one man or many banded together can monopolize to the public disadvantage.

"Enough has been shown," says emphatically one of the observers in the article referred to "to demonstrate that within the last twenty years we have taken immense strides in placing our country in the position in which Europe is found after a thousand years of feudal robbery and tyranny of wealth—with the lands concentrated in large tracts in the hands of a few, and cultivated by a people who are dependent upon the rich." R. G.

THE Oregonian was right when it said that the Walla Walla papers were equally divided on the "fence" question. There are three papers here, and the STATESMAN only fights two. These are very small odds for us, but "shake" all the same.

A Turn in the Tide.

The balance of trade is now turning against us and gold is returning to Europe. Our imports for the month ending December 31, 1879, were $59,746,429, for the corresponding month of the previous year they were $31,515,331. The excess is more than eighteen millions and will appear in the gold account. If we had an excess of exports amounting to eighteen millions in 1878 the increase of imports in 1879 would balance accounts; if our excess in 1879 was less than eighteen millions the increase in imports would draw our gold from us in making payments. The Call says, in the year ending December, 1878, our imports were financially valued at $431,812,483. The imports for the year ending December, 1879, were $513,745,748. The increase for the year is $82,000,000. There is some but not a corresponding increase in exports. Comparing December in the two years the excess in 1879 was $13,000,000 against $20,000,000 excess in imports. Comparing years, the exports in 1878 were $729,023,238; in 1879, $754,655,785 showing an increase in exports of $25,000,000 against an increase in imports of $82,000,000. No great harm has been done yet, but if this turning tide increases in volumn, the effect will be not only to cause the return of the gold we imported, but a balance of trade will appear against us which has to be settled with gold. The remark may seem paradoxical, but the people grow rich in dull times. When good times come, they spend the accumulation of years of dull times. In the East the years from 1873 to 1879 were classed as dull years. Property of all kinds were depreciating in value, and individuals who retained the same possessions were apparently less rich than when depreciation set in. The lowest point of depreciation was toward the close of 1878. With 1878 and resumption as a fixed fact, prices began to improve. Capital, which had hidden away during the depreciation, again sought investment. The effect of the movement was to give life to business. Men holding the same possessions grew rich instead of growing poor. The natural result was a more lavish expenditure, including heavier purchases of European finery. The articles of necessity which come from Europe are few in number and small in order. Our coffee comes mostly from Brazil, tea from China. We buy silks and satins, laces and fine cloths and wines from Europe, but we make the bulk of these articles at home. We would have silks, laces, satins and fine cloths if some convulsions of nature should render the Atlantic impassable. The bulk of our imports is in articles which the cheaper labor of Europe enables the manufacturers to sell in this country at less cost than our manufactures can produce them. The so-called good times, bringing generally a rise in prices in labor as well as in commodities, opens our market to the foreign manufacturers. As a nation we are growing poorer while as individuals we are, or imagine we are, growing rich. In bad times comodities increase in quantity but shrink in value; in flush times the quantity diminishes but the value increases.

Dayton Items.

DAYTON, W. T., March 17th, 1880.

The hills around Dayton are again clothed with the beautiful snow.

Class "B.," of the literary association furnished an interesting programme Monday evening.

What are our philanthropists doing that they are not howling over poor John Chinaman, who has been compelled to exodus from California?

Revival meetings at the Cumberland Presbyterian church are in progress, being conducted by Rev. H. W. Eagan, of Walla Walla, and Rev. P. B. Cornwall, of this place.

Much dissatisfaction is expressed by the citizens of this county in regard to the late revenue law.

The calico ball given by the busy bees at Joy's hall last Thursday evening was a grand success. The busy bees are quite popular in Dayton.

Notwithstanding Don Cameron's Pennsylvania trick has been declared by some a fraud, and Grant's chance for presidency are daily lessening, that has nothing to do with Columbia county. She will go democratic this fall sure.

Prof. Frank M. McCully, our popular school superintendent, will in a few days start out on his annual trip visiting the public schools of Columbia county.

U. S. Brewster has retired from the firm of Paine Brothers & Brewster, hardware merchants of this place. We understand that W. A. Belcher, the faithful and efficient agent of Hawley, Dodd & Co. at this place, is to manage the house here for the Messrs Paine. The right man in the right place.

The Dayton cornet band, a popular and progressive organization, is to give us a concert soon. The boys play well and will no doubt meet with the success which they deserve.

Our merchants have recently been receiving large invoices of spring goods. Judging from the amount of goods we see piled up at the two firms of Dusenbery & Stencil and McDonald & Schwalacher, their sales must be large.

Many emigrants are coming into the country now; the stage between this place and Walla Walla is now making Sunday trips to accommodate them. But few are stopping in Columbia county, most of them going north. We think Columbia county can offer good inducements to thousands seeking homes in Eastern Washington.

Dr. A. C. West, a promising young dentist of this place, went to Walla Walla last week and while there renounced his allegiance to bachelordom, and is now a humble subject of King Hymen. We predict a bright future for the doctor and his accomplished bride.

The apportionment of the public school fund for Columbia county for the present school year amounts to $11,321 20, or $4 40 per scholar. Many new districts will be organized during the next year, and withal the prospects for schools in Columbia county are flattering.

An ignoramus, whom we will christian Ananias, writing to the Union from this place, takes very much to heart what "Ovid" said in his article to the STATESMAN in reference to the establishment of a bank here. He (poor fellow) imagines himself outrageously wronged by said article. Now, if Ananias had been the possessor of common sense he would have seen at once that there was nothing in the article calculated to offend anyone. Then again had he said nothing (even had the remarks applied to him) no one would have thought so, for it is safe to bet that not a dozen men in all Columbia county knew that such a thing as "this much abused incipient establishment" existed in Dayton. His understanding about the legality of bonds and pledging faith for clerk's fees is like his English, very poor. His failure to confine himself to facts has prompted us to give him the name we have. And by way of emphasis we would remark right here that he is in danger of being visited by God's wrath as was poor Ananias of old. If we have said anything out of the way, then we offer the above as an apology, and trust it may be balm to poor Ananias' wounded feelings; a consummation devoutly hoped for. OVID.

NEW STORE.—Another candidate for public favor is the new store opposite Small's Livery stable. Its owners, Chilberg & Mclean, have a good stock of very fine groceries which they sell at a very moderate price.

UNDER the head of "new advertisements" will be found some interesting reading for builders.

THE Oregonian commenting on a recent article in the STATESMAN, wherein we refused to publish articles in favor of a "no fence" law says: "One will wait a long time to find a better illustration of the way of running a newspaper as an organ." The principal reason for our stand on this point, consists in the fact that up here the time has come when the people demand a newspaper with opinions of its own on important subjects where the welfare of the country is concerned. We question very much if the Oregonian would admit into its columns an article in favor of any important measure they were opposing. The people here require a paper that will fight for them, and fighting, do its best to win. This is our platform and we intend to fight it out. The people are sick of papers that are afraid to take a bold and determined stand, and when they do attempt such a course, become frightened at their own shadow and like the proverbial ground hog, immediately seek the shelter of their holes and drag the holes in after them. At the outset of the "fence" agitation the STATESMAN boldly entered the fight before it knew how the majority really felt about it. It was the only paper which came out determinedly against a "no fence" law. It has never lost an argument and has fired more telling shots than all the rest combined. The farmers depend upon us, and we are showing them that their faith is founded upon a rock. And so it will ever be.

FROUDE'S article in the North American Review, for January, upon "Romanism" in the United States, created some considerable discussion among Paine Bro's. congregation of loafers during the winter. The anxious fears of those who swallowed Froude's statements for genuine nutritious truth, will find comfort and consolation in an article by Bishop J. L. Spaulding in the March number of the same magazine. The Bishop sits down upon Mr. Froude so vigorously that we think he will find difficulty in assuming an erect attitude.

THE Boise Statesman chronicles the remarkable fact that an order was sent to Cy. Jacobs there for 200 pounds of ham, and asks "what is the matter with the Walla Walla folks." Matter with 'em, why everybody knows that Cy. Jacobs' hams are splendid, and don't you know, Kelly, that we are very much like you are, in that we like a change of meat once in a while.

THE Union stands in for Grant for a third term. Grant being the only man who fought for the Union, and it is but fair that he should be honored accordingly.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.—Denis Kearney who was arrested in San Francisco, has been sentenced to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $1000.

JAMES I. FELLOWS, ESQ.—Dear Sir: I have deferred writing to you ere this that I might be able to give an account of the effect of your medicine. I can now safely say that it is undoubtedly the best I ever tried, as there can be no doubt that my little girl is in a fair way of recovery, and you must bear in mind, that this was a very bad case, and I do honestly believe that had I not given it to her, she would have been dead ere this, now she eats hearty and is gaining in flesh, the fitts are only partial and the action of the heart is less terrible. I am, sir yours very respectfully,

THE THOROUGH TROTTING-BRED STALLION "ALWOOD"

IMPORTED FROM KENTUCKY IN 1879

WILL SERVE THIRTY approved mares, besides the owner's, in the season of 1880, from date to Dec. 1st at the ranche of C. F. Buck on Touchet, 2 miles above the Mullan Bridge. This high bred son of the noted sire of trotters—"the great ALMONT,"—is a rich bay, with black points, and no white, 16½ hands high, foaled in 1874, at Fairlawn Stock Farm, near Lexington Kentucky, and registered in the "American Trotting Register." He is bred nearly like his more than half brother Allie West, 5-year-old, record 2:25, and sire of the wonderful colt "Jewett" the fastest 3-year-old the world has ever produced; record 2:23½. ALWOOD'S sire, the noted ALMONT, has sired more colts with records of 2:30 and better than has any other sire of his age now living. He cost his owner $15,000 and in less than two years later an offer of $30,000 was actually refused for him. There is a great concentration of speedy blood in ALWOOD and the good size and the high finish of the colts he sired while at Fairlawn are a guarantee of his success as a sire. He is remarkably sure in the stud and is believed to be just the horse to cross with the Bellfounder and other good mares of this country.

TERMS.

SATURDAY.....MARCH 20, 1880.

MILLINERY.—For choice selections in millinery goods, call on Mrs. LeMont.

FLAG POLE.—Vigilant Hook & Ladder Co., have raised a neat and tasty flag pole in front of their building.

FINE HAMS.—Some of the best California hams ever brought to this country are to be found at Adams Bro.'s. They are of excellent quality and selling rapidly.

RELIGOUS.—There will be services at the United Brethren church, next Sunday night. Services begin at half-past; seven oclock. A. W. Shepp will deliver the sermon.

NEW AD.—James Wheelan, the well known saddler, has considerable to say to our readers in this issue. His place of business, on Main street, is well stocked with a fine assortment of harness and saddles, which are well worthy of inspection.

$500 REWARD.—This reward is offered by the county for the arrest of the party or parties who murdered the man recently found so brutally murdered in the Touchet. Our County Commissioners are much to be commended for this action.

STRANGE ACCIDENT.—As Jack Kay was drawing the cork from a beer bottle, at Keiling & Bender's saloon, the bottle came into two pieces, inflicting a severe wound in the hand holding the bottle. For a long time it bled profusely but it is now fast healing.

COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE.—A good looking young business man, married a little less than a year ago, and who lives not a thousand miles from the post-office, was seen very busily fixing up a bran new baby buggy. We offer our congratulations in advance.

THE STINE HOUSE.—The addition to this celebrated hostelrie is rapidly going up, and when completed will be a credit to our city. Fred Stine informs us that he will have the whole building cemented on the outside like Paine Bro's. building. This will add vastly to its appearance.

POSTPONEMENT.—The auction sale of Real Estate by Messrs.—Chapman and Boyer, advertised to come off to day, has been postponed until Saturday the 27th instant, at 10 A. M. at which time his firm will offer for sale valuable lots in all portions of Walla Walla city, on the most reasonable terms.

BENEFIT OF A. F. JESSUP.—To night at City Hall will be presented the "Streets of New York," a drama in six acts, for the benefit of A. F. Jessup, who is well known to our theatre going citizens as a very polite and accomodating usher. We bespeak for him a crowded house for he is very deserving.

STONE THROWING.—On Monday afternoon a little girl received a very severe wound on the forehead by having a stone thrown at her by a big boy. The parents of these mischevious youngsters should warn them against such tricks, and if a talking does no good they should receive a sound thrashing.

PATENT REFRIGERATOR.—Mr. G. W. Philbrick is the patentee of a new refrigerator. Ed. Williams, at the Gem saloon, has one which is an ornament to his place. Mr. T. T. Burgess is having a similar one put up in the Kentucky liquor house. By all accounts it will soon be in general use; at any rate it deserves to.

WHEAT SACKS.—So much loss has been occasioned to underwriters by ships being lost at sea through loading in bulk, that no risks will be taken unless the grain is sacked. This will cause a great demand for sacks, and, as a matter of course, their price will advance. This should induce our grangers and wheat growers generally, to take time by the forelock and order their sacks without any further delay. In this case delays are dangerous.

CRYSTAL WEDDING.—On Friday last the friends of our wide awake and esteemed fellow citizen, Major Rees, gave him a benefit in the shape of a surprise party on the occasion of the fifteenth anniversary of his happy wedding. It is needless to say that every one who could attended to congratulate him and his estimable wife on so memorable an event. The house was crowded and a very pleasant evening was spent. Major, we wish you and your spouse many more such anniversaries and "may we be there to see."

LAND JUMPERS.—Very many, without much regard for means and methods, are doing their level best to get hold of some land. Claims are being jumped on all sides, and the luckless chap who is unfortunate enough to be open to plunder is pretty sure to get nipped. It gives us pleasure to note several failures, however. The luxuriant growth of cereals which the nimble jumpers so confidently relied upon to tide them over their next winters' board, (he has no washing, as a rule) like Pat's flea, "wasn't there."

FIFE WHEAT.—Mr. H. P. Isaacs brought with him from Milwaukee, a small parcel of Scotch Fife wheat, the variety grown in the North-western states and known among dealers as No. 2 Milwaukee spring. It is a small dark berry that appears insignificant in comparison with the larger white wheat that we raise; it makes a whiter flour, but less nutricious. We gave the few grains we had to a farmer friend who will plant them to see whether it will improve or deteriorate in our soil. After harvest we will be able to make a seed distribution to getters up of clubs. It would be as well for us if the subscriptions were sent in at once and not wait for the seed, as the crop may be short.

NEZ PERCE WAR CLAIMS.—Private advices from Washington give us the gratifying news that Ainslie, of Idaho, and Maginniss, of Montana, have introduced a bill into Congress to allow each volunteer who served in the Nez Perce war one dollar per diem, for so long as he served and the money expended for horses. This is nothing but right, but it will no doubt be very satisfactory to our Walla Walla and Columbia county volunteers to hear that the name of their own delegate was not mentioned in this connection. It is to be hoped that the next time our Territory sends a man to Congress they will send one in sympathy with the majority in Congress; 'tis true Brents introduces lots of bills but that is all he does do: not one of them will ever pass, for he is thought very little of in the Capitol of our Nation. So says our correspondent, and judging by actual results there is truth in his statement.

NEW COURT HOUSE.—Monday, March 15th, was the day set apart by the Commissioners of Walla Walla County for the examination of plans for the new Court House, to be built on the block where now stands the old shanty, called a jail. At one o'clock, on the said day, eight plans with their detail and specifications were placed before the Commissioners, and after a critical examination, lasting through the afternoon and the following day, the plans drawn and compiled by F. P. Allen & Sinpson were unanimously adopted, without any changes whatever, excepting as to number of cells in basement, which is to be used as a jail, and the vault in the Auditor's room, which is to be a little larger; with these two exceptions the plans received their hearty approval from dome to basement. The Commissioners deserve the commendation of our people for adopting a plan drawn at home, instead of relying on "foreign" talent to supply the county's wants—two of the plans being drawn in California and one in Portland. The following architects sent in plans for competition: Donovan & Son and S. H. Williams & Son, of California, W. H. Williams, of Portland, H. S. Laird, O. F. Wegener, H. P. Middaugh, Allen & Simpson and John La Romer, of Walla Walla. All the plans presented were well executed, which accounts for the time taken in making a selection. Bids will be opened for the construction of the building on the 1st of May.

C. W. WHEELER,
Supt. Schools, Walla Walla, Co. W. T.
March, 13th, 1880.

UNEMPLOYED.—A man who must have been a vertible partizan of Denis Kearney, the "working man"(?) came into our office last Friday forenoon and, after telling us that he was a poor man out of employment, asked us if we had anything for him to do. He said a friend told him he could make a dollar by "jist turnin' a crank." We told him to come around at one o'clock and we would find some work for him to do. He went out of the door full of gratitude toward us. One o'clock came, no man. Two o'clock, no unemployed. Three o'clock, no poor man. Half-past three, and we rustled around and got two "moon-eyed lepers" who were employed sawing wood around the corner. Now we would cheerfully give our "turnin' the crank" to white men, but if we can't get them we must employ the despised "heathen Chinee." Our unemployed friend no doubt has gone to the "sand lots" to deliver a speech on "labor versus capital.

IMPROVEMENTS.—During the past week, great improvements have been made in the appearance of the red brick stores on Main street. The building occupied by Messrs. Hawley & Wallace has been renovated and painted a grey stone color, giving it a very substantial and business like appearance. This, with the name of the firm in large gold letters, entirely changes the appearance of the building. Messrs. Johnson, Rees & Winans followed suit and had theirs painted the same way. Ed. Herriff, of the Post Office Book Store, and M. Colt, not to be left in the rear, did likewise, and all the buildings look much nicer; it does away with the raw look brick buildings always have. We hope others will follow the example set by our enterprising friends.

STRAW STOVES.—The Mennonites in immigrating to the North-western states, introduced their straw burning stoves with which they warm their houses and do their cooking. It is made of brick, is five feet long, six feet high and thirty inches wide, and placed in the centre of the house so as to heat all the rooms. It has at the bottom an ash box, then, one above another, a fire box, cooking stove, smoke passage, hot air chamber and drum with smoke escape to chimney. It is fed with a fork for fifteen or twenty minutes, depending on the temperature of the outer air, twice or three times a day. The fire box is four feet long and eighteen inches high and wide. Four hundred brick will make one. Somebody try one and report.

IRISH RELIEF FUND.—The subscription lists of the Irish Relief Fund, will remain open until the 31st inst., Those who have not already donated may hand in any sum they wish to give. As the collectors cannot pay domiciliary visits to private residences, they will receive donations at the respective places here mentioned:

District east of 3d street—Frank Paine, office at Paine Bro's., and Frank J. Parker, at the STATESMAN office.

District east of 6th to 3d street—Chris Ennis, at the Empire Market.

District west of 6th and Garrison street—James McAuliff, at Mayor's office.

WM. G. CULLEN, Secretary.

FIRED OUT AS A BAD EGG.—M. C. Harris—if that is his true name—received the grand bounce from the STATESMAN office last week for dishonesty. He has worked for this office, but is not in any manner connected therewith. It is to be hoped that none of our citizens have allowed him to "get in" on them He received a fair trial here, but when weighed in the balance was found badly wanting. We hear he has gone below; if so, then, "good bye, Mister Harris."

Joy go with you, and a bottle of moss,
If you never come back, 'Twill be no
Great loss. Pass him around.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—This day was devoted principally to raising a fund to be sent to the famine stricken sufferers of "our sister isle." Our citizens ever ready to assist distress, opened their purses so liberally that Mr. Wm. Cullen reports to us that nearly $1000 has been collected. This is due in a great measure to the efforts of Father Duffy, Messrs. Cullen, Ennis and Dacres. To these gentlemen belong the credit of raising the sum. At night, Mr. James Ward gave a benefit for the same purpose at the City Hall, one-half of the gross proceeds to go to the general fund. Of course the hall was crowded, and the actors were at their best.

A CHANCE FOR DAYTON.—From good and reliable authority we hear that the W. W. and Columbia River Railroad will be changed to a broad guage before many months and the road extended from here to Grange city. This will give Dayton a chance to purchase the line and plant and build the road they so much need. There is no part of the upper country where such an investment would pay so much interest on the money expended as this proposition. We hope our enterprising neighbors will take this into consideration at their next railroad meeting.

WALLA WALLA HAPPY.—The "beautiful snow" which, for a short time, gave our streets the appearance they so richly deserve, i. e., of purity, has been relentlessly torn from us, and our citizens are now compelled to "foot it" through about two inches of mud. However, we can stand it for the moisture which transformed the dust to mud, is worth a king's ransom, and all are happy in consequence. Now, if we can only chronicle the disapearance of the grasshoppers we will never more complain.

THE N. P. R. R. LANDS.—If we may judge by the eagerness of our citizens in locating lands on this grant, it may be considered the best investment in the market. The reports industriously circulated by the enemies of this company are not worth noticing. We know of several parties who would not take ten dollars per acre for land on their grant, which but a short time since cost only $2 60 per acre.

SPRING STOCK.—Attention is called to the new "ad." of Schwabacher Bro's. mammoth house in to day's issue. Mr. Sig Schwabacher will return from San Francisco on the 1st with an immense spring stock, embracing everything wanted in this market. Sheep raisers will also be pleased to learn that they pay the highest market price for wool. Call and examine their prices and stock.

MORE BRICK BUILDINGS.—The Odd Fellows have calculated to build during the summer, a handsome building on their lot, corner Main and Fifth streets. The building is to be 60 feet front by 85 feet deep, and two stories high; the lower floor is intended to be used for store-room and the upper room for lodge purposes.

Personal.

Andrew and James Murchie, of Nevada city, arrived here this week and intend locating in this vicinity.

Mr. James Wheelan, who has been out on a land grabbing expedition, has returned looking all the better for his trip. He reports the coldest time he ever felt while out.

Rufus E. Emory, Esq., a substantial citizen from the raging Payette, arrived from thence on Tuesday. His object is to purchase one of Walla Walla's noted horses for stock purposes.

John Silcott, the boss ferryman of Northern Idaho, enjoyed a pleasant time in the city last week. His ferry boats are in constant requisition and he is the successful man he deserves to be.

J. M. Drumheller, of Crab creek, one of the cattle king's of that prosperous section, has been in the city the best part of the week. He has sold cattle to the amount of $30,000, to Virgil Brooks who may now be considered the cattle king of Crab creek.

Mr. Thos. Quinn left during the week for Portland for the purpose of buying the iron work for his new brick building. It is pleasing to chronicle such evidence of prosperity on the part of such a good citizen.

Messrs. Jas. Buchannan, Ed. Brooks and Wm. Coram, well known citizens of Mount Idaho who are identified with that section have been spending a pleasant time in the city the past week. Good men and true, they make friends wherever they go.

Captain A. D. Wass, of Astoria, paid our office the honor of a friendly call during the week, and it gave us pleasure to show him around. He is an honest, out-spoken gentleman and has made many friends during his visit here.

Serg't. Wooten who, since his discharge from the 1st Cavalry, has been holding a very honorable position in the office of Chapman & Boyer, left on Sunday's train for his home in Tennessee. Our old friend sighed for his old home and he departed with the best wishes of his numerous friends.

Marshal Chase, of Boise, passed through the city on Wednesday to attend court at Lewiston. He looks happier than we have ever before seen him and his conversation is so mixed up with talk about babies that it is hard to get at his real meaning. The little fellow is getting along very nicely.

J. D. Hoover, Esq., Colfax's talented lawyer, paid our city a flying visit on Saturday last on business connected with a new brick building he proposes to erect. We are happy to see such an indication of prosperity in our friend. Colfax has a great future before it and Mr. Hoover will do his share in bringing about so desirable a consumation.

Mr. W. S. Newbury, of the firm of Newbury, Hawthorne & Co., of Portland and this city, is now on a visit of combined business and pleasure to the upper country. It is the intention of this enterprising firm to establish branches for the sale of agricultural machinery at all trade centers, and fifteen car loads of implements are now on their way hither for distribution.

C. P. Coburn, Esq., one of Lewiston's most prominent and substantial citizens, arrived in the city on Tuesday. He reports our sister city as prosperous and everything booming around there. Many emigrants are coming in this season. We know from experience that this is one of the best sections in the United States and there is room for all to settle down and become happy and prosperous.

"U. Betcher," the wide-awake Dayton correspondent of the Union, gives "Ovid," the STATESMAN representative, tit for tat in his last batch of items. The fact is they are both good fellows, and we see no cause for jealousy. As a matter of course, the STATESMAN having more subscribers "Ovid" has more readers, but "U. Betcher" is so well fixed with this world's goods that he has no cause for growling. Keep on good terms boys, for the country would be dead without you both.

Mr. J. L. Graden, one of the pioneers of empire in this country but now a prominent citizen of Spangle, in Spokan county, paid us a visit last Saturday. He reports his section of country in a prosperous condition, and emigrants continually pouring in and settling down. He says that the proposed "no fence" law is very unpopular in his county, and a vote cannot be had in its favor. Mr. Graden owns the saw mill at Spangle, and does a good business.

Uncle Jake Miller has left us for a season to recuperate at Paso Roble Hot Springs in San Luis Obispo county. His health has not been of a first-rate order for some months, but the pure air of southern California, and the healing waters of these celebrated springs will rejuvinate him, and we shall see him again younger looking than ever. We imagine ill health to be merely an excuse, and are inclined to the opinion that there is a petticoat at the bottom of it. Anyhow, he has our best wishes.

Hon. B. F. Morris, of Mount Idaho, than whom no man is more thoroughly identified with north Idaho, arrived in town last Saturday on Masonic business. During his stay, as usual, he made many friends and left for his home on Thursday's stage. As an old friend of fifteen years standing, we have always found Mr. Morris a live man, and very popular wherever he went. For years he held responsible official positions in his county, and has done much to develop its enormous mineral wealth. We look upon our old friend as one of the coming men.

Commissioners Proceedings.

Ordered that a reward of $500 be offered by Sheriff for the apprehension and conviction of the party or parties who murdered the man found in the Touchet river near the residence of Harvey Shaw.

Auditor ordered to advertise for bids for County printing.

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL.—This fine building has before been described in the STATESMAN; but not until Thursday, when, in company with some Mount Idaho friends we visited the interior did we have any idea of the management and comfort of its arrangements. We were very pleasantly and kindly received by Sister Joseph, who took great pains to show us over the hospital and describe its internal economy. With our friends we were more than pleased with what we witnessed more particularly with the clean and neat appearance of everything. The bedrooms were as pretty as they could be, and the beds for the patients were as snow in their purity; there are rooms for special patients who wish to be alone; everything is done to make the patients feel at home; the food is of the very best, and there is nothing about the place to make any patient feel that he is in a hospital. The chapel, in one of the largest rooms, is a picture of beauty, and made us feel quite religious. There is now twenty inmates cared for; they choose their own doctors, and, as a rule, they have their own preferences; the dispensary is a fine large room well fitted up with medicines; one of the sisters is quite an expert in making up prescriptions, and attends to that department. The grounds around the building is being ploughed up preparatory to being planted with all the vegetables necessary for the use of the hospital. This institution deserves all the assistance that can be given it, for it is without a peer. No matter where patients come from, all are welcome.

GOOD WORK.—The new Superintendent of the railroad is carrying out his promises to the public beyond their expectations. On Thursday night the boat arrived at Wallula at half-past eight, P. M. and the train in waiting brought them to this city at once, arriving here about eleven.

Go to L. K. G. Smith's branch below the St Louis hotel and ask for "Cuba Y Indianos" the best bit cigar sold.

YE pimpled, blotched and ulcerated victims of Scrofulous diseases, who drag your unclean persons into the company of better men; take Dr. Hyde's Golden Blood Syrup, and purge out the foul corruption from your blood. Restore your health and you will not only enjoy life better, but make your company more tolerable to those who must keep it.

HORSE SALE.—The fine stallion, "Pill Box," until recently owned by Lieut. Wainwright, has been purchased by Hon. B. F. Morris, and taken to Mount Idaho. He is an animal of fine proportions and good pedigree. The upper country is fortunate in having such a fine animal. His owner started with him yesterday.

LADIES LOVE A GOOD CIGAR.—Young men, old men and batchelors, go to L. K. G. Smith's and purchase a box of his newly imported cigars if you wish to be on good terms with the ladies.

MASONIC.—The Scottish Rite masons will celebrate the feast of Maunday Thursday, on the evening of March 25th, to which the wives of the members are invited. A pleasant time is anticipated.

FOR SALE.—I have just secured a few pieces of Soldier's Additional Homestead Warrants. They are for sale to those who apply early to W. H. Reed.

A maiden fair to see.
How nature has endowed her
The pearl of minstrelsy,
She prefers pearl baking powder.

BALL.—We read in an exchange an account of a milkman's ball in Chicago. We think that the figures must have been chalked on the floor and they danced in pumps.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS, SUCH AS COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

THE FEW COMPOSITIONS, WHICH HAVE won the confidence of mankind and become household words, amount not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as AYERS CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden sickness. Prepared by

AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY!

THE CELEBRATED BAIN WAGONS.

The Leading Wagon of the United States and the Best Wagon Made.

The great and constantly increasing popularity of the Bain Wagon is due to the extra care taken in selecting material, the thorough seasoning of all the wood before using, the rigid inspection to which the work is subjected at its various stages, the employment of nothing but the best skilled free labor, (no Convict labor being used), in discarding piece work and paying mechanics by the day, thus insuring honest work and producing a wagon which for strength, durability, and lightness of draft, is unequalled by any other wagon made. Full Round Edge Tires, projecting over the felloes and protecting them from wear, oil cups with Brass Screw Caps, and patent Skein tightners, will be on all Bain Wagons imported the coming season.

THE CELEBRATED EUREKA GANG PLOW

Has won itself the first place over all opposition; has been successful in more plowing contests, and has met with a more extensive sale than any Gang Plow ever invented. Its success is due largely to its thorough construction, its heavy wrought iron beams, strong frame, and wheels that enable it to stand a heavy pull. Its Double Lever and Land Guage makes it the plow for general work and hillside; its slip share, employing but one bolt with a big slot to fasten it on is easily got at, and has proven highly satisfactory.

SULKIES.

We have a large stock of both Evans and Garden City Sulkies that must be sold. They are too well known to need further description.

WALKING PLOWS.

The Western Queen still has the lead for breaking sod, and as a turf and stubble plow the Scotch Clipper is the best ever brought to this market, and never fails to give satisfaction. Our Moline and Garden City Stubble Plows have long been the fatorites, and we have some improved styles this season.

BROAD CAST SEEDERS.

The MONITOR has an adjustable force-feed; sows all kinds of grain with equal regularity and exactness; never chokes or clogs. We still continue to carry a stock of the SUPERIOR Seeder, which is first class in every respect.

THE MONITOR AND SUPERIOR DRILLS.

Both the MONITOR and SUPERIOR are especial favorites with the farmer who cultivates highly.

HARROWS.

LaDow's Jointed Pulverizer and Bayliss' Patent Wheel Harrows, both of Steel Discs and improved pattern, are working their way through the land at an astonishing rate. We have recently reduced the price of Bradley's Reversible Harrows. Scotch and Moline Harrows always one hand.

"Mansfield" Portable and Stationary Steam Engines.

These Engines combine lightness with ample power, and economy of fuel and water in the greatest degree, being the only Portable Engine manufactured in the United States having Steam Jacket and Balance Steam Valve. For mechanical construction, accessibility of all its parts, regularity of speed and thorough workmanship, THIS ENGINE HAS NO RIVAL IN THE WORLD.

THE NEW ECONOMIZER ENGINE.

In Agricultural Engines which require frequent removals, it becomes an object of great importance to have as little weight as possible to transport, and yet have the material of sufficient strength, and put together with skill—to withstand the hardships to which they are subject, and especially the Thresher's Engine, which is probably subjected to more abuses than almost any other class of engines, as they are moved very often and over all kinds of roads. In these respects the manufacturers of this Engine have taken great pains to build an engine and boiler that will stand the test for years. We invite competition with those of other makers.
