TERRITORY OF WASHINGTON, } ss.
County of Walla Walla.

I, W. C. Painter, County Auditor, in and for said County and Territory, do hereby certify that the foregoing exhibit is a true and correct account of the finances of said County for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1881.

W. C. PAINTER, Auditor.

Recent Decisions.

Common Carriers.

Pennsylvania railroad company, vs. Miller, Sup. Ct. Ohio.

The liability of a carrier of passengers for the safety of their baggage, does not extend to the contents of a trunk consisting of samples of merchandise belonging to a traveling salesman. But the carrier, by taking the property into his charge and putting it into a warehouse for safe keeping, assumes the relation of an ordinary bailee, and is bound to take such care of the property as a man of ordinary prudence would of his own, under like circumstances.

Negotiable Contracts.

Banister vs. Ruble, Sup. Ct., Minn.

When certain undertakings, given on account of the purchase price of a piano, provided for the payment of a certain sum at a certain time, and in case of default made it optional with the payer to retake possession of the instrument, title to remain in him until payment, held that the money was not payable absolutely so as to make an indorsement necessary, but they were properly assignable as choses in action.

Conditional Deed.

McCleary vs. Ellis, Sup. Ct., Iowa.

A conveyed land to J for life, and after J's death to J's children. If J should leave no children the land should go to G and his children. The deed provided that the land should not be alienated by J, nor be sold for debts. Held that the condition against alienation and liability for debts was void.

Contract Rules.

Turner et. al, vs. Webster, Sup. Ch., Kan.

Where the parties contract for the doing of certain work, and the work is done and accepted, and it appears that there was a misunderstanding as to the price to be paid for it, the law rejects the understanding of each and awards reasonable compensation. The same rule obtains where an agent is employed to contract for work, and in good faith and with reasonable care and diligence makes the contract, although such reasonable compensation exceeds the sum which the agent was authorized to promise.

Fixtures as personality.

Smith vs. Wagoner, Sup. Ct., Wisconsin.

Where a junior chattel mortgagee took possession of mortgaged fixtures and severed them from the real estate with which they were connected, to subject them to sale to satisfy his mortgage, held that he could not, as against a prior chattel mortgage, assert that such fixtures were part of the realty. When all the parties have seen fit to treat what might otherwise be fixtures and part of the realty as personal property, the law will consider such fixtures, as between the parties, personal property to all intents and purposes.

Master and Servant.

Baltimore & Allegheny railroad company, Sup. Ct., Pennsylvania.

A master is not an insurer of the absolute safety of tools furnished to his workmen. He is bound to provide them with safe tools, but he does not engage that they will always continue in the same condition. Any defect which may become apparent in their use it is the duty of the servant to observe and report to his master. But a master is bound to know that machinery used for the purpose of loading stones with the aid of a derrick will only a limited time, and it is his duty to renew it at proper intervals. He cannot furnish a sound rope and fold his arms until by actual breaking it is demonstrated to be insecure.

Pomological.

Villard got the persimmons.

What will he do with it?

He says he will bring one of it over the mountains when it gets fully ripe. We never cared much for persimmons, anyhow.—Olympia Courier.

OLEOMARGARINISTS are said to put hairs in their goods to aid the deception.

Boynton in Peru.

The Champion Swimmer's Adventures in the Chilean War.

"I went into the Peruvian service just full in the torpedo business. I sailed under the assumed name of Paul Delaport. Had I been allowed to carry my plans into execution, I think I could have destroyed the Chilian fleet, with 10,000 troops aboard, that landed the invading army on Peruvian soil. I think my torpedo boat to escape capture would have joined the Peruvian fleet in Callao harbor. The Chilians in Peru are like a swarming Chorillos. The enemy, with bombs and shells, drove us out, and we retreated to Miraflores. The enemy acted brutally at Chorillos; they butchered thousands of men, women and children in cold blood. The Peruvian Indians were just as bloodthirsty. I saw one of them murder a young German, wounded prisoner, who fought with the Chilians; he was a nephew, I am told, of Gen. Von Moltke, the great general."

"Were the Peruvians game birds?"

"Not over game and some few of them cowards. The battle of Miraflores was the hottest kind of a fight. The air was filled with bullets as with a swarm of flies. The foreign ministers were almost scared to death. I saw Minister Christiancy running under full sail across the fields toward Lima. He was in his shirt sleeves. It was a go-as you please race for life. The Peruvians were utterly routed. Even the mules, with the ammunition in sacks on their backs, stampeded, and the powder of the fighters ran short. All steered for Lima. There murder and rapine reigned with bloody hands. I was placed at the head of a company of Americans, and, with other foreigners, fought for order. The negroes were the most savage portion of the mob. The poor Chinamen were indiscriminately butchered and robbed."

"Do you have any hope for Peru, now under the heels of her conqueror?"

"It is hard to say. Parolo, the Dictator, is a brave and good man, and an excellent general. With a few good men-of-war he could, I think, restore the republic. Let the Chilian fleet be destroyed and the Peruvians would soon annihilate their invaders."

"Words cannot paint the horrors. The Chilians are in occupation and they are brutal. It was a common sight to see a squad of Chilian soldiers wheel out of the barracks, followed by a few wretched, hollow-eyed Peruvians, bare-headed and in chains, priests in the robes beside them, holding up the crucifix and offering consolation. At the first public square they would halt, fasten the poor devils to posts and trees, and shoot them down like dogs. Even court-martials were ignored. I have seen the Chilian soldiers tie up the poor Peruvians in the main streets and flog them until their backs were covered with blood. The women, thank God, were not molested; they are very pretty and braver than the men. They intensely hate the invaders, but generally keep indoors. As I left Lima I saw a frightful, horrible scene. On the battlefield of Miraflores there were many dead—5,000 Chilians and 3,500 Peruvians. The vanquished had fled; the victors were too intent on plunder and rapine to turn grave diggers. The corpses were swollen into enormous proportions under the tropical sun, and emitted the foulest odors. Something had to be done; so the Chilians hired a lot of Chinamen to burn the bodies. The heathens would punch holes in each body, pour in coal oil and then apply fire. As I passed by the battlefield by moonlight, a blue flame issued out of each corpse, giving a still ghastlier hue to the swollen and distorted faces of the dead. The horrid sight will be with me to my dying day."—Washington Post Interview.

THE money brought to the United States by foreign immigrants is estimated at $100 apiece, and the number of immigrants who landed on our shores in 1880, was 593,702. Accepting this estimate these people brought to our country over fifty-nine million dollars last year, which vast sum figured not at all in swelling the great trade balance in our favor.

The Revised Bible.

Although the revision of the Bible just completed has been accomplished by men both learned and devout, with the full sanction of the English Church, yet on all sides we find may who are disposed to find fault with it, and do not hesitate to express their regret that the work was ever undertaken. It is, of course, only natural that people should feel some amount of chagrin at seeing so many radical changes, or rather corrections, made in a work which they and their forefathers have been taught to regard as absolutely infallible. A number of amendments made by the revisers completely alter the meaning of a text, and show plainly that, whether intentionally or not, the sense of the original is often grossly misconstrued in the King James translation, which has hitherto been regarded as being almost as much inspired as the original. When people have pinned an unquestioning faith to these misconstructions for so many generations, and have hooted down the infidels who dared to hint that the original translators had committed any mistakes, it is rather a shock to them to have the latter fact confirmed by such orthodox and high authority as the late Body of Revisors. With this feeling we are not much in sympathy, however. Truth is truth, and should be welcomed no matter at what sacrifice. Our dead ancestors are probably not a whit the worse off now because their English Bible was in places made to say what the inspired authors of the original had never dreamed of saying. At the same time all intelligent and educated people will agree with the critic of a great London paper in his remarks, telegraphed the other day, to the effect that many of the alterations have been made, not because the King James translation was in error, but because the simple style of the English did not suit the precise and pedantic notions of the learned revisers. In other words, the latter have attempted to modernize the style of the sacred volume, than which nothing could be more incongruous, indiscreet, or in worse literary taste. No work in the English language, unless it be the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer, is so beautiful an example of pure and strong English as the Bible, and it seems a great pity that the revisers should have seen fit to taint this "well of English undefiled" with their hypercritical ideas of literary elegance.—News Letter.

THE bulk of the people of the United States have ceased to regard the movements of the great railway monopolies with anything more than a lazy interest. The aggrandizement goes steadily forward, and protest is left to excitable persons with nervous energy and not too much intelligence. Yet the movement is one of vital concern to this country, which is fast becoming a mere appendage of colossal enterprises controlled by a single head, brilliant and cold-blooded, and a single hand, steady and remorseless. But while America is apathetic in the matter, waiting placidly until the meshes of the mighty monopoly have fully caught her, the Granite Giant of American railway kings have attracted a curious int rest across the water. The London Telegraph, for instance, notes the progress of Jay Gould, and says: "Merely pausing to remark, parenthetically, that such a phenomenon as Mr. Jay Gould could be created by no other country in the world than the United States at their present stage of development and civilization, we will not venture now to inquire how far it is true that the vast monopolies existing in its centre threaten to shatter the fabric of the union. The time is not far distant when at least five transcontinental American trunk lines will connect the Atlantic with the Pacific, exclusive of the one contemplated and likely, sooner or later, to be completed in the Dominion of Canada. Each of these American trunk lines is likely to be controlled by one man at its head, unless—which is not impossible—more than one of them may fall into the absolute possession of Mr. Jay Gould. As we have already said, he has recently got hold of the entire telegraph system in the United States; and new submarine cables connecting the North American continent with Europe on the east, with Asia in the south, and with Australia in the southwest are said to be the latest out comes of his far-reaching brain."

Amber Cane Culture.

There is nothing gained in planting this crop very early in the season. Like all plants of southern origin, it does best when planted after the soil and atmosphere become quite warm. If put in the ground very early, the seed will be a long time germinating, and weeds and grass will take possession of the soil, rendering cultivation very difficult. If not planted until the weather becomes quite warm, the plants will appear above ground in a short time and will grow very rapidly. Land for raising northern cane should be cleared of the seeds of grass and weeds. It is not best to prepare it till a day or two before it is to be planted. The rows should be as nearly straight as possible so that a cultivator can be run between them close to the plants without injuring them. There is a great advantage in going through the field with a hand-hoe as soon as the plants make their appearance. The ground between the hills can be worked profitably with the narrow cultivator or plow. But the ground that forms the hill itself should be stirred with the hoe. It should be employed not only for stirring the soil and killing weeds and grass, but for removing hard lumps of earth from the small plants, and for drawing fine soil close to them. Seed should be tested before planting. Enough should be put in the ground to secure a good stand. If more stalks appear than are wanted, the number should be reduced to five or six. As the seed is quite small, it should not be covered deep. After the soil is drawn over it, it should be rendered very compact with the front or back of the hoe, so that it will not become very dry and prevent germination. After the plants are four or five inches high, and the weather becomes quite warm, growth is very rapid. Cane will endure drought much better than corn. It can also be grown on soil that will produce but a small amount of corn. Strong and rank manure should not be applied to land intended for this crop, as it will produce a bad flavor in the sugar and syrup from it.

FILIAL.—M. H. DeYoung, of the San Francisco Chronicle, made the run, in a special train, from Chicago to Council Bluffs in twelve hours and twenty-four minutes, with three changes of engines. The distance is 491 miles. Mr. DeYoung received a telegram at Boston that his mother was dangerously ill at San Francisco, hence his haste. He reached home before she died.

The Remarkable Confession of a Dying Assassin—The Secret of a Murder Out.

CINCINNATI, May 21.—The mystery in which the assassination of Prof. Crowley, of Mt. Vernon Female College, of this city, has been buried for twenty years, has been dispelled by the confession of a dying man in the hospital at Nashville, Tenn.

Crowley defended a lady from the insults of some roughs in the street, one night, in 1860. Soon after, a party attacked him from behind; one reached around and stabbed him in the breast. He put his hands on the wound and cried: "My God, I am killed!" He staggered around three times and fell dead. No clue to the murderers was ever found. The dying man says he and two companions did it. They hid in the woods on the hills two days and then went to New Orleans. On their first night there, while crossing an alley a stranger of the same size, voice and manner as Crowley, picked a fight with them and stabbed the one who had stabbed Crowley, in the same place. He put his hands over the wound and cried: "My God, I am killed!" staggered three times around and fell dead the same as Crowley. This terrorized the other two who became wanderers out west. Another was stabbed by a stranger and killed. The third came back to confess, but his courage failed until on the point of death. The man died soon after telling the above story. It is believed to be true.

The Bible Boom.

The revised Testament is by all odds the most successful new book ever published in the United States. The people have waited impatiently for certain new histories and novels from time to time and ordered immense quantities; but never before did orders for a single book amount to a hundred and seventy-five thousand copies in a single day and truckmen and retail dealers flock before daylight to the publishers' warehouse and fight for places. The book seems in demand everywhere; even in Wall street several hundred copies were sold, for the brokers were naturally anxious to learn whether the fate of extortioners, as defined in the old edition of the book, had been mitigated to any extent by the Committee of Revision. Free thinkers and politicians were in hot haste to buy, for there had been a rumor abroad that hell was suppressed by the new edition. People who are certain in their own minds that they are going to heaven risked a price of a book in order to learn whether the descriptions in the Book of Revelation had been made any more definite. Meanwhile modern authors are in despair. What chance is there for a new novel when the leading literary attraction of the day can be bought at the price of the cheapest pirated reprint? Such a day in the publishing business never was known before and never will be again, for there is but one author who can command in advance the attention and money of all classes of the people.

We have received from a lady friend in Dayton the following poem commencing:

On woodlands ruddy with autumn,
The amber sunshine lies,
I look on the beauty around me
And tears come into my eyes.

This little gem is either three months early or six months late. There are no woodlands ruddy with autumn in the vicinity of Walla Walla just now, and the dearth of amber sunshine is simply phenomenal. We cannot blame the young lady for crying—the fact that she lives in Dayton is a sufficient excuse for her emotion, but with a few days experience helping her mother beat carpets, break crockery, and doing other acts of destruction disguised under the name of housecleaning, this sadness will wear off.

A song for the girl I love—
God love her!
A song for the eyes of tender shine,
And the fragrant mouth that melts on mine,
The shimmering tresses uncontrolled
That clasp her neck with that unsold gold;
The blossom mouth and the dainty chin,
And the little dimples out and in—
The girl I love—
God love her!

We walked in the garden—
Baby and I—
The blossoms blew open
As we drew nigh.
Gay carol of welcome
The bluebird sang,
And all the lily-bells
Merrily rang.
Was Baby for Baby
With eyes of blue,
That the sun came peeping
The green hedge through?
Was it all for Baby—
The bloom and song?
If you answer me yes,
You'll answer wrong!

The exports of breadstuffs for the ten months ending April, 30th, 1881, from all customs districts of the United States were valued at $225,155,801, as against $233,387 for the same period in the previous year.

Sojourner Truth, the aged African, has been very sick this spring; but having now recovered, proposes again to start out on one of her lecturing tours in the interest of her race. She is 106 years old, never went to school a day in her life and cannot read or write her own name. She lives in a quiet, secluded cottage which she purchased with her own money, earned by lecturing.

THE New York Commercial Advertiser has just put in a new press, R. Hoe & Co's. latest invention, which prints from type on both sides of an endless sheet or roll of paper cuts it into sheets and delivers them open or folded, as may be desired, at one operation. It turns out 16,000 to 20,000 papers per hour, it is, in fact, very like the Hoe four cylinder type revolving machine, with the perfecting apparatus added.

I'll try you, anyway." And that clerk was an honest boy, but he understood human nature and knew how to get a job.

The "dear Hubbell" letter was, it is known, called forth by an appeal made by the dear fellow to Mr. Garfield during the dark days of the campaign. It has been rumored that the appeal represented the disinclination of star route Brady to pay anything himself or to get money from the star route contractors unless asked to do so directly by Mr. Garfield. The president has now given to the Tribune for publication what purports to be Hubbell's original letter. In it dear Hubbell says: "General Brady, of the postoffice department, seems to think that you do not care for his aid, and is for some unknown reason inclined to be cool toward you. I am satisfied that, on an intimation from you that such things would be appreciated, he would perhaps do something for me. Indeed, he has intimated as much to me. Won't you please set him right, or in some way express a desire his aid, for I need help very much just now?" No more damaging exposure of the resorts of Christian statesmanship could be made. Brady, the king of the star route ring, seemed to think that the republican candidate for president did not care for his aid, and he was "cooling" toward Garfield. He had intimated to dear Hubbell that if the republican candidate would "set him right," or "in some way express a desire for his aid," the star route purse strings would be unloosened, and he would "do something" for the cause. Thereupon the "dear Hubbell" was written, shown to Brady, hawked about by him among the star route contractors, and held by them as security against the perhaps future president. Let honest men judge what this means. Let the "Christian statesmen" who have been assailing the pure and high-minded Roscoe Conkling hide their heads in shame. But let us have no more indignation from that source at least, against the corruption of the star route ring.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

CAMERON and Mitchell, the stalwart Senators from Pennsylvania, have also a grievance, and it is almost as serious as that which provoked Mr. Conkling to revenge himself upon the administration by knocking his own head against the wall. The senators desired the appointment of a man of their choice as a surveyor of the port of Philadelphia, but the president disregarded their recommendation, and nominated a person not of the Cameron clan for the office. The Pennsylvania "boss" did not make a violent Democrat out of him, and set his organs and the whole gang howling lustily about Garfield's base ingratitude and bad faith, nor did he send his resignation to the governor. He went to work quietly to procure action on the appointment, and succeeded, with out any of the noise and fuss and howling which characterized the New York senator's opposition to Robertson. But then, Cameron is not a great man, as Conkling is. If he were, he might now be cooling his heels in the legislative lobby, and considering how much it would cost to get himself re-elected. As it is, he may find solace, in a secular sort of way, in swearing mildly and judiciously—not too loudly, because there are many offices to be looked after, about the general obstinacy and "cussedness" of Ohio presidents.

RECENT advices speak of the discovery of a new gold field in the most inland part of New South Wales, which is causing some excitement among the gold mining community. The scene of the find is the Gray ranges, a wild elevated country in the extreme north-west of the colony, and on the borders of South Australia. Apart from the nature of deposits, which are said to be rich, the discovery is interesting as a matter of science, as being a deviation from the rule which has hitherto prevailed, that all of the mineral wealth, and especially, the gold deposits, in Australia, have been found within a short distance from the coast. The nearest village to the Gray Ranges is Wilcannia, on the Darling river, some 600 miles from Sidney, and 220 miles from the gold field. Water is scarce, and only to be met with at distances of 50 miles apart, so that intending prospectors will have to encounter more than the usual amount of difficulty.

FRANK J. PARKER.....EDITOR.

SATURDAY,.....JUNE 11 1881.

BEN HOLLIDAY, it is said, will shortly return to Oregon. In which case we expect to see his appendage, Scotty of the Oregonian, again fasten himself unto him. How Ben has been bled in the past by this vampire!!

IF the story of the capture of the Northern Pacific road by Henry Villard be correct in its details, Frederick Billings was won over to the scheme by the honeyed words of Carl Schurz. Billings transferred for $9,000,000 a block of stock which cost him $75,000 seven years ago.

By our despatches it will be seen that the British marines up to date only use the bayonet. The government wish to prevent bloodshed as long as possible but by the way things are looking in that most unhappy land the dogs of war will soon be let loose.

THE Seattle Post caps the climax of dead and dreary alleged newspapers. It is a very unpleasant duty for the STATESMAN to call attention to such shameless frauds imposed upon the public under such shallow pretenses, but it is really a waste of time to even open such miserable sheets as the Post. Seattle is a live city and should be represented by a live morning newspaper.

ELSEWHERE will read with interest an article respecting Mr. Oakes. This gentleman has risen to his present high and responsible position by the sheer force of gentlemanly integrity in every capacity he has filled during his career. Treachery in every shape and form has been his abhorrence. In regard to what he says that the consolidation of the two roads he supposed would only be a question of time, it may be as well to state, that such is the confidence in this community of the fairness of Mr. Villard and his associates, that if any one man is to have control of both roads he is the man who is preferred above any other.

DR. BAKER turns up to be a p. b. in more senses than one; it was at first thought that "public benefactor" expressed the sentiments of the community, but in a fit of generosity this morning he has come out as a private as well as public benefactor. He actually presented us with a one cent piece, which we shall ever cherish, and gaze upon with pride and admiration at being the recipient of such munificient generosity. In the mean time will the generous donor please accept the following rare tribute, in return for the value he has placed upon himself:

The worst speculation the market holds forth,
To every enlightened lover of pelf,
To buy Baker up at the price he is worth,
And sell him at that he puts on himself.

A FEW days ago the all-wise, fully-informed and super-intelligent editor of the Oregonian, in speaking of the Hon. Theophilus French, Railroad Commissioner for the government, said:

"It may be as well to observe that Mr. French, who is reported as talking in this authoritative way, is not "the government," but only an accounting clerk of a bureau, whose utterances carry as much authority as those of any one of his ten or twenty thousand fellow clerks in the service of the government."

Now, Scotty, if you knew anything at all you should know better than that. Mr. French holds an office created by special act of Congress. He was appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate. He gets more dollars in the way of salary than you earn cents. In all legislation relating to railroads, subsidized or aided by the government, he is the adviser of the Secretary of the Interior. In all matters between the government and such roads, he is consulted by the Attorney-General. He was largely the author of the well-known Thurman bill. His office, as first created, was that of Railroad Auditor, but subsequently by Act of Congress it was changed to that of Railroad Commissioner. Scotty, you are ignorant and ill informed, and a vice in the first rudiments of governmental affairs. Seclude yourself. Get an indestructible linen-lined primer, study it, and if possible learn something.

It may be that Le Duc's successor, Dr. King, is the very man wanted, but he possesses, it would seem, the fatal gift of influence. The Sun says of him: "Dr. King is considered a handsome man by farmers' wives. He wears a Prince Albert coat, buttoned closely, and his rich vest seems to proceed from the region of the middle button. He has the faculty of becoming eloquent on topics little calculated to inspire men to eloquence, and can speak to any length and breadth on any subject without forethought.—When he rises in the tent at a cattle show he waxes eloquent upon the soil of the surrounding hills, even the squashes seem to look their necks to get a better view of him, the conscious pumpkin turn a deeper red, and the bunches of seed-corn pick up their ears. Dr. Loring is also called to an oration at short notice on certain social occasions and that sort of thing, but he has never been known to refrain from being eloquent." Still he appears to be without a hobby, and a Commissioner of Agriculture who doesn't run to a horse is a rare bird. He will probably be able to distribute seeds as thoroughly as the next man.

THE Oregonian cries fraud and says that the Revised Testament the STATESMAN published in supplement form was bogus, just as that the Chicago Times perpetrated a fraud in the first instance. Now we have before us a letter from Mr. W. F. Prouty, the enterprising proprietor of the Times, requesting the Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph company to furnish him with the number of words of the Writ, that was cabled to him, and Mr. Clowry, the aforesaid Superintendent in return furnishes the figures which go to show that in two days, Mr. Prouty received no less than 117,399 words. The Chicago Tribune, from which greatest city, was one whole day behind the Times in publishing the Revised Testament, and the Oregonian was FIVE days behind the STATESMAN, and worse than all, after copying and publishing the STATESMAN'S statement, with unparallelled audacity, turns back and says that "no journal of education and critical judgment was deceived by it;" in this Scott writes himself down an ass he is, and acknowledges what every one knew before, i. e. that he is not a journalist. Neither the Chicago Times nor the Oregonian, can hold a candle to the Times or STATESMAN for enterprise. The Oregonian should read the STATESMAN'S version in its paper as reading matter, whereas this paper at great expense, made its thousands of readers a free gift, by publishing in extra. Scott should try not to talk about what he is better versed in; Ben Holliday for instance.

No More Talk.

That there is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip, we all know, and the people of this upper country have experienced more than once the truth of this old adage with more than usual force. At the time of the Jay Cook railroad epoch, all were on the qui vive for the good time they had so long waited and longed for; no doubt had the great crash not have occurred when it did, all the promises would have been carried out, and this section would have been ten years ahead to-day.

While there is no doubt but that our city will soon have through railroad connection with that inland town known as Portland, there is not so much probability that we shall be connected with other towns of vastly more importance to the trade and welfare of this city. There is an universal wish among all classes of society to be united more closely with Eastern Oregon, and consequently with the railroad system now being concentrated there; by this means in a short time we shall be within hailing distance of Chicago, St. Louis, and other great commercial and money centres. A few days since and we published a short letter from Mr. Villard, on this very subject. The letter was in answer to one we had written for the benefit of this city and country, and we showed him the advantages and mutual benefits that surely would be derived by our being joined with Weston and Pendleton, or some place thereabouts. Our readers will remember that Mr. Villard, in answer stated that Mr. Oakes would soon be here again, and that he was the man to confer with. Now, as there is such a desire for an extension of railroads among our people, it is very evident that the time for talk has gone by, and the time for action has arrived. The first thing to do is for the citizens of Walla Walla, either alone or in combination with the people of other towns along the proposed route, to go to work and secure a complete right of way, so that when Mr. Oakes is here it can be shown that we are in earnest in the matter. The Board of Trade meet to-night, and we respectfully suggest that they take immediate action on this important question.

Our Duty.

Ever since our connection with journalism, we have always deemed it our duty to do all in our power for the advancement of our country. With this idea steadily in view, we have maintained a correspondence with many of the leading men of the nation in regards to the wants and capabilities of our own great commonwealth. Many of them have been continual readers of the STATESMAN, thereby familiarizing themselves with our people, habits and customs, in short, placing them in a light where they may talk and act in an intelligent manner in regards to our far western Washington. The old proverb that "ye shall know them by their fruits" is but verified in a private letter we have just received from Justice Stephen J. Field of Washington, D. C., a gentleman whom we have only had the pleasure of meeting but once, at which meeting we advanced the most urgent wants of our Territory in as full a manner as could be done in five minutes. He says * * * "Your paper is one of great worth, and I am glad to know that it is well sustained in your Territory." * * * The Hon. Stephen J. Field leaves for Europe and Asia in a few days, to be absent several months, and while there can do us considerable good in the way of immigration. By reading the STATESMAN he became acquainted with Washington Territory.

The Northern Pacific.

PHILADELPHIA.—The true story of how Mr. Henry Villard obtained control of the Northern Pacific railroad, and how his suit against the company came to be abandoned, was told to-day by a gentleman who is familiar with the inside history of the secret negotiations the finale of which so surprised the railroad world. Captain Ainsworth, an old Pacific coast man, was the mutual friend who was chosen to pour sweet words into the ear of President Billings. He made long ago a direct offer of $50 for that gentleman's common stock, and $80 for preferred, in all some $9 000,000. Mr. Billings spurned the offer, and insisted that there could be no compromise until all the law suits were withdrawn. He was sincere, and his action disarmed his friends, who owned a majority of the stock of the road. Then Mr. Villard began to use a little diplomacy, and gradually Mr. Billings began to weaken. He was surely under great temptation, and Mr. Villard proved an arch tempter. Mr. Billings owned 50,000 shares of stock that he had paid $1 50 for seven years ago. He was offered $50 cash for it. It was also suggested to him that he was killing himself by hard work, and that it was time that he should retire from business and make provisions for the disposal of his estate. This argument was a potent one, for Mr. Billings is suffering from Bright's disease, and his health is very precarious. Carl Schurz also used his power of persuasion on Mr. Billings, and at last that gentleman whispering "he would never consent" to his friends, consented. A plan of compromise was secretly drawn up and agreed to. It involved a fair arrangement for both sides, and an entire and complete desertion of Mr. Billings by his friends. The points of agreement which were signed by Mr. Villard for himself and associates, and confirmed by the board, were:

1. The recognition of Mr. Villard, by admitting two of his friends to the directory.

2. The building of the Cascade division as soon as the surveys were completed.

3. That Mr. Villard should cast his vote and proxies at the September election for a majority of the present board of directors.

4. That the road from Tacoma to Portland, which is already completed to Helena, should be finished as soon as possible.

5. That the suits should be withdrawn by Mr. Villard, and no further obstacles be placed to the issue of the 180,000 shares of new stock.

6. That Mr. Billings transfer to Mr. Villard $9,000,000 of stock at $50.

It is generally said that there is a private agreement between Mr. Bilings and Mr. Villard, by which the latter will retire from the presidency of the road before June 15, and it is thought that Mr. Villard will succeed him. The compromise and sale of Mr. Bilings' stock gives Mr. Villard undisputed control of the road. It will be seen that Mr. Billings sells Mr. Villard $9,000,000, which cost him $75 000. To get the rest, which was necessary to give Mr. Villard control, Mr. Billings bought $1,000,000 of stock in the market, and took two friends into the secret, who furnished the other $30,000,000 either out of their holdings or by purchases in the market. When the board met, no one knew of this arrangement or the proposed compromise, and when it was announced, Mr. Billings excused his action on the score of ill health. The actual sense of the board on the agreement was not taken. Mr. Villard had control of the road, and there was nothing to do but to agree to what was inevitable; so there was no opposition to it.

SENATOR PLATT'S name was evidently spelled wrong at the christening. The "P" ought to have been an "F."

The Star Route Frauds.

In the New York Sun of May 27th., is the following leaded article, which will be strange news to our readers. By the way it is a good thing for the people of this country that the STATESMAN is a live paper and publishes everything which concerns the people. This is the first intimation our citizens have received that Mr. Blaine is implicated. The Oregonian is bound by motives, both political, personal and sordid, hence will not publish such an item as this:

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The object of Mr. Blaine's recent visit to New York was twofold. Which comes first, each reader may determine for himself.

He has been caught in the Star route swindles. Hence his business in New York was urgent, as well as private and personal.

Weeks ago Brady and Dorsey gave Mr. Blaine notice, that if the prosecutions against them were not stopped, they would foreclose on him. I conclude Blaine has not been able to stop the proceedings.—Hence the beginning of the foreclosure against him. His visit to New York was to fix things up.

This is the shortest way to tell the story; and it is none the less true for being short.

There is more of the same sort coming.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Different motives are alleged for Mr. Blaine's visit to New York at this particular time, when of all other times it was clear that reserve and non-interference in the Senatorial campaign ought to have been the only policy of the Administration. The Secretary-President may make plausible explainations of this appearance on the disturbed scene, but everybody will still believe he never would have taken so hazardous a step without some extraordinary cause to impel it.

If he went to advise the Half-breed leaders in regard to the fight, he selected a most unfortunate moment for his counsel. If he went to suggest a compromise of the complication by consenting to the re-election of the disaffected Senators, upon condition that they would go into caucus at Washington and act in harmony with the party hereafter, accepting the Administration as its head, he made a great blunder.

It is alleged his sudden departure from Washington was prompted by personal reasons, which may be soon disclosed in an unpleasant from. Brady and the Star service jobbers do not mean to die and make no sign. They have already shown Garfield upon his correspondence with "My Dear Hubbell" to levy contributions on the contractors.

They were inside the Republican machine, and knew all about its management. They are familiar with all the leaders and with their operations. They are fully informed of the methods used in the attempt to nominate Mr. Blaine at Chicago. Elkins, McCormick, and other near friends of Blaine who now live in New York, were connected with the Star ring.

Did the Star service contractors, jobbers, and middle men put up money to aid Blaine's nomination? If they did, is there any existing evidence of that alleged fact? These are perplexing questions, and the answers to them would be difficult if it should happen that establishing proofs have fallen into the hands of Mr. Conkling. Mr. Blaine is an impulsive letter writer. Mr. Mulligan is a good witness in that respect. There are other witnesses of the Secretary's capacity who have not surrendered compromising correspondence in his keeping.

If there are letters of Mr. Blaine in the hands of his adversaries which would not help him in public estimation, perhaps they may explain why he hurried off to New York at this critical moment.

It may be possible for the Administration to prevent the return of the recalcitrant Senators by refusing to go into caucus, by standing out separately, and thus throwing the election over, or by a purchased coalition. If either of these alternatives should come to pass, the victory will be a costly one.

Mr. Conkling may, perhaps, be beaten, but if he falls he will be like the strong man, and the pillars of the republican party will go down with him. It is certain, in that contingency, that exposures will be made which must astonish the country, and which will make Mr. Garfield and Mr. Blaine regret they ever provoked this deadly quarrel. There is some consolation in knowing that when swindlers fall out, honest men will have a chance to get their dues.

A Senatorial Interview.

Senator Slater is now in this city and is the guest of H. E. Johnson, Esq. During a friendly conversation with the Senator and without the worry of a regular interview, we managed to extract from him a slight expression of his views upon the Senatorial rumpus now going on in the Empire State and the local railroad question. In regard to the former, the Senator stated that his opinion is, that the "half-breeds" before they would elect Conkling will join with the Democrats, and return at least one Democrat to the U. S. Senate. He thinks that one Democrat will be returned under whatever circumstances might occur.

About railroads, he gave us a common sense view of the case and says that judging from the natural progress of the country has made, and what he has seen and heard, that he has no earthly doubt but that both roads to connect us with the Sound, on one hand and the Union Pacific on the other, will be completed as fast as men and money can build them, but places the time at three years hence before so desirable a consummation can be reached. The Senator is enjoying remarkable good health and will shortly leave for his home in the Grand Ronde Valley.

Letter from Mr. Villard.

A short time since the editor of the STATESMAN addressed a letter to Mr. Villard directing his attention to the mutual advantages both the company and this city would derive from DIRECT communication with Weston and Pendleton; this afternoon the following reply was received from which we glean a little encouragement:

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, O. R. & N. Co.,
80 Nassau street, N. Y.
New York, May 26th, 1881.

F. J. PARKER, Esq.,—Dear Sir: * * * The subject of the construction of a direct railroad line from Walla Walla to Pendleton or thereabouts is one which I cannot pass upon without referring it to the manager of the company on the ground. I have therefore shown your letter to Mr. Oakes with whom you can confer soon, as he left last evening for Portland.

Yours truly,
H. VILLARD.

FRANCE is said to have further disgraced herself in Tunis by annihilating an army of three thousand natives who attempted to defend a town. So far work should not be done in a nation that is foremost in talk about freedom.

IF the investigations keep on, the Garfield administration may disclose that the stealing under the good and glorious administration of the extra pure Mr. Hayes was even a trifle worse than the wholesale plunder during the reign of Grant.

COLFAX, June 10.—Mr. Carico was put on the stand to-day and identified at length to the finding of the body of Amanda Shanks in a nude condition, partially covered up with bunch grass with a bullet hole through her forehead. The body being found near Cow Creek in a deep ravine or canyon. He also found parts of a gingham sun bonnet and the remains of ivory buttons. The clothes had been burned. It was but a small distance from where the wagon tracks were to the place where the deceased was found. Her hair was shorn off as if done with a knife. He swore to the identity of the woman by the tatoo marks on her arm (the following fac-similie being reproduced from the original.—ED.

He also went on to testify as to the wagon tracks. The isolated position of the place of the murder and the circumstances under which the deceased was found. His evidence in relation to the over-shoes and their tracks was very strong against the defendant. Lydia Shaffer, at whose house near Big Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Amanda Shanks, stopped for over one month, testified to the defendants carrying a pistol. To the defendants leaving their house on their way back home, saying at the time that they did not like the country. She testified also to the fact that Thomas and wife treated Mrs. Shanks in a rough manner. Also to the fact that Thomas claimed to have received a letter from Mr. Broomfield and had lost it. Here the prosecution rested. J. B. Lyts for the defense asked to state what Thomas said on the scaffold before his execution. It was objected to by the prosecution and sustained. The counsel for the defense stated that he expected to prove by witnesses that Thomas' dying statement exonerated the defendant. The case will open for the territory by Saturday next.

John Justice produced Mrs. Shank's, alias Mrs. Broomfield's jewelry and wearing apparel. Mrs. Bartholemew identified the same as that belonging to the deceased, and also recognized a photograph of the deceased. Bartholemew recognized the prisoner and described the deceased. Bassette was sworn and his testimony was confined to a conversation at his house in the presence of the prisoner. He recognized the photograph as that of the deceased. The court then adjourned. The court room is crowded and the interest in the case is growing.

Heavy Crops.

SPOKANE FALLS June 8, 3 P. M.—The late rains are just the thing to insure heavy crops. If anything more rain is wanted. It is raining slightly in Colfax, Pomeroy as well as here. Everybody is hopeful of good times. This place is making preparations for a grand Fourth of July celebration.

Wheat Market.

PORTLAND, June 9—Chicago wheat, 109½, July. New York, wheat quiet. Liverpool firm.

A Sheriff Killed.

A non-Partisan Ticket.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—In response to a call signed by a small number of the citizen's committee of 200, who organized during the agitations in this city, met last evening and decided to nominate a city ticket. Capt. Wm. L. Merry, of Merry & Fall, was selected for mayor. The intention is to make non-partizan nominations.

EASTERN.

New York's Senatorial Election.

ALBANY, June 9.—The senate adjournment resolution was discussed. Bradley rose to a question of privilege and stated that he had received $2500 to pay him if he would vote for Depew instead of Platt, which sum he had handed over to the speaker and he therefore ask that an investigation be ordered. The speaker corroborated the statement and said that he had the money in his pocket.

The Vote.

ALBANY, June 9.—At the joint convention vote Conkling received 34; Jacobs, 49; Wheeler, 23; Rogers, 14; Cornell, 16; Laphan, 9, Tremaine, 3; Folger, 2; Brosley, 1; Dutcher, 1; Harris, 1. The vote on Platt's successor was as follows: Kernan, 50; Platt, 29; Depew, 5; Cornell, 8; Tremaine, 1; Folger, 4; Crowley, 5; Lapham, 3. There being no choice they adjourned.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s Victory.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9. — Frederick Billings resigned the presidency of the N. P. R. R. to-day, and Asbel H. Barney was elected president, pro tem., and T. F. Oakes first vice President, and Henry Villard a director.

Geo B. Roberts has been elected president of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., and J. W. McCullough first vice-president.

The Army of the Potomac.

HARTFORD, June 9.—At a meeting of the Army of the Potomac, Gen. Sherman spoke at length to the encampment, and said that there were few soldiers in the army now; they were the pioneers of civilization, and aids to frontier enterprise. He said the army was fine in physique, intelligence and patriotic sentiment and heroic quality. He referred to the value of the regular army, as was discussed in the late war. He also denied that army reunions keep alive the animosities of the late war, but on the contrary, in spite of Jeff. Davis' assertion in his late book, he approved Grant's movement from Washington to Richmond by land instead of by water.

An Old Man Murdered.

LITTLE ROCK, June 9.—Some dastards in Van Buren County killed an old man named Lewis, a Swede, who was believed to have known about some illicit distillery business. Three men have already been arrested.

An Operator Held for Murder.

CEDER RAPIDS, June 9th.—The coroner's jury held an operator named Chas. B. Lewis, for murder, by causing a collision on the C. B. & Q. railroad line.

Train Wrecked.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Early this morning a train on the Hudson River R. R., was badly wrecked by being thrown from the track. A wrecking train sent to its relief thither, came into collision with another passenger train, completely demolishing the engine of the latter and wrecking the cars.

FOREIGN.

Fire in Quebec.

QUEBEC, June, 9.—One [illegible] most destructive fires to which Quebec is so subject, broke out at 11 p. m. Over 600 houses have been destroyed, and the loss so far reach $750,000. One thousand families are homeless, and five lives are known to have been lost.

No Adjournment.

ALBANY, June 8.—The Senate concurrent resolution for adjournment sine die, was laid over.

Forgeries Unearthed.

NEW YORK, June 8th.—The Leather Manufacturer's bank has unearthed a systematic plan of forgery for the purpose of defrauding banks in distant parts of the United States. During the past year over a dozen forged drafts have been presented at the bank for collection. One was presented to-day through the Bank of New York and another through the Bank of Commerce.

A Dasterly Trick.

Yesterday an attempt was made to affect the stock and grain market by means of a dispatch from a western point announcing the death of Jay Gould. The dispatch was stopped in the office of the Associated Press, and the dastardly scheme defeated. General Agent Simonton now reports that the investigation he has conducted shows that the dispatch originated with a syndicate organized for the purpose of disseminating false financial and commercial views. The said syndicate has its agents in the leading cities of the East and West, and also in London. News agents and the business public need be on their guard.

A Twain O' Thoughts.

CONCORD, June 8.—Indications rather point to the non-election of a U. S. Senate by the present legislature, though the matter is not yet settled nor determined. The leading candidates for the nomination except Senator Rollins, oppose an election. It is understood that ex-Gov. Harriman openly opposed an election, urging that the house is against it, and showing where Congress refused to pass an act giving the legislature power to elect Rollins. On the other hand he claims that the election would be perfectly constitutional, and that his views are sustained by the opinions of eminent Senators, such as Gen. Stevens Gen. Marston, Wm. E. Chandler. The Republican caucus will meet to consider the advisability of an election.

Legal Opinion.

The Senate has decided to ask the Supreme Court for its opinion as to the legality of an election of an United States Senator, at the present session, to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of Senator Collins' terms in 1883. The Democrats voted solid against it.

Good Work.

WINNEPEG, June 8.—A courier from Ft. McLeod reports a battle on the plains near Ft. Walsh, between the Blackfeet and Crees, in which 16 of the latter were scalped.

Railroad Wreck.

CHICAGO, June 8.—A terrible wreck is reported on the Peoria Division of the Wabash railroad near La Harpe, Ill. yesterday, by a collision between two freight trains, which came together while running full speed. Both engines and number of cars were demolished. Loss $50,000.

More Politics.

CLEVELAND, June 8—The republican state convention met to-day, A. W. Jones chairman. Foster was renominated by the convention by acclamation. Senator Sherman made a stirring speech as permanent chairman. J. G. Richards of Jefferson county was nominated for Lieu Governor. Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati was nominated for Judge of the Supreme Court. Joseph Tursey was nominated Treasurer by acclamation. Geo. Paul was nominated for a member of the Board of Public Works by acclamation. Geok Nash for Attorney General by acclamation. The convention then adjourned sine die amid great enthusiasm. The platform adopted heartily approves and endorses the administration and pledges him cordial support in all his duties, and endorses party protection to American labor, discriminating in favor of home produce, and also indorses Foster's administration. The question of the regulation of the liquor traffic should be submitted to the people in an uniform constitutional amendment that shall regulate it to local ties. It is thought that the ticket is a very strong one.

A Fight, but no Guns Fired.

DUBLIN, June 8.—A party of 500 marines sent from Bantry to Ballydehob were met at the latter place by a mob numbering some thousands. After much stone throwing and some bayonet charges the marines were compelled to retreat to Bally under the protection of a priest with 2 injured. The Skibbereen Branch of the Munster Bank was wrecked by the mob. A process server has been so severely beaten at Dromoro, Co Sligo that he is dying.

The Explosion Imminent.

CORK, June 8.—Alarming reports come from the west county of Cork. Serious riots and disturbances are reported to have occurred at Schull, but the telegraph wires are cut and the roads from Schull to Skibbereen are so torn up and obstructed that it is impossible to obtain authentic news. The cause of trouble is the intended arrest of Father Murphy, the parish priest of Schull, which the people intend to resist.

Later.

A later telegram states that three miles of telegraph wires has been thrown down. The force which left Cork to-night (June 8th) in two special trains consists of 200 men of the Rifle Brigade, 60 dragoons army corps men, ambulance wagons, 12 baggage wagons but no artillery. It is not believed the priest has been arrested but the most sensational rumors are flying about. One is to the effect that several bridges between Skibbereen and Schull have been destroyed; this is not authenticated. Even the officials at Dublin castle have not received any intelligence from the districts since this morning. The last telegram stated that the police barrack had been attacked and assistance was urgently asked. Another body of troops with artillery, if required, leave Cork this (Thursday) morning for Skibbereen.

"IF Dorsey should get into the penitentiary," says The Nation, "we would probably next time have a reputable secretary of the republican national committee." Yes; but if Dorsey goes to the penitentiary, who's to save Indiana next time!

TOM SCOTT, worth many millions of dollars, died from the effects of overwork. He would have done better had he worked and worried less, accumulated less and lived longer.

"LET me see," said Mr. Gould, to his broker, "how much money did I give you yesterday. Was it five or ten millions?" "I really don't remember," said the broker. "Ah, well, call it five," said J. G.

DIED.

REDMAN.—Near this city, June 8th, 1881, G. W. Redman, aged 62 years, 5 months and 19 days.

DEATH OF JUDGE MIX.

MIX.—In this city, June 7, 1881, Hon. J. D. Mix, aged 63 years.

At an early hour this morning the community were painfully surprised to hear of the death of Judge J. D. Mix. For the past few days he had been confined to his residence and none seemed to be aware that any danger whatever attended him, but at 3 o'clock this morning The Deliver whom God hath anointed to free the oppressed, and crush the oppressor, came and claimed him for his own. The subject of our sketch was born in Georgetown, District of Columbia, in the year 1818, and at the period of his untimely demise was nearly 63 years of age. Reaching the age of manhood he went to New Orleans and was engaged in business with his father until the breaking out of the Mexican war, when he was engaged as a provider and contractor for many of the various requirements; after this he returned to the Crescent City and married his dear and affectionate wife who has shared his fortunes with true womanly love and devotion until she closed his eyes in death this morning. After practicing his profession there for some time in the year 1849 he was one of the foremost of the Argonauts who left civilization behind them to carve out fresh fortunes and new empires in the then unknown and almost impenetrable Far West. He remained in San Francisco two years and then removed to Shasta where he held the responsible positions of county judge and district attorney. This country then coming into notice he sold out his possessions and removed to this city, 17 years ago, and ever since has been one of our foremost men, always alive to the welfare of the city and country. He has been honored by his fellow citizens by being elected to many important offices, he served as Prosecuting Attorney, was sent twice to the legislature and as City Attorney looked jealously after the interests of the city. For honesty, integrity and public spirit Judge Mix was foremost among us, and not a stain ever rested upon his character. He was always ready to assist with all his ability any object of public welfare, and in this respect as with many others his loss is irreparable. His courtesy and gentlemanly deportment never left him under any circumstances and it may safely be said of him

"And thus he bore without abuse
The grand old name of GENTLEMAN,
Defamed by every charlatan,
And sold'd with all ignoble use.

As a lawyer he stood high in his profession, and let it be said to his honor that he would rather use his ability toward bringing his clients to settle matters in a friendly manner than to carry them into the courts.

The Principles we Live By!

THE SYSTEM WE HAVE ERECTED!

One Price.

Everything Marked in Plain Figures.

Goods Sold only for Cash!

These principles require no explanation—they exist as they read—simple, emphatic and plain—They stand in need of no silvered language to engrave their truths on the peoples' mind.

The inevitable revolution of the world's progress imperatively demands business ideas founded on principles that can enlist and sustain public confidence—principles that can radically remove from the public mind the existance of doubt or misrepresentation.

The system we present has been before the public for months—the public are the judges they can best understand by comparison with other establishments whether the methods we have adopted are deserving of their confidence or otherwise.

Summer Goods!

We have now on hand every novelty to be found in the Eastern Markets suitable for Summer wear, and purchasing our goods direct from the manufacturers, we are enabled to offer them at prices which cannot possibly be surpassed in San Francisco.

They are marked in plain Figures at Cash Prices and no Human Consideration can prevail upon us to make the slightest deviation, either higher or lower, from the prices marked.

Newest Designs in Dress Goods.

Fresh Novelties in Summer Calicoes and Lawns? An Immense Assortment of Pigues and White Goods? Seersuckers and Fancy Ginghams in endless variety? Choice lines of Table Linens, Napkins and Lace Curtains? A Magnificient selection of Dolmans and Linen Dusters? Latest Summer hosiery just received from New York? The latest designs in Lace Goods and Lisle Gloves?

Buttons, Trimming Goods and Tassells To Match all Dress Goods.

Our Reasons for Low Prices.

There is no instance of Modern Civilization in which Merchants did not advertise "Low Prices" when describing their goods and people have grown so familiar with that expression that they pay no attention to it whatever. In this age of intelligence the Public want facts—they want to know the reason why one House can sell cheaper than another. Our reason is this—In the first place, it is absolutely indispensable that Goods must be bought cheap to be Sold cheap—We purchase our goods direct from the Eastern Manufacturers for Cash—other houses may do the same—perhaps.

WE SELL ALTOGETHER FOR CASH

That's the Pillar upon which all business calculations rest. We mark our goods in plain figures at the lowest living rate of profit, because we sell for cash. We prefer to Sell One Thousand Dollars worth of goods at a small profit than Five Hundred Dollars worth at a large profit. We run no risk because we sell for cash When we sell goods to a customer cheaper than they ever bought them before we consider it our greatest advertisement—that's our aim—we want to convince the public by the stern logic of existing facts that we are ABLE to sell goods as low as any house in San Francisco.

If we gave credit, how could we have one price? How could we mark our Goods in plain figures? It stands to reason that we should make provisions for doubtful and Bad Book debts by getting EXTRA HIGH prices from Cash Customers. Common understanding will readily point out that, that would be the only way we could keep even. But those considerations we take no notice of whatever—they don't belong to our system—we have no Bock Debts to drag along from year to year nor do we propose to have any. Our system is entirely CASH and one price to all whether Man, Woman or Child.

OUR COUNTRY ORDERS.

We furnish free on application samples of any goods in our establishment at the same prices and guarantee the same satisfaction in the execution of all orders entrusted to us, as if the customers were personally present to make their own selection. We know its our interest to do so; we know that if a lady has her order faithfully executed WE GAIN HER CONFIDENCE, that's what we want. We want to gain the confidence of ladies residing in the country by the only legitimate means, giving them as good goods in the filling of an order as if they were present in person.

ONLY ONE PRICE!

THE OFFICIAL CITY PAPER.

THE GRAND LODGE F. A. M.—The Grand Lodge F. A. M. will meet in this city next year for the first time since the lodge was established in 1858

PICNIC.—The activity of the Vigilants in the matter of their picnic shows plainly that they intend making it a grand success. There is no doubt but they will have a very large attendance.

OPENED.—John Stahl's new brewery is now fully opened to the public. The bar is neatly fitted up and the place is surely destined to become the popular resort of all disciples of Gambrinus.

ENCOURAGING.—The recent rains have benefited the Vansycle Canyon, Cold Springs and adjoining country throughout Umatilla county very much. A much larger acreage than ever before has been put to grain, and a great majority of it promises to give a large yield.

GOOD PROSPECTS.—Mr. Middaugh has just returned from the Medical Lake and Spokane country and reports that the late rains have been general throughout the upper country. He says that crop prospects are better now than ever known. The farmers are happy.

MORE IRON.—Seventeen cars loaded with railroad iron arrived at the depot on Monday night, also five cars loaded with timber for the new depot. More will follow and but little fear is expressed but that sufficient material can be procured at once to complete the Dayton extension.

WALLA WALLA LODGE, A. O. U. W.—At the election on Tuesday evening the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing term: Wm. Leslie, M. W.; E. Ervin, Foreman; N. T. Caton, Overseer; Chas. Henry, Recorder; A. Shilloorth, Receiver; Day, Financier; F. Ometeal, Guide; F. Pearson, Trustee; Dr. Birch, Medical Examiner.

SETTLED.—The court house matter has finally been settled by Messrs. Tobey & Reid furnishing bonds in the sum of $28,035 17, and an indemnity bond of $14,017 58 with the following well known citizens as sureties: H. E. Holmes, John Stahl, Z. K. Straight, Wm. Neal, Wm. Glassford, A. Marbiot, J. S. Barrett, J. Monahan, D. C. Coleman and John Gundy.

AFTER HIM.—The Walla Walla Artillery Company telegraphed to U. S. Marshal E. S. Kerney on Tuesday to have L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz, their absconding Captain arrested on a charge of stealing government property in the shape of a Springfield rifle. The boys are very much incensed to think that they should be treated in this manner and hence took immediate steps to have him brought back.

A GOOD HOTEL.—Visitors to Dayton need not go past that town now in order to obtain a good meal, for the hotel kept by Brother Crow is the best in the country. Pataha city has a good clean place also, but between that place kept by Mrs. Montgomery and the Pomeroy place there is no comparison. An evil spirit appears to have hovered over Pomeroy, for no one appears to be able to speak a good word for it.

THE WASCO SUN.—This a new paper published at the Dalles by Messrs. Draper & Floed. Judging from the contents it is a newspaper that has come to stay. In the salutatory these gentlemen say they will share the prosperity or adversity of Wasco county that may be dealt out by the hand of time. It is to be independent in politics, and work for the good of all. Under such circumstances we cannot but wish the new comer success in the journalistic field.

OUT OF HARNESS.—The ever popular Tom Merry is in the city on business and will proceed to Boise on Friday morning. Tom is one of the best journalists and most graphic and genial writers in the country, and is a natural born newspaper man. It is a loss to the country that he is now out of harness. At the head of a paper like the Oregonian instead of the present peterfunkpoots, Rome would fairly howl and the paper would regain its old but now lost popularity.

A. O. U. W.—At the last stated meeting of Integrity Lodge, No. 26, A. O. U. W. the following officers were chosen: P. M., R. W. Mitchell; M. W., J. F. McLane; Foreman, H. M. Porter; Overseer, H. O. Simonds; Recorder, J. O. Stearns; Receiver, Chas. S. Boyer; Financier, Le F. A. Shaw; Guide, J. R. Smith; Inside Watchman, C. Besserer; Outside Watchman, ——; Trustee long term, R. W. Mitchell; Representatives Grand Lodge, H. D. Chapman, Le F. A. Shaw.

JULY FOURTH.—Mr. Thomas Fletcher has tendered the use of his fine large dray team to draw the car of liberty at our national birthday celebration. So far the committee have not made much blow about their work but nevertheless work is being done, and the present Fourth will be one of the grandest ever known in this upper country. Those in the country and neighboring villages who wish to have an enjoyable time had better make arrangements to visit our city on that day.

ENTERPRISE GENIUS.—The Boise Statesman of June 2d shows considerable enterprise in publishing an illustration representing McDonald killing Meyers with a buzzsaw. Appended to the engraving is a complete and accurate map of the Owyhee county, also a fac simile of the pump from which McDonald drew the water to wash his blood stained hands—the picture is good in its minutest details—even to the pump being frozen stiff—the dipper being chained to a saw log.

WILL BE COMPLETED.—Gen. Sprague recently stated to a gentleman in New Tacoma that the Cascade division of the Northern Pacific railroad would be completed and running by the 1st day of December, 1882—18 months and a little more from now. The general says that the plans of speedy construction matured by the old management will be carried out by the Villard party. Let the great work go on. It is what all Puget Sound and Eastern Washington has been waiting and hoping for WRONG.—Report comes from Umatilla county to the effect that Indian Agent Jas. Gay has dammed the Umatilla river at the old mill site, and will neither erect a fish ladder or allow one to be erected, saying that the fish in Umatilla river belong to the Indians. This has spoiled the fishing near the Warm Springs. We understand that the matter will be brought before the next grand jury. We do not wish to do an injustice to Agent Gay, but hope that he will reconsider his move and identify "fish" as "public property," or else take the chances of being gammed himself.

GOOD MAN.—On Saturday evening that old man Martin Campbell called us out and said that we must thank the rain for the money he was going to pay us, and that but for that same rain he would not have paid up until better times; and then he gave us a check on subscription to such an extent that he will have the best newspaper in the northwest for a year and a half without having a bill sent in to him. There are about a thousand more farmers on our list who could please us much if they would do likewise. If they all come to the front like old Campbell we promise to double their reading matter.

IN MEMORIAM.

Tributes to the Honored Deadfrom the City Council and the Members of the Bar.

THE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

This Body Adjourns in Respect for One of Our Foremost Citizens Who has Passed Beyond.

The city council held its regular meeting last evening, Mayor McAuliff in the chair. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Whereupon Councilman Chase, of the first ward, arose and said:

MR. MAYOR AND COUNCIL:—I move that this council adjourn as a tribute to our late fellow citizen, Judge J. D. Mix. This small tribute would be but a faint mark of the esteem in which the deceased is held by this community. A sturdy, brave and upright pioneer he battled the hardships and privations of a long voyage in an early day, and found footing on the boundless shores of the golden Pacific. His career in California was pure and unspotted. The lustre of his good name was never tarnished by foul slander. Hearing of our own vast country he decided to cast his lot among us, and seventeen years ago he took his residence amongst us as a member of our far western family. For seventeen years he has honored us by his presence. No move or question of importance was undertaken but what our deceased friend was identified with it in the interest of the people. He was a good man and exemplary citizen, and one who by his suave manner commanded the respect and confidence of all, and I think that it would be but a slight token of our respect for the deceased that this body adjourn to meet on next Tuesday evening.

The motion was seconded by several councilman, and on the question being put by the Mayor it was unanimously carried. Meeting adjourned.

MEMBERS OF THE BAR.

A meeting of members of the Walla Walla Bar was held at the office of S. G. Harper, Tuesday morning, to take action respecting the decease of the late Hon. J. D. Mix. J. H. Lassater was elected chairman, and J. E. Budd secretary of the meeting.

Hon. B. L. Sharpstein, T. J. Anders, W. G. Langford and A. E. Isham were appointed as a committee to draft resolution.

G. T. Thompson, S. G. Harper and D. J. Crowley were appointed a committee to select pall bearers.

At an adjourned meeting held this date, the following members of the bar were selected to act as pall bearers: J. H. Lassater, B. L. Sharpstein, W. G. Langford, A. E. Isham, T. J. Anders and D. J. Crowley.

The committee on resolutions presented the following preamble and resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Divine Providence to remove from our midst the Honorable J. D. Mix, a pioneer member of the Walla Walla Bar, and

WHEREAS, It is fitting that we, his co-owners and associates, should give public expression to our opinions of him, both as a citizen and an honored member of our profession. Therefore be it unanimously

Resolved, That in the death of Hon. James D. Mix our profession loses a member pre-eminent both in learning and rank, and we a genial, warm hearted friend and companion, and this city and territory a worthy citizen.

Resolved, That to his family we tender our sympathy in their bereavement, fully realizing the fact that their loss is beyond words of consolation from us.

Resolved, That the secretary of this meeting is directed to furnish a copy of these proceedings to the widow of the deceased, and to the press of this city for publication.

B. L. SHARPSTEIN,
T. J. ANDERS,
A. E. ISHAM,
W. G. LANGFORD.

The committee on resolutions were directed to prepare further appropriate resolutions to be presented to the Hon. S. C. Wingard, judge of the district court at the November term, with the request that the same be entered in the minutes of the court.

It was unanimously voted that as a mark of respect to the memory of their late brother J. D. Mix, the members of the bar attend his funeral in a body.

THE THOMAS TRIAL.

The Case before Judge Wingard, and a Motion of Continuance Denied.

[SPECIAL TO THE STATESMAN.]

COLFAX, June 7.—Mrs. Shaffer, the only witness who saw the murdered woman, Mrs. Shanks alive, is confined to her bed, hence unable to attend court, and a motion made by the prosecution to continue the case over to the next term denied. When Mrs. Thomas, the prisoner was brought into court, she was not visably affected. The case was continued for the present, and an attachment was ordered for absent witnesses. The court room was densely crowded, and an unusual interest is manifested in the case. Speculation as to the final ending of the case is rife, many believing in her guilt, while a few predict her acquittal on the grounds of her husband's confession, and the fact that she is a woman. The city is crowded with spectators.

Bibles and Enterprise.

We have spoken before of the wonderful enterprise of the Chicago papers in getting out the Revised New Testament in one edition. We have now before us the Sunday edition of the Chicago Tribune, consisting of its regular edition and a supplement containing the entire revision, and the Committee's comments on the same. We call to mind many brilliant achievements of newspaper enterprise, but this takes the lead of all others. From 9 o'clock A. M. of Saturday to 4 o'clock A. M. Sunday, type flew in a perfect rain from "case" to "stick," and before sunrise thousands of pounds of paper were worked into cords of newspapers, to be distributed, read, admired and treasured as a souvenir of enterprise all over the world where the English language is spoken.

Our ever foremost druggist, H. E. Holmes has received a large supply of the Tribune Testament Edition, and is giving one to each of his customers. If the people don't keep themselves posted in the scriptures it will not be Holmes fault.

Death of Minnie Wells.

At ten minutes to 12 on Sunday night Mrs. Lena Fellmeth, who was so terribly mangled on the Ainsworth train by protruding her head out of the car window, breathed her last. From the time of the accident until her death she did not regain conciousness, and several times during the last day of her life she was in convulsions. Drawing the vail of charity o'er the past but not forgotten dead, many kind friends administered to her last wants, and who loved her for charity and general goodness. Her funeral took place to-day from her late residence, followed by those who remember only her redeeming qualities.

"Then gently scan your brother man, still gentler sister woman,
Though they may gang kennin' wrang to step aside is human."

HOW WOOL PAYS.—The San Francisco Merchant says that the San Jose woolen mills paid a dividend of 18 per cent on their stock last year. This stock cost $33 per share. A town has grown up around the mills, and the enterprise gives employment to a large number of persons. The Merchant adds: "We would not say that every town should have its woolen mill, but we do say that there is room and a profitable business for every well managed woolen mill likely to be established in the next two years." Why not have a woolen mill in Seattle?

THE CLOSING EXERCISES

Of St. Paul's Episcopal School. An Entertaining Entertainment.

The audience that assembled on Tuesday evening to witness the musical review by the elder scholars far exceeded in number to that of the night previous and spoke volumes in compliment of the young ladies who were to furnish the entertainment as well as showing the lively interest in the school. The programme, while somewhat lengthy to those who were standing up, was listened to attentively. The many who came there as friends found ample occasion for encore while those who were disposed to criticize must indeed have been sadly disappointed as nothing derogatory of the ability of the pupils was heard at the reception following; on the contrary all were ready to praise and congratulate. While we shall not expect a perfect union of judgement where so slight a difference exists we shall not refrain from a review of the programme.

Among the vocal selections the duet from Norma, by Olie and Nellie Slater. "The Wanderer's Night Song" by the Misses Holmes and Rinehart and the vocal trio "Sweet May" by the class were probably rendered with better effect than the others the compliment being more particularly given to Miss Lizzie Chase, Miss Nellie Slater and Miss Addie Holmes on the clearness and tone as well as the thorough cultivation of their voices. The instrumental portion of the programme was tastefully selected and the rendition with one exception in regard to position uncriticized. The solo by Miss Sutherland and that by Miss Ella McCoy attracting more attention than any except the solo "Rigoletto" by Miss Kittie Caulkin, the teacher, who is the most brilliant performer we have listened to in the city.

The essay, "The Crusades," by Miss Annie Boyer was in every particular well written; the reading not being loud enough was slightly faulty.

Miss Alice McCoy in "Power of Will" showed undoubted rhetorical ability but could have improved somewhat in her delivery of the quotations.

All in all the review has been a grand success and redounds to the credit of the entire school and especially to the Misses Garretson and Caulkin who were in charge of the music.

EPISCOPAL EDUCATION.

The Bishop's Address—The Young Lady Graduates—A Pleasant Time.

St. Paul's Church was crowded on Wednesday evening with the largest and most fashionable audience which probably ever assembled there; there was hardly standing room; the seats were fully occupied, and half the spectators were obliged to witness the proceedings standing. As the time for the opening exercises drew nigh

MANY YOUNG LADIES

Of St. Paul's school entered the choir and commenced singing a processional hymn which was taken up by a levy of young children who then entered the church, and, filing up the aisle, formed a row on either side, through which then first entered His Grace, Bishop Paddock, followed by the Revs. McConkey, Smith and Wells, who in turn were followed by those pillars of the church Messrs. Chase, Sharpstein, Ritz and Capt. Harris. After prayer and more beautiful singing the Reverend Preiate commenced his address, the subject being

"WHAT CONSTITUTES EDUCATION."

He handled his text in a masterly manner which plainly indicated that he had given the subject a thorough study. He showed how evil results followed the neglect of the spiritual part of our natures, and dealt grandly on the prominence that should be given to education, and that while education did not make men more virtuous it was a great barrier to the assaults of the tempter and the commission of crime; that the

SPIRITUAL NATURE

Must be educated until all evil is eradicated from our dispositions. The address was, all the way through, replete with human nature and common sound sense. The young graduates, Miss Annie Boyer, daughter of our respected citizen J. F. Boyer, Esq., and Miss Alice McCoy looked blushingly lovely as His Grace presented them with the diplomas they had so honorably gained. Then

THE BENEDICTION

Was pronounced and after prayer and more singing the procession left, this time with the Bishop in the lead. The congregation then separated well pleased with what they had witnessed. On every hand we hear nothing but expressions of praise and love for our Bishop Paddock whose great heart is so much in his work. It will gladden the people of Walla Walla more than anything else if they were assured he would take up his residence among us.

THE LAST RITES.

The Funeral of the late Judge J. D. Mix—An Imposing Affair.

The funeral of the late J. D. Mix took place from the Episcopal Church Thursday precisely 2 P. M. The members of the bar met at the office of Col. S. G. Harper, and from there proceeded in a body to the residence of the deceased. The mayor and common council met promptly at half past one at their chambers and from there proceeded to the house. At the residence quite a number of friends had congregated. The remains were enclosed in a handsome casket. The remains were taken to the Episcopal Church where the burial service was read, Bishop Paddock officiating assisted by Revs. Wells, Smith and McConkey. The Bishop made a few remarks after which the body was borne to the hearse by the pall bearers Messrs. J. H. Lassater, B. L. Sharpstein, W. G. Langford, A. E. Isham, T. J. Anders and D. J. Crowley. The cortege then took up their line of March towards the city cemetery. The procession was one of the largest ever known in the city. The ceremonies at the grave was very impressive. Thus passed away one of our most honored citizens.

VILLARD, OAKES, ETC.—The New York correspondent of the St. Paul Pioneer Press writes under date of May 20th: I have seen Villard, White and Wilkeson to-day. Young blood has been taken into the Northern Pacific. Thos. F. Oakes and Artemus H. Holmes the new directors, who succeeded Dilworth and Livingston, are respectfully only 38 and 34. Holmes is a lawyer, has long been personal counsel for Villard, and has made a good deal of money during the last ten years. Oakes, who is to be made vice-president of the Northern Pacific in place of Robert Harris, is a railroad man who went into the Kansas Pacific in 1873 to represent Gen. Fremont and friends. He was general frieght agent from 1870 to 1876, and was then elected vice president. He there made Villard's acquaintance and was made general superintendent and became vice president and general manager of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company a year ago, since which time he has built 200 miles from Dalles to Walla Walla, and has now 2500 men working on the road to Portland. He will be an active constructor of the Northern Pacific. He is here and says the road to Tacoma will ultimately be built, and that the Northern Pacific will now be pushed as rapidly as any road was ever built in this country. He will go west soon and take command. He says the line through northern Wisconsin to connect with the Canada system will be speedily pushed forward. Mr. Billings will not long remain president.

ATTENTION LADIES!—Since but few of the members of the Ladies' Aid Society have attended the meeting, it will be read at the court house on Monday the 13th inst. at 7 P. M. Let all the members answer this call in order to organize the society.

SCRAPER, PICK AND PLOW.

There are at present about 365 horses at work at "the front."

The road between Pendleton and Umatilla will be about 50 miles in length.

Grading is completed to Morton's ranch about 25 miles from Umatilla landing.

The graders are now at work in heavy rock and cannot but make slow progress.

The Dayton Depot will be built after the plans of the one being erected in this city.

The company are now working about 500 men on this division, including Chinamen.

The graders completed about ten miles of work during May, making an average of one third of a mile per diem.

The new depot buildings in Walla Walla will be located exactly 3,200 feet from the corner of Main and 5th streets, or in other figures one half mile.

Some of the heaviest blasting undertaken on the O. R. & N. Co's. lines has been done on this division without a single death and but very few accidents.

Bridge building on the Dayton extension is progressing rapidly. The only drawback is a lack of timber, the company not having a sufficient number of teams to haul it.

The graders will reach Pendleton on or about Sept. 1. They have already cut through two miles of heavy rock, cement and alkali "hard pan," being difficult and hard to cut through Between Umatilla and Pendleton there will be about one mile of trestle work to build. The track will cross the Umatilla river seven times necessitating the building of as many Howe Truss bridges.

Plans for the depots to be built away from towns and villages at the isolated stations are now being drawn at the engineer's office. The buildings will be neat two story affairs. The upper floor will be used as a residence by the station agents.

The men engaged in unloading iron for the O. R. & N. Co., struck yesterday for double wages for Sunday and night work. H. B. Thielson immediately went to the scene of the strike and informed the men that they had engaged themselves to unload the iron whenever it came. They still insisted on advance pay, when he discharged the whole gang giving them their time. Their places are being rapidly filled by willing hands.

THE ONE, TWO, THREE

Bounce Given to Vinnegarholtz by the Artillery Company.

At a regular meeting of the Artillery company, held at their Armory Wednesday night, a board of trustees were elected consisting of Mr. Edson Mr. Seale and Paul d'Heirry. Discussion was held on the Vinnegarholtz matter—all feeling that they had been outrageously treated, and finally the following resolutions were adopted.

WHEREAS.—Heretofore the greatest confidence has always been manifested by the Walla Walla Artillery Company towards their captain, L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz, and

WHEREAS, The said Captain L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz, has by his dishonorable conduct, both in military and private life, severed whatever tie may have existed between us, and

WHEREAS, The said Captain L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz, has, without right or authority, taken arms from the Artillery Armory, contrary to statutory provisions of the Territory and company. And

Resolved That the Artillery Company repudiate Capt. L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz as far as practicable until a court martial can be held, and

Resolved That it is the sense of this company, that His Excellency, Governor Newell, Commander in Chief of the Washington Territory Militia, convene a general court martial to try the said Capt. L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz according to the U. S. Articles of War. And

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Governor, the different military posts and companies and also to the different papers on the Pacific Coast. And

Resolved That we heartily endorse the course of Messrs. McCarthy, Burgess, Edson and Paul d'Heurry in telegraphing to the U. S. Marshal at Portland to have the said Captain L. Theo. Vinnegarholtz arrested.

DAYTON DOINGS.

Our Sister City on the High Road to Prosperity and Wealth.

The city is lively and business is bustling. Throughout Columbia county crops are in excellent condition and bespeak a bountiful harvest.

Long lines of teams loaded with ties are daily passing through the place on their way to the front.

The flume will be built to the new depot in seven days. It is a model of durability and workmanship.

Daily the hotel is crowded here speaking well for the place and also Mr. Crow, the popular landlord. Long may he wave.

The old fossils have to admit that the railroad boom is doing much for the place. As it has materially increased the value of property.

Preparations are being made for an appropriate Fourth of July celebration. Quite a crowd from the city is expected to attend the exercises.

Terrible Hail Storm.

Stock Bruised and Cut up—Havoc Played with Fruit and Grain.

From private advices we learn that a terrible hail storm played over Lewis on on the 3d inst. The storm played havoc with the fruit trees, grain and vegetables, as well as window glass. The storm was of twenty minutes duration, and bruised stock very much as well as killing fowl. The hail stones were from 1 to 3½ inches in circumference. Such a hail storm has never been known to have occurred in this country before. The extent of damage done to stock and growing crops has not yet been ascertained.

NO PASTURAGE.—James J. Silcott, owner of the Lewiston Ferry, brought down four mares to this place to be bred to the famous horse Lodi, and the indications are that he will have to take them home again for the want of convenient pasturage. When an enterprising stock breeder like Silcott brings mares 108 miles to breed to a Walla Walla horse he deserves some better encouragement than this. He had six mares to Shannon, the brother to Molley McCarty that stood here three years ago, and has some splendid stock from that grand horse. Shannon is now owned by Governor Stanford and five thousand dollars could not buy him.

OVERDONE.—The Nevada newspapers, says the San Francisco Chronicle, contain several letters from the new Idaho bonanza of Wood river. Nearly all describe the camp as badly run down, with no coin save what is brought into it by new comers. The rush is greater than to any recent camp, as many as forty-two teams arriving in one day. The cost of living is cheap, but the majority of prospectors are engaged in the favorite diversion of the unlucky—"walk on their uppers." The chief town, though it boasts of nothing more imposing than canvass and log houses, wears the pretentious name of Bellevue.

PLOWING LAND.—In plowing land, if the clevis, traces, backbands, etc., are not properly adjusted, no plowman on earth can do the work satisfactorily. When the plow is properly rigged it will almost run across the field without anyone ahold of the handles, and save the strength of both team and plowman; but if the latter has to bear his whole weight on the handles to keep the plough from running too deep, it not only increases the draft but adds considerably to the labor of the plowman.

THE DALLES ROUTE.—Chief Engineer Thielson estimates that the cost of the road from Portland to the Dalles, 86 miles will cost about $3 600,000. Tunnels No. 1 and 2 will be done in about two weeks. Work by a large force of men will be commenced on tunnel No. 3, on Monday next.

J. W. Jackson, of Dayton, was in the city.

Rev. J. D. Flenner, of Dayton, is in the city.

Mrs. Comfort, of East Portland, is in the city visiting relatives.

Thomas Burke will deliver the Fourth of July oration in this city.

His Grace, Bishop Paddock, is the guest of Captain Harris, at the Fort.

Mr. Cook, of the Spokane Times, is in the city, and made us a pleasant call.

Mr. Fairweather, Ainsworth's heavy merchant, is in this city on business.

S. Friedman, an old and popular auctioneer of Salem, is thinking of locating in this city.

S. A. Johns and lady of Weston, are in the city, on their way to Vancouver, where they will visit friends.

Messrs. Dolph and Thielson will visit this city after the termination of their conference with the Indians.

T. B. Merry has sent in his resignation as secretary of the Northwestern District Agricultural Association.

Mrs. Beck and her son George, of Portland, Oregon, is in this city, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eli. Stone.

Fred Stine and Mr. P. B. Johnson went to Port Townsend and Victoria on a pleasure trip after the adjournment of the Grand Lodge.

Thos. Merry, Esq., formerly of the Inland Empire, is in the city. Tom looks better now than ever. Maybe because he quit being an "editor."

T. F. Oakes, vice-president of the O. R. & N. Co. and now one of the directors of the N. P. R. R. Co., will be back in Portland in about two weeks.

Dr. Josephi, resident physician of the Oregon State Insane Asylum, is in this city settling up the affairs of the late Dr. Hawthorne. Dr. Josephi is a genial gentleman.

J. M. Welsh, Esq., has returned from the Masonic Grand Lodge and reports everything in Olympia as very dull, and expresses himself as perfectly satisfied with Walla Walla.

McEnnis has arrived in the city over the Mullan road from Butte City, Montana. He reports snow for a great portion of the distance and says that Butte is the best mining camp in the country to-day. The Alice mine is turning out bullion by the ton.

We would suggest that the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific Railroad Companies invite the Duke of Sutherland to visit the Northwest. The Duke is largely interested in railroads and probably would be surprised to see the vast improvements now in course of construction.

P. J. Corcoran, Esq., brother of Dr. Corcoran, U. S. A., arrived in the city this morning, direct from South America; he is a very pleasant and amiable young gentleman, and our community will be pleased with him, if only for the fact that he is much better looking than his brother.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Richmond to-day, and we are happy to state that he is is both sound in mind and body. The late trouble under which Mr. Richmond was suffering eminated from the heart throwing too much blood to the brain. Mr. Richmond will shortly proceed to the front and resume his position among the engineers of the Northern Pacific.

Gen. T. R. Tannatt left for the east Wednesday on a business trip. In this city, in Dayton and wherever else his business as general agent of the Oregon Improvement company has brought him in contact with our people, he has shown a sterling sense of business integrity and has conducted the affairs of the company with marked skill. To his energy the present flourishing condition of the company is due. Our citizens will welcome him back and it is hoped his trip will be attended with pleasure and profit.

A GOOD RULE.—Having been called to an account by a blinded cotemporary, for speaking well of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company, the Standard replies: "It is a good rule in life to treat people as we find them. A man generous with his money may be so for bad purposes; but until we are satisfied of that, and actually discover his sinister design, it is poor policy to check his liberality."

TO SETTLE.—The Hon. Mr. Dolph of Portland and Mr. Thielson, chief engineer of the O. N. & N. Co., came up on Tuesday evening's train as far as Umatilla from which place they left for the Umatillia Reservation where they go to make final settlements with the Indians in regard to the right of way over their lands. It is expected that the matter can be easily settled with the redskins, as there would have been no trouble had it not been that the aborigines were talked into this opposition of the railroad by few white men whose sordid and selfish motives prompted them to this act, because they wished for their own personal benefit to have the railroad take another course.

STILL AHEAD AND MEAN TO KEEP IT.—The STATESMAN of Monday last had the true awardness of how Villard obtained control of the Northern Pacific; two days afterward, on Wednesday, the Oregonian published the same fact. It may not be respectability to get ahead of that paper, but it is enterprise in our citizens to appreciate all the same.

THE ORATOR.—Intelligence has been intimated to the Hon. Thomas H. Brents, of Seattle, to deliver the oration in this city on July Fourth, he received the following reply: "Will accept kind invitation, particulars by mail." Thus settles the matter and the people need not depend on an eloquent oration from the "Little Giant."

BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. D. J. Pierce will preach at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M., corner Sumach and Fourth streets. Sunday school at 10 o'clock A. M. The subject for the evening will be "The Sunday school and pulpit. Their Unity and power."

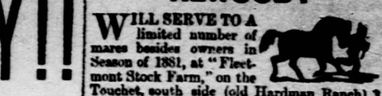
THE STANDARD BRED TROTTING STALLION, "ALWOOD!"



WILL SERVE TO A limited number of mares besides owners in Season of 1881, at "Fleetmont Stock Farm," on the Touchet, south side (old Hardman Ranch) 3 miles below Waitsburg.

TERMS.—Single service, $25, payable at time of service, or $40 for the season. Service payable when mare is taken away. Special terms for insurance.

ALWOOD is a rich bay, no white, 16½ hands high, with all the cardinal points of a horse good; was bred and raised at Lexington, Kentucky, and is a son of that most fashionable sire of trotters, "The Great Almont." ALWOOD'S dam was by "Blackwood," 2d dam by Alexander's "Abdalla," sire of "Goldsmith Maid," record, 2.14, and the great "Almont." Thus he is inbred to Alexander's "Abdalla," also inbred to "Mambrino Chief," sire of "Lady Thorn," record, 2:18, with an outcross to Alexander's "Norman," sire of "Lula," record, 2:15, and an outcross to "Pilot, Jr.," sire of the dam of the wonderful "Maud S.," queen of the trotting turf, record, 2:10¾. No horse in America is better bred for a trotting sire. His colts, coming yearling, are large and fine and are young trotting wonders. He is standard under rule 6th, and as old "Bellfounder" was a standard sire the colts of ALWOOD from dams by "Bellfounder" are also standard under rule 7, and eligible to registry in the Trotting Register as standard bred trotting stock.

Those having mares by "Bellfounder," should not fail to patronize ALWOOD. Excellent pasture for mares and good fence, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes.

STOCKS.—The latest quotations of Northern Pacific stock is 45; preferred 81; Oregon Navigation 1-70.

JOB WORK.—Job work in the STATESMAN office is booming. Over $1,500 worth of work on the "hook." First class, work like "blood" will tell.

BEING REPAIRED.—The Opera House is being repaired and shortly we can expect to see this popular hall thrown open to the public with some favorite drama.

MAIN STREET.—Mr. Bryant informs us that he will complete the grading of Main street in about 15 days. That part which is already completed looks very well.

WATER.—What is our city going to do about water now that Mr. Maiers has sold his farm, on which are located the several springs from which our municipal government intended to draw their supply?

COURT.—The district court will convene in Umatilla county next week. There are 125 civil cases on the docket, besides quite a number of criminal ones. This will be one of the most interesting terms ever held in the county.

"BIRDIE."—The report that Stephanie cried at the altar because she recognized a young American with whom she fell violently in love three years ago is absurd. We have not been out of this country for more than four years.

A HINT.—Now that we have a pound, it behooves our city officers to impound every cow or horse found ranging on our streets at night. Something will have to be done in this matter, or we will have our say at the coming city election.

COURT HOUSE.—The court house contract affair has not yet been settled. The commissioners and the contractors have agreed on all points, but the latter are now binding sub-contractors, and as soon as that is done they will give bonds for the completion of the work.

PRETTY GOOD.—Mark Newcomb's pack-train consisting of 45 mules last Tuesday morning took from the General Custer mill seventy-two bars of bullion, valued at $178,000, destined for Blackfoot. The shipment was the accumulation of 40 day' run of the mill, making an average of $4,450 per day.

TO CLEAN STOVE PIPES.—An exchange says: "To clean out a stove pipe, place a piece of zinc on the live coals in the stove; the vapor produced by the zinc will carry off the soot by chemical decomposition. Persons who have tried the process claim that it will work every time."

THE CROPS.—Since the rain we are informed by many farmers, that the spring wheat will now come out all right, but that volunteer and fall sowed wheat will be under average, owing to the damage done by the drought previous to the rain. As it is, we may expect only an average crop, which will be nothing to brag particularly about.

THE RAIN.—From all parts of the country we learn that the rain has been universal and in consequence all classes of the community are highly encouraged over the better prospect for a good harvest on which the welfare of the country so intimately depends. The rain is a God send and worth a million dollars to this county alone.

GAS WORKS.—From Mr. Patterson, we learn that the gas works will soon be built in this city. The gas meter and holder were completed on the 12th ultimo, and were shipped one week ago per sailing vessel. The gas will be made from resinous wood and oil. We may expect to see the city lighted with gas not later than the first of September.

SPOKANE STIFLINGS.—T. J. Anders has returned from Spokane Falls and reports the place as booming. The trains now makes daily trips to Cheney but the tracks are laid within 5 miles of the Falls, excepting at the Hangman creek trestle. The latter work will soon be completed. The only questions before the special term of court for Spokane County were the county seat question and a divorce case.

PICNIC.—The Vigilant H. & L. Co. will give their second annual picnic at Isaacs' (formerly Chris Maier's) grove near the Driving Park. Many valuable prizes will be given, among others a fine prize belt for the best runner from any of the companies, only one man entering from each company. We are sure the boys will treat their guests in good style hence they should be well supported.

SOLVING THE PROBLEM.—A lady graduate of medicine in Washington has been tendered the position of resident physician on one of the largest reservations in the west. We hope she will accept and proceed there at once. We know of no cheaper or more certain way of satisfactorily solving the Indian problem than by placing all the reservations under the medical charge of lady graduates. In about 10 years a live Indian would be a genuine curiosity.

FOUL FARMS.—Many of the farms between this city and Waitsburg are foul with bull thistles and wild mustard. In some states there is a law requiring the holders of property to pull these weeds before they come to seed. We believe there is a law extant in this territory compelling the pulling of thistles, but unfortunately it is a dead letter. We would warn the farmers that thistles are now in full bloom, and if not soon pulled they will go to seed, infesting the entire country with the obnoxious weed.

"BALSHAZZER."—A great many have asked us if the Artillery company had given up the idea of producing "Balshazzer." Not in the least. They sent for the books to San Francisco but they could not be had in that city, so the order was forwarded to New York. Shortly prior to the arrival of the books invitations will be sent to the different singers asking them to participate. It is the intention of the committee of making this the grandest musical affair ever in the city.

OLD TEX:—Yes, you are right, the Derby track is one mile and a half around, and the best time ever made was by "Blink Bonny" in 1861, when the mare ran the whole distance in 2:43. This was 2 seconds less than ever before known, and the time has never been beaten for this distance. The same animal won the Oaks on the same track two days after. She was used for breeding purposes until unfortunately she was burned to death in a railroad car. You are slightly off, Tex, in thinking that "Dexter" has the best trotting record. We imagine that "Maud S." has slightly [illegible] this year 2:40.

THE REVISED TESTAMENT.—Frank Kimball has laid on our table a very handsome copy of the [illegible] Testament. We have read it so often [illegible] that we know it by heart. At [illegible] the passage that kept us so good when young are all expunged, and now we have to look back upon almost a lost life and think what lots of fun we could have had, but for the dreadful passage which told how wrong it was to call our brothers fools, &c. That good old word Hell is no more, it is now Hades, and hence these tears. Is this office from the devil up, all hands arouse!! at a moments notice to recite any portion of scripture.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Probably Fatal Accident caused by Protruding the Head out of a Car Window.

On Friday night as the Ainsworth freight train, with an accommodation passenger car attached was nearing the nine mile tank, the conductor, Mr. D. J. McKinney, suddenly heard something strike on the side of the car, making a noise as if the car had struck some obstruction. Looking around he saw the brakeman, Jimmy Walsh, with his head out of the window at the far end of the car. Going up to where the man was he asked him what had struck, and receiving no answer he tapped him on the shoulder, the man neither moving nor showing signs of life. Conductor McKinney pulled him in, and was horrified to find Walsh's face all

COVERED WITH BLOOD.

About four seats distant from that occupied by Walsh sat a lady. She was also observed to be leaning out of the window, and her lady friend who sat beside her, noticing the condition of the brakeman, appeared to be struck with the idea that her companion had met with a similar fate, for she suddenly screamed and pulled her friend into the car, and found her worst anticipations were realized; the woman was insensible and soon went into convulsions. What little could be done to aid the sufferers was cheerfully done, and on arriving at Touchet station the train was stopped and the wires were tapped, a dispatch was then sent to Superintendent Buckley, informing him of

THE CATASTROPHE.

Mr. Buckley immediately procured the the services of Drs. Bingham and Blalock, and had carriages in waiting at the station on the arrival of the train. On arriving at the depot we found the unfortunate woman lying on a couch of blankets spread on the floor of the car, in an insensible condition, breathing hard partly through a gash in her cheek; at each heave of her chest a whistling gurgling noise could be distinctly heard. Walsh was lying in a bunk rolling and tossing in agony, in a semi-conscious state. On arriving at the depot each of the wounded parties were put in carriages and driven to the

SISTERS' HOSPITAL.

Here the blood which had saturated through Minnie Well's clothing, even to filling her sandals, was washed off and the surgeons proceeded to make an examination. It was found that Minnie Wells, better known as "Dutch Minnie," had received wounds which in all probability would prove fatal. She has a large gash on her left temple, bruising the skull for several inches, also a large cut in her left cheek and one in her right cheek penetrating her mouth, and several other flesh wounds which will leave her horribly disfigured should she by chance recover; her most

SERIOUS INJURIES

Are fractures of the left orbit at the outside of her eye. Her lower jaw is literally broken into small fragments. She is suffering from concussion of the brain. Up to the present time she has not been conscious since the accident. Minnie's case is considered utterly hopeless by the attending physicians. James Walsh has some severe contusions about the head and face, as well as several teeth broken out. He has been unconscious most of the time since the accident from concussion of the brain. The physicians have some hope of his recovery. Such accidents are of frequent occurrance in all railroad countries, and continually occur in spite of warnings, written and oral. As the travelling public become more used to railroading these accidents are of less frequent occurrance, and it is to be hoped that this sad accident, will cause travellers to exercise more prudence, especially in leaning out of car windows.

OFFICE OF THE PACIFIC MUTUAL Life Insurance Company. OF CALIFORNIA.

SACRAMENTO, July 1st, 1880.

TO ALL BUSINESS OF SECURING THE BENEFITS OF LIFE INSURANCE:—The first consideration with applicants for life insurance is, or at least should be, SAFETY. Will the money paid out for the Policy be prudently invested? Are the affairs of the Company Honestly and Efficiently Administered? When the Policy becomes a Claim, will it be Promptly Paid, and thus the object which induced the payment of the premiums be fully attained? There are queries naturally suggested and the character of the answers determines the course of the questioner and the selection of his Company. In this connection, the Managers of the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY respectfully beg leave to submit the following facts and statements concerning their Company.

1. Since its organization, viz. in 1868, it has paid 332 death losses on policies amounting in the aggregate to $992,975.

2. It has paid to Policy Holders, for Matured Endowments, Dividends, and Surrender Values, in Round Numbers, $1,000,000.

3. Its losses have been paid PROMPTLY AND WITHOUT LITIGATION. No judgment arising from a policy claim has ever been rendered against it, and it has no suits of this character pending.

4. It has repeatedly been examined by SWORN EXPERTS, and most thorough and searching investigations made of its condition and business, and in every case its solvency and trustworthiness have been demonstrated.

5. Its Stockholders and Directors are widely known as among the most capable business men and ablest financiers of the State of California, and the integrity of their management is unquestioned.

6. The laws of the State, including the constitutional provisions affecting corporations, are of the most right character, such as to make the company one of the saftest institutions of its kind.

Section 3 of Article XII of the New Constitution of the State of California, is as follows:

SEC. 3. Each stockholder of a corporation or joint stock association shall be individually and personally liable for such proportion of all its debts and liabilities contracted or incurred during the time he was a stockholder, as the amount of stock or shares owned by him bears to the whole of the subscribed capital stock or shares of the corporation or association. The Directors or Trustees of corporations and joint stock associations shall be jointly and severally liable to the creditors and stockholders for all moneys embezzled or misappropriated by the officers of such corporation or joint stock association, during the term of office of such Director or Trustee.

7. Its policy contracts contain no restrictions upon residence or travel, and its forms of insurance are unusually attractive. The Low Rate, Deposit Endowment, and Mutual Investment Policies, are peculiar to this Company, and offer advantages to the insured which are not surpassed, if equalled by those of any other Company.

8. When desired, Policies can be registered by the Insurance Commissioners of California, on the payment of a moderate fee; and a policy holder in the PACIFIC MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA has then the absolute guarantee of the State of California that the money held by this company against the contingency of his death is secured by bonds and mortgages deposited in the State Treasury. With December 31st, 1879, the Company closed its eleventh year, and in so doing affords the only instance on record in which a life insurance company in the eleventh year of its existence was enabled to pay its death losses from interest receipts; not only was this done but in addition thereto a considerable surplus remained. Believing ourselves entitled to the confidence and business of such as propose affecting insurance upon human life, we solicit their patronage, and pledge ourselves to discharge to the best of our ability the important and sacred trust devolved upon us.
