A Message from the Governor and the Secretary of State

We are proud to have served the citizens of Washington for this past decade.

One of the things that we've taken the most pride in has been watching the astounding generosity of our state employees through the Combined Fund Drive.

The Combined Fund Drive is an outstanding program that allows thousands of state employees and retirees to donate to their favorite charities. In the 27 years since its creation, the Combined Fund Drive has raised over $100 million for local, national and global charities through statewide fundraisers and payroll contribution.

Our state employees have shown astounding charity and goodwill in the face of these turbulent economic times, and we look forward to continuing the program's great legacy of charity and goodwill.

Our communities need our help and through programs like the Combined Fund Drive, we can provide hope and assistance to those who need it the most.

The time is now. Let's all come together and care for our community.

Regards,

Christine O. Gregoire

What is the

COMBINED FUND DRIVE?

Conceived in 1984 by then-Thurston County Auditor Sam Reed and established through an official Executive Order by Governor John Spellman, the Combined Fund Drive (CFD) has become one of the nation's premiere public giving programs.

Our mission

"Empowering Washington public employees and retirees to strengthen communities through the funding and support of charities."

The CFD encourages state employees and retirees to give to the charity of their choice through payroll contribution. To date, donors have an opportunity to give to one or more of 3,800 charities.

This safe and secure method is used by over 15,000 state employees annually, generating $100 million for local, national and global charities in its 27 years of existence. For many smaller charities in Washington, the Combined Fund Drive is their primary source of funding.

The campaign is administered on an annnual basis with the help of thousands of agency and higher education volunteers and continues to be one of the top public giving programs in the country.

Real Stories. Real People.

"One of the biggest challenges for nonprofits is to manage costs, particularly administrative costs. As the need for services goes up, we have had to look for ways to be more efficient. The Food Bank does not run its own annual campaign. Instead, we rely on workplace campaigns like the Combined Fund Drive. This allows us to reduce our administrative costs related to fundraising and focus more of our efforts on ending hunger."

- Robert Coit, Thurston County Food Bank

How to Participate in the CFD

Donate Online

You can make secure online donations at www.cfd.wa.gov. Click the "Make a Donation" button and follow the instructions.

First-time users will need to activate their account before they can complete a donation.

Use a Contribution Form

Carefully read the instructions provided on the contribution form. Incomplete and/or incorrectly filled out forms will prohibit or delay your donation from being processed.

Important notes to remember while filling out paper forms:

- The first paper form submitted during the campaign will override all previous donation activity. Any additional forms submitted will add donations to your giving account.
- Charity codes are found in this book or online at www.cfd.wa.gov.
- Remember to sign your form. This will authorize the CFD to process your donation.
- Make a photocopy of this form for your personal records.
- Return the completed contribution form to your workplace CFD volunteer.
- If you fill out a paper contribution form, you will still have to activate your profile on our website if you want to manage your pledges online.

Your monthly payroll deduction will roll over into the next year unless you make a change to your donation.

Volunteer

The CFD is an employee run program. We rely on thousands of volunteers from all over the state to make this campaign the success that it is. If you are interested in volunteering, contact your workplace Campaign Leader or contact the CFD office at (360) 704-7143 or cfd@sos.wa.gov.

2011 Combined Fund Drive

YEAR-IN-REVIEW

Once again, the Combined Fund Drive was able to eclipse the $5 million mark in pledged donations during the 2011 campaign. This was distinctive among state giving campaigns as other states around the country experienced sharp declines.

Many Campaign Leaders returned in 2011 to volunteer for the campaign, but especially encouraging were the new faces around the state. No matter how many years of experience, the volunteers of the CFD made 2011 another banner year in the face of incredible adversity.

Some of the most notable accomplishments this past year included:

DEPARTMENT OF ECOLOGY State of Washington

Mary-Ellen Voss, a first-year Campaign Leader with the Department of Ecology, put together a fundraiser that raised over $2,700 in one afternoon.

Washington Secretary of State SAM REED

Colin Helsley of the Secretary of State's Office, who was also in his first year volunteering, brought in over $2,700 via an online auction.

Department of Corrections WASHINGTON STATE

Colline Cummins and Andrea Slump, a set of campaign rookies with the Department of Corrections helped raise over $6,000 with a Basket Auction at the main headquarters.

2011 was a year of firsts, starting with the first-ever "You Decide" contest, in which donors and volunteers were invited to vote for one of three themes, with the winning bid becoming the official theme for the 2011 campaign. The year ended with the successful conclusion of the CFD's first-ever Food Bank Contest, rewarding a random food bank donor with a free Xbox Kinect.

"I'm glad to have been a part of something so great," Secretary of State Sam Reed said. "To watch the generosity and goodwill of our state employees during these tough times has been incredibly inspiring."

SUCCESS STORIES

University of Washington Combined Fund Drive

For years, the University of Washington Combined Fund Drive (UWCFD) campaign has been the model for higher education giving campaigns around the state and country and 2011 was no different.

As each passing year delivers harsher economic news for the education sector, the staff of the iconic institution have continued to show their generosity, once again topping $2 million in pledged donations to local, national and global charities.

Campaign Leader Kerri Everly and her events committee work with hundreds of volunteers from every UW campus to administer a campaign filled with well-attended events, charity fairs and fun promotional activities.

In December alone, over 181 University of Washington employees gave more than $5,000 total during the CFD's first-ever Food Bank Contest. Local charities like Northwest Harvest continue to reap the benefits of those donations all year round.

"The UW Combined Fund Drive has been an amazing partner," Northwest Harvest executive Barb Bocek says. "Their impact on this community has been astounding. We could never operate the way we do without the help of the UWCFD."

Department of Social and Health Services

They are on the front lines day after day, serving those in our community who need our help the most. From providing mental health services to helping the poor, the services they administer are crucial to the health of our overall community.

They are the employees of the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) and their service to the public does not come without its own set of sacrifices. Amidst the constant challenge of managing public perception and ongoing budget shortfalls, these steadfast public servants continue to give to the charities of the CFD with incredible generosity.

Last year alone, despite cutbacks in budget and staff, employees with DSHS pledged more than $515,000 to charities through the CFD, an average of $208 per donor.

Campaign Leader Georgiann DeKay and her army of volunteers have continually presented their agency with unique and fun ways to give, such as rock concerts and weekly giveaways.

"I think it starts with great leadership," DeKay says. "It's so much easier to run a campaign when you have support from your agency's leadership. After that, you just try and tap into a cause that people believe in."

WHAT IS A FEDERATION?

A federation is a partnership of five or more nonprofit organizations that come together to raise money through workplace giving, usually around common issues.

These federations help make life easier by providing development and marketing services to smaller charities that cannot afford development and marketing staff. Federations help promote giving, help with administrative duties and speak on behalf of their member organizations. In many ways, a federation links the community to its recipient charities, resources and services.

What insights or services do federations have to offer to the CFD Coordinator?

- Single point of contact for multiple charity speakers and other campaign resources
- Latest information on community work and issues
- Awareness of nationwide campaign trends and best practices
- Keeps campaign overhead at lowest levels by simplifying distributions

How do donors benefit from the work of federations?

- Accountability: A federation ensures that employees are offered charitable giving choices that meet the highest accountability standards.
- Efficiency: The donor's designated charity can concentrate its efforts on direct service rather than allocating resources to workplace giving.
- Readily Available Resource: Federations provide comprehensive issue-area education.

How do member charities benefit from the work of federation?

- Cost efficiency of receiving one consolidated check from many workplace campaigns
- Not necessary to allocate staff time to attend numerous workplace events
- Can plan ahead and estimate a portion of yearly revenues for their annual budget
- Funds raised through workplace giving are unrestricted. Charities can put them to use where dollars are needed most.

Higher Education Foundations

College students have long relied on the support of scholarships, athletic programs and academic departments to further their educations.

A key component of these programs is the money generated through higher education foundations. Donations from faculty, alumni and even the community-at-large have helped school foundations keep motivated students learning.

The Combined Fund Drive offers numerous opportunities for you to give to the higher education foundation of your choice. Whether it's your current school, your alma mater or a college in your community, you have access to nearly every foundation in the state through our payroll contribution program.

Inside this section, you will find all of the current foundations and their programs.

Animals and the Environment

Did you know that there is a garbage dump twice the size of Texas floating in the Pacific Ocean?

Did you know that the destruction of habitat has contributed to species disappearance at around a thousand times the normal rate? Scientists now estimate that every 20 minutes, another species becomes extinct. (Source: IUCN)

Did you know that pigs kept for breeding at factory farms spend their entire lives restrained in cages so small they cannot even turn around? (Source: WSPA)

Did you know that 75 percent of the estimated 500 million dogs in the world are strays? (Source: WSPA)

These are only a few disturbing facts – the laundry list of issues threatening animals and the environment is daunting. But before you throw your hands up in despair, just remember that, there are a multitude of charitable organizations working tirelessly to combat virtually every challenge facing the environment and every cruelty facing animals worldwide.

Environmental and animal charities continue to make great progress, but they would not be able to function without the help of dedicated donors and volunteers. The Washington State Combined Fund Drive encourages animal lovers and outdoor enthusiasts everywhere to browse this Charity Guide or visit www.cfd.wa.gov and get involved in a charitable organization that shares your passions.

Arts, Culture and Humanities

Albert Einstein once said, “Logic will get you from A to B. Imagination will take you everywhere.” Nothing is more important to imagination than art.

Art and culture are the engines of innovation. They make the impossible come to life. Just ask Steve Jobs, who once said, “We do not teach the arts to create great artists anymore than we teach math to create the next great generation of mathematicians.” It’s safe to say that he knew a thing or two about applying artistic principles to entrepreneurial success.

Research has shown that arts education strengthens a student’s ability to problem solve and critically think, adding to overall academic achievement, school success and preparation for the real world.

But music and art programs continue to be slashed in school budgets throughout the country, thrusting the responsibility onto the shoulders of nonprofit organizations.

Student art programs aren’t the only charities that benefit from the goodwill of donors. Historical societies help fund museums. Theatre companies and performing arts centers cultivate the imagination. Public radio stations entertain and inform. These are all integral to cultivating a well-rounded and informed society.

Before there were steam engines, automobiles, airplanes or the Internet, there were inventors with limitless imagination. Help inspire the next generation of innovators by giving to a nonprofit in these pages.

Children, Youth and Family Services

If children are indeed our future, what are we doing to protect that future?

That is a question that has been pondered by politicians, business leaders and philanthropists alike, and the answer is clear: Whatever we're doing, we could do more.

But how? Our schools are stretched thin, parents work overtime to pay the bills and our children are left to defend themselves against a world filled with temptation. How do we give our kids a chance at the successes that have made our society great?

Thousands of nonprofits are working tirelessly to make the lives of our children better and the results speak for themselves. Studies have routinely shown that children who are enrolled in programs like the Boys and Girls Club (CFD #1481019) achieve higher test scores, graduate high school at a significantly higher rate and are given the tools to succeed in life after school.

You know the names in this category - Big Brothers Big Sisters (CFD #0319566), Girl Scouts (CFD #0456669) and Boy Scouts (CFD #0315271). These are just a few of the nonprofits that continue to work toward keeping our children safe and on a path to success. Church groups, rescue centers for abused children and YMCAs also have opened their doors to our young generation.

You can donate to all of these amazing charities through the Combined Fund Drive.

Top Children, Youth and Family Services Charity:

Make-A-Wish Foundation received over $34,360 in pledged donations during the 2011 CFD Campaign.

COMBINED FUND DRIVE RIDES AGAIN

The 2011 CFD Third Annual Charity Motorcycle Ride was a roaring success

"Get your motor running, head out on the highway." 200 motorcycle riders took Steppenwolf's advice on Saturday, August 20th, 2011. They roared down the highway, wound through scenic side roads, felt the sun on their faces and raised $5,000 for CFD charities. These numbers rumbled past last year's totals of 150 riders and $4,000.

Volunteers from the CFD Thurston County Steering Committee (TCSC) spent months planning the Charity Motorcycle Ride. Their dedication and commitment paid off big as 200 riders began their day at the Tumwater Costco. From there the riders made pit stops at Cycle Tires Wholesale, Eagle Leather, Northwest Harley Davidson and ended at Lucky Eagle Casino for a buffet, pie eating contest, live music, charity speakers and incredible prizes.

First-time participant Marlene Roberts said, "We had a blast! This was our first time joining the ride and we can't wait until next year!" With that in mind, mark your calendars, as the ride is always the third Saturday in August.

It's difficult to write this wrap-up without the words of Steppenwolf's "Born to be Wild" coursing through the brain. That's because one phrase of the song really resonates for this event. "Take the world in a love embrace." No matter what Mars Bonfire was thinking when he wrote the lyrics, at this event it represented the outpouring of caring shown by ride participants and the generosity of our sponsors.

Community charities were present at every pit stop. This gave the riders a chance to talk directly with the charity representatives and help them understand the need for their services. In addition, it gave everyone a chance to hear how much the CFD donations mean to their programs' continued success and just where their CFD dollars were being utilized.

Imelda Ang, one of the pit stop coordinators said, "I am amazed at how generous our sponsors have been. Without their contributions, this event wouldn't have been as fun as it was and we wouldn't have been able to earmark $5,000 for CFD charities."

Lucky Eagle Casino, the end point of the ride, had riders rocking out to the groovin' tunes of Whoa Dizzy (www.whoadizzy.com), who donated their time to the event. Shari's Restaurant sponsored a pie-eating contest and 12 hungry contestants with a sweet tooth stepped up to the challenge. Lucky Eagle Casino also provided two lucky riders a chance in their money machine. Twenty-five seconds of grabbing at flying bills and both riders were able to recoup the cost of their registration. As a matter of fact, one of the participants, Melena Thompson, took her money to the casino and doubled her take!

Another first-time participant, Jenny Regalado, sums up the event, "It was a great day to catch up with friends I hadn't seen in awhile and I was really impressed at how well the event was organized. It was a good opportunity to have some fun and give back to the community."

Mark your calendars!

CFD Charity Motorcycle Ride

The 5th annual CFD Charity Motorcycle Ride is scheduled for the third Saturday in August 2013.

Disaster Relief and Emergency Services

Earthquake. Tornado. Tsunami. Hurricane. These words have made a frequent and unwelcome appearance in recent news headlines around the world. Natural disasters have always been one of Earth's inevitable realities, but due to a combination of climate change, increased population, rapid urbanization and other factors, their impact and severity has increased dramatically. In 1975, the world saw fewer than 100 natural disasters – in 2005, that figure had grown to more than 400. (Source: World Bank)

Not only are natural disasters becoming more frequent, but they have also become far more expensive. The material cost of natural disasters in the 1990s was $632 billion – 15 times higher than in the 1950s (Source: World Bank). Governments and international agencies help to provide emergency funding, but without the tireless efforts of nonprofit organizations, disaster-stricken areas would be in dire straits. Within six months of Haiti's catastrophic earthquake in 2010, $1.3 billion had been raised by charitable organizations. (Source: The Chronicle of Philanthropy) The contributions of private donors and organizations accounted for over 36 percent of the total funding for Haiti in 2010. (Source: Financial Tracking Service)

The CFD supports and encourages charities that are vital to emergency relief efforts worldwide. Countless lives have been saved as a result of these charities and donating to or volunteering for an emergency relief organization is always worthy and pertinent. THE WASHINGTON STATE COMBINED FUND DRIVE PRESENTS

HOPE for Japan

CFD HELPS BRING HOPE TO JAPAN

When devastation struck the island region of Japan, CFD donors and volunteers came together for a special disaster relief campaign

It's been called the Great East Japan Earthquake, and it was the fifth most powerful earthquake in the world since modern record-keeping began in 1900. The powerful tremor triggered a devastating tsunami that traveled inland for miles.

The early morning quake caused more than 15,000 deaths and billions of dollars in damage. Six minutes changed the lives of millions of families.

In response to the devastation, CFD donors and volunteers came together to conduct a month-long campaign to help victims of the natural disaster. They held agency fundraising events and promoted payroll contributions to fund organizations on the ground in the affected area.

Volunteers at the Office of the Insurance Commissioner generated $2,092 in donations, giving an average gift of $10 per employee. The Employment Security Department hosted a spaghetti lunch which raised more than $1,700 in donations for the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund (CFD# 1468727). The most innovative event was a "Peeps"
Contest at the Department of Corrections, which offered prizes to those contestants who came up with the most original designs using the popular marshmallow candy. The contest raised over $1,700 for nonprofits in the affected region.

In the end, nearly $10,000 was raised in just 30 days, bringing immediate relief to those in need. What started as a major disaster soon became a symbol of how powerful a group of citizens

Education and Literacy

By the time you finish reading the contents on this page, one student will have dropped out of high school. American students rank 18th in the world out of 36 industrial nations in education as a whole and about 40 percent of high school graduates lack the literacy skills employers seek. Even a college education has become harder to acquire, with rising education costs and stagnant family incomes.

These are some of the harsh realities we now face throughout our country. That's why the services of the nonprofits in this section are more crucial than ever.

Every organization, from the smallest PTA to the largest university foundation, continues to work toward improving educational standards and access for all students. These goals cannot be accomplished without tireless efforts of organization volunteers and contributions from donors like you.

Whether public or private, large or small, elementary or secondary, each of the institutions in this category strive to help change the world by providing everyone with the opportunity to learn.

Few things are more essential to improving one's life than education and literacy and studies have shown that the higher the reading level, the greater the confidence. So, in the words of the great and powerful IBM, let's work together to "make a smarter planet".

Health and Medical Research

Everyone has been touched by an illness and the feeling of helplessness that can come with it.

While politicians debate the best solutions for solving our current health care crisis, millions of those in need are being helped by nonprofit organizations. These organizations have chosen action over rhetoric, bringing care to all ages and socioeconomic sectors no matter what the cost.

From the basic care provided by children's hospitals to advances made in medicine by cancer research centers, thousands of nonprofits have made it their mission to bring affordable and competent health care to people in need.

Organizations in this category touch every segment of the population, from seniors to children, providing every service from routine care to advanced research. Efforts are even funded at the academic level through recurring donations made by employees to university medical centers like the University of Washington.

Mahatma Gandhi once said that "a nation's greatness is measured by how it treats its weakest members." Access to adequate health care will always be an issue, but your generous donations will help provide much-needed relief for those afflicted with illness.

Top Health and Medical Research Charity:

Gabby's Story

Our daughter Gabby was diagnosed with Rhabdomyosarcoma in October 2010. We noticed an odd, fleshy growth coming from under her eyelid. The pediatrician sent us to an eye doctor for removal thinking it was a granuloma and a week after the pathology showed it was cancerous. The next six days were filled with anxiety as we waited for our first set of scans. We received the news that her cancer was localized and would be treatable though 42 weeks of chemo. Radiation was a possibility, but an operation to remove the tumor proved successful. Our oncologist Dr. Louis Rapkin has given us a 90% chance of success, which has obviously made the whole ordeal a little less terrifying than what other families could be going through. Nevertheless, it is still something very hard to have to go through obviously.

We are currently halfway through treatment. Every three weeks we have had to spend the night in the hospital for overnight chemo treatment and then two weekly visits between for short chemo boosts. We've done nine of 14 overnight visits. On top of this Gabby has had to visit her eye doctor many times trying to improve moisture in her left eye after the operation damaged her tear ducts. Through different attempts to fix the problem we have settled on daily eye drops and punctual plugs in her eye to alleviate moisture drain. We also have to administer daily Neupogen shots to boost her cell count.

Gabby has been a real trooper through it all. Her hair loss was not much of an issue because of her age (three when it started...she turned four in late December). We thank God for each day we get to spend with our daughter and for being able to provide her with great healthcare through Children's Healthcare of Atlanta and especially the Aflac Cancer Center. We have met some amazing people here, which have been very kind and supportive.

Secretary Reed helps surprise the winner of the first-ever statewide CFD contest

It was just another regular work day for DSHS employee Lisa Glassmeyer until her boss called a stand-up meeting at 2 o'clock on a Thursday afternoon.

That was when Secretary of State Sam Reed walked into the front doors of the lobby in Office Building 2 and presented her with the grand prize. Shock registered on Glassmeyer's face when she found out that because of her generous donation during the Combined Fund Drive's first-ever Breast Cancer Awareness Month Contest, she had won a two-night stay at the luxurious Salish Lodge in Snoqualmie, courtesy of the Washington State Employees Credit Union.

"It's nice to be here today," Secretary Reed told the crowd of 75 DSHS workers. "We in state government hear so much bad news, it's nice to get together and do something positive."

Glassmeyer was one of 90 donors who either gave for the first time, or upped their donations during the month of October, taking part in a drawing that asked donors to give to the breast cancer research charity of their choice through payroll deduction. The contest was an incredible success, raising a total of $1,300 in extra revenue per month for charities like the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center (CFD# 0315947), The Breast Cancer Relief Foundation (CFD# 1479124) and Susan G. Komen for the Cure (CFD# 0315898).

Glassmeyer had been giving $10 per month to the Puget Sound Affiliate of Susan G. Komen for the Cure, a charity near and dear to her heart, since she started giving through the Combined Fund Drive.

"I have a friend that had breast cancer when she was 28," she said. "Since then, I have always been a supporter of Susan G. Komen."It wasn't until she heard about the contest that she decided to reevaluate how much she had been giving.

"I thought, 'Why not increase it a little?'" she said gleefully. "I can afford it. I never thought I'd actually win the prize." But she did, and surrounded by co-workers and close friends, what she thought was a routine appreciation meeting in the lobby of her office turned out to be a recognition of her contribution to a worthy cause.

The Washington State Employees Credit Union was also on hand to surprise the big winner and was proud to be a part of the Combined Fund Drive's first statewide drawing.

"We are so happy to be a part of something like this," Suzanne Klenk of the WSECU said as she congratulated Glassmeyer. "We love recognizing people who give."

Without the generosity of WSECU, the Breast Cancer Awareness Month drawing would not have been nearly as successful as it could have been and the Combined Fund Drive looks forward to working with the credit union for years to come.

Housing and Homelessness

Recently, the South Puget Sound Habitat for Humanity (CFD# 0316508) unveiled a small development, filled with five houses that were built for families in need by loved ones and other charitable organizations.

A recipient of one of those houses was an employee with the Department of Health, who had qualified for a Habitat House when state budget cuts and rising expenses forced her into dire circumstances. With the help of her co-workers and generous contributions made to Habitat for Humanity by donors through the Combined Fund Drive, she was able to hang her hat in a new home, built by the hands and contributions of state employees.

Hundreds of thousands of people, many of whom are helpless children or veterans who have sacrificed for the rest of us, continue to struggle with the plight of finding a place to rest their heads at the end of the day. Sometimes, the problem of homelessness can seem too big for us to deal with.

It's not.

Charities and nonprofit organizations are fighting every day to eradicate homelessness in our communities, from the smallest soup kitchen, to organizations like the United Way of King County (CFD #0316726), who combine forces with government agencies and large businesses to attempt to provide housing for all.

To many of us, a roof is just a roof. For some, a roof can be a sign of hope. It can be a sign of things to come.

Top Housing and Homelessness Charity:

The South Puget Sound Habitat for Humanity receives more than $25,000 annually, enough to build one house in Thurston County.

Economic recovery slow for US nonprofits

By DONNA GORDON BLANKINSHIP
Associated Press
December 19, 2011

As the first signs of an economic recovery make the news, many of the nation's nonprofit organizations are digging in for another three to four years of financial distress, according to researchers who keep an eye on the charitable world.

Some larger nonprofits are seeing donations start to rise again, but most report their income is holding steady at lower, post-recession levels or is still going down, according to a new study from the Nonprofit Research Collaborative.

The collaborative found 59 percent of nonprofits report their donation income is flat or lower than in 2010, which was another down year for most charities. Among those that receive some government dollars — long considered a safety net for charitable organizations — more than half are reporting a decline in income for the year.

Forty-one percent of nonprofits have seen their donation income go up in 2011, but most of the nation's smaller charities with less than $3 million in total spending saw donations drop again this year.

Food pantries and homeless shelters across the country have reported funding crises this year because of an increase in need coupled with a drop in donations.

Siena House, a women's shelter in Waukesha, Wisconsin, briefly shut down this past summer because it didn't have the money to continue operations. A fall fundraising drive brought in $60,000 and Siena House was able to reopen in December.

About 8 percent of the charities included in the report say they are in danger of closing for financial reasons, while among smaller charities, that figure is 20 percent.

"Nonprofits are still facing very challenging circumstances," said Una Osili, director of research at The Center on Philanthropy at Indiana University, one of six organizations in the Nonprofit Research Collaborative.

Few will actually go out of business, Osili said, but cutting programs and laying off staff are a real possibility. Many are using volunteers to do jobs previously completed by staff.

"The good news is that nonprofits are starting to look ahead and think about ways to adjust to the new environment we're in," she said.

Because most nonprofits spend money the year after they earn it, or budget according to a three-year average, even when the economy does pick up, the recovery for charities will take longer, she said.

King County, said the nonprofit groups his organization supports through its fundraising have had at least three down years because of the recession.

In fiscal 2011, the Seattle-based United Way experienced its first up year since fiscal 2007, with donations of $119 million compared to $100 million in fiscal 2010. That's still below the $124 million total for 2007.

"I think it's less about a clear indication that the economy is improving, and it's more about individuals and corporations are willing to support proven programs that get results," Fine said.

His organization has had a lot of success attracting money for a relatively new program that helps kids from low-income families prepare for kindergarten, with donations of $10 million in fiscal 2011.

Other Seattle charities give a mixed report of their fundraising successes.

"Some are up and some are down," Fine said, adding that needs continue to be high and fundraising isn't enough to make up for government cutbacks.

The year isn't over, however, and some charities are still hoping for a holiday surprise. A recent random national survey of the general public found some potential for hope. Fifty-one percent of people questioned by Harris Interactive in a random telephone survey said they expected to give a charitable gift as a holiday present.
That survey, paid for by Federal Way-based nonprofit World Vision and conducted at the end of October, also found about seven in 10 adults plan to increase their charitable giving once the economy improves.

World Vision reports its own donation income is growing, with sales of its holiday gift catalog up every year of the recession, said Traci Coker, director of the holiday fundraiser at the religious nonprofit that focuses on international aid.

A NOTE FROM THE COMBINED FUND DRIVE:

Stories like these are the reason why giving programs like the Washington State Combined Fund Drive (CFD) are so important. Many charities rely on the stable, ongoing contributions made by the donors of the CFD.

A survey of local charities found that nearly one in five smaller nonprofits (defined as charities that bring in less than $3 million in annual donations) are struggling to keep their doors open. Many of these charities are members of the CFD, highlighting the incredible need for the funding that comes from the Combined Fund Drive.

For more information about the charities which benefit from the CFD, check out the 2011 CFD Campaign Report at www.cfd.wa.gov and click on the link at the bottom of the page.

Human Services

Organizations in the human services field may have one of the most interesting and challenging jobs. They provide a variety of services to numerous customers with unique circumstances. The main goals of the profession, however, are almost always the same.

Human service workers serve humanity by helping others overcome problems that hinder them from meeting the basic needs in their lives. This might be as simple as securing food, housing or medical care, or something as complex as addiction intervention or microloan disbursement.

Human services are not a modern concept. The idea predates our country, with the first evidence of such a service being seen in Feudal England. Human services encompass religion and secularism, liberalism and conservatism. They trump ideologies and politics and focus on basic human need above all else.

Many of the nonprofits in this section specialize in more than one field, providing a holistic approach to altruism.

Organizations like the Special Olympics (CFD #0315477), the United Way (CFD #1478461) and Catholic Community Services of Thurston County (CFD #0315308) make up the human services category because of their ability to meet the basic needs of of so many.

What is human service? It's what a donor does the minute he or she chooses to start giving their time, talent or treasure to a charitable organization.

Hunger and Food Distribution

Hunger, as many of us know, is an international problem. What we might not realize, however, is that there are hungry families in our own communities. In nearly every community nationwide, hunger is a pervasive reality.

In 2010, almost 50 million Americans lived in a household considered to be food insecure, or lacked access to food that met basic nutritional needs. One child out of five is at risk of going to sleep hungry every night. (Source: Feeding America) And hunger doesn't just affect the homeless or undereducated – many families with college-educated, working adults still struggle daily to put food on the table.

With the country in an economic downturn, an increasing number of families are in need of assistance obtaining food, which is why food banks and other charitable food distribution programs have become vital. Donating to or volunteering for your local food bank is an easy and rewarding way to directly help people in your community. By working to make sure everyone has enough to eat, you help to increase food security, which makes your community safer, healthier and more productive.

Hunger may be a huge problem, but it is one that can be dealt with effectively through the hard work and determination of food distribution charities and their committed volunteers. Getting involved with one of these charities is very simple – just look through the following pages of this Combined Fund Drive Charity Guide or visit the CFD website at www.cfd.wa.gov.

RELIEF COMES TO AFRICA

Combined Fund Drive donors team up with Global Impact to bring relief to refugees in East Africa

Somalia has been a tumultuous region since its military dictatorship was overthrown in 1991, but citizens of the long-suffering country continue to be exposed to escalating violence. The result has been an exodus of historic proportions and the governments of neighboring Kenya and Ethiopia have struggled under the weight of millions of refugees.

As the airwaves filled with horrific images of famine and desperation, nonprofits mobilized to answer the call. Global Impact (CFD# 0316711), an international federation that specializes in disaster relief, partnered with dozens of charities housed in the region to bring much-needed relief to the Horn of Africa.

CFD donors also acted in the spirit of the holiday season as they answered the call for relief in the region.

During its 2011 campaign, the Combined Fund Drive partnered with Global Impact to create a special account for East African relief (CFD# 1480780), promoting donations to the fund through payroll contribution. Each donor was given a $10 Starbucks gift card for their generosity.

In total, 15 donors have pledged nearly $500 every month, and another 14 donors gave one-time contributions totaling $140 during the holidays. As a result of the donors in the Combined Fund Drive, charities in the East African region will receive $5,948 over the next year. To put that into perspective, $2 per month provides 15 basic meals in Kenya.

$5,948 = a lot of meals.

Every medical degree should come with a degree in humanity.

International Relief and Development

Remodeling your home can be a nightmare. Working with contractors and subcontractors, making endless trips to the home improvement store, deciding between granite versus quartz countertops – the whole process can be exhausting! But this scenario pales in comparison to the challenges facing citizens in developing countries. In these nations, lumber and bricks are made and pit toilets are dug by hand. And if you were thirsty from that hard day's work, you'd have to wait in line to haul water up from your community's only well. Sure makes that remodel sound pretty easy! Believe it or not, the majority of homes in the world today are still constructed by their inhabitants with handmade materials.

Building homes is not the only grueling obstacle faced by millions of people around the world each day. About every 20 seconds another child dies from a preventable disease due to lack of access to health care and routine vaccines. (Source: United Nations Foundation) Hunger and malnutrition is the primary health risk worldwide – an estimated one in seven people do not get enough food to lead a healthy life. (Source: United Nations World Food Programme) In addition to hunger and sickness, lack of infrastructure, civil services and basic education are only some of the other issues confronting millions of people every day.

These problems may be daunting, but they are faced bravely by an army of devoted charities and passionate individuals who refuse to be discouraged. These charities need your help. Flip through the following pages or visit www.cfd.wa.gov to find charities that focus on international relief and development.

Top International Relief and Development Charity:

Doctors Without Borders received $53,975 from donors during the 2011 Combined Fund Drive Campaign, making it the fifth highest charity in the program.

Senior Centers and Services

A quarterback works hard and gets drafted by his favorite professional football team. As he heads to the podium to accept his new job duties and the millions of dollars that come with it, he is stopped by a reporter, who asks him what he plans on doing with his newfound riches first.

"I'm going to buy a house for my mom," he says confidently.

If only we could do that for all of our elders.

The fact is that as more of our population lives longer, the resources we use to protect and assist them are quickly being stretched thin. That is why the work of nonprofits in the field of senior services is so important.

Whether it's housing services for seniors in need, programs that help bridge the ever-widening gap between everyday costs and retirement benefits or essential strides made in the fields of Alzheimer's and cancer research, the work of charities is incredibly important to the care of our elderly. Donor dollars are helping nonprofit organizations serve seniors across the country and the stable contributions made by donors through programs like the Combined Fund Drive provide a long-lasting stream of steady revenue that will continue to benefit all of our elderly.

We can't all buy our mom a house, but we can work hard to take care of her when she gets older. To find charities that focus on senior services, visit our website at www.cfd.wa.gov.
