Collosal Enterprises and Ideas.

These are times eminent for large achiev ments and vast speculations. The human mind has grown in comprehension, and its energies have quickened, until old impossi-bilities are easy tasks. The two mightiest enterprises now before the world-and they are the mightiest that the imagination has yet conceived-are A Telegraph Across THE ATLANTIC and a RAILROAD ACROSS THIS CONTINENT. That neither is impraeticable, and that a few years will witness the construction of both, we consider re- poetry! deced to an absolute certainty.

The present Administration is, to appearances, grasping at the Pacific Railroad as its This is wise, for if the road is constructed within the next four years, or if only a large portion of the work is performed and provision made for its completion, the Administration of PIERCE will be one of the most memorable in the history of the Government, and it will, in the brightest ages that are rising upon the world, be far more glorious than if distinguished by the most triumphant wars. It would indeed by the merest folly for the Administration to let slip this more than golden opportunity, for it is only at intervals of centuries that such a marvellous the Cabinet have spoken favorabe opinions, in plain words and with emphasis.

A Submarine Telegraph, as everybody knows, connects England and France, crossing the Strait from Dover to Calias-distance twenty-five miles-and has worked admirably for two years. A wire has also been laid sixty miles, across the Irish Chan-nel, connecting Hollyhead and Howth.-Those lines demonstrate the practicability of longer ones, and the idea of stretching a wire across the Atlantic, is being earnestly sgitated by business men, and companies ents. It will require a certain number of hape, an enormous steamship must be constructed for the purpose of stretching itnothing more. The question is, will it pay? It has not been long since a scientific gentleman wrote a book, a "scientific book," Proving, with tolerable conclusiveness, that a ship could not be driven by steam across the Atlantic. The book was hardly pub-

Foreign News.—Our foreign news on the last page, especially that relating to Austria and China will be found deeply interesting. As regards the quarrel between Turkey and Russia, all accounts agree that the matter has now reached a crisis, and the matter has now reached a crisis, and that the question of peace or war will be decided in a very few days. The present position of the case is this: Austria, England, secure the magnificent prize. What is Respectability?

To judge from the conduct and ideas of ing rich laces, drinking champagne, cidling away life. To cut a figure in society on the promenades, or at a watering place when the magic wire is laid under the great sca, we will be enabled to give, each morn-ing, news from the shores of the Pacific and of coats for some fashionable tailor, seems from the European capitals. Such a man, let him do of the good. So also the low-minded in all pursuits; those cruel and unfeeling towards their fellow-men, charlatans of every bue, and all others of a similar kind, cannot be respectable. Pinch-back never yet passed long for gold; or, as the proverb has it, "you cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

How beautiful is the memory of the dead and what a chastening influence it sheds upon human life! How it subdues all the harshness that grows within us in the daily inteacourse with the world! How it melts our kindness, and softens our pride, kindling our deep st love and waking our highest aspirations! Is there one who has not some loved friend gone into the eternal world with whom he delights to live again in memory? Does he not love to sit down in the hushed and tranquil hours of existence, and call around him the face, the form, so familiar and cherished-to look into the eyes that mirrored not more clearly his own face than the soul which he loves -to listen to the tones which were ones melody in his car and have echoed softly in his heart since they were hushed to his senses! Is there a spirit to which heaven is not brought nearer, by holding some kindred soul? How friends follow to the happy dwelling place of the dead, till we than the butterfly flirt. In a word, worth, not wealth, constitutes respectability.

The blessed dead! how free from stain is our love for them ! The earthly taint of our affections is buried with that which was corruptible, and the divine flames in its purity illumes our breasts. We have now no what he will, can never become respecta-ble. A gulf, as wide as that between Dives and Lazerus, separates him from the esteem the control of the waiting for the control of the control o re-union. We shall find them waiting for us in their garments of beauty. The glorious dead! how reverently we speak their names! Our hearts are sanctified by their words which we remember. How wise they have become by the the undying fountains of pleasure! The immortal dead! how unchanged is their love for us ! How tenderly they look down upon us, and how closely they surround us! How earnestly they rebuke the evil of our lives.

Let them talk pleasantly of the dead, as those who no longer pursue the fleeting, but have grasped and secured the real. With them the fear and the longing, the hope and the terror, and the pain are passed; the fruition of life has begun. How unkind, that when we put away their bodies, we should cease the utterance of their names The tender hearted dead, who so struggle in the starting from us. Why should we speak of them in awe, and remember them only with sighing? Very dear were they when hand clasped hand, and heart responded to heart, why less dear since grown worthy a higher love than ours, and their perfected souls might receive even our adoration by their hearth-side, and by the grave side, in solitude and smid the multitude. Think cheerfully and speak lovingly of the dead .- [Eclectic.

The returns from the August elections in the Southern States are yet incomplete.-The following are the latest advices:

TENNESSEE,—Charles Ready has proba-bly been elected to Congress in the fitth dis-trict—a whig gain. This is counterbalanced however, by the election of Win, M. Chur-chill over Horace Maynard in the second district. In district four, E. L. Gardenbiry, democrat, is probably elected; and in the no change. It is now thought that I'dward M. Yerger, whig, is elected in the tenth dis-trict, over Frederick P. Stanton, who was to make so much money by his re-election. Yerger's majority is said to be 24. If this is confirmed, there will be a net whig gain of one in the congressional delegation. It of one in the congressional delegation. CHINA, -- The Boston Journal has the following from a circular, dated Shanghae, May 31:

"Having reference to our last circular advices, it gives us pleasure to revise, in some measure, the opinions passed of the charac-ter of the insurgents and their leaders in this quarter of the empire. Translations of their books since made, lead to the hope that they are in truth religious reformers, that expresions which were supposed to signify blas-phemous pretensions were merely used in the usual Chinese sense of spiritual relationship, and that their errors and excesses, are the result of intense enthusiasm, which carries them beyond the precepts of their

"They profess a sort of Jewish descrip tion of Christianity, inculcating a very high standard of morality, but drawing the great-er part of their precepts from the Old Tes-tament. It must be allowed, however, that they have been guilty of much cruelty and unnecessary bloodshed, nor do they show much tact or management in onlisting the much tact or management in calisting the people in their cause. This change in the character of our information would necessarily affect our opinion as to the result of the struggle, even without the news now coming in from all parts of the Empire, of fresh insurrections. The fall of the old dynasty is now hardly a matter of doubt.

"With a body of religious enthusiasts, part of whose creed is war to the death, in the heart of the country, and engaging all the feeble energies of the government, and insurrections under other banners in nearly every province south of the Yellow River, it cannot long survive.

"The ultimate result is a question only to be decided by time; but the superior organization, poor as it is, of the Christian rebels, and their more determined spirit, may justly give us some hope that in the end they may pressil over their competi-tors for empire. They still remain in pos-session of Nankin and Chru Ceangtoo, and beyond some skirmishes with the Chines foreign ships, in which they are uniformly successful, nothing new has occurred. It is much to be feared that the country is rapmuch to be leafed that the country is rap-idly approaching a state of anarchy, a con-dition of things the most detrimental to trade, and we are obliged further to confirm our previous remarks upon the prospects for business. Imports will be to a great extent business. Imports will be to a great extent unsaleable, and the amount of produce bro't to market must be largely curtailed. The U. S. ship "Plymouth" leaves to-morrow, to join Commodore Perry at Japan, and American interests in China remain entirely undefended at this critical period.

Considerable amusement has been created the past week by the notification of the government that an American company, including several an American company, including several York, claim the exclusive right to all the fisheries now in controversy between the United States and England, under a title derived from the Earl of Surling, and that the claimants intend testing the legality of their four thousand men have actually claim by fitting out a vessel and despatch-ing her to the grounds claimed exclusively by Great Britain. VOYAGE ROEND THE WOLLD WITHOUT THE LAND. - We published an account obtained from a source which we deem d authentic, and which proves to be substan-tially correct, of a voyage round the world, made since the month of October Last, in the made since the month of October last, in the space of less than five months, in which not one of the ship's company landed, or even saw, land. This ship was the Benjamin Rush, of Warren, Rhole Island, which sailed from that port on the 13th of October last, on a whaling voyage to the Pacific ocean, and proceeding round Cape Horn to to the whaling ground, after taking two whales, the captain and three of bis men, while in the set of taking a third, were while in the set of taking a third, were killed. The efficiency of the crew was so much enachled by this melancholy loss that he mate, on whom the command devolved, dermed it expedient to come home. To ac-complish this object, he continued westward-ly on his voyage, and in 148 days of his by on his voyage, and in 118 days of his own reckoning, or 117 of real time, he crossed his outward track, and arrived at Warren, her port of departure, on the 16th of June last, no one of the crew having in the meantime lauded from the ship. We copy the following account of this remarkable voyage from the Warren Northern Star. Star.

"MR. RANDALL: - Having seen marks taken from a Boston paper, referring marks taken from a Boston paper, referring marks taken from a Boston paper, referring to the late remarkable voyage of the ship Benjamin Rush, of this port, which remarks are in part erroneous, I send you a correct and minute statement of the voyage, which well illustrates the enterprise of our whalers who now make the whole watery surface of the globe their common fishing ground. The Benjamin Rush sailed from this port on the 13th of October, 1852, and returned June 16th 1853, having been absent from home eight mouths and three days. In this time she had passed the Atlantic ocean twice in its length, and made the circuit of the globe. During the whole time of her ab-sence, no person had been sent out of the ship, except in the boats when after whales. They saw land twice on the voyage, in both instances in the Atlantic ocean. One hundred and forty-seven days after this, on the 7th of May 1853, the Benjamin Rush crossed her track near this island, having, from this point, completely circumnavigated the earth without seeing land. A day or two after crossing her track and completing the circuit, they made the island of Trinidad, being the second and last time of seeing land on the voyage.

Territory.

PELLOW CITIZENS:

At the earnest solicitation of numerous friends who seem deeply convinced that I can be of essential service to our Territory, I have at length consented to allow my name to be used as a candidate for Delegate to Congress at our approaching election. Being personally known to a large majority of you, I deem it unnecessary to say more at this time, than simply to state that my course of conduct hereafter, as heretofore, will be open and independent, and that if elected, my rest untiring exertions shall be given to the best interests of our Territory, without regard to sections or localities.

I replied to her note, apparently in good earnest. She wrote again, maining a time and place to meet. I met her and found her to be well accomplished, in the first society, with wealthy connections, &c. She had answered for a joke. We became interested in each other. She introduced me to her relations, whom I found to belong to the too. We were engaged. All her friends were in favor of the match except her father. The 18th of June was appointed for our wedling. I returned to New York in April. She wrote me three times a week, assevering that nothing but death should part us. She wrote to have me get a certificate from the city clerk where she lived and hurry up my cakes. I have it. wain the youthful mind.

We were pleased with the readiness with which the little girls of six and eight years answered their questions in geography and mental arithmetic. The exercises of the higher classes on the Black board, in gramman and physiology, were highly grediable, both to themselves and to the teachers. It is unnecessary for us to specify all the studies thus honorably reviewed. The general impressions on our minds, and we believe on the raiseds of all who were present, was that our Daughters may here obtain a thorough Mental Education, combined with the best Moral Training.

We rejoice to feel that the Institution is thus beginning to realize more fully the idea of its foundars, and that it promises to be a rich and permanent blessing to this community and to the Territory.

We are happy also to know that the deportments of the Seminary are to be more definitely separated during the succeeding terms. The primary department will be under the care of a teacher who will davote herself entirely to it.
