Letter from Clallam County.

PORT ANGELOS, March 22, 1877.

EDITOR ARGUS:

In a late issue you ask for correspondence from Clallam County in reference to the agricultural lands unoccupied and open for settlement by the many emigrants who contemplate coming out here. I have on several occasions written articles which you have published concerning the resources of this part of the Territory. For some reason this county has been entirely overlooked by those who ought to have advanced its interests, but as you are receiving letters from people East inquiring where they could get good land to settle on and make permanent homes I send you the following items concerning this county, beginning at Sequim and Dungeness, where there is some good land to be taken, and some to buy already improved. From there is a stretch of about ten miles, heavily timbered at the water front, but what there is in the interior very few know anything about.

In the vicinity of Port Angeles there are some very good places yet to be taken. Several parties took claims a few days ago.

The same on the Elliwah, seven miles west. Then comes Freshwater Bay and Crescent, with but few settlers and plenty of good claims yet to be taken. Next is Lytle and Twin river, twelve miles further west, which few know anything about. Next is Picht river, with many good claims, also a trail from there to the Quillehutte prairies. Seven miles west is Clallam Bay, with some good claims, also a good harbor to ship produce. Five miles west of this place is Hoco river, and I speak from my own observation when I say there are a hundred good bottom-land claims, covered with a light growth of alder, maple and shrubbery, with a splendid water front for shipment.

The next twenty miles west of this, I am sorry to say, was gobbled up by the Indian ring for poor Lo, who does not want it, and about 10,000 acres of as good land as ever lay out of doors is looked up until doomsday from those who would make it productive; or until the false philanthropy of some of our Puritanical neighbors has passed away, and an Indian, if he behaves himself, will have only his share of God's foot-stool with his poor white brother.

Thirty-five miles southwest of Neesh Bay is the great Quillehutte prairies, which would give splendid farms to a thousand families. There is no doubt but the open country almost reaches the Chehalis river. There are a few thrifty settlers there now with large herds of cattle, but no roads. If a road were made from Picht river, or Neesh Bay, butchers would not want to go to the Yakima for all their fat cattle. Some effort ought to be made by the citizens to have this part of the country surveyed and settled, as the Indian Department has an eye on it for poor Lo, and if not surveyed soon, so the hardy pioneers who have settled there can perfect their titles, I would not be astonished to see them driven off at the point of the bayonet as they were at Neesh Bay a few years ago. Victoria gets thousands of dollars from this part of the Territory which, by right, belongs to Port Townsend, in the way of trade, if the proper steps were taken to establish communication which could be relied on.

Now about that gold excitement at Morse's Creek. I think if all the gravel in the creek were washed it would not pay for the sluices, let alone grub and time. I don't believe there is gold enough west of the Cascade Mountains in this Territory to pay for the rice a Chinaman would eat getting it out. There are always a few restless individuals who are prowling about prospecting in hopes of finding good diggings. I think it is best to leave the matter with them and not encourage others to leave a legitimate business to follow a will-o-the-wisp gold excitement. Nations have spent millions trying to get to the North Pole, but I assure you when that imaginary stick is found it will be by one of those very individuals who are nosing about for indications of the precious metal.

RUSTLER.

A CORRESPONDENT writes: "I went east of the Cascades from Oregon last November, and since that time I have pretty thoroughly prospected the whole country and I find the largest amount of good farming land, yet open for settlement, is on Snake river in Eastern Washington. I have taken my choice and located in the vicinity of the Four Lakes, 12 miles from Spokane Falls. At these falls is said to be the finest water privilege on the Pacific coast. Although we are some distance from market at present, we anticipate having a market right at home at no very distant date. We are immediately on the located route of the Northern Pacific railway, and I am well convinced that if the N. P. Co. does not some other company will go to work and put the road through within a few years. I would here mention that one of these lakes is called Borax Lake and known for its great medicinal properties. I have been told of a number of cases of chronic rheumatism which had been effectually cured by merely bathing in its waters, which would make it remarkable just for that alone, but when tried I think it will be found good for a great many other purposes. And now, when I take a view of all the advantages this country has for a poor man to get a home it is astonishing to think of the numbers that are living on rented lands, or working for some one else.

The barkentine Jane A. Falkenburg, on her last trip from Portland to Honolulu carried a ton of preserved potatoes prepared by the Plummer Fruit Dryer. The Captain purchased the potatoes and makes the shipment on his own account. This is probably the beginning of a large trade in this line. The potato prepared in this way is preferred by many to the fresh vegetable. By this process it is said they will keep for a long time in any climate, and retain all their properties as when fresh. The shipment mentioned is put up in tin cans properly painted to prevent rusting, and labeled. The cans weigh, when filled, 65 pounds each. Tons of fruit are put up every day at this establishment in East Portland.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS.

The State of Minnesota has restored the death penalty for murder.

Moody converts in Boston were not as numerous as was looked for.

Prisons are made only for small criminals. The large ones go free.

Of the sovereigns of Europe ten are members of the church of Rome.

Rev. Mrs. Van Cott, the female Evangelist, is 47; she weighs 250 pounds; was married when she was 17, and a widow at 30.

Mrs. Rebecca Anderson, aged 112, was baptized by immersion in a Brooklyn church recently.

A Miss Forney, a North Carolina bride, dropped dead from heart disease in the middle of the ceremony.

The Chinese of San Francisco have made arrangements for a cemetery near that city. This will put a stop to the practice of sending home the bodies of their dead.

Robert T. Lincoln, the eldest son of the late President Lincoln, has been appointed one of the Railroad Commissioners of Illinois.

The Union Pacific railway is seriously considering the project of constructing a branch road to the Black Hills country.

Governor Hendricks in a recent interview at San Francisco said: "I do not believe the Electoral Commission acted according to the spirit of the law. The longer the country thinks of its action the more it will be condemned."

President Hayes has sent a letter to Hampton and Chamberlain, the rival claimants of the office of Governor of South Carolina, inviting them to a conference with him on the condition of affairs in that State, requesting them that they either come to Washington in person, or send delegates in whom they repose entire confidence to communicate their views.

The editorial fraternity in the East are congratulating McComb, the managing editor of the San Francisco Alta, for his courageous action in suppressing the belligerent bully, of a lawyer named Hayes. This case is one of the annoyances that journalists must sometimes suffer without solicitation, but here the aggressor found one who had the ability to protect himself from a brutal assault and punish his assailant severely, as well as the presence of mind and nerve to haul the offender to a police station and enter a complaint against him.

The importation of American beef into Great Britain is said to have struck consternation to the hearts of the cattle-growers of the kingdom, and especially those of Ireland. The meat is found to be superior to the home product, and is sold in London, Liverpool and Dublin very much cheaper. The result promises to be very important and far-reaching in its effects. In Ireland the high price of labor and the poor return for farm products have led to an extensive conversion of farming lands to the purposes of grazing. The raising of cattle and sheep has become the leading industry of the country, but this is threatened with annihilation by the influx of American beef in the British market, and it is surmised that the result will be the restoration of the land to tillage and an increased demand for labor.

Simple Cure for Earache.

Many years ago two of my children, one aged 3, the other 1 year, had a terrible attack of earache all in one day and night. I worked over the little sufferers doing all I could think of, and trying remedies suggested by our neighbors. On the second morning of the attack, a lady came in and asked me if I had tried burnt sugar. I told her no, that I had not heard of it. She told me to put some live coals on a tin plate, sprinkle some brown sugar on them, set a funnel over it, and then hold the child so that the smoke could go into the ear. I did so, using the same remedy for both little ones. The result was marvelous; the pain stopped instantly, and soon both little sufferers were in a sound refreshing sleep.—Mrs. H. W. Beecher.

Foreign Born Cabinet Officers.

Carl Schurz is the first foreign-born citizen who ever held a cabinet position, but he is through American, and fully one-seventh of our people are foreign born.—(Boston Globe.)
How about A. Hamilton?—(Cincinnati Commercial.)

The assertion by the Globe passed around the country freely without contradiction, until the appearance of the query by the Commercial. The case of Alexander Hamilton, however, another eastern contemporary thinks, is hardly a façonné to present against the position of the Boston paper. Mr. Hamilton was a native of the British West India Islands, and came to this country previous to the declaration of Independence; was educated in and became a citizen of our country like all other persons residing here who had previously been British subjects.

But a foreign-born Cabinet officer is not by any means a novelty in the history of our government. Without counting Mr. Hamilton, three gentlemen of foreign birth have held Cabinet positions; viz, Messrs. A. Gallatin, A. J. Dallas and J. W. Duane. The first named served for twelve years as Secretary of the Treasury—the longest of any one who has ever held that position. He was so profound a thinker and so thorough a financier that his opinions are still held in great respect. Mr. Gallatin was born in Geneva, and educated at the University in his native city. He was so fully imbued with Republican principles that he refused the offer of an official position from a German monarch and came to this country. He ultimately located in Pennsylvania, where he soon became active in State and national politics. His selection as Secretary of the Treasury was based mainly on account of the ability he exhibited as a financier while a member of Congress. The next, Alexander J. Dallas, was born on the Island of Jamaica, and was possessed of great learning and fine executive ability. He was made Secretary of the Treasury in 1814 by Mr. Madison. He stood so high in the estimation of the President that when a vacancy occurred in the War Department, at a very critical juncture, he was designated to fill that also, and for a time was head of both the Treasury and War departments. The last of the three, and as conspicuous as any of his predecessors, and one who exhibited as much firmness as any man who ever held a Cabinet position, was John William Duane, Gen. Jackson's stubborn Secretary of the Treasury, who refused to remove the deposits in 1833 and was himself removed in consequence. Mr. Duane was a native of Clomwell, Ireland. Mr. Schurz is the first German-American ever called to a seat in the Cabinet, and his appointment is not only very fitting because of his ability, but is a proper recognition of one of the most active and influential elements of our population.

A Header on Head-Lines.

Practices prevail to quite an extent among a certain class of newspaper makers, in diluting their goods with a thin solution of head-lines. This may have originated in the custom among law reporters of giving the syllabus of the decision in a concise form as a caption to the full opinions of the Court, but as no parallel exists between the two cases, either in the necessity or the manner in which the custom is carried out, the only object visible to the naked eye in this shallow head-line business is to consume space and defraud the purchaser. A simple indication of the subject matter of an article is not only unobjectionable, but desirable, although the leading journals of the world, the London Times, etc., are so capriciously just to their patrons as to omit even this. But when a newspaper regularly consumes from an eighth to a quarter of a column in giving a digest of an article, and divides what is left of the space by inserting unimportant sub-heads, the whole scheme may be considered as much an article of fraudulent merchandise as watered milk or sanded sugar, for the dealer in which the tentacles of the law are always feeling, and who, if detected, loses caste and business, and sometimes his liberty for a temporary period.

But it was not our object to invidiously attach the odium of this practice to our immediate exchanges, though there may be some who evince an inclination in this direction. It is peculiarly a characteristic of Western journalism—Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco papers leading off in open order. In the journals of these cities a skillful headliner is an important member of the staff editorial. If he is a facetious youth, and full of quips and jokes, and ready quotations, he ranks next to a base-ball reporter or the sporting editor. Some, while not so expansive in head-lines, dose their readers daily and weekly with far-fetched but feeble and staggering alliterations suited to the febrile condition of a poetical school-girl in her first throes. This latter class is deemed of value in sensational journalism, but is expensive and troublesome, as he must be carefully watched when the moon is in its full, and at the season when the roses bloom. Taking it all in all, this head line business, beyond a modest indication of the subject matter of an article, is an open, palpable insult to the intelligence of the reader.

Editorial Notes.

BRICK POMEROY has been lecturing on "Poverty, and how to reach it." He knows from experience. Brick selected New York as the scene of his experiments, but a daily or even weekly paper in the hands of an inexperienced man will do it almost anywhere.

AND now there is an opening presented for trouble between the United States and Mexico. The recent arrest and imprisonment of the American Consul at Mazatlan for protesting against the exaction of a forced loan from an American citizen, is an outrage that can hardly be suffered to pass unnoticed.

THE New York Times traces the effect of blue clothes in strengthening the brain. It cites the cases from Webster to Poland of the blue cloth statesmen, but omits the most conspicuous instance on record, that of Governor Williams of Indiana, for whom Blue Jeans has done more than blue cloth has accomplished for the whole army of statesmen mentioned by the Times.

PROF. PACKARD has been for some time past engaged in the Western Territories, where the lively little grasshoppers do mostly congregate, in collecting information concerning their migratory and dietary habits, and thinks he has sufficient data to begin the construction of a map—a grasshopper map of the United States—indicating in colors their distribution, etc. He has consulted Prof. Abbe, of the Weather Signal Bureau, and they have jointly come to these conclusions: 1. That there is an intimate connection between the prevailing winds and their migration—that their rigging is not adapted to sailing against the wind, or even close-hauled; and, 2. That their periodical visits "coincide with unusual seasons, and that there are cycles of years recurring, favorable or unfavorable to insect life."

BISHOP WHIPPLE, writing to the Churchman, says that soon after Alaska came into possession of the United States, "in a certain Greek church there was a beautiful jeweled copy of the Gospels lying on the altar. An officer of the army happening to enter the church the day before the transfer, saw the beautiful copy, and knowing there was no law in our Indian country, he called on the bishop and said: 'Your Grace, Alaska is to be turned over to us to-morrow, and I called to say I think you had better remove that Gospel from your altar.' The Bishop replied: 'It has lain there 70 years; it was the gift of the former Empress of Russia; why should I remove it? My friend very meekly said: 'It is a beautiful jeweled copy, and I was afraid it might get stolen.' The Bishop with surprise, said: 'I hope you have no one who will steal from God. I shall leave it on the altar.' It was left and it was stolen."

I make this statement as I hope to meet my God.' His limbs were then bound, and after the prisoner said a prayer the black cap was put on and the rope adjusted, when the sheriff stepped back and cut a small string when the trap door fell and Hayes dropped a distance of six feet and hung motionless. INTERESTING.—The Easter services at St. Paul's Church last Sunday were unusually interesting. The Church was tactfully decorated with new flowers and greenery. In the morning some very fine singing was rendered by the choir under the leadership of Judge Swan, who is well qualified for the position, he having in years past occupied a prominent position in the choir of the old South Church, Boston. A sermon, abounding in sound thoughts and practical suggestions, was read by Mr. Minor in a concise, impressive style very agreeable to his hearers. The festival in the afternoon consisted principally of remarks by the Sunday-School children by Mr. Minor, the Superintendent, Mr. J. T. Norris, followed by some spirited singing and the distribution of Easter eggs. The collection taken up in the morning and afternoon services for the purchase of new Sunday-school books amounted to $35, to which the Superintendent added $25 more—making in all the neat sum of $60.

NEW POST ROUTE.—We are credibly informed that the proposed overland route between this city and Port Ludlow is soon to be entered upon. The Department has already requested a description of the route from the postmaster here which, when received at headquarters, will necessitate the issuance of an order calling for bids, relative to carrying the mail. The route, if properly selected, will no doubt prove an advantage in many respects to the citizens of Port Townsend, Chinamen and Port Ludlow.

MR. A. J. SMITH, who arrived here a few months ago from Dakota Territory, and is now engaged as school-teacher on the Indian reservation at Neah Bay, was made happy this week by the arrival of his wife and eight children, among whom are some stalwart boys. These good people were the possessors of a large and fertile farm at Lodi, in the above-mentioned Territory, from which they were being driven through the ravages of the grasshoppers, but what is Dakota's loss is our gain. Mr. Carpenter, a relative, also came with them, who, when he is located, will see for his family.

FLOWERS.—Nearly every good lady in our town this summer is endeavoring to have her flower bed. We are glad to see this, and would mildly suggest to them that the first point to be considered in arranging plants in beds is to have the tallest in the center with the others gradually decreasing in height, until the margin is reached, when the dwarf kinds may be used to serve as a border. The arrangement of colors according to the rules of good taste and harmony is another feature that should not be overlooked.

The sailor taken off the bark David Hoobly with the small pox has recovered the quarantine was broken this morning, and the sailor and eleven shipmates went up-land on the succeeding day. Thus out of five cases this season from various vessels touching at this port, only one—an Indian, whose prejudices forbade his taking the necessary medicine, has proved fatal. It is gratifying to the skill of the medical director, Dr. Minor, seconded by the experience and judicious treatment of Mr. S. L. Strauge, who had the care of the patients.

The steamship Dakota, four days from San Francisco via Esquimaux, entered at this port on the 3d inst. She brought the following passengers for Port Townsend and adjacent points: A. Plimney, A. Kuttow, S. Kuttow, P. Frost, D. S. Lewis, T. Mausfield, and 12 in the steerage. Her freight was consigned as follows: Rothschild & Co., 222 1/2 boxes; B. S. Miller, 1; C. Bartlett, 64; C. Elsbels, 21; F. W. J. 24; Hunt & Learned, 3; J. S. G. 12; J. W. J. 1; Katz, 3; N. D. Hill, 27; O. F. Gerrish, 51; Jackson & Co., 10; J. S. Lewis, 35; Waterman & Katz, 17; W. J. S. 29.

The farmers of Chinacum are feeling quite jubilant over the dry conditions of their valley and in anticipation of a crop of potatoes. One of the settlers informed us that the ground was as dry now as it was last year in June. That they may have among other blessings, abundant crops and good health is the wish of the AGENTS, for (and we can give them no better recommendation) they are scrupulously punctual in paying the printer.

THELIE SINGERS.—A band of colored ladies and gentlemen, composing the world-renowned Original Fisk Jubilee Singers, will give an entertainment at Good Templars' Hall, to-morrow evening, and all who wish to enjoy a first-class harmony, and at the same time hear the unique songs of the once enslaved ought by all means to attend. See advertisement.

We learn that some fifteen persons partook of the holy communion at the new Presbyterian Church last Sunday. As this was the first occasion of the using of the elegant service recently presented to the Society by a lady down East, it will, doubtless, be welcome news to her to hear of the number partaking that day.

MR. WM. McCURDY, Superintendent of the building of a life-saving station at Neah Bay, with his attorney, Judge Swan, took passage on the schr. Winifred last Monday for the scene of operations.

BORN.—On Whidbey Island, March 25, 1877, to the wife of Chas. P. Dyer, a daughter; and on March 27th, to the wife of Jos. Alexander, a son. By the above arrivals a new keeper and assistant have been added to Smith's Island light-house.

DIED.—Christina Baker, a native of Denmark, aged 31 years, died at the Marine Hospital on the 4th inst, of heart disease.

MR. J. R. Robbins, of Seattle, has gone to the Black Hills to retrieve his fortune.

IMPROVEMENT.—Thomas Drummond, Esq., has well under way the erection of a dwelling-house on the corner of Van Buren and Washington streets. It is a frame one-story cottage, the main part 23x27 feet, with an L. in front, the whole resting on a brick foundation. Captain Hill is building a house in the present little settlement bordering the Port Discovery road beyond the school-house, which will be similar to the above, with the exception that it will be 17 stories in height. Dr. Minor will shortly enter upon the erection of an addition to the Marine Hospital, two stories in height and 40x20 feet on the ground. This has been deemed indispensable in order to afford room for the increasing number of patients seeking admission within its walls. We believe it is the intention of the Doctor to partition the upper story into suitable apartments for private patients.

UNION WHARF.—H. L. Tibbals, Esq., Agent for the Union Wharf Company, has contracted with Mr. Haddock to make extensive repairs on Union Wharf. The work, which will be commenced as soon as the material can be obtained, will include the clearing of some 200 piles and necessitate the temporary removal of the warehouses in order to the strengthening of foundations, etc.

WONDERFUL.—Mrs. John Heffner, of Reading, Pennsylvania, has just become the mother of her twenty-fifth child, and there's not a particle of blue glass in her house, either.

A man named Fraser was committed to jail in Victoria as a vagrant, for living with a squaw. If a similar course of justice were to prevail here, the town jail would in soon be required for a jail site.—Seattle Dispatch.

The Seattle Tribune says the steamer Otter is to run as a day boat on the lower Sound route, between Seattle and Port Townsend, touching at Ports Madison, Gamble and Ludlow.

The Kitsap county treasury is again in funds.

PUGET SOUND ARGUS.

Little by Little.

If you are gaining little by little, every day, be content. Are your expenses less than your income, so that, though it be little, you are yet constantly accumulating and growing richer every day? Be content; so far as concerns money, you are doing well.

Are you gaining knowledge every day? Though it be little by little, the aggregate of the accumulation, where no day is permitted to slip without adding something to your stock, will be surprising to yourself. Solomon did not become the wisest man in the world in a minute. Little by little—never omitting to learn something, even for a single day—always reading, always studying a little between the time of rising up in the morning and laying down at night; this is the way to accumulate a full storehouse of knowledge.

Finally, are you daily improving in character? Be not discouraged because it is little by little. The best men fall far short of what they themselves would wish to be. It is something, it is much, if you keep good resolutions better to-day than you did yesterday, this week than you did last. Strive to be perfect, but do not be downhearted so long as you are approaching the high standard at which you aim.

Little by little, fortunes are accumulated; little by little knowledge is gained; little by little, character and reputation are achieved.

The Rochester Union says Bailey, of the Danbury News, is a "bad failure as a lecturer." He had better be a bad failure than a good one, by all odds.

SUMMONS.
In the District Court for the Third Judicial District of the Territory of Washington holding terms at Port Townsend, for the counties of Jefferson, Clallam, Island, Whatcom and San Juan.
JOSEPHINE HOVY, Plaintiff, vs. CHARLES HOVY, Defendant.
