THE JUDGE'S DAUGHTER.

My story seems branded into my memory in letters of fire. It is no story conjured up by my imagination, nor yet one needs that glossing over by a fiddle pen.
All the incidents are real—none exaggerated.

Not many years ago a haughty man, a judge of incorruptable character, died, leaving behind him two children.

After his death it was found that he had not been so wealthy as many supposed, yet rich enough to leave each daughter a handsome competence.

To the eldest daughter descended the homestead and a sufficient income to keep some of their former style, the younger, twenty thousand dollars, invested in an old trusty bank.

From infancy, Estelle had been acquainted with a poor but proud spirited boy.
She had watched his intellectual struggles for an education such as he desired, admiring his unconquerable ambition, and as he neared manhood he became her ardent lover.

But the Judge demurred. No daughter of his should encourage a penniless youth —their intimacy must cease. Obedient as a child she listened to her father's command, and obeyed implicitly.

He surrounded her with gay company;
he did everything that wealth or taste could suggest to win her away from her boy lover; but though she uttered no complaint, he knew that she did not forget him.

At last he died. He did not bind her with any promises. Perhaps in death he discovered that it needs more than wealth to bring happiness.

After her bereavement Rupert Kingsland came to her again.

"Estelle, my love," he said passionately
"it may seem wrong to you for me to come to you now that he has gone, when I know how much he was opposed to me;
but my darling, you are in trouble, and I must comfort you."

She did not chide him. She believed her father must have relented, or else he would have spoken and forbidden her to receive him after his death. She wept and sobbed on his bosom like a child.

"Rupert," she said, "if you had forsaken me now, I would indeed be desolate."
"And to leave you ever will kill me," he ejaculated impetuously. "Curse my fortune, that I must be forever debarred from you!"

"Don't speak so fiercely, Rupert. No one stands between us now."

"Yes poverty stands between us as it ever did," he replied. "Never will I take advantage of his decease to step unworthily where he forbade me. If I ever could obtain my wish of becoming a great and famous physician, then I would be proud to come to you."

"Where would you go to become a doctor?" she inquired.

"I would study in England, France and Germany," was his eager reply. "To be a common-place physician would not satisfy me. I must be the equal of the most eminent."

For a moment she was silent.

"Rupert," she observed presently, "the way is open to you. My money is left untouched. In no way would its use give me as much joy as to know that it was aiding you to obtain your life's desire.
You shall go to England, France, and Germany. Only return as pure as you leave me."

For some time he opposed such suggestion. He could not accept her money; but in proportion to his unwillingness to receive became her eagerness to bestow.

At last he consented. He would only consider it as a loan, to be repaid at some future time. He would send to her as a banker for what he required, and remain away for some four or five years.

Her sister was very much opposed to it when informed what Estelle proposed to do.

"You are very unwise, Estelle," she said angrily, "to draw your capital to give him. I doubt his goodness. I doubt his ever returning."

Estelle was wounded but not discouraged. She made him a present of a very handsome gold watch and money enough to defray all his expenses incidental to his journey and first attendance to a medical school. Then he was to write to her and she would send him more.

His two years were spent in England, and he received money from her every quarter. He lived in style, even in luxury; surrounded himself with everything he could wish for, and though she thought he must be extravagant in his habits, she made no complaints.

Her sister married and went to California and Estelle was left to watch and wait the three remaining years of his absence.

He went to Germany. He remained two years longer. The last year of his proposed absence he wrote to Estelle thus:

"My love I do not know how to say what I wish. My five years have nearly expired. I believe I am near the goal, which, save for the goodness of your true and noble heart, I should never have hoped to attain; but yet I am not satisfied.

I wish to see you as much my poor lone birdling, that I am ready to drop everything, give up every future hope for this world and the next to fly to you; but I restrain myself. I wish to be entirely worthy of you and all you have done for me when I do return. If I could remain here two years longer, I might accomplish much therein!"

She perused that part of his letter. Two years more! Two years of long waiting!
She let not even a sigh escape her lips.
Her faith in him was implicit. There is a passage in holy writ which says: "There is no fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not perfect in earthly love."

She knew no fear! It would be hard for him to be away two years longer, but if he desired it she would not complain. She had already lent him, so great had been his extravagance, every penny of her principal. She took up her pen and wrote:

"Rupert, God alone knows how much I long for you each day; but if it is your wish to remain away two years more, do not let me deter you. You know that my father did not leave me as well provided for as was anticipated, and now all is gone except the homestead. If you think the two years necessary I will mortgage it."

He did not think two years more necessary, but he wrote so touchingly about her sacrifice that it seemed as if he was conferring a favor on her by taking it than her on him by giving. It was mortgaged.
Every dollar she realized was sent to him.
Her own servant—she had dispensed with all but one—was discharged. Then she stood alone. What was she to do? She could not appeal to her sister; she remembered the taunts that sister had extended her. She went out and procured a situation as governess in a wealthy family, one of her old friends. Public indignation became intense, Judge Atherton's daughter a governess! People blamed her folly, but she smiled serenely. Her reward was yet to come. She believed Rupert's fame would compensate her for all! Two years passed away, and even she could not deny herself that she had failed greatly during that time. Then a letter came to her; it said:

"My patient love, I am coming at last. Be ready for me in May. Write me one more letter."

Accompanying it was a paper containing a notice of him and his great medical skill. American papers congratulated themselves upon having such a rare acquisition to the medical fraternity. She read, and wept tears of joy. He was coming at last!

"You must not be surprised," she said in her responsive epistle, "to find me much changed. I think my health has failed the last two years quite rapidly.

Ay! to how many hearts such an announcement would have carried terror.
She knew the name of the ship in which he was to sail, and watched the slow, seemingly endless days go by. She was full of peace and joy; she was content, he was coming. Those that knew her said she wore the expression of an angel. Be-that as it might, her heart wore the happiness of one. She heard when the steamship arrived. They only lived twenty miles distant—sure he would come next day; but the next day came, and the next, and the next, and he came not. She saw his name among the arrivals; was he sick?
She was tempted to go down and see,
when a gentleman called on her.

"I have seen your friend Dr. Kingsly in the city," he said. "He asked me to inform you that he had been detained and would soon be up."

The announcement took one pang from her heart only to add another. He was well—she thanked God for that, but could she have been within twenty miles of him for a week without sending him some message. That was all the reproach she allowed her gentle heart to make, while she formed a thousand excuses for cruel neglect. Two weeks passed, and they numbered three. Then a note came, which commenced as follows:

"My dear friend, I feel as if I can say to you, through a note, that which I wish to say, better than face to face. Estelle, you have been my good Samaritan, and I am sure you will rejoice at my happiness.

I was married last night to Miss Morse.
You remember her, a young lady of wealth, beauty and good position in society."

She read no more. Some one in the adjoining room heard something heavy fall and rushed in. They found her on the floor apparently dead. They picked her up and sent for a physician. "A severe shock," was his conclusion. "She is dying of heart disease." She became sensible again, but her heart was utterly broken.
Seven years of waiting and then the false-hearted lover had left her—left her, after squandering her property, to die in misery! Even then she uttered no complaints.
She had all his letters, little keepsakes, and every trifle pertaining to him brought to her. She bound them up and addressed them to him. "After I am gone send them to him," she said. A week later they laid her away and fulfilled her request. Rupert Kingsland began to practice early and his success was wonderful, despite the notoriety which his false heart had brought upon him. On the first day after he came back from Europe, Mary Morse gave a party. She made her brother watch Mr.
Kingsland and bring him up. "See if I don't win him from that faded Estelle Atherton?" she exclaimed before he met her.
His fickle heart easily proved recreant to every vow of love, every tie of honor.
Two years afterwards she was about to go down a flight of stairs, when she uttered a loud shriek, and fell forward to the bottom. When she became conscious, she said, "Estelle Atherton stood at the foot of the stairs!" Whether it was merely a delusion of her guilty conscience, we can never know. Any way, the fall fractured her spine, and until this day she is a miserable, repining, cross, faded invalid, frightened to be left alone for a moment,
and she is a conscience stricken wretch, enduring all the pangs of earthly purgatory.

Verily my friend is being avenged! It is God's just retribution.

CLEANINGS FROM THE PRESS

The woman question: what did she have on?

A bride received among other wedding presents recently, two sewing machines, three pianos, twelve ice pitchers, and eight family bibles, large size.

A Virginia editor has come to the conclusion that a man might as well undertake to hold himself at arm's length and then turn a double somersault over a meeting house steeple, as to attempt to publish a paper that will suit every body.

"Oh, Tommy, that was abominable in you to eat your little sister's share of the cake." "Why," said Tommy, "didn't you tell me, ma, that I was always to take her part?"

An Oregon toast over a glass of ardent:
"Here's what makes us wear old clothes."

A Chicago girl wrote to her lover in Springfield, Mass., just after the fire, saying: "Our wedding-day was set for next week, and if you will stand up with a woman dressed in cotton skirt and her father's overcoat, come on." The brave youth telegraphed in reply: "Get ready, I will be with you."

The greatest pleasure of life is love; the greatest treasure is contentment; the greatest luxury is health; the greatest comfort is sleep, and the best medicine is a true friend.

Revenge is sweet. The young ladies' anti-tobacco society in Waterville, Me., is offset by the young men's anti-corset association.

An Exchange having received poems entitled the "Trobbling Brain" and the "Bleeding Heart," concludes to wait for the "Aching Stomach" before publishing either.

The last instance of modesty is that of a lady who refused to wear a watch in her bosom because it had hands.

A citizen of Washington has collected ninety-eight different colored cats.

A young miss of 14 was recently sent by express through the company of Wells, Fargo & Co., from Vallejo, California to Annapolis, Md. She was under the care of a dozen different agents, and had nothing to do but obey directions, and arrive safely, C O D.

London has opened a new business—a regular trade in wild animals, which is really brisk. Lions and tigers may be bought either at wholesale or retail.

Medical Notice.

IT HAS BEEN A MATTER OF some remark to regular practitioners how it is that such great quantities of worthless, and really damaging drugs to the human system, have been palmed off on the afflicted public as infallible remedies in certain diseases.

Genuine Remedies! that will thoroughly eradicate the diseases alluded to, without injury to the system at large, is by putting up general prescriptions for the respective complaints, and advertising them.

THE MUNDILIAN PASTE. This Paste is warranted a sure and speedy cure for all cases of Gonorrhoea, Gleet, and unnatural secretions from the urethra, if not complicated with other diseases.

ANTI-PLAGOSUS PILLS. These Pills are warranted a sure and speedy cure for all cases of Syphilis in the earlier stages of the disease.

LEVIGARIAN MIXTURE. This mixture is warranted a sure and speedy remedy for all eruptions of the skin, arising from any cause, and may be used without the least danger by young or old.

ANODYNE LINIMENT. For rheumatic troubles you will find the symptoms very much alleviated, and in many cases experience a complete cure, by using this Liniment.

Notice. The following unclaimed goods remaining at the office of Wells Fargo & Co., Port Townsend, will be sold at public auction on February 23rd, 1872.

SEALED PROPOSALS. Will be received till January 13th, noon, for fencing and plowing, harrowing and rolling the streets of the Masonic Cemetery.

PROSPECTIVE.

EDITOR ARGUS:—Since my last opistle there has nothing wonderfully transpired at the Capitol to mar the happiness of a hopeful people, save the tardiness of a few cultus tillucums, in making over deeds of their illite to the Rail Road Company for imaginary purposes.

FENIAN SCARE AT VICTORIA. We understand that there has been another Fenian scare at Victoria. Our friends across the sound really seem to live in "fear and trembling," and it requires but the waving of a green worsted petticoat or the maudlin twaddle of a drunken Irishman to set the whole town agog.

ERRATA.—In the article entitled 'Something about Stimulants,' in last week's ARGUS, occurred the following typographical errors: "Digitatic" for Digitalis; "Phosphorine" acid for Phosphoric acid.

MASQUERADE BALLS seem to be quite the fashion lately. Nearly all our exchanges have local notices of something of the kind. Why should our fun-loving citizens be behind in the matter.

F. H. LANE, Esq. Superintendent of the Washington Territory division of the Western Union Telegraph has changed his headquarters from Victoria to Seattle.

THE WOMAN RIGHT'S QUESTION seems to be still violently agitated, and it is said that General Butler has lately declared his opinion that the Fourteenth Amendment gives women a constitutional right to vote.

We have received the first numbers of the Daily and Weekly Puget Sound Courier, a new paper published at Olympia.

BIRTH.—Born, January 3d, to the wife of Captain Hayes of the steamer California,—a daughter.

Port Townsend and her Churches.

Port Townsend is far from being Utopian in almost everything and especially does this remark hold good in regard to her churches. We have avoided this subject studiously, because we knew we could not touch it without treading on the toes of some one.

A Flat-Billed Parrot. A lady in town owns a Parrot, and like most of the species that have learned to talk, the Parrot is given to repeating whatever it hears out of the ordinary line.

The team came to a dead halt, and the exasperated teamster poured out a string of invectives, which was answered in full by the bird, duly winding up with "whoas" and "gees." The incident attracted the attention of our friend of the "curiosity shop," who, of all people in the world relishes things of this kind, and he immediately fell in love with the bird.

By this time Jim had brought along the eggs, and receiving the dollar for it placed it in the hands of S, who remarking that it was a large one for so small a bird took it away with him.

The Olympia Transcript says that during a Christmas Tree exercise at Liberty School house, Pierce County, a child fainted at the sight of the Santa Claus mask, after the distribution of the presents.

Young Mr. LAUBACH, the Photographer, over Hasting & Bro's Store, is taking some very excellent pictures, samples of which we have seen being equal to the best.

PROBATE COURT.—The regular Term of the Probate Court of Jefferson County, will commence, and be held at the Court House on Monday next, January 15th.

THE WEEKLY ARGUS. THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1872. In consequence of ill health we are compelled to quit our work in the office for a time. During our absence from duty, Dr. J. Townsend has kindly consented to take editorial charge of the ARGUS, which will appear as usual.

THE WEEKLY ARGUS. THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1872.

In consequence of ill health we are compelled to quit our work in the office for a time. During our absence from duty, Dr. J. Townsend has kindly consented to take editorial charge of the ARGUS, which will appear as usual.

THE RAIL ROAD SITUATION.

There is much speculation among some as to which side the depot will be located at Olympia; it being asserted that the excessive cost of building the road on the west side of the Inlet, and the disposition of the most desirable lots about Brown's wharf would prevent the company coming in on that side.

From the latest intelligence we can gather, and we have been at some pains to ascertain the facts, we are led to believe the above report of the state of affairs to be incorrect; instead of the cost of constructing a road to the west side of Budd's Inlet costing more we are authoritatively assured that it will cost several tens of thousands of dollars less than to construct one to deep water on the east side.

Another feature that does not look well for the east side people is that Messrs M'Kinney and Avery, prominent gentlemen of Olympia, who hold considerable land on the east side of Budd's Inlet, have gone to Victoria for the purpose of displaying of their 'desirable lots,' at the Terminus on Puget Sound.

There seems to be little telegraphic news, in our exchanges this week that would be of interest to the general reader. Several reports have been current through the town of the death of Queen Victoria, and also of the fatal termination of the illness of the Prince of Wales.

An Indian by the name of Cowichan John, was shot last Sunday at Port Discovery. We understand no legal notice has been taken of the matter, as there was sufficient provocation for the act. The Indian bore a bad character, having been driven away from Vancouver Island some two years ago on account of having shot a white man there.

THE IMPROVED EMPIRE CITY a favorite Cooking Stove—heavy castings—for sale, cheap, at J. E. SHEEHAN'S.

Francis W. James, Having resumed business at his old stand on Water street, Port Townsend, Offers for sale, at low prices for cash, an assortment of general merchandise, consisting in part of DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, BOOTS AND SHOES, OREGON WOOLEN goods, Etc., Etc.

MONEY MARKET. Gold in New York 108 3/4. Currency, here, buying at 90c.; selling at 90 1/2. Exchange on San Francisco and Portland...

The money market is at ease comparatively. Merchants have closed accounts for the old year, and have funds in hands for the spring stock.

In San Francisco money is in good supply. The latest mail advice by the Alta, is to the effect that the deposits in bank sustain their level, and will probably increase after the first proximo. The demand for money is regular, and is met at 1 1/2%; outside of bank, 1 1/2, and loans on four or five months, 10 1/2 per cent; at call, on choice securities, money is had at 8 1/2 per cent. At this season, the period of annual settlements, the usual disposition prevails, to make the best attainable balance sheets. To that end stocks of merchandise are reduced, obligations curtailed and accounts settled. This year the possible action of Congress in relation to financial and revenue matters lends additional caution and the mercantile action is modified. The rains have indeed imparted great confidence as to the productive powers of the coast, and, consequently the purchasing power of the consumers; but closer proximity to the East brings sharper competition in the cost of supplies, and the influences which affect it are not entirely disregarded. The demand for Exchange is not active; the rates are: Coin Drafts of New York, 1/2 per cent premium; Currency drafts, 1/2 per cent premium on gold; Telegraphs, 1/4; Exchange on London Bankers, is 49d, for 60 days. The San Francisco Mint coined in 1871 gold 923,000 pieces, worth $17,829,000, and silver pieces to the number of 1,725,900, and value of $746,775.

Real Estate rules tame. The following sales have been effected during the last week: J A Kuhn to Jeremiah Driggs, 5 acres in Section 4, Township 30, 1 w, $80.00. J E Pugh to J A Kuhn 5 acres in Section 8, Township 29, North Range, 1, w, $125.00. E S Fowler to J J Hunt, lots 5 and 7, in block 133, $400.

John E Burns to Wm Newton, lot number 5, Block 39, Port Townsend. Consideration, $235.00.

Trade. Trade during the last week has been very good. Merchants have closed their accounts for the old year, and while the general average shows nothing startling as having been done, yet all are satisfied. Each year shows improvement, which, though slow, is steady, and therefore encouraging.

There is no particular change to note in the market during the last week. All kinds of grains remain firm at previous quotations.

We clip the following from the Oregon Herald: The Wheat Market in Oregon is of an anomalous nature. Some dealers have withdrawn from the market, prices being too stiff to warrant buyers in taking up large lots under the present condition of foreign markets and the absence of anything late by telegraph concerning prices. Interior quotations are in many instances much higher than here, owing to the persistent effort made by the holders to realize the highest figures possible. Prices are tending downward somewhat, although sales of small lots have been made at $1.25 per bushel, and the price stands at that. Shippers offer from $2.17 @ 2.19 for choice, sacked and delivered. Last Liverpool quotations, 12s 6d. Flour has been moving to some extent. More than 10,000 barrels were shipped last week to Victoria and the Sound ports. State mills are not running their full amounts, and advices from the interior do not report much wheat in store. The Plaindealer says the Harrisburg mills have 100,000 bushels of wheat, and the capacity of the mills have been increased to 150 barrels of flour per day. We quote local market, extra Standard, $7.00 per bbl.; country brands, $6.75 per bbl.; superfine, $6 @ 6.50 per bbl. Oats are firm in this market at $2 60 @ 2 65 per cental, sacked.

Marine Intelligence. The steamer, Etta White, Capt. Smith, left Friday morning for Port Angeles for a load of shingles to take to Olympia. The steamer California passed up the Sound Friday and returned Saturday morning, having made the run from Olympia to this port, under steam, in 8 1/2 hours. She left for Victoria at 9 A M, thence to Namimo to load coal, thence to San Juan to take on board 55 soldiers, then will return to this port for passengers and freight and clear for Portland.

The bark Milan, Captain Thomas Butler, arrived at Port Gamble Saturday evening, reports left San Francisco December 9th; first ten days after leaving port, experienced gales of wind from E N E to N N W, and S W, and S E, with heavy snow squalls, and a high sea. In the latitude 40° N and longitude 128° 30' W, encountered a heavy gale from the S E, on the first of January, 1872, encountered a heavy gale from the S E and S W, with heavy squalls from the S W accompanied with snow. For the last 16 days have been from the latitude of 46° 20' N, longitude 126° 24' W, up to Cape Flattery; arrived at Port Gamble on the 6th of January, to load lumber for San Francisco.

Schooner Winifred, Captain Loyd, cleared Monday morning for Victoria with 56 hogs. Value $560.

Steamer North Pacific arrived Monday morning with mails, express, and 43 passengers, and left for Victoria at 12 noon. From a private letter received from San Francisco, we learn of the safe arrival of the schooner Clara Light, which was supposed to be wrecked.

Schooner Sabina arrived Monday morning from Dungeness with a load of hay and grain for E S Fowler.

Sloop Narcissa arrived Monday morning from Port Angeles with U S Mail, reports encountered a heavy S E wind, with high sea running, was obliged to run back to Port Angeles four different times, owing to the fury of the wind, having split his mainsail and sprang a leak.

The ship Revere, Captain McEntire, for whom great fears were entertained as to her safety, has arrived all right at San Francisco, on the 22d of December, 15 days passage.

The wind has been blowing quite fresh from the south-east for the last four days, accompanied with rain.

The bark Glymph was towed up to Port Blakely Monday morning by the steamer Etta White.

We are indebted to Inspector Frank Winslow for favors extended.

Concerning the late storms in California, the Bulletin of the 21st ult, has the following: The rain continues. The storm is the most protracted for many years. The fall for the 24 hours ending at 8 A M to-day, was .87 of an inch, making a total of 8.51 inches for the present storm, and 12.53 inches for the season, being within one and a half inches of the total for the entire season of 1870-71. The rainfall thus far for the season has only been exceeded six times in a period of 22 years; the exceptions are 1849, when we had 18 inches; 1852, 19 1/2 inches; 1861, 13 1/2 inches; 1864, 16 inches; 1865, 18 1/2 inches; and 1866, 15 1/2 inches.

HEAVY ON PORTLAND.—H. C. Borstel, master of the ship Panama, inserts in the Liverpool Shipping and Commercial Gazette, a caution against ship-owners and ship-masters, accepting business at Portland, Oregon, owing to the extraordinary difficulty of getting seamen, owing chiefly to the 'boarding house' nuisance, which is described as being carried on to a great extent there. As an instance, he says: 'The British Ship Prince of Wales, had to pay $300 gold per man from that place to Cork for orders, the men being sent from Victoria to Portland by steamer, expenses paid. It is only fair to our web-foot neighbors to mention that the Oregonians put a different face upon the affair. B. Colonist.'

Steamer Favorite arrived Monday morning from Utsalady, reports having towed the bark Onward to sea, January 4th, also towed the bark B Amar from Bellingham Bay to Utsalady. This being the first vessel of her size that ever was towed through Deception Pass. She loads lumber for San Francisco.

Bark Victor, Captain A B Gove, arrived here from Honolulu via Victoria, Tuesday morning, reports first 9 days very heavy southerly gales, and was within 400 miles of Cape Flattery, 9 days out, then took a heavy N E gale which lasted 8 days, then S E gale to Cape Flattery, and arrived at Victoria last Friday morning. Captain G. has been on the coast 22 years, and has never experienced such heavy gales of wind as did on this passage. We are indebted to the Captain for late files of Honolulu papers.

The bark Oregon, formerly a steamer running to the Sound is reported to be a total wreck. No particulars. She is owned by Messrs Adams, Blinn, & Co., of Seabeck.

In THE STRAITS.—The officers of the California report the blow in the Straits yesterday was the severest they have met for years. At times the gale became a hurricane, and drove the waves clear over the ship. As far on every side as the eye could reach the seas were rising mountain high, and the vessels seen were tossed about like corks.—B. Col.

The steamer North Pacific arrived Tuesday afternoon from Victoria, with a large passenger list, and a quantity of freight brought up from San Francisco by the steamer Prince Alfred.

The Barkentine C. L. Taylor lumber laden from Utsalady for Mauritius is anchored in our harbor waiting for a crew.

To the Sick! TO THOSE ESPECIALLY WHO ARE SUFFERING from Bronchitis, Consumption, Chronic or Inflammatory Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Paralysis, that vaguely defined state termed 'General Debility,' and all forms of weakness and derangements of the sexual organization, male and female (particularly to the victims of the advertising charlatans), to all who have failed to receive desired relief through the ordinary modes of treatment, Dr. Bourne, Distinguished in San Francisco during nearly twenty years for his remarkable success in treating disease Without the Use of Medicines, will furnish written advice for home treatment, by which successful cures can be made in the most obstinate chronic cases.

State the case—age, sex, length of time sick, whether having taken much medicine, if mercurial, etc., for consideration—when you will be candidly informed what you may expect from treatment, together with terms. Address, previous to February, 1872, DR. GEO. M. BOURNE, Box 1,110 San Francisco, Cal.

There are 450,000 miles of telegraph wire in Europe, 190,000 in America, 14,000 in India, and 10,000 in Australia. There are, in addition, 80,000 miles of submarine cable; and yet telegraphic extensions throughout the world are going on at the rate of 100,000 miles of wire per annum.

In Brighton, Massachusetts, on election day two young ladies devoted themselves to the work of distributing the Labor Reform ticket; but though treated with the utmost courtesy the result of their labors will not encourage them to further efforts in that direction, as of 474 votes cast in that town only twelve were for the candidates to whose support their efforts were directed.

GOOD ADVICE.—President Porter of Yale College gave the following advice to the students of that institution the other day. 'Young men you are the architects of your own fortunes. Rely upon your own strength of body and soul. Take for your star self-reliance, faith, honesty and industry. Inscribe on your banner, 'luck is a fool, luck is a hero.' Don't take too much advice; keep at the helm and steer your own ship, and remember that the great art of commanding is to take a fair share of the work. Don't practice too much humanity. Think well of yourself. Strike out. Assume your own position. Put potatoes in your cart over a rough road, and small ones go to the bottom. Rise above the envious and jealous. Fire above the mark you intend to hit. Energy, invincible determination, with a right motive, are the levers that move the world. Don't drink. Don't chew. Don't smoke. Don't swear. Don't deceive. Don't read novels. Don't marry until you can support a wife. Be in earnest. Be self-reliant. Be generous. Be civil. Read the papers. Advertise your business. Make money and do good with it. Love your God and fellow-man. Love truth and virtue. Love your country and obey its laws. If this advice is implicitly followed by the young men of the country the millennium is near at hand.'

This is the heading of a paragraph in a western paper, recording a suicide: 'He blew his head off. Billious, poor and disheartened—the gun muzzle in his mouth, his toe on the trigger, and up goes his hair.'

Morelli, the manager of the Italian opera at Moscow, has secured a treasure in the person of a young Russian Princess, who possesses a magnificent voice. Her name is Engalytschewitch. WHEELER & WILSON,
THE GREAT TRIAL OF SEWING MACHINES.

The Grandest in the World.
The Judges the Whole World; and the Trial Fifteen Years Duration.

THE UNIVERSAL VERDICT:
"THE WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINE THE CHAMPION!"

AS A HOLIDAY PRESENT NOTHING WOULD BE MORE APPRECIATED THAN ONE OF THESE MACHINES.

THESE UNEQUALLED Machines do all the different kinds of work required to be done in a family, and make all the different kinds of Stitches, without the complications of the other Machines. All persons will please examine the WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINES before purchasing any other.

The Wheeler & Wilson, as is well known, has won at nearly every trial in which it has competed, the highest award of merit. The representatives of other machines, ever confident, have entered the lists, time and again, only to be defeated; and finding it impossible to compete fairly, have endeavored to decry the value of premiums. They are not slow, however, to boast of the few they have received. But in the grand trial, daily use throughout the world, where only true merit finds favor, and superiority wins the race, the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine stands triumphantly the champion by the verdict of the people.

THESE MACHINES are adapted to every variety of Sewing!
From the slightest muslins to the heaviest cloths they work equally well upon Silk, Linen, Woolen or Cotton goods, with Silk, Linen, or Cotton thread; Seaming, Quilting, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Cording, Tucking, Braiding, Embroidering, and making button holes, with the greatest facility.

If it be inconvenient for the purchaser to visit the salesroom, the order may be forwarded to the office, and it will be as faithfully filled as if the selection had been made personally.

Full instructions, recently compiled, and giving full information upon every point in detail, accompany each Machine, and enable the most inexperienced to operate without difficulty.

Our interest in the successful working of Machines is not second to that of the purchaser, and we esteem it a privilege to aid, by correspondence or otherwise, any person requiring it.
