OUR HARBOR.—The harbor of Seattle is well known to all old marriners upon the Sound, as the safest and best of any equally accessable, being completely land-locked and protected from winds in every direction; yet a new comer at Bellingham Bay, in an article complimentary to that harbor, says: "The storm, however, was not destructive in our Bay, and at its most violent period the average number of canoes could be seen skipping along with perfect indifference. How will this compare with Seattle and Tacoma, where the waves ran so high as to sweep the decks of

The statement in regard to Bellingham Bay is undoubtedly true; a more beautiful bay or a safer harbor cannot be found noon any seacoast on the globe; the only objection to it being, that during high winds from certain quarters the entrance is perillous, and at times impracticable, difficulties which do not pertain to the harbor of Seattle under any conditions of weather, the entrance being an open roadstead diverging into the shelter of surrounding tanks; the longest stretch of open sea in a straight line from our wharves not being much over one half purposes, save such as were made by or the distance from San Francisco to belong to the applicant, nor, as deponent Oakland. count of an event highly interesting to one of our townsmen:

The event of the week in this com munity has been the marriage of Mr. W. I. Wadleigh, of Washington Territory, and Miss Florence L. Van Dusen, daughter of A. Van Dusen, esq., of this city. It had been known amongst the most in imate friends of the couple for some time, that this union was contemplated, hence many willing hands and loving hearts have been busily engaged in preparing new and costly apparel, and in arranging other details, in order that the event should pass off as pleasantly as it possibly could, and that they did their parts well, is the univering been born in this place twenty-two years ago; and the further fact that she had endeared herself to all our people. by her many amiable and loving quali-

At half past seven e'clock on the evening of Wednesday, January 21st, Grace Church bell announced that the time had arrived when the ceremony was to be performed, and immediately thereafter the bridal party made their appearance at the Church, entering the acred edifice in the following order:-Mrs. Van Dusen and Mr. Wadleigh 2, Mr. Van Dusen and Miss Florence Van Dusen: 3, Mr. Brenham Van Dusen and Miss Maggie Trenchard; 4, Mr. S D Adair and Miss Taylor: Mr Frank J. Taylor and Miss Lanra Adair: 6 Mr. Upshur and Miss Clara Van Dusen.-Miss Annie Browne presided at the Organ, and while the "Wedding March" was being executed the party proceeded to the Altar, arm in arm .--The beautiful and impressive service of the Episcopal Church was then read by the Rector, Rev. T. A. Hyland Mr.

Van Dusen gave the bride away. At the conclusion of the service newly married couple, with the bridesnaids and groomsmen, retired from the Church to the house of the bride's parents, where, in a short space of time, vast concourse of people assembled, to tender congratulations, and to partake of the many excellent things that had been so amply provided. All seemed to enjoy themselves, and the universal sentiment was that it was the happiest occurrence that had transpired in Astoria for many a day, if not the happiest one of all.

The bride received many valuable pre sents in silver and gold ware, and other valuable articles.

We heartily wish this newly wedded couple every sort of happiness and prosperity, and hope that ther future joys may be as pure as the snows of heaven, which so abundantly covered the earth on this long to be remembered time. Mr. and Mrs. Wadleigh will leave here for their new home in Seattle on Tuesday morning next.

The ablest and best journals of the country, formerly in the service of the Republican party, are giving the full tribute of their ability to this great and much needed patriotic citizens may unite without a surrender of principles or consistency.

The Sacramento Union, in an able article upon the political prospects, says:

The new Constitution of Pennsylvania is hailed as the certain signal of a new party in that State, which, ignoring the separate existence of the Democratic party, and taking into its folds the vast majority of Democrats and all honest Republicans, must sweep the State from the Delaware to the Ohio at the next Congressional election, and so pave the way for Pennsylvania to cast her vote for the People's Anti Mos nopoly candidate for President in 1876.

Speaker Blaine both desires and is likely to receive the nomination for President rom the Republican party. Grant is not to be thought of. Even if he should be ungracious enough to accept it, a nomination for a third term would kill him. Gen. We have made no attack Rus upon the Intelligencer for any other pay their ac cause than for furnishing aid and comfort to the enemy. This it has repeat. edly done, and in every instance its articles to that intent have been reprodu ced, endorsed and approved, in the organs of the Land Ring, which omit no opportunity of abusing us in connection with Settle. We may mention in this connection, McCarver's card, when the question of the terminus was capposed to be pending; the article reflecting upon the business capacity of the first organization of the Board of Trustees of the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad Co., which was afterwards compromised for printing jobs; the attack upon the leading merchants and business men of the town, calculated to disparage the enterprise and business interects of the town; Upholstering Goods, the insinuated denial of the authenticity of the Cass dispatch, and many like smaller offenses against this community, all instigated by spite against the Drspaces, or a desire to curry favor with DISPATCH, or a desire to carry favor with the Land Ring.

That paper now accuses us of "deliberate falsehood in stating that it had ever denied the authenticity of the Cass dispatch. The Kalama Beacon pobla lishes what the Intelligencer did say or. the subject of that dispatch, with the following introduction: "Just as we expected! The Seattle Intelligencer of MIRRORS AND LOOKING GLASSE the 13th ult., thus disposes of one of the Seattle fabrications started by the elique that run the Dispatch." If it was not designed to discredit the report, what Agent for Shorey & Butler's object had the Intelligencer in saying that "the statement was made without authority"? To say it was una thorized was tantamount to saying that it was unauthentic, and that was the interpretation put upon it by every reader.

The Intelligencer now admits that there was such a dispatch received from Gen. Cass as we stated, but says in publishing the fact we were "a traitor to the trust reposed in him." No responsible man kas ever made such an accu sation to us or within our knowledge Within twenty minutes after we first saw the dispatch, we heard its contents discussed upon the street corners, the next day we heard the same at Tacoma and Olympia, we then saw it mentioned in an Olympia paper, and it was not until after all this that we mentioned the matter in the paper. To assume that we alone are responsible for the consequences of its publication, is to concede that its publicity from any other source would not be regarded as authentic.

While we confess to the ego'sm of giving our own personality to our paper and not permit any person on earth to dictate our course, the Board of Directors of the Seattle and Walla Railroad and all others with whom we have had public relations, will bear witness that ce we have uniformly conceded the same rights to others, without any attempt to dictate or dominate.

A Double Ben Faction .- U. S. Marshal E. S. Kearney, in a recent visit to the Insane Asylum at Stelacoom, was struck by the interest manifested by many of the patients in reading newspapers and discussing the current events of the outside world, and he at once conceived the benevolent purpose of gratifying them in this desire and at the same time confer a benefit upon the press of the Territory. Instead of sending out circulars to the publishers

Washington, Jan. 3 .- A bill was in troduced by Sargent to-day, retaining to places mining land in Calafornia. It is substitute for his bill, No. 177. -Silver, cinnabar, lead, tin, copper, or other valuable metal, or lands containing coal, shall not be excluded as mineral from pre-emption or homestead enry, unless it be shown that bona fide mining claims exist thereon, or that the land is neccessary for outlet, or other mining easement, the price of both age ricultural and placer mineral lands, outside the limits of the railroad grant to to be $1 20 an acre. The third section Col. with 600 men was crossing the authorizes parties applying for claims ent for the smallest legal subdivisions containing them, if such application does not conflict with the rights of other parties and provided that no person or corporation shall be allowed to locate more than 160 acres under a mining claim. The Fourth Section permits af fidavits to be taken before any officer, authorized to administer oaths, if within a land district; otherwise their oaths shall be taken by the Clerk of some U. S. Court of Record. The bill thus amended will undoubtedly pass. A formal canvass of the Senate made by the friends of Ferry's amendment to the finance bill, and also by some opposed to it. It developes the fact that the body is pretty evenly divided. The friends of Ferry's measure have been claiming a majority of six until within a few days, but have now reduced the figures to four. On the other side their opponents claim a majority of four. Even if Ferry's amendment passes, it seems certain that those who support it will disagree subsequently as to the manger of carrying it into effect. Many Senators regard it as certain that no convertable bonds scheme can pass, but most think the bill fixing the volumne of currency at $400,000,000 will pass.
