IDAHO.

BOISE CITY, I. T., June 24.—Twenty-four Bannock and Shoshone chiefs, who were in council here with Gov. Brayman yesterday, camped near town last night and left this afternoon for their camp on Great Camas Prairie. One of these chiefs, known as Captain Boise Jim, and served with distinction several years ago under Gen. Crook and has an honorable record. Two others, Major George, have done similar service. One of the party, called Buffalo Horn, is a young Bannock brave, who has recently served as a scout in the Sioux war under General Miles, from whom he has a certificate of honorable discharge and testimony for distinguished services, having given important aid on many occasions, and having killed a Sioux chief on Wolf Mt. on the 6th of January last. These Indians all profess the most peaceful and friendly disposition towards the whites, and a determination to remain friends. Whether they will do so depends on circumstances. They have already been approached by the hostile Indians from the north, and some of them have been debating whether it would be safest and best to remain friendly or join the hostiles. If the struggle continues long in the north and the Nez Percés and their allies meet with further success, none of the Indian tribes or their chiefs can be expected to do otherwise than to give them aid in some form. The chiefs while there detailed some grievances in which the old story of dishonest agents and the appropriation of their root producing prairies by the encroaching whites. These are some of the causes which underlie the Nez Percés' outbreak. The Bannocks Shoshones are now gathered from their various camps in Southern and Eastern Idaho, and encamped on the Great Camas Prairie, probably to the number of 1,500, of all ages and sexes. Of this number there may be 500 who are capable of taking the war path. No danger is apprehended here from them at present, but the situation is critical, and the influences to which they are exposed are adverse to the safety of the settlements. The two detachments of mounted volunteers, recently sent out, met each other yesterday at Emmetsville on the Payette, 50 miles north of this place, and started this morning for Stale Creek, on the Salmon river. This is a very perilous service, as the Indians will no doubt be apprised of their approach, and do their best to intercept and capture them. It is evident from dispatches received, that Generals Sheridan and Sherman fail to comprehend the nature and gravity of the situation. Instead of ordering troops to Winnemucca, there to wait further developments, they should have been pushed northward from that point while the other troops are advancing southward from Lewiston. It is doubtful at this writing whether any settlers have been left alive on Salmon river, but if so their situation is desperate. The troops from Lewiston can only reach them by advancing through a rough country overrun by hostile Indians, and by making a long tour by way of Mount Idaho and Florence, passing over a spur of the Salmon River Mountains.

HARRISBURG, June 25.—A heavy wind and rain storm passed over this place this morning. The bridge spanning the Susquehanna from Harrisburg to Langnickler's Island was unroofed and a portion of it put out of position. The damage is small. One of the turrets was blown off of the Catholic cathedral; a number of dwellings were unroofed and badly damaged by water. Reports from different sections from the northwest say the damage of yesterday's storm was not very large in any one locality, yet the results taken in the aggregate have been disastrous, and crops have suffered in all places to a greater or less degree.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, June 26.—During a storm last evening, a child of Mr. Windham was killed by a falling barn. The residence of Mr. Click was blown down, breaking a leg and arm of Mrs. Click. A dozen large buildings, including the St. James Hotel and the Sewing Machine Factory, lost roofs, and the damage to crops is incalculable, not only in the vicinity of Springfield, but all along the whole pathway of the storm.

At Reading, Ohio, the stable of Henry Reese was blown down, instantly killing the proprietors.

At Lancaster the residences and stores were unroofed and the Catholic Church steeply blown down.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Chief of the Ordnance Bureau has given orders for the issue of one thousand stands of arms to the State of Oregon, five hundred to the Territory of Idaho and five hundred to Washington Territory.

Two hundred Mormons who have just arrived from Europe, leave this afternoon for Salt Lake.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—It has been ascertained at the State Department that no diplomatic representation has been made to our government regarding the presence of Sitting Bull and his band of Sioux Indians on British soil, nor any diplomatic negotiations on this subject now pending between the two countries.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The World's Washington special says the President will issue an order July 1st, prohibiting all federal office-holders from holding membership in political committees. Office holders must resign or retire from Republican committees. In looking over the lists, it is found this will necessitate a reorganization of the National Republican Committee, and committees in most of the States. There is much opposition to the scheme, but the President persists.

EASTERN STATES.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The World's Washington special says: One effect of the president's order for the removal of office-holders from any active party position in politics, will be the disbanding of the several State Associations here. Some of these are quite large and influential and are composed mostly of officials. In the fall they send voters home and raise funds for campaign work and evidently come within the rule laid down by the President. It is contended by some that they are not included in the new reform, but the threat of the President to turn out every office holder who is effected by the order, will probably cause a stampede. The New York and Pennsylvania Republican Associations here have been in existence a dozen years. The effect of the order will be more general in the States than has been thought. It is stated that more officials in Pennsylvania come within the rule than any other State, and that at least forty one are members of local committees which they will be required to leave. Chief McPherson, of the Printing Bureau, and for many years clerk of the House, is a member of the Republican committee of his own county. He will resign this week.

The Tribune says Adolph Girard, a German banker, who disappeared about ten days ago, leaving a number of creditors in this city, among the poorer classes of people of foreign birth, whose property to the extent of nearly $30,000 he had misappropriated, was arrested last night by Sergeant Webb, of the 12th precinct. The opinion generally prevailing that Girard had fled from the country, and no steps had been taken to search for him. The missing banker was found secreted in a refrigerator in the basement of his house.

NEW YORK, June 23.—I betray no confidence when I say everybody at the State Department thinks difficulty with Mexico is imminent. Mexicans now here are also satisfied that the administration has designs on their country.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—The pastor and congregation of Grace Church, corner of California and Stockton streets, were treated to a sensation this morning. When the rector, Rev. Platt, arrived at church to open morning service, he found a large portion of the congregation assembled outside the building, the doors of which were all closed. An entrance was finally effected, when those entering were horrified to find Sexton John T. Garretton, lying on the floor of the chancel in a pool of blood, with his throat cut and a razor lying near his hand. He was lying, though much reduced from loss of blood. He was removed and a medical man summoned, and it is thought he will recover. He recently had some difficulty owing to alleged rudeness to the lady members of the congregation, in consequence of which he had tendered his resignation and the trustees had notified him of its acceptance, and this is supposed to have prompted him to the act. His physician says that in addition to his wound he is suffering from brain fever and insanity.

EUROPEAN.

VIENNA, June 25.—The Ninth Russian army corps which forms the right wing, is marching along the left bank of the Cluta towards the Danube. The following Seine official notes are published as to the various reports concerning Austria's preparations: "We can state positively that the government can't escape the duty imposed by the present situation of most gravely considering all possible eventualities from injury with regard to military measures; however, no positive discussion whatever has been taken up to the present."

IBRAIL, June 25.—Friday the Russians completed a bridge, undisturbed by Turks. Every one understood on Thursday the crossing was postponed both on account of the delay in the Czar's arrival, and an ambush not far from the bridge. However General Simmerman suddenly disappeared from Ibrail during the night. This morning a little after daybreak the people of Ibrail were awakened by the sound of artillery and musketry on the other side of the river, showing the Danube must have been crossed. Gen. Simmerman had gone to Galatz and crossed the Danube with two regiments of infantry and a proportionate amount of artillery and cavalry. A number of boats was towed over by steam launches. The distance traveled in boats seemed to have been very stubbornly resisted.

GALATZ, Friday evening, June 25.—This morning the wounded came in and continued to do so all day. Judging from the number of ambulances on which the wounded were brought in there were not less than 300 wounded. Accounts of actions vary much. It is impossible to get reliable information. Roumanian officers say Russians who tried to land at the edge of a lake near the Village of Tchitchille were fired on before they touched shore and then next with a heavy volley. From five to six thousand Russians crossed with eight cannon at 10 o'clock. The Russians gave up after an attempt to gain possession of a road leading to Tchitchille over the hills. Finding a grove near the village filled with Turks, they therefore retired beyond the road and ravine and attacked a battery, capturing it. In front the landing was made in a hand to hand fight. The first man killed was a young Russian officer, who sprang ashore and was shot through the forehead. The object of the crossing and also the action at Galatz, was to protect the great crossing at

IBRAIL.

IBRAIL, June 25.—A correspondent telegraphed on Friday, saying that it is evident the general crossing will begin to-morrow morning at daylight. The whole Russian force here will cross on the bridge, and the Russians will thus establish themselves firmly on the other side of the Danube. As there is now a whole army corps here, there is a sufficient number of troops to maintain themselves, and take offensive crossings, provided this one succeeds to-morrow, others will be comparatively easy. Russian tactics now will be to push their force forward as rapidly as possible up Dubrudschun, extending a hand to the Russian forces on the way up the Danube. This will enable the force at Herzova, to cross without difficulty, and proceeding higher up, it can likewise extend a hand to other forces Kalarash and even at Oltenza. Should the Turks detach a force from about Rustenuk and Niekopolis sufficient to stop its progress, they will so weaken their line at this point that Russian troops between Giurgevo and Turner Mugavelli would be able to cross with comparatively little loss. Later accounts from Ibrail agree with the Galatz correspondent, in showing that fighting was serious at the crossing opposite Galatz and Ibrail. A correspondent telegraphing Friday night, says a Russian doctor who crossed with the first detachment of eight hundred, informs me that he does not believe out of this number that twenty are left alive or unhurt. A special from Bucharest estimates that 11,000 Russians crossed at Galatz and Ibrail. It appears that the Turks made an attempt to cross from Lompolauk into Little Wallachia during the night. Details of unknown news have been received here that Tulehia and Jankitch have been evacuated by Turkish troops. Civil authorities who have retired to Babadagh and Varna and 14,000 Russians have received orders to go to Giral, northwest from Kalfast. Large convoys of provisions have been sent to Zarim. The coming week promises to be important. News of operations for crossing Turnismagavelli and Simulitz, a section of the river, is momentarily expected.

LONDON, June 24.—All authorities continue to assert that the crossing opposite Ibrail is intended merely as a diversion, because the pestilential climate and flooded condition of Drebruhizlia forbid operations on an extensive scale. In this connection it is interesting to note that as to any danger from the Turkish flotilla or the army in Galatz or Reni line in the opinion of the Russian commanders, has now passed away. The majority of troops have been withdrawn to Giurgevo to replace the forces who proceed to the Rode and Alata. Seven and eight trains a day have been leaving Bucharest with troops, artillery and pontoons to replace it.

LONDON, June 23.—Constantinople intelligence received to-day announces that Mukhtar Pasha has been engaged since Thursday with the Russian army at Takhodja, between Kloraso and Delibaba. The battle was proceeding all yesterday. The result is unknown.

The Future of the Negro.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, May 3.
Among the early acts of the Florida Legislature has been the passage of an amendment to the jury law providing that in cases where a knowledge of reading and writing is essential to forming a judgment, jurors who do not possess such knowledge shall not be allowed to sit. The law is apparently a most reasonable and harmless one; it would be impossible to argue against the exclusion of ignorance and stupidity from the jury box, but it is on the other hand, impossible not to regard this innocent-looking law as the first step in a long course of legislation, which, under different presents and by different degrees, will end in reducing the negro to a position in which he will not interfere with the most extreme views of the most extreme White League fanatics.

The negro's political power is gone. Politically, he has as little influence as a Pole in Warsaw or a Christian in Turkey. The fate from which the Republican party has vainly tried for twelve years to save him, by holding him over the white man, has overtaken him at last, and it is merely a question of a little while and a few forms before the last vestige of his political rights shall disappear. He is still free to vote only on condition that his vote shall not elect anybody. If there were any danger of his electing an obnoxious candidate he would very soon find how deceptive was his fancied right. He may still give witness, serve as jurors, bring suit, attend school, ride in the cars and stop at the hotels, but Florida has entered upon the congenial task of expelling him from the jury box, and we need not indulge in any false or foolish hopes about his retention of his other rights. He has not rights except such as the white people of the South choose to allow him, and it is impossible to over estimate in the new light thrown on it by the new situation. What rights will the negro be allowed to retain? Under what conditions will he be allowed to retain them? What will be the new order of things?

We have spoken of this question before; we are compelled to speak of it again, and will be compelled to recur to it more often than we should like, for it is the overpowering national question of the future—a question more pregnant with vital consequences than any which can occupy the political arena; a real question about which opinion may be divided; a vital question which may determine the form of our national existence, and a question which common prudence compels us to take charge of in time. Merely to show how vast are its dimensions, and how portentous its consequence let us look at the educational interests involved. We do not hesitate to say that if the cause of negro education shall be neglected by the Southerners for ten years to come as it has been opposed by them for ten years past, the better and fiercer conscience of the North will force it on them, and we shall have the public schools of South Carolina and of Mississippi, of Richmond, Savannah, Mobile and New Orleans, taught, managed and maintained by a central bureau at Washington. This is not prophecy; it is cause and effect, absolute fate, irresistible destiny, and yet the mind can hardly grasp the immense far reaching changes involved in this transfer of power from the local to the central government.

Every instinct of freedom protests against such centralization of power, yet it will be the inevitable penalty for the abuse or misuse of local power. Destiny which was two strong for the Republican party, and which soiled it in the high undertaking in which noble motive was marred by shameful performances, will be too strong for the white man's party if it misuses the form of a free government to maintain and perpetuate by law a vassalage one step higher than slavery. It will foil them and baffle the Republicans, and the instrument it will use will be the Federal power; it will use it even at the risk of connecting it into a despotism stronger than the Cæars, and the old men may yet live to see school boards, justices of the peace, policemen, assessors, and all other local officials, receiving their commissions from Washington and recognizing the authority of a central magistrate or cabal as omnipotent, as omnipresent, and as despotic as the Council, of the Ten in Venice. Our only hope of escape from this fate lies in the good sense of those who have never shown any good sense thus far, in the tolerance of those who have shown nothing but intolerance, in the political sagacity of those whose most conspicuous contribution to our political history has been the act of a party of maniacs. The outlook is not promising; it is impossible to contemplate it without apprehension, yet there is no other remedy. The attempt to place political equality securely within the power of the negro, was strongest at the start, and in its twelve years struggles merely grew weaker from day to day: Its failure leaves us helpless and the best that we can hope for is that some unforeseen circumstances may avert a fate which so many of our citizens are inviting. Fortunately there is reason to believe that a great deal of the Southern intolerance, bitterness and bigotry will pass away in the flush of triumph, and it is even possible that the solemn promises of Hampton and Nicholls may be remembered in a year from now. This may give us a little time, and with time may come wisdom, and, through wisdom, justice; but we shall be very agreeably disappointed if people of the North shall of their own accord, act so fairly and generously to the negro as to prevent the Federal Government from compelling them to do it against their will."

Facts for the Curious.

Ninevah was 14 miles long, 8 miles wide and 46 miles round, with a wall 100 feet high and thick enough for three chariots abreast.

Babylon was 50 miles within the walls, which were 75 feet thick, 100 feet high, with 11 brazen gates.

The Temple of Diana at Ephesus was 120 feet to the support of the roof—it was 100 years in building.

The largest of the pyramids is 481 feet in height and 853 feet on the side. The base covered 11 acres. The stones are about 60 feet in length, and the layers are 108. It employed 350,000 men in building.

The labyrinth in Egypt contains 300 chambers and 12 halls.

Thebes, in Egypt, presents 27 miles around, and contained 850,000 citizens and 400,000 slaves.

The temple of Delphos was so rich in donations that it was plundered of $50,000,000, and the Emperor Nero carried away from it 200 statues.

The walls of Rome were 12 miles around.

FUNNY.—The lecture delivered at Baltimore by Fred Douglass, on the Capitol turns out to be an old lecture, dressed in a little new fancy toggery, and delivered in several northern cities nearly twenty years ago. No wonder Boss Shephard cracks his ring whip and gets red in the face, when Fred fails to see any improvement in Washington society, after such shady men as the Boss have come flashing to the front as the acknowledged Bon Ton of the upper circle.

Her former owner, Mr. Stacy, of Seattle repaired her and placed her on the route to Port Townsend, in opposition to the Starr-line; but now she has been bought and will be placed on the Bellingham Bay route, under command of Capt. Trial of Rev. Mr. Dunning.

The Presbytery of Puget Sound has for the last seven days been in session in Seattle, engaged in trying Rev. H. P. Dunning. Rev. G. F. Witworth was appointed by the court to assist the prosecutor, Mr. Reuben L. Doyle, in conducting the case, and Rev. Dr. Geary, of Eugene City, Oregon, as counsel of Mr. Dunning. The evidence was all in on Monday night, and the Presbytery made its final judgment this afternoon. We have been furnished with the following official copy of the findings and judgment of the Court:

In the case of Reuben L. Doyle against Rev. H. P. Dunning, prosecuted before the presbytery of Puget Sound under two charges: First, of paying attentions to a lady other than his wife, and the matters cognate thereto in amended specifications I, III and V. Second, by abusive, ill-treatment of his wife and willful neglect of family worship, etc., under amended specifications II and IV. The court after patiently listening to the testimony, and the arguments of counsel on both sides, for six days, and after prayerful consideration of the whole case and careful examination of the testimony, find the first charge admitted to the extent expressed in the following paper, which was laid before Presbytery by the accused, and adopted, as meeting all the requirements of the case, and presenting just grounds for staying all proceedings under charge first, to wit:

To the Presbytery of Puget Sound.

DEAR BRETHREN: In regard to the charge of paying attentions to a lady other than my wife, now preferred against me before the Presbytery, I beg to state that inasmuch as the prosecution has disavowed any intention to attempt to prove any criminal intent in said attentions or give sanction to any reports of actual criminality that may be in circulation, I do frankly and sorrowfully admit that I now fully realize that I did not exercise due caution in my actions and a proper regard for the results of such indiscretions. And no man can regret more than I do every act that has had a tendency to injure the cause of Christ.

H. P. DUNNING.

The Court unanimously find the second charge sustained in part, and adopted the following paper as expressive of said findings:

The Court find the charge against the accused of "abusive, ill treatment of his wife" not sustained to the extent of personal violence; but so stained to the extent of harsh words while under the excitement of temper, aroused by accusations injurious to his character as a husband and a Christian minister. The Court find the charge against the accused of "neglecting family worship" not sustained to the extent of its being constant or habitual, but that family worship was sometimes omitted on account of matters over which he had no control. The Court also find that on a single occasion the accused did not ask a blessing, or give thanks, in connection with the taking of a regular meal.

In consequence of the above finding the Presbytery decided upon the following as their judgment: The judgment of the Presbytery is that Rev. H. P. Dunning shall be reprov'd in open Presbytery by the Moderator for the conduct which has led to the foregoing findings of the Court; and admonished to set a guard upon himself that he transgress no more in appearance or word; ever remembering that the honor of our Lord is solemnly committed to his care, that the eyes of the world are upon him, that the welfare of immortal souls may be jeopardized by his conduct, that a minister of Jesus Christ should ever be a shining light reflecting the blameless life of his Divine Lord and Master, and that the domestic circle of the under-shepherd of Christ's flock should never be sought less than a model christian home.

JNO. R. THOMPSON, Moderator.
M. G. MANN, Clerk pro tem.

The judgment of Presbytery being read to the defendant, he presents the following submission thereto, which he read in open Court:

Mr. Moderator and Brethren of the Presbytery.

I do, with a deep sense of regret, and I trust with that Godly sorrow which worketh repentance into life, thank you for your kind and fraternal course in treating the difficulties which have rested so heavily upon me for many months past, and which have led to the indulgence of severe and improper language by me. I especially regret and deplore the wounds thus given to the cause of my redeemer, and the impediment it has placed in the way of my usefulness as a minister of the Gospel, and I further declare that being taught my infirmity and in reliance on the grace of God, my Saviour, I hope never to offend again. I submit to your judgment, and ask that this my voluntary and unsolicited expression be made a part of the record of Presbytery.

H. P. DUNNING.

Mr. Dunning was then reprov'd and admonished in accordance with the sentence.—Tribune.

A PROMISING YOUTH.—About a year ago, says the Pall Mall Gazette, crowds of persons went to St. Palais, where a little boy said he had seen the Virgin, who, among other things, told him to swallow some pebbles in a stream, the healing power of which was announced. Many sick persons repaired thither, and miraculous cures followed baths and ablu-tions. Jean Lamereux has now acknowledged that he never saw the Virgin at all, and that he was simply indulging in a joke when he pretended to converse with her. This promising youth, who deceived Generals, Prefects, and at least 100,000 devout persons, has now been committed to prison. He is only 8 years of age.

BAD LUCK.—About the hardest luck with lawyers we ever heard of was that which recently befell a Louisville negro. He was found to have a $100 bill, and was not un-naturally arrested on suspicion of having stolen it. He got a lawyer to defend him, and proved that it was his own money, but his counsel wanted all but $20 of the sum for his services, which made the negro so mad that he left the whole with him.

A NEW EXPLOSIVE.—A substitute for gunpowder, invented in England, is "powder paper." It is a paper impregnated with a mixture of potassic chlorate, nitrate, prussiate and chromate powdered wood charcoal, and a little starch. It leaves no greasy residue in the gun, produces less smoke and less recoil, and is less impaired by humidity, and it is five-sixteenths stronger than gunpowder.

ENCOURAGING FUNERALS.—The New England undertakers are reducing their rates in hopes that the number of funerals will be greatly increased thereby. Their prices have been so steep heretofore that very few persons of ordinary means had the courage to die. They couldn't afford it.

Now that the war in the East has broken out, the old-established dailies have a great advantage over those started since the Rebellion. The former have a big stock of war maps on hand, left over from the last war, while the new papers will have to purchase a new stock if they wish to mystify their readers and keep abreast of the times.—Norriston Herald.

He is a well-to-do farmer living in one of the border townships of this county. He got short of corn this spring and had to buy some to feed his work horses, and when in Albia a few weeks ago he enquired the price, learning that he could get it at 43 cents per bushel. A week or two afterward he brought his wagon to town to get the corn and enquired the price. "Fifty cents," was the answer. "Fifty cents!" echoed the farmer, "and what has made it come up so?" "The war in Europe," quietly replied the dealer. "The war in Europe!—I believe it's a d—d lie—why Europe may be 5000 miles from here and what has a war there got to do with the price of corn at the Albia depot?"—"George continued he, speaking to a neighbor, "where is Europe?—I don't believe there is any such place; I have seen men from England, Scotland, France, Ireland and Germany and I never saw a man from Europe yet."—Albia Union.

OH, GEORGE! WHAT A DAMSEL!—She was young and fair, and a tear glistened in her eye as she laid her curly head upon his shoulder and exclaimed, "Oh, George, I think if I found you did not love me I should die." "My darling," he answered, passing his hand gently round her dimpled chin, "I will always love you. Do you think I would marry you if I did not feel sure of it. In a few days, at the altar, I shall vow to love you all my life, and I will keep my vow." A lovely kind of benthic happiness played for a moment like sunshine on her lips, and then she whispered, "Oh, George, I like to hear you talk like that, you have been so good to me. You have given me a diamond locket, and a gold watch and chain, and rings that an angel might wear outside her gloves and not be ashamed, and if I thought that one day you'd be sorry you'd given me all these nice things and want them back again I should break my heart." He held her gently against his manly breast, and answered her with a quivering voice, "Oh, my own darling, there is nothing on earth that could happen that would make me repent giving you a few tokens of my love, or make me want them back again." She sprang from his arms like a joyous deer, she shook back her sunny curls, and with a whole poem in her hazel eyes, exclaimed, "Oh, George, you have taken a load from my heart. I've come to say I can't marry you, after all, because I've seen somebody I like better, and I thought you'd want your presents back again."—London Fun.

NOT ON THE MARRY.—London mamma's complain more loudly than ever of the chronic celibacy of the eligible men of the period. Bread Cast upon the Water.

At the first annual meeting in January last, of the Directors of the Washington Industrial Association, it was ordered that a cash premium of $25 should be offered to the county which would make the best general display of farm products at the coming exposition. The Secretary is instructed to give publicity to the same by communicating with the Agents of other prominent men in each county in the Territory. The result, so far, has been more favorable than the most sanguine at first anticipated. From the present outlook, it is thought that five or six counties will enter the lists and compete for the prize; which, by the way, will be worth vastly more to the winner in name than the mere cash premium which is offered. Several weeks ago, we published a communication from the Secretary of the recently inaugurated Lewis County Agricultural Society. The Secretary has lately paid us a visit and gives us additional items in regard to what is going on in that enterprising community towards getting up their first annual fair for September next. The new court house and an adjoining warehouse have been secured for the occasion and will be used respectively for audience room, exhibition hall, etc.

To speak of Snohomish county would only be to repeat its victorious career for a term of years past.

King and Pierce counties are moving in a similar direction and will date from the present year, the founding of well devised and thoroughly officered agricultural and industrial institutions. These four opulent counties are arranging their plans so as to hold their own fairs a little prior to that of the Washington Industrial which comes off in October next.

It is thought that Chehalis county will be ready to join in the march of progress; though we have yet to hear that the people there have sufficiently perfected an organization to justify them in holding an exhibition the present year.

Let the people at large bear in mind that by this courteous interchange of ideas all parties are mutually benefited, and not far in the future, an abiding prosperity will reward their noble efforts.—Courier.

The above from the Olympia Courier is a chord that ought to meet with a response from every farmer in our county. A cash premium is offered to the county making the best general display at the Territorial exhibition. Many new counties are moving in the matter. Our farmers cannot complain that the season is unfavorable. We have had several years experience and can turn all past errors to our advantage. A large building, the Athenaeum, with a large vacant lot adjoining, right handy to the wharves, can be used if the Agricultural Society deem it best to occupy it. If not the fair grounds can be put in good shape at small expense. Let us begin preparations now. Let every one who cultivates the soil at all, if no greater area than one acre, bring a fair average sample of everything he or she raises, or manufactures. A fair is not a museum. We do not want to make an exhibition entirely of unusual yields, monstrosities and curiosities. Every branch of industry should be represented. Every resident should not only become an exhibitor and competitor, but an earnest, willing worker. We can make as good a general display as any other county if we go to work earnestly. A fine display of products of this county will bring us permanent settlers. That is our great want—population. No matter if they are poor, if they are willing. There is wealth in our natural resources, and bone, muscle and brains can and will develop it. This is no Morse, Ferguson, Folsom, Packard or any other man's exhibition. It is everybody's. The county's reputation is involved. It ought to arouse the pride of every resident. We must place our little disagreements and petty prejudices on the shelf till after this fair is over, lay off cumbersome garments roll up our sleeves, shake off our apathy, and place our names on the societies books at the coming fair as exhibitors. Then we can make such a display at Olympia as will not make a man ashamed to hail from Snohomish County. We hope all our dead men will have themselves buried before fair time or else allow themselves to be brought to life and come full handed to the fair. Of course the society will be glad to see a big turnout; but those who come as contributors will be doubly and thrice welcome. We hope every citizen of this county will look upon it as a duty to contribute toward making our next and the Olympia fair a GRAND SUCCESS.

The Late Earthquake.

The news from South America is indeed gloomy. Over a dozen towns are in ruins, the destruction to human life very great and the damage to property almost incalculable. The tidal wave accompanying the shock of the earthquake, broke with resistless force on the Peruvian coast in some places fully sixty-five feet in height. The debris of ruined dwellings, wrecked shipping with living and dead and mangled human bodies were swept back and forth by the incoming and receding waves. Much distress prevails in the devastated districts. So great is the number of dead bodies in some localities that a pestilence is greatly feared. The governments are organizing relief commissions and private citizens are forwarding provisions, clothing and money for the relief of the sufferers. Many of the towns along the coast, especially in southern Peru, have no fresh water supply, the inhabitants depending upon condensers for all their fresh water. In such places the suffering is indescribable. Many of the inland valleys, this time, have gone down as well as the coast towns. The shock was felt in Southern California, Mexico, Central America, and as far South in Peru as heard from. Whether it extend to the valley of the Rio De La Plata or not is not yet known. Herders in from the pampas report the shock severe on all the plateaus. Several of the volcanic peaks of the Andes and Mexican Cordilleras are in an active state and one crater within sixty miles of San Bernardino burst out immediately after the shock and continued in an eruptive state for twenty-four hours.

The molten wave beneath the earth's crust seems to be following in the old channel of the last great subterranean disturbance, commencing first in Asia, crossing to Japan and the Sandwich Islands, from thence to South America, where it has seldom if ever caused greater terrestrial disturbance. It remains yet to be seen, whether it will be felt in northern California and the northern part of the Mississippi valley, thence in Ireland, Norway and Siberia, or cross by way of the Gulf of Mexico, the West Indies, the Spanish peninsula, Northern Africa, the eastern part of Turkey and southern Persia. Careful observations have demonstrated the facts that volcanic disturbances have followed generally one or the other of these tracks, from west to east; and as the last four great convulsions travelled the northern route, with the exception of one which seemed to go both ways, we may at any time expect to be shaken up the coming summer or fall.

We are in receipt of a letter from Iowa, making enquiries about our Territory, also from almost every State in the Union. If we answer them all we shall have to keep a clerk for that purpose. There is plenty of land in this, and every county of the Territory, to be had by pre-empting or homesteading. This land is not prairie land. It has to be cleared or diked. But when that is done, no prairie land produces better. There is a market for everything raised. We have little or no snow, plenty of rain, and no cold weather. Stock, generally does not have to be fed in winter. We have no hostile Indians, wild beasts that are troublesome, grasshoppers, crickets or drouth. Game and fish are abundant. Hay, grain, hops, vegetables and fruits are profitably cultivated. Laboring men get from $25 to $100 a month. Mechanics from $2 50 to $5 per day. Lumber manufacturing and ship building is carried on, the former extensively, the latter is increasing yearly. Good workman and artizans, can find small water powers and good openings, in every county, for commencing business. The inducement for all kinds of wood work is superior, for we have the natural woods, unsurpassed by any other varieties, growing here abundantly. Small saw mills are being built in many neighborhoods. Washington Territory is a good place for any one not afraid of hard work to come to.

Communication.

Oak Harbor.

This place is firmly moving forward on the road of improvement. A new feature, which supplies a need long felt, has lately been added here, by F. H. Marsh, in a splendid stock of general merchandise in the store-room connected with the new warehouse built by the Oak Harbor Grange.

The Fourth of July will be celebrated at this place by a horse race got up by the Oak Harbor Jockey Club, and a picnic by the people of the settlement generally, and a dance by the young people in the evening at the Grange Hall.

All we now lack to place us in free and easy communication with the rest of the world, is regular steamboat and mail connections, which will shortly be effected. About 5000 pounds of wool have already been shipped from this point this season, probably not less than a thousand tons of hay will be produced in this settlement this season; besides considerable quantities of butter, vegetables, fruits, &c. EDITOR NORTHERN STAR:

DEAR SIR: In your issue of June 2d, your associate has an excellent article on education, he speaks of the power of association in our public schools, as well as in other matters, that united action would succeed where singly it would fail. It has seemed to me that in this part of the country we have lacked united action where our public schools are concerned. The teachers have not met together for the purpose of discussing school matters. The Superintendents have not visited the schools to see whether the teachers were complying with the law or not, earning their wages honestly, or wasting their time and the scholars to. Consequently anything that promised to rectify all these things and give us a good school besides, should be hailed with delight by all friends of education. The call for a Territorial Teachers Institute, was supposed to cover the ground, it was to meet on Wednesday, but in order to be there it was necessary to start from this place on Saturday, the teachers were urged to close school and attend, some did so, but instead of being rewarded, by having a refreshing time, some one postponed it until the middle of July.

I have heard of two reasons for the postponement, one was that the committee to draft a school law had not had time to finish it, as they have had only one short year to work in probably that is so, the other was, that if the Seattle teachers stopped their schools to attend, the scholars would become demoralized, and the teachers loose control, of course it is of no consequence at all, that teachers out side of Seattle lost a week, and their expenses of traveling and then found themselves April fooled in June. Making the next call for the middle of July is very appropriate. Many Superintendents are farmers and that you know is the time of year that there is work to be done on the farm, and then July is a cool month, no hot sun to weaken the brain, or make it necessary to strengthen the body with stimulants, the roads and streets are free from dust, and traveling a luxury, or was it a warm spell they were looking for, hoping it to have such an enervating effect on the children, that they would not demoralize themselves or any one else, but let these conjectures be right or wrong I hope the meeting will come, and have a good attendance, and give us in return a good school law, but I can very near guess that some that tried it before will wait a while.

I remain yours truly,
Oak Harbor, June 12. J.

Logging.

Several men in the logging business on the river have expressed the intention of shutting down soon, unless prospects brighten. Those who have contracts can go ahead. The outlook in California is not very encouraging. The demand for manufactured lumber will be unusually light this fall and winter. The troubled condition of Mexico and several South American States, cuts off a large demand from those countries. The war in Europe, should Great Britain be drawn into it, will effect all her colonies and lesson our trade with Australia, leaving us with little foreign demand for our lumber except the Sandwich Islands and China. Our home consumption is only a trifle, compared with the large amount manufactured. Such being the fact, before a great while, all our mills will be running on as light expenses as possible, cutting less than usual, and decreasing the demand for logs. Those who are so situated that they can afford to keep their camps in operation and hold their logs can do so. Those who cannot will find themselves with a lot of logs on hand this fall, their men and supplies unpaid for, and as a consequence they will be forced to sell their at whatever mill owners are a mind to offer. This will result in losses and general dissatisfaction. Thus far the season has been a favorable one. Hardly any lumber has been lost and a large quantity and good quality of timbers now at the Point waiting to be disposed of and towed to the mills. We believe the final result this fall, would be better for everybody concerned, that lumber would meet with a quicker sale at more remunerative prices. If all now engaged in the business, would run light handed, or stop entirely for awhile, unless they have contracts ahead. Nearly every logger now has lumber enough at the point or on the way there to square up, which may not be the case if they run till fall and the mills cut less than now on account of a light demand. Timber is not bringing so great a price as to cause owners of it to be anxious to realize from it. It will pay good interest if left standing. Our mill companies hold thousands of acres of timber lands and are not cutting it and will not, so long as they can get logs for anything like their present figures. We believe farming on this river will pay better than logging if prosecuted as systematically.

A RUN OVER THE SWINOMISH.—On last week Wednesday we took a run over the Swinomish flats, just stopped at Mr. Wilke's place, then visited Mr. Sullivan, who has partially recovered sight since the operation performed upon his eyes.

With Mr. S. Calhoun we had a long chat. He has this year in cultivation about three hundred and twenty acres oats, one hundred acres barley, forty acres of hay, and about five acres of vegetables. Has eight men in his employ, and keep enough horses for his team work. His dairy consists of twenty cows. His grain is threshed by steam thrasher. Should no accident happen, he expects to have to sell from this year's crop, after reserving all needed for next year's seeding, and this next winters feeling, upwards of 30,000 bushels of grain.

Last year from one field of one hundred and fifty acres he sold over 14,000 bushels of oats.

We also visited the house of Cyrus D'Arcy, Jas. Williamson and others. These gentlemen are endeavoring to dike in most of their respective ranches this season. Our visit was very pleasant with each of them. They are making for themselves beautiful homes. Straw berries on the marsh were in their prime, and especially noted for size, and delicacy of flavor. Just imagined how we refused them.

SKAGIT RIVER ITEMS.—Mr. L. Kelly who recently was engaged building Mr. Thompson's house, accidentally shot and killed himself on Saturday, June 16, 1877. Returning from a hunt, he met his wife near the Jan, when in the act of resting his gun, a double barrel shot gun, loaded with buck shot, upon the ground, in some unexplained manner the gun was discharged, the shot entering his head, in a mass near one eye, going through the head, and coming out just above the opposite ear. When the smoke cleared away, his dead body lay stretched upon the ground before his wife.

Preparations are under way for celebrating the Fourth at Skagit City. The ball at the hall will be given by Horan Bros. Music by Sibley and Galligan. Other arrangements are such that a good time must be the result.

Skagit City wants a good blacksmith to locate there. The location is one of the best in the Territory.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION AT LA CONNER.—The National Anniversary will be celebrated by the patriotic citizens of the Swinomish residing in the vicinity of La Conner in a hearty manner. The exercises are expected to be about as follows:

A Picnic Dinner.

Reading the Declaration of Independence by A. T. Higby, Esq.

Oration by Dr. T. C. Mackey.

In the evening there will be a grand ball given by Mr. J. J. Conner, at the public Hall. Music will be furnished under the leadership of Vet. Clark. It is expected that there will be a fine display of fire works also in the evening.

PIONEER BALL.—It is enough to make a man pull his hair all out of his head, the way the Editor of the Willamette Farmer talks about the rosy checked girls, dancing, whirling, caroming and ricocheing against each other in the ball room at Salem last week. Now there's one thing about that ball that won't wash. The Farmer tells about the dimpled checked darlings going to and from the fair ground through the dust. Wet feet wading through dust. Taint natar. We'll bet a jack-knife that road had to be sprinkled into a mud puddle before one of them gals could be started for that pioneer ball room.

THE Yakima's arrived Friday morning, with a full load of freight and several passengers. She took a partial load of knees from Packard & Jackson's wharf and left same day. She towed a boom belonging to Blackman Bros. to Port Gamble.

"My congregation is increasing and I am convinced the world is growing better," said one clergyman to another. "And so is mine" was the reply. "Where is your church located," queried the first? "I am Chaplain in the States Prison."

THE last logs on the Snoqualmie and Skykomish are now in the boom above town. Roberts' are at the mouth of the slough all ready for driving. This makes a clean sweep of all the up river logs except those on Pill Chuck. We have not had a more favorable logging season in many years.

"A debt paying revival," is the last boast of the religious press. We never before comprehended the full scope of Moody and Sankey's work. They threaten with eternal punishment, scare sinners into the church, while the trustees go through their pockets to pay off old debts. That is as sharp as Jim Fisks' corner on "black Friday."

Mail Contracts.

[From the Seattle Tribune.]

A dispatch from Washington, of the 22d inst, informs us that but two of the contracts for which bids were called in this Territory have been let, and they are the one from Tacoma to Puyallup, a weekly service, to M. J. Cogswell, for $159 a year, and the one from Colfax to Palouse, to S. S. Huntley, for $766 a year. All other routes advertised are adjudged unnecessary. No bids were received for the proposed service from Seattle to the Seattle coal mine. It is wonderful how smartly the Department does manage some of these matters, as for instance the route to the Seattle coal mine. The route was established by Congress, and the information necessary to the advertising and letting of the contract was called for from the Seattle postmaster. It was sent, accompanied by the recommendation that nothing be done in the matter for some months, as the Seattle coal company was already performing a daily service over the route that could not be more acceptable, for which the Government paid nothing, and in comparison with which the weekly service contemplated by the Department, besides costing several hundred dollars a year, would be an injury. In addition to this it was stated that the railroad was about being extended from Renton to the mine referred to, and that on its completion the only possible route of conveyance for the mail would be over the road. Notwithstanding this statement and recommendation, the Department issued its advertisement calling for a weekly service from Seattle via Renton to Newcastle, and, as stated, and as was known here would be the case, no bids were received. The other routes established by the last Congress, as the one to Wallula, the one to Snohomish City, and the one to Squak, for a time have gone dead.

CAVALRY COMPANY.—Messrs. Ben. Murphy and Thomas Jackson are moving in the direction of raising a company of cavalry, with which to cross the mountains and fight hostile Indians. They will probably equip themselves, only calling upon the Government to furnish or pay for their horses, and trusting for their pay to the passage of an act of Congress, by and by. A hundred men, it is thought, can easily be raised here to undertake the expedition.

An old lady, with an unpronounceable name, wants to know, "if sea sickness is what causes sailors to be always heaving up anchors." Perhaps—but then, we have seen old shell backs a hundred miles inland from even a sea breeze, heaving harder than they would have to, if all Krupp's big guns we melted into one anchor, and they were put to the captain bars to heave it aboard.

"PASS THE MUSTARD."—The Argonaut asks, "Who are going to keep the prisons when we all get into them?" Don't worry, brother Pixley, but send for Edgeton, and he will put a mustard plaster outside your prison door and draw you through the key-hole. Have faith in mustard. You can't have forgotten how Henry once applied one to your stomach, and wouldn't remove it, till you solemnly promised to vote the Republican ticket without scratching. Have faith "like unto a grain of mustard seed." It saved you from a worse fate than the prison, "whither you are drifting," yea, verily, from voting the Democratic Ticket. Mustard is strength. Dote on mustard, Frank. Have pots of it in your office. Sow it in your back yard. Use it for paste. Put it on your ink rollers. Dilute and write with it. Fortify yourself with the stalks. Send some to Edgeton, so if you do steal yourself into prison, he'll have it handy to help you out with. And should you ever die, be embalmed in mustard and have some planted over you.

THE following was accidentally omitted last week: Mr. D. E. Bartlett, who, in company with several others, left here for east of the mountains last spring, returned last week. He reports the grain crop in Kittitas valley as somewhat injured by the ground squirrels. Stock is plentiful, cheap and in excellent condition. Flour is wholesaling at $4.50 per barrel. Bacon is 18 cts. per pound. No great amount of placer mining is being done. Five tons of quartz crushed by an araster yielded $162. in gold. Fifty tons more are to be crushed, then if the yield is justifiable a stamp mill will be erected. He represents the country an excellent one for stock, but needing irrigation if farmed. The valley is settling up very fast. He met Navarro's surveying party on the way over, just behind the summit.

MEXICO.—It looks as though we were to have trouble with Mexico. It Mexicans cannot keep on their own side of the line, their natural thieving propensities incessantly compelling them to cross over and commit depredations.

NEW AD.—Dr. Mackey, whose card and advertisement appears in another column, has opened a drug store at La Conner, which will supply a want long felt in the Samish, Swinomish, Stillaguamish and Skagit regions.

THANKS.—Mr. John Davis left in the press room for the employees a fine lot of delicious strawberries last Saturday, just before going to press.

PETITION.—Mr. Wilbur has a petition, designed to be presented to the County Commissioners at the next meeting of the board, praying that honorable body to increase the tax on timbered lands in this county.

ANOTHER OLD SETTLER SETTLED.—Mr. E. C. Ferguson has been Hayseed out of the Post Office and L. Wilbur counted in. Such Tyranny! Just before the Fourth of July too!

TO THE AFFLICTED.—The latest styles of wedding cards, printed in glowing colors for sale at the NORTHERN STAR JOB OFFICE.

WOOL.—30,000 pounds of wool were sold at auction, in Steilacoom, to Mr. Samuel Coulter of Olympia, at twenty-six cents per pound.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Dodson from Salem, Oregon, is stopping in town.

SOMEBODY says, "the fewer relatives we have the happier we are." Why wasn't Adam happy then?

THE Northwestern Association of Liberals meets in Portland on the 5th of July. All friends of the cause should make it a point if possible to be present.

BLACKMAN Bros. lost about thirty logs last Wednesday by the breaking of their boom. Cause, rotten chain. They were all picked up this side of Lowell.

MR. Dan Lowell, formerly of Seattle, is suffering from a disease of the arm, (probably Necrosis,) and is in danger of losing it.

W. M. Tirtlot, has a set of shades for his office windows, with his name done in black, (appropriate for a law office,) new office furniture, &c., but we don't know the poor fellow who had to pay for them.

THE Tacoma Herald says, "It was a comical sight to see those four, (all ladies) tugging away at their shoe laces." Now Francis, have you been playing, "Peeping Tom?" You say there was nobody but ladies in that party. How do you know it was a "comical sight?"

THE Port Townsend Argus has been enlarged and improved in appearance every way. That is right brother Weir, go right ahead—this is a growing country, full of stirring, reading bustling people—keep pace with the times and people and not lag behind.

SEVEN round booms got adrift last Friday from Priest Point and started to sea. Fortunately the tide was nearly out at the time and they grounded on the flats and came back again, most of them on the flood tide. About sixty logs were lost.

THE river raised enough last Saturday and Sunday to bring out the logs from the Skykomish. If they get them all now the river will soon be clear of logs. By Fall the lower boom will be finished so as to catch the run on the next high water.

SPOONOLOGY is the scientific term for trolling for salmon down at Mukilteo. We have some veteran spoonological savants up this way, sufficiently evolved to dispense with spoons discovered by Lowell's favorite scientist, prehensile Benjamin, (genus, squintibusteros Ocularius,) at New Orleans in the steamer of 1862.

OUR correspondent from Oak Harbor complains of the postponement of the school convention. It has worked to the disadvantage of those living at a distance, but we presume there were good reasons for the delay.

OUR Devil wants to know if matrimony is contagious; and if so, if it is dangerous. We cannot say whether it is contagious or not; we know a great many are carried off by it, and are liable to repeated attacks.
