A Lover's Crime. [From the Battle Mine.] DILLON, Montana, Dec. 8.—Shortly after midnight last night Moses Morrison, one of the proprietors of the Nevada saloon in this town, was about closing the saloon for the night. He invited several parties to take a drink with him. Among the crowd was a gambler by the name of Hiram Perry. While the drinks were being sent up a woman of the town, by the name of Frankie Riley, came in and was invited by Morrison to join the party and go to an oyster parlor a few doors away. The woman started in advance of the crowd and the whole party, except Perry, went into the restaurant. Morrison called for oysters for the crowd, and soon after Perry came in and sat at the table with Morrison, the woman and others. Morrison went to the clerk's desk and paid for the oysters. About the time Morrison turned around from the clerk's desk Perry began to use some abusive language toward Morrison and the woman. Morrison stepped out the door, and Perry said: "God d—n you, I have a notion to kill you and her myself, and end this trouble!" and as he spoke, drew a large army pistol and shot Morrison, the ball entering below the left eye. Death was instantaneous. Perry then turned and fired at the woman, who was retreating through the back door of the restaurant. His aim was good but someone saw the woman and she ran into the street. The ball shattered her right arm. Perry then placed the pistol to his own head and fired at it. He was killed. Dr. Pickman, a physician, since about the facts developed at the inquest held to-day on the bodies of the two men. Perry and his victim, Dr. Pickman, and the woman's arm, and she is not thought to be in danger of dying. She seems to have been the base of contention. The woman, who was and whisky played their usual parts, and played them well. Morrison was liked very much. Perry was a gambler. He has parents and friends in Ogden. His remains will be sent to his parents.

Hiram Perry, the chief mover in the affair, was shot at Ogden, Utah, and was the son of a mormon bishop, and was about 28 years of age. When a mere boy he did work on the Central Pacific railroad as a brakeman on a freight train running from Carlin, Nevada, to Tonopah, but after working for two or three years he was transferred to the run from Ogden west. The mania for gambling got the better of him, and he became a professional since which he has done nothing else. When the Utah and Northern road was being built he followed the road as far as Dillon, from there he drifted back down the road as far as Shoshone, Idaho, where he first met Frankie Riley, and they went together into the wood river country, finally bringing up in the Coeur d'Alene mines. In Thompson Falls, a year ago last May, Perry killed an Indian under the following circumstances: Perry and two other men were playing seven-up for $1 a corner. The Indian came into the saloon in an intoxicated condition and wanted to play, but those in the game did not desire his presence. The Indian was so anxious to play that he was finally let in, and the cards were so manipulated that Perry beat the Indian out of $500—all the money he had. Exasperated at this he drew a large knife and ran Perry out of the house. Dodging behind a tree, he told the Indian to stop, which he refused to do, and Perry shot him dead in his tracks. Perry was acquitted on his preliminary examination. After this he and Frankie Riley came back to Dillon and that town has since been the home of both parties. Perry was a powerful young fellow, very quarrelsome when drinking, always ready for a fight in any shape. He has been in so many difficulties in and around Dillon that for some months it has been rumored that the next time he made a break he would be treated to a dose of hemp, and several persons there have been afraid he would kill some good man, as he has done at last.

A Change. A change has taken place in the management of the Wells-Fargo express office in this city. Yesterday G. B. Simpson withdrew from the office as agent and will in a few days take charge of the office at Tacoma. H. J. Cole, who has for a long time been associated with Mr. Simpson in the management of the agency has taken sole charge of the office. The business of the express company has been in the hands of Messrs. Simpson and Cole, singly and conjointly, for the past two years, and for the first time since they came in the books of the company were overhauled yesterday by special agents. CHENEY men are working with the bitterness of despair at Olympia to defeat the wishes expressed by a great majority of the people of Spokane county. We do not object to their doing this work but we do protest against trying to mislead by the most unpalatable misrepresentations of the methods employed in the circulation among the members of the assembly of a circular that contains what purports to be eight reasons why the county seat should not be removed. It is signed by one Henry F. Saksdorf. We do not know who Henry F. Saksdorf is nor does any one else in this city so far as we can learn, and therefore he must be of great importance if he carries a vast amount of weight among men who have been selected from the communities they represent for their intelligence and common sense. This man Saksdorf may be obscure enough up this way yet it does not prevent him being the best single handed peevish that we know of. We have one of his circulars before us and there is a woman or child who has ever seen the two towns of Cheney and Spokane Falls, the assertions therein contained would appear as the most shadowy falsehood. If Cheney is to secure her ends by resorting to such means we must admit that she holds a great advantage over this place. However we can hardly believe that there is a single member of the legislature who will have his opinion biased by such a letter, and among those who are acquainted with the facts Saksdorf's effort will be looked upon with the contempt they deserve. We only wish our space justified us in producing the circular in its entirety and thus show the people throughout Spokane county the exertions the representatives of our neighboring town can go to. We cannot refrain from publishing what is designated as reason 6th, and can add that the balance of the eight "reasons" are in the main of the same character:

6th. There is very little convenience to any one, in the existing conditions in our county, to be admitted that Spokane Falls contains at present a larger population than Cheney. Neither place has absolute assurance of supremacy. Cheney, to a large extent, lives on expectations which may or may not be realized in the future. This is emphatically the case with Spokane Falls. Cheney, under the smile of a then favorably disposed corporation, enjoyed a "boom" several years ago, which was followed by a season of adversity, so that its population is now no larger than is necessary for the transaction of legitimate business, carried on there. All the people residing there, can be called permanent citizens, determined to stay. With Spokane Falls it is quite otherwise. This town has been "boom-town" in such a way that it has grown beyond all healthy proportions and the legislature is now asked for partial legislation to avert the collapse of tottering fortunes. The town is well advertised as the most important stopping place in the inland empire, it has secured a large percentage of adventurous and migratory element, such as miners, mining speculators, prospectors, real-estate brokers, trappers, gamblers, etc. The claim of the citizens of Spokane Falls, that they are the "Minneapolis" or the "Denver" of the Pacific, that the wheat fields of the central basin of the Columbia, the mines of Colville, Coeur d'Alene, etc. would be tributary to this town and that it would be the great distributing center of the Cascades and the Rocky mountains, has allured many new comers to camp beside the Falls and wait for something to turn up. The geographical position of Spokane Falls is not favorable for it becoming a railroad center and it is to be expected, that when Cheney or another place secures the branch lines, a large portion of the population of Spokane Falls will be "silently and silently steal away." I mention these facts only for the purpose of showing, that the claim of supremacy of Spokane Falls, as based on the number of voters, is not entitled to serious consideration. In my judgment, there can be not much difference between Cheney and Spokane Falls, as to the volume of business actually done at these places.

In the very first paragraph the writer willfully falsifies. There is a great inconvenience experienced from the present location of the county seat by a majority of the taxpayers of the county, and that is one of the chief reasons a change is deemed necessary by four-fifths of the people of the county. We are only surprised that the writer adds that Spokane Falls contains a larger population than Cheney. It must have strained his conscience to have made such a statement, and we believe it was unintentional on his part. We deny that "with few exceptions" which may not be realized." The future of this city is assured beyond the question of a doubt, and the fact that many of the better class of citizens of Cheney are moving up here proves that the same idea prevails in that place. The idea that Spokane Falls is asking partial legislation to avert a collapse is indeed good. Why are over 2000 people of the county of Spokane Falls asking for the same legislation? Is the county "tottering" with this city? The charge in regard to the class of people settling here is an insult to as good people as ever crossed the continent to make their home in this territory. It is an outrage upon the honorable people of Cheney (for there are still some good men and women left in that place) that such an irresponsible scoundrel should speak in such a manner of eastern people who have been invited to come to Washington territory, and it is a disgrace to that town that such a whelp, whose antecedents are lost under the obscurity of an unknown name, should be countenanced. Like all large, growing and thriving towns, there is a small percent of the rougher element here.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17.—The nihilist prisoners, Julius Cesar Koosher, Henry Weiman, Oscar Ogden and Charles Mittelstead, were arraigned this morning before Judge Rex. They had nothing to say and engaged no counsel. Koosher is a Russian Jew, who being proscribed, went to New York. There he secured employment as a sort of immigration agent for the Northern Pacific railroad under Henry Villard's regime, for the purpose of locating families in Oregon and Washington territory, for which he received $600 per family. When the department ran low of funds he came here. Koosher is a familiar figure at Portland and Seattle. At the former place he stopped frequently at the St. Charles hotel. He knew Henry Fairbank, Puller Schulze and A. D. Charlton well. He transacted business with them all. Aside from this statement he is non-committal. Weiman has an exceedingly good talker and has an intelligent appearance. Although only 25 years of age he is a skillful linguist and understands six or eight languages. He is a natural orator and a thorough chemist, but not a practical one. He claims that he was only experimenting in order to prepare himself for an attack from the Chinese. A book was found in his possession containing a description of an ingenious infernal machine. The bell of a clock should be removed and in its stead a little glass ball be placed in place. Prior however to placing the ball it should be partially filled with a certain mixture of acids. The entire clock should be placed in a small sized metallic box well loaded with giant powder, over which should be laid fulminating caps. Upon being set at a certain hour, when that hour would strike the glass bursting it so that the acid would fall upon and burn the caps which would ignite the powder. Everything had been done in the most ingenious manner. The names of the prominent citizens who were to have been executed were on a list found by Capt. Lees and were as follows: William T. Coleman, W. W. Morrow, W. H. L. Barnes, Mayor Bartlett, John Lloyd Love, Judge Wilson, Judge Hoffman, Charles Sawyer, Leonard Stanford, Charles Crocker, Chief of Police Crowley, Capt. Lees, Capt. Douglas, Judge Taylor, Governor Stoneham, Consul Hew, Capt. Short, Naval Officer Stuart, Clay M. Taylor, M. H. DeYoung, Gen. Turnbull, Claus Spreckels and Denis Kearney. There has been no such excitement here for months. Many citizens expect a riot of some sort or another about January 1st. January 15th had been the date set by the nihilists, as had been announced recently on the street. It is believed that these would be a riot, but no one thought that the anarchists would be so deep in the manufacture of infernal machines.

WHAT objection can the representatives assembled at Olympia present against the bill submitted in regard to the re-location of the shire town of Spokane county? Our representatives ask for the passage of the bill, and that they are only voicing the sentiments of the people here but the 350 or more names of voters in the county to prove.

WHILE the people of the east are dodging blizzards and exerting themselves to keep from freezing to death the fortunate inhabitants of this section are enjoying spring weather. It will be hard for the people of east of the mountains to believe this when they consider that we are a much nearer neighbor to the north pole than they are, but it is a fact nevertheless. If they were out here for a season, however, they would swear with us that there is no climate like our climate.

IT is customary in all legislative bodies for the members to favor any measure that may be brought up by a member that has for its object the benefit of a majority of his constituents. It is a courtesy seldom denied. Both Mr. Reavis and Mr. Fenn, councilman and representative from this district are in favor of the bill introduced submitting the re-location of the county seat of Spokane county to the voters of said county, and they are backed in their position by a petition signed by over two-thirds of the voters of the county. It would be both an insult to our representatives and to the people should the council refuse to favor the measure proposed.

A FEW parties are endeavoring to make capital against the proposed vote on the county seat question by stating that an extra election would involve a large expense upon the county. All due provisions have been made so that the county shall not lose one solitary cent, even should the question come before the people at a special election, as the citizens of Spokane Falls have deposited $1000 with the county auditor to defray all expenses of said election. We call the attention of our legislators to this fact, and when any lobbyist makes a plea that the county cannot stand the expense they can understand that no expenses are at stake.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Walla Walla Union says that "the fight between Spokane Falls and Cheney for the county seat has been a most troublesome thing to the members, on account of the pertinacity of friends of both sides boring any one who they thought would have any influence. Whoever wins, the opposition party will die in the ditch." We cannot understand why any fair minded member of either house could feel troubled over the matter, nor why they should hesitate for a moment in the performance of their duty in the premises. The two members from this district have expressed themselves in the matter and an overwhelming majority of the voters of the county have asked for a bill to submit the matter to the people. He is an honorable man, no member can find reason to oppose the proposition.

WE have so much confidence in the character of the men constituting the legislative body in session at Olympia that we have no doubts that they will, out of courtesy to the members from this district and in deference to the wishes of so large a majority of the voters of this county, favor the bill now before them regarding the re-location of the county seat of Spokane county. Were our representatives opposed to the measure and were a majority of the people dead set against it we would then say it was the duty of the body to kill the bill and we would not raise one word of objection. If, in support of the legislative body, supported by the rank and file of their people, cannot have justice in an assembly of law-makers then that body ceases at once to represent the people and becomes an offensive and arbitrary power. We have a better opinion of our law-makers, and believe that a majority of them see the justice of the bill presented with such powerful backing.

A FEW PARTIES IN THE COUNTY, more especially at Cheney, are trying to influence people by circulating a report to the effect that if the county seat location is to be decided at the polls in the spring the expenses of a special election will be burdensome upon the county. It is only another of the false stories put in circulation by the friends of that town. The fact is that the question is submitted to the electors at a special election that election will not cost the county a solitary cent as the following extract from Washington, county of Spokane—

I, B. C. VanHouten, auditor of Spokane county, do hereby certify that the citizens of Spokane Falls, Spokane county, W. T., have deposited with me the sum of one thousand dollars to defray the expenses of a special election to be held in the month of March, 1886, for the matter of location of county seat, in and for the county of Spokane, W. T.

THE Cheney Tribune publishes a rude outline map of Spokane county and then tries by figures to show that the greater portion of the population is adjacent to that town. It might, with just as much consistency, claim Walla Walla as adjacent to the place. It is hardly possible that such a shrewd subterfuge will work at Olympia, where the paper will be sent. A hasty glance at the map and the figures shows just what a terrific liar the originator of the petition also and it will be seen that hundreds of names are from Deep Creek Falls, Rockford, Hangman, Waverly, Spangio, Marshall and Rock Creek, places that Cheney claims as favoring that town for the county seat. That dodge is the thinnest that we ever saw.

SOME fellows get up and howl at representative Fenn for introducing the bill to submit the re-location of the county seat. A nice kind of representative it would be who would not present and support too, a proposition backed with the names of four-fifths of the voters of the county. Mr. Fenn is doing his duty toward the people, as he was expected to do when he was elected. All honor to Mr. Fenn who has the nerve to stand up for all kinds of bull-dozing.

IF Cheney believes that the county seat is so firmly established that there would be no doubt of removal if put to a vote why are the people making such a terrific effort to prevent the people expressing themselves on the question at the polls. It seems inconsistent for the press of that place to constantly yell "we're not afraid," and then have the people of the place put a barrel of coin to prevent the legislature passing a bill to put the measure to a vote.

KEELLOGG, who formerly ran the Tribune at Cheney, is out in a card denying that he made any misstatements when at Rockford soliciting for signers to a remonstrance. It is only a question of vanity between Mr. Keellogg and the good people of Rockford, and from the knowledge we have of the two we consider it much safer to rely on the word of the latter.

THE Oregonian continues its assaults on senator Mitchell. It is hard to determine just what is to be gained by it, seeing that Mitchell is elected for six years. The letters as produced in fac simile may be genuine, but comparing them carefully with letters from Mr. Mitchell in the possession of one of our citizens, the fac similes look like forgeries, and not extra good ones at that.

The young gentleman is also a dentist, and a good one, too, and will assist his brother in handling the large practice he has built up here. He is a very intelligent gentleman of pleasing address and we hope will find sufficient attraction in the place to remain with us all time. A little number of the Watska Republican, his home paper, thus speaks of his departure from this city: "A fine young man, a good scholar, and of approved good promise. He will be much missed in social circles. Our best wishes go with him."

ON account of the glaring errors in the construction of the last city charter it has been impossible to enforce the ordinances passed to regulate the city, and the council was wasting time drawing up anything of the kind. When test cases have been made criminals have escaped, and the officers seem powerless to perform their duties in the face of such discouraging surroundings. However, we believe that all this difficulty has been obtained. A new charter that has just been completed and forwarded to Olympia to be acted upon. The new charter has been drawn with great care and we hope to see it result in much good for the town.

Invitations are out for a grand Christmas ball to be given by the young people of Spokane Falls, Christmas eve, at the Niagara skating rink, and the indications are that the dance will be very largely attended. The objects of the party are two-fold, either of which should receive a prompt response from our people. The receipts are to be divided between two worthy objects, the orchestra band and the public library. The first named organization will be the funds to purchase new music while the latter will invest what will be coming to it in new books. Even those who will be unable to attend the ball should at least buy a ticket and help out the project. However, we feel satisfied that the social event will draw heavily and that the funds will be plenty. The date is a good one and the management such as insures for all who may attend a pleasant evening of it. Our young people will certainly be out in force, while the older ones will not be left behind in this holiday festival.

DOODGISM.

Hash.

WE were considerably entertained the other evening at the Ca'holle church fair, by overhearing a conversation between two charming society young ladies, in which the merits of this succulent dish was liberally discussed. Among the remarks on the subject, one of the maidens "sandwiched in" the statement that a gentleman friend told her scientists had discovered that hash was intoxicating, and to beware of its insidious approaches; that in the east, "hash reforming hospitals" were becoming quite common. It was a matter of satisfaction to hear the young lady declare her disbelief of the story and declare herself a "hash-destroyer." First, last, and all the time, the idea seems prevalent that our society girls do not have very vigorous appetites, the Spokane girls particularly, and are quite content with a chain of iron reflection, pickles and poetry for dessert. Now, this impression is entirely erroneous, and right here we wish to record our admiration for two charming society ornaments, with appetites like a "thrift man's," one of whom, in our hearing, admitted being a "hash-destroyer" herself. After showing our feet under the mahogany of a hotel or dining car table, the gentled respect with a bill of fare comprised of particularly home-like. While tarrying in the Puget sound logging camp, the refrain, "see all along those hills sounded familiar, then in the crowded railroad car, the characteristic and laconic remark, "say, 'hash' is a good deal of a 'hash-destroyer'." In fact, wherever we have journeyed when we have heard a "hash expert" give the "grand halling-sing of dishes" we have been met by a friend and comrade. And now, to a pilgrim and a stranger, sojourning temporarily within the gates of the city, it is satisfactory to know Spokane's fairest blossoms do not partake of the alleged distrust expressed by gentles and sanctimonious men, this detestable epithet, and have the vitality to enjoy and vigorously to consume good, old-fashioned hash, "hash-destroyer" melodious, and even in the Chinese construction gang, the oriental exclamation, "see-yot-nee-gee-hashes," "hash" was pronounced, "hash-destroyer." AN Explanation. A day or two since we copied an article from the Oregonian in reference to a deserted town on the Columbia river, and the following from the Walla Walla Union explains the same: "W. H. Toles, of this city, who has several times made the voyage of the upper Columbia, from the Little Dalles to the head of navigation, in British Columbia, informs the historical of the Colony, that the 'deserted town' spoken of, is an abandoned mining hamlet on the upper Columbia, about 320 miles above the Little Dalles, where, in 1855 or 1856, twelve men and one woman met a watery grave. 'They' were abandoned, but they were tempted to make a landing and throw a rope to a number of miners ashore, and, misjudging the distance, the rope fell short, the boat turned sideways and was upset. Previous to this, when Capt. Pinckston was running the Little Dalles, an increased diggings were discovered on French creek and shortly after a rush was made for the new El Dorado, and with the influx of miners came saloonkeepers, with their liquors and paraphernalia, billiard tables, gambling outfits, etc., and merchants with miscellaneous goods, and in an incredibly short space of time a thriving village was nestling amid the towering forest. A few months work on the part of the miners soon converted them that bedrock was 'too far down' to be successfully worked and the necessary machinery and other mines offered alluring chances the camp was abandoned. Just previous to this the steamer 'Wagon' was wrecked, and the passengers were forced to make the trip down the Columbia in dugouts, between canoes, necessarily compelling them to leave their tools and other heavy objects. The deserted village was visited by our informant about 18 months ago. There are about a dozen or so cabins, all of which contained few or more miners' tools, camp outfits, etc., and in a building which had probably served as a school stood a ancient billiard table, which could easily be passed off for the days of Pompeii. The prospect on French creek is fair and will some day prove remunerative to enterprising men who will place the necessary machinery on the ground. If, as stated by the Watkins letter, the town was situated 500 miles from the Little Dalles, it would be close to Columbia city, at the first crossing of the Columbia, on the Canadian Pacific, every foot of the country adjacent having been thoroughly prospected.

DYSPEPSIA.

Secondary habits, mental worry, nervous excitement, excess of impudence in eating or drinking, and various other causes, induce Constipation followed by general derangement of the liver, kidneys, and stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others.

The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Foul Breath, Heartburn, Flatulence, Bloating, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and various other ailments, all of which are known under one head as Dyspepsia. In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. Those cases not amenable to the curative influence of AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield if the PILLS are aided by the powerful blood-purifying properties of AYER'S SAUSAGE.

Dyspepsia should know that the prompt treatment of their malady is postponed, the more difficult of cure it becomes.

AYER'S PILLS Never fail to relieve the bowels and promote their healthy and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary palliatives all do permanent harm. The fatal injury into which the enfeebled stomach is hurried by "soft" and "weak" stimulants, is inevitably followed by that which leaves the organ weaker than before.

Another Meeting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—Another double gathering was held last night of the anti-coolie league. The audience was addressed by Weisman and others. For a time great pandemonium prevailed. P. B. Gallagher, an old follower of Denis Kearney, in the absence of Weisman denounced O'Donnell and the prisoners as conspirators with the police to break up the league and aid the republican and democratic parties. Weisman stigmatized Gallagher as a liar and when he refused to come upon the platform and defend himself he was told that he would be elevated if he did not, whereupon Gallagher came forward and made an evasive address. A committee was appointed to wait on O'Donnell and demand his resignation. It was reported that a most vigorous search had been made. The committee was continued in power with authority to act as appointed.

Not Certain.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Peace between the Servians and Bulgarians is by no means assured. Both parties are hard to satisfy, and both are determined in their demands. A report is current that Servia has withdrawn her troops from the vicinity of Widdin.

THE CONSPIRATORS.

The Case in the Police Court.

Special to the Review.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—An unusually large throng of people was present when the police judge called upon the cases of the dynamite conspirators yesterday. The nihilistic element was largely represented and were glorifying the heroes, particularly Weisman, who is called the dauntless orator. Robt. Ferrall and Clitus Barbour appeared for Weisman, and E. R. Stonehill for Kousher, Eggers and Mittlestadt were unrepresented. A plea of not guilty was entered by all. Mittlestadt and Kousher were jointly charged by the court and their cases were set for trial on Monday, January 12th. Three of the conspirators were allowed until Saturday to withdraw their plea. In the case of Eggers it is alleged that his offense is less than the others, he being simply charged with being an accessory. His case will be passed until the disposal of the others. Additional charges to those already made have been entered against the four, and these similarly passed. Chief of police Crowley to-day claims to have information concerning some certain buildings that were being blown up, but does not think it the proper time to make any discoveries public. District Attorney Wilson will present the entire matter to the grand jury. Efforts will be made to indict others known to be concerned in the conspiracy. The grand jury will meet to-morrow afternoon to consider the matter. Coroner O'Donnell intends to immediately suspend the publication of the organ of the anti-coolie dynamites. Lively times are expected at the sand lots Sunday and an unusual strong detail of police will be there. Although Weisman and a score of his associates say that O'Donnell instigated the manufacture of the infernal machines and contributed to the general fund for its aid, he denies any connection whatever with the conspiracy.

Gladstone's Statement.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The following dispatch from Gladstone was received to-day by the news association: "Hawarden. The scheme for home rule in Ireland, as published in the Standard this morning and purporting to be my plan for the settlement of the Irish question, is inaccurate in reference to my views. I presume it is speculation upon them. It was published without my knowledge or authority."

Jeffrey-Lewis.

Notwithstanding the unpropitious weather an unusually large audience was attracted to the opera house last evening by the announcement that the famous actress, Miss Jeffrey-Lewis would appear in that great emotional play "Forget-Me-Not."

It would be impossible to do the lady justice in a limited space. She is by far the greatest actress that has ever visited our city, and she has no equal in the continental school of the drama. Miss Jeffrey-Lewis is besides a strikingly lovely woman, possessing a wonderful grace and elegance of manner on the stage.

The character of Stephanie de Mohr-ivert gives full scope for her talent in the emotional line and she plays it as few of her audiences ever saw it played before. Her support is excellent and the play throughout was a delightful treat for our people. The company present "Diplomacy," to-night, and we look forward to one of the largest crowds that has ever filled the opera house.

Presentation.

A very pleasant event took place at Resene house last evening. A meeting of the company had been called, and when all had assembled B. H. Bennett, in a few happy and pertinent words, presented Grover B. Simpson, the retiring president of the company, with a beautiful silver watch and a pair of cuff-links. Mr. Simpson has been one of the most active members of the fire department and resigned his position of chief several days since, and the present is a token of esteem from the boys with whom he has served. The piece of silverware is both beautiful and unique in design. Upon it is engraved the following: "Presented to G. B. Simpson by the members of Resene Hose Co. Spokane Falls. It is a fitting tribute to a worthy gentleman."

Change.

After copying our article on the change in the express office in this city by which Mr. Cole remains in charge and Mr. Simpson retires, the Tacoma Ledger says:

"Both of the young men referred to are well known in Tacoma, where they have many friends. Mr. Simpson was formerly a postal clerk on the route between here and Portland, and Mr. Cole was in the postal office service. In the same capacity on the steamer Tacoma and Victoria.

Mr. Simpson supercedes Mr. Hamilton in the express office in this city, the latter will remove to Haverton, Or. to engage in business for himself. Mr. Hamilton some time ago tendered his resignation, and he is expected to leave on or about January 1st. He has proved an efficient and accommodating agent, and it is to be hoped he will be successful in his new undertaking.

Looking Bright.

A dispatch was received by a gentleman in this city last evening that stated that the committee on counties in the council report unanimously in favor of the bill to submit the re-location of the county seat of Spokane county. It will be made the special order of the day in the council Monday.

The ball to be given by the young people next Thursday night will be a great social event. We expect to see Niagara rink crowded on the occasion.

Sam. Wilson has just added an elegant new hotel to his list of accommodations on Main street. It came from Newport & Holley's, but there are no more like it.

Notwithstanding the miserable wet and disagreeable weather that has prevailed in this city, it has been full of people, and the sidewalks were crowded with pedestrians. The bad weather, in a measure, affects the holiday trade.

The cutter destined to be raffled off in aid of the new Catholic church, will be disposed at the window of Newport & Holley, until the remaining tickets are sold. In making this statement, we are sure it is hastened to do so. Tickets will be left at the mentioned store.

Clas has been spending a month or two junketing on the Sound and throughout western Oregon, arrived last evening, and returned to his home in Clam lake as though he had been living on clams, oysters and the fat of the land, in his travels. He is a very successful one.

Geo. Crane, W. H. Taylor, E. J. Webster, Judge Turner, Lane Gilliam, John Henry, and returned to his home in Clam lake as though he had been living on clams, oysters and the fat of the land, in his travels. He is a very successful one.

A postal card from Colfax brings us the information that we were mistaken in thinking that the new Catholic church, at Colfax, was at Olympia in the Spokane county seat fight. It was in Olympia. The church was built for the purpose of the trip. We acknowledge an invitation, but business prevents us from accepting it.
