When we look over the history of each state in the Union, and bring increased misery. While see the outline of its railroads, a he is comfortably situated in jail, shose common to our own territo. of Dublin. May their unhappy ry. But the morning of our rail- condition be improved! road progress is dawning. No calculations for supplying any state or territory with railroad facilities were ever more complet in their nature than those in store for Washington Territory. Preparations are already made to supply every valley in Eastern Washington with a railroad. All the money has been subscribed that is necessary to build and equip said roads. These lines will be constructed with an idea to chean and easy transportation. and with but little regard to town sites and corner lots. Mr. Villard and associates intend to supply every needed local railroad that golden harvests may invite into our beautiful valleys. They will do even better. They will anticinate the wants of our settlers, and build lines into our rich valleys even before our crops will pay operating expenses and proper dividends. The time will soon some when railroad lines will be as numerous as our valleys, and no naturally rich section of our territory will be without railroad communication with the Atlantic

We will have no more winters of discontent in the great Spokan country. The railroad has effect ually dispelled the terrors of the storm-king, and shortening days now warn us of pleasant pastimes gradually approaching. Hundreds of droves, herds and flocks can now be supplied with food in case of continued storm which heretofore could not be assisted Our winters will be neither tedious nor unpleasant, but will be sunshiny, happy and joyous. Our people will have plenty and to spare, and each season will find their condition improved. Success will ever be characteristic of those of our people who labor honestly and earnestly for a livelihood in this promising land.

The erection of building improvement of lots continues in our city without abatement. Preparations for new and extensive buildings and business for next spring are being made. There is no reason why this investment of labor and capital should not be even larger than ever before. The future for our city, as well as for all of Northeastern Washington, is very promising. Everybody should take courage and keep right on in well-doing. While we all labor for prosperity, and lend our aid to the upbuilding of our common country there is a supersy to a s country, there is no such thing as failure in store for any of us who use ordinary judgment.

A reign of terror exists all over Ireland. English rule has made Irish blood boil, and Parnell's extreme views, as enunciated wherever occasion offered, have turned nen wild. Business is generally suspended. Mobs are common and riotous acts shocking. Jails are full, and still arrests are being made. It seems, however, that the oppressed of Ireland will on ly add disgrace to their present iserable condition by their law: less acts. There are evidences of wrong on both sides. Parnell has gone to far, and has advised extreme measures which must great contrast is observed between the victims to his misguiding its means of transportation and voice are bleeding in the streets

At that time and up to the present date, the name, good will and material attached to this office has belonged to the present owner. The paper has been published at time nder very disadvantageous cir cumstances, but has prospered with the progress of the new country in which it was the first to give the weekly tidings of the Spokan country to the world. The Tribune's Opinion.

When town proprietors and bosse eive the idea of squelching the local paper, it is pretty good evidence that there is something burried which want exhumed. We predict that such is the case with J. N. Glover, who has undertaken to snuff out the Spokan TIMES. The TIMES was established at Spokan Falls at a time when a newspaper enterpoise from a husiness point of view was an experiment and altogether doubtful. It has been an imgether doubtful. It has been an im portant element in the progress and development of the town and to indiorgan to injure a legitimate newspa-per. The people are generally correct in their verdict on such schemes, and so far as we have heard they approve of a few town proprietors. If Giover has money enough to play his organ no one objects to it so long as the public are not competled to listen. Carlisle, who is playing second for Glover's organ at the Falls, is proving himself not only a ninny, but a disrespector of the truth.

A Visitor's Opinion.

Editor Spokan Times:

n your community, still I cannot help town proprietors. It is a notorious lown proprietors. It is a notorious fact that they lack public spirit and enterprise. They do nothing to encourage outsiders, not to say capitalists, to locate here. In fact, it seems to me they do all they can to discourage or drive away capitalists who would like to invest here. Instead of being liberal with their town lots and water power, which they gobbled up almost for nothing, they ask immense prices; and in this, way they prevent town. I have no interest here at pre to see this place become the commer-cial center of Eastern Washington, for which mother nature has so appro-priately designed it. These thoughts occurred to me yes terday, when Mr. Villard and party were in conversation with the repre that he represented the largest flour ing mill business in the world, whose ing mill business in the world, whose mills are run exclusively by water power. Mr., Villard also stated that the honorable gentleman was looking for a suitable place to establish a like branch on the same scale in this far-off Northwest. This broad hint was not understood by the representative of the town lot owners, as he did not seize this golden opnortunity to offer some the twin to town, as next me to this golden opportunity to offer some of their wasted water power to this gentleman. Had he done so, the dawning of a new era would have come to Spokan Falls. But I shall not be surprised when these bright landed proprietors awake one fine morning and find that they do no own as much of this large water pow OBSERVER.
