PUGET SOUND HERALD.

STEILACOOM, W. T., Thursday Morning, Oct. 17, 1861.

NOTICE.—We find it necessary to repeat our assurance of last week, that in future we shall not mail the Herald to any person until the subscription money has first been remitted to us...

AN IRISH BRIGADE.—The project of raising an Irish brigade has excited much enthusiasm among Irishmen in all the large cities North...

SMOOTHER ARRIVAL.—About two o'clock yesterday morning, says the Portland Daily Advertiser of the 15th inst., Capt. Geo. W. Staples, of the steamer Pacific, was shot, and is feared, mortally wounded...

UNITED STATES DEBT.—The public debt of the United States is as follows: Loans, $70,217,048 50; Treasury notes, $35,950,500; total, $106,167,548 50.

WITHDRAWAL OF THE TROOPS.—Recent orders from the East require the immediate withdrawal of all the United States troops on this coast to New York.

MONTENEGRO P. O.—A complaint comes to us from this post-office, in Chelachia county, that our paper does not reach subscribers there when due.

OSHOOS STATE FAIR.—This, the first Agricultural State Fair of Oregon, closed on the 4th inst. We learn that it was successful beyond the hopes of the most sanguine of its friends.

THANKS.—Capt. J. R. Fleming, of the Eliza Anderson, has sent thanks for Victoria papers last week, so we send, E. A. Light, Esq., also his our thanks for papers.

THE GRAND FINAL MOVEMENT.

It was stated in the news received a week ago that in about thirty days, or about the middle of October, the necessary preparations being then completed, a forward movement of the Federal forces would take place.

Upon one occasion a panic overtook our troops, but I do not hesitate to say that until some man shall show me troops who have never been overtaken by a panic, I shall not believe that the fact is evidence of a want of courage...

It would thus seem that at least one cause of the delay in moving South was the season. This exhibits a humane regard for life, as well as makes doubly certain the success of the Federal arms in the land of fevers and epidemics.

Previous to the recent election in Maine, the anti-coercion Democrats, who are called Unionists there and elsewhere, held a feeble caucus at Bangor, on the same day appointed for a Union mass meeting.

That we will stand by the Union, and maintain the Union, and not a grain of sand belonging to the Union shall ever be surrendered to foes abroad or rebels at home...

A GOOD MAN GONE.—Among the recent deaths in Boston is that of Hon. Moses Grant, for many years known as a leading philanthropist of that city, and as connected with a number of benevolent and useful associations.

THE WILSON G. HUNT.—For a year past, says the British Colonist of the 9th inst., this fine steamer has been idly swinging to her anchor in James Bay.

THE BIBLE ON THE BLOCKADE.—The Marysville Appeal says the Bible is a singular book, and texts may be found in it for all occasions.

A GOOD MOVE.—From the Port Townsend Northern we learn that the U. S. Marine Hospital has been removed to the late hospital building at the Fort.

CORRIDOR OF ST. LOUIS.—A St. Louis correspondent states that 70,000 people have been frightened from St. Louis since the war commenced.

LARGE SHIPMENT.—The steamer Pacific received at Victoria, on the 9th inst., $150,000 for shipment to San Francisco.

T. F. MEAGHER AND THE UNION.

The names of the leaders in the last attempted revolution in Ireland are as familiar to most Americans as they are to Irishmen.

For some time previous to the breaking out of the present rebellion, Mr. Meagher lived in retirement; having meanwhile married a daughter of S. P. Townsend, of Sarsaparilla notoriety.

A few weeks since, in Jones's Wood, New York city, a festival was gotten up for the benefit of the families of the soldiers of the 69th, and a small fee charged for admission.

Will the Irishmen of New York stand by this cause—(cries of "We will," "We will!")—resolutely, heartily, with incorruptible fidelity, despite all the sacrifices it may cost...

CHINESE MINERS.—Having first encouraged the coming of Chinamen to work their mines in Australia, they now seem to have tolerated them as long as they intend to.

FROM SACRAMENTO TO POINTS EAST.—A correspondent of the Alta California, who recently made the trip overland, gives some interesting particulars concerning the route, as follows:

CONDOR OF ST. LOUIS.—A St. Louis correspondent states that 70,000 people have been frightened from St. Louis since the war commenced.

LARGE SHIPMENT.—The steamer Pacific received at Victoria, on the 9th inst., $150,000 for shipment to San Francisco.

A RAMBLING LETTER.

Down drops the sails against the mast, To sail as we can be, We do speak only to break, The silence of the sea.

What is more tedious or more uncomfortable than to be subjected to the full blast of a "bloody sun at noon," without breath nor motion?

The sun appears exceedingly lazy, and slowly pursues the noisless tenor of its way to "where the setting west merges into the rising east."

Here, then, we rest. The sun has gone down, and a dark, dreary night closes around the mariner's way.

"Hark the music, mariners! the wind is piping loud." It fills the rustling sail and bends the gallant mast.

"Oh! ever thus, from childhood's hour, I've seen my fondest hopes decay." Night draws her sable mantle around me, and leaves me in outer darkness, an unwilling listener to the voices of the night...

"Hark the music, mariners! the wind is piping loud." It fills the rustling sail and bends the gallant mast. She makes a path to a line after her; one would think the deep to be hoary.

"Think, says I, I'll stop." Now safely moored in this modern "Coves and a market," we take a retrospective view of Port Townsend.

"In vain with lavish kindness the gifts of God are strewn," for here it seems locked up on speculation, and I speak from practical experience when I say that I find it difficult to obtain a small supply of water, though here "its darkness might put to shame the darkey's wool."

For here it seems locked up on speculation, and I speak from practical experience when I say that I find it difficult to obtain a small supply of water, though here "its darkness might put to shame the darkey's wool."
