San Francisco Legal Tender notes

EQUAL RIGHTS.

All men should have an equal start and a fair chance in the race for life, and that merit should be rewarded without regard to color.

The ballot of the black man, in some trying times to come, may keep the jewel of liberty in the family of freedom.

We place at the head of this article the striking and concordant utterances made by the two men whose names are appended to them, because the first, especially, is a clear and distinct statement of what the advocates of equal rights among men mean by that advocacy, and because together their spirit is the basis of republican institutions.

In the political discussions of the day, political demagogues and charlatans ring the continuous changes on charges which they know to be utterly and maliciously false, for the purpose of keeping attached to them the unprincipled and ignorant, and thus securing their own personal elevation.

What do we mean by equal rights? We mean, first, that every man has a right to himself. He has that right, not as a Caucasian, an African, an Indian, or a negro, but as a human being.

Equal rights mean, further, that every man, as a man, should have the same facilities for securing justice to himself, or of bringing others to justice.

But equal rights do not involve social likeness. Here a man can only secure what he wins, and beyond that he has no rights. A profane, drunken blackguard has no right to association with the respectable, decent family of a true gentleman.

The great party of the Union, which to-day holds and advocates the doctrine of equal rights, embraces in its ranks more moral and intellectual worth than was ever before embraced in any political association in any age or land.

It has claimed and it has yielded equal rights. We believe it has further and more brilliant conquests to win, but if it should perish now in the pride of strength and of power, by the hand of suicide, or by the fall of treacheries of men it has generously trusted, it will leave to after times a brilliant record of honor and of glory.

A Singular Mine.

The Nevada Gazette describes an extraordinary mine, about three miles the other side of Bear river, on the Lincoln road, which differs from any gold mine ever heard of.

The owner of this mine has been working it with Chinamen; crushing the dirt in a mill and sluicing it away, after extracting $3 or $7 per ton from it, considering that he was doing a big thing when a couple of Chinamen, with a 5-stamp mill, could crush 40 tons per day.

We clip the above from the California Ledger of June 24. In many respects the mountain spoken of resembles that on which what are termed the Columbia, Clarke County, Vancouver, and Rising Sun lodes are situated.

While writing this we may say that all our later information confirms our previous conviction in regard to the real value of the mines of Clarke county.

More Horses Needed.

Now is the time to prepare for building. We think it is no exaggeration to say that if we had 25 vacant houses they would all be occupied within the next thirty days.

The prosperity of our town and county, is real and so manifest that it cannot much longer be concealed even from the blind. We have one of the finest natural sites that ever a town was built upon, and when the commerce of the Upper country shall burst, as it surely will, the little iron jacket in which it is now bound, and learn that it is not necessary first to go up the Willamette in order to get up the Columbia.

Our county is magnificent in extent and rich in the fertility of its soil and its mineral resources and will become populous and wealthy as surely as natural effects follow natural causes.

Notice to the Owners of the Press.

I undertook the publication of the REGISTER for one year, with the privilege of two, and the contract required me to give the shareholders three months notice of my intention in the premises.

The paper has a good advertising patronage, an encouraging subscription list, and stands as well every way, we have reason to believe, as any paper in the Territory.

I feel anxious for the success of the paper, and, as a stock holder, will gladly co-operate with others in making such disposition of the press as will make it most useful, and best promote the interests of the community in which it is located.

THE ELECTION IN WASHINGTON TERRITORY. The returns as far as we have been able to gather indicate the following as the probable result of the late election:

In the Legislature the Council is Union. The House of Representatives is about equally divided. We are not sufficiently advised yet to be able to say whether the aggregate vote of the Territory favors Union or Democratic.

ITEMS.

GEN. SHERMAN and staff passed through Wamego, Kansas, May 4th, en route for Fort Riley. A large party of Sac and Fox Indians, who were on a friendly visit to the Pottawatomies, paid their respects to the General, and entertained him with their war dance and several games.

Wm. Hutchinsons, the last surviving Revolutionary soldier in the State of Maine, died at Penobscot, on Thursday, May 3d, 1866, aged 102 years. Special honors were accorded to the memory of the deceased at his funeral.

The Oregon State Educational Association and Teacher's Institute will hold its sixth annual session at Oregon City on the last Tuesday in July next, and continue three days. We would suggest that the teachers of this county would find it profitable to attend.

THE town of Olympia—situated about a mile above the head of Puget Sound—is now supplied with water conducted to and through the place in pipes. The people of that place have always been ahead of every other place in the territory in "pipe laying."

From a private letter from Camp Lyon to a citizen of this place we are permitted to make the following extract: "About 100 Chinamen have been massacred by the Indians a short distance from here, and Major Marshall with about 80 men is after them. There has been any amount of stock stolen by the Indians. Nothing short of a large expedition, something like Col. Wright's in 1858, will stop it; and not less than 1000 men will be able to effectually clean them out."

Military. The most of the 1st regiment of U. S. Cavalry has been ordered to service in this department. The head quarters will be at this station. The band of the regiment will also be stationed here.

The splendid band of the 14th Infantry is ordered to San Francisco, and probably thence to Arizona. Our citizens will part with them with regret, and will long remember the almost absolutely perfect music they have often listened to from the "Brigade band." Its members are not only musicians; they are gentlemen.

We have had a large number of soldiers and officers here for the past few months who have seen service, some of them all through the rebellion. One who was a private soldier, a prisoner at Andersonville, where by the inhumanity of the rebel government he was almost starved, and where he stated to us he had seen multitudes perish, said to us, "I can forgive the Johnnies for fighting, but I never will or can forgive them for starving us."

As these "boys in blue" leave us, we cannot refrain from pronouncing a blessing upon them. May they long enjoy the freedom their valor won.

Ladies' Fair and Festival.

We were informed that the Ladies' Industrial Society, connected with the M. E. Church and congregation, has decided to hold a Fair and Strawberry Festival at Brant's Hall on Thursday evening, June 25th. The proceeds are to be devoted to the erection of a parsonage. The house at present occupied by the minister of that church is old, the walls are rotted away, the roof is leaky, and altogether it is said to be quite uncomfortable.

We are promised further particulars for our next week's issue.

HORSES SHOT.—We learn from Mr. Hayden, of this place, that two of his horses running at large have been shot, and very seriously if not fatally injured. He believes it was done by soldiers in or about the garrison. We are told that the gates are sometimes left open, perhaps carelessly, so that cattle and other stock may and do go in, and it is rumored that orders are given to shoot them if found inside the gates. We do not believe the rumor, but give it for what it is worth. That the soldiers have occasionally killed cattle, sheep, and hogs for the purpose of eating them is notoriously true. To shoot horses even without this poor excuse is the climax of wickedness, and an intolerable outrage on society.

MR. H. offers $25 to be informed of the perpetrator of the villainy.

A NEW BUSINESS.—We understand that a California company, dealers in hermetically sealed salmon, game, fruits, &c., has established a branch of its business at Oak Point, in this Territory, for the purpose of canning salmon. We have no doubt it may be made a lucrative business. The Columbia abounds in fine salmon, and we are glad to learn that their sphere of usefulness is about to be extended.

With All Thy Gettings, Get Gumption.

The world goes by gumption. Solomon knew that. No use to deny it. Pluck is only necessary when gumption is in doubt. Pluck, without gumption, would ruin any man before breakfast. Pluck is as often ruinous as otherwise. Ordinary energy and promptitude are all that gumption demands to secure for a good living, comfortable homes, something for a wet day, and fortunes for as many as can be enriched out of the little surplus this world affords.

The reason why many are so poor and few so rich is because they have a larger share of gumption, and have not sufficient pluck. There were one hundred equally smart business men in place of one we now have, the chance for becoming wealthy would be very small.

The best advice we can give any man is to get gumption. It will make money for you. It will keep your money for you. It will feed, clothe, educate, and shelter your children, surround you with all the comforts of life and as many of the luxuries as are good for you, and afford at last as much matter for your will as may be consistent with harmony among your heirs.

We hear a good deal about luck. It is all a mistake. Luck is an accident. Railway accidents are common enough, but accidents of luck are few and far between. A man is said to be usually lucky while another is constantly unlucky. That is a mistake. It is not luck—it is gumption. Luck would be of no service were it not for gumption. Luck in respect to wealth generally comes of a rich dead father, or childless rich dead uncle; so that a man is lucky in losing a father or an uncle! But luck in that shape is generally ruinous, unless gumption takes charge of the effects and administers on the estate.

What is gumption? It includes rather more than the ordinary share of common sense, common honesty, common perseverance and common aptitude. It tells the man where he can get the most for his industry and investment. It is the ability to study the relations of supply and demand, and find where the one or the other is deficient. It takes time by the forelock, and so soon as it discovers a good chance energy pitches in. Make or break is no maxim for gumption. It is—make without break. A break is good to prevent accidents on a railway, or to stop one before he gets too far; but a break in business is a very bad thing. It serves to show, however, where gumption is very deficient.

Money to start with. No amount of money would start you, except toward perdition, without gumption. If you have not this the less money you have to start with the better. But with gumption you can get the money. Ten cents a day saved will give you plenty in time. Twenty-five cents will give you more, and so on.

But how get gumption? The easiest thing in the world. The thing most needed, the easiest thing obtained, but the thing in which the fewest number possess themselves. Any youth, or any man, who was born with any gumption, can get all he may need by forsaking the foolish and elevating to the desirable things of this world. Read, see, think, reflect, observe, and leave whiskey, oyster suppers, and the girls alone. That is all.—Cincinnati Times.

THE WEATHER.—It has been a long time since we have written anything about the weather, and now only at the urgent request of both foreman and devil do we risk a word on that uncertain and delicate subject.

RETIRED.—H. M. Abbott, for a few months editor in chief of the Oregon Herald, has retired from that position. It was the great misfortune of M. H. that he came to this coast with a record. It was too much for him. He could not bear the crushing load. It swamped him. He got from the tripod, sorrowfully sighing:

Tell me ye virgins aink
That roared by tripod ear,
Can I not find a one spot
Where "records" are no more?
Where many weary "souls"
Shall stake me with a quill?
Pike County treason be forgot,
And Union tongues be still!
The winds replied with glee, there's not
In East or West so mean a spot.

WHY IS IT?—Why is it that, in the late elections in this Territory and in the State of Oregon, every man that was ever in the rebel guerrilla service, or in any rebel army during the war, or advocated the cause of the rebellion in any of the States, and has since found his way to this coast, voted the Democratic ticket? Why is it that every man among us that during the war desired the rebellion to succeed, was a rebel at heart, and rejoiced at any defeat the Union armies ever met, and mourned over any defeat of the armies of the rebellion, voted the Democratic ticket? Why is it that in the face of such facts the Democratic party claims to be for the Union?

DEANE AND ROSS.—The Oregon Appeal thus refers to the late killing of Col. Ross in San Francisco by Duane. Both splendid chivs:

A notorious character in San Francisco has just killed one of the most violent, passionate, and dangerous men that ever swore by the "stars and bars." Charley Duane, a paralyzed rowdy—a wreck of former prowess in fist-cuffs and desperate encounters—met, shot, and killed "Colonel" Bill Ross, a man known throughout California as one of the most disolute as well as one of the coolest and most fearless of that class of armed desperadoes that some times finds emigrating from Virginia to Texas and from Texas to California.

EASTERN NEWS.

Chicago, June 10.—Reports being detained by lines being down the following is a summary of the news of the 7th and 8th:

The Fenian excitement raged furiously until when President Johnson issued a proclamation directing Gen. Meade to employ and lead forces and militia to arrest Fenian conspirators and prevent their unlawful proceedings. The frontier was made three military districts under Gen. Barry, headquarters at Buffalo, the second under Gen. Hodge, headquarters at Ogdenburg, and the third under Maj. Augustus A. Gibson, headquarters at St. Albans. The Fenian council of War has decided on advancing in two columns from Malone, N. Y., and from Franklin, N. Y. Large seizures of Fenian arms were made on the 24th. Sweeney was arrested at St. Albans the same night. Notwithstanding this and other obstructions, the Franklin column moved early, under command of Gen. Spear, formerly Colonel 11th Fenian Cavalry, numbering one thousand men, tolerably well armed and established themselves on Pigeon Hill, four miles north of St. Albans that night, to await reinforcements and collect supplies. The Malone movement was prevented by the arrest of Gen. Murphy on the 6th. The men, after rioting somewhat, throughout the day at Malone, were finally quelled into submission. Reports up to last evening, say that Spear's invasion was a failure; no reinforcements, men straggling back and no transportation being furnished at St. Albans.

Wm. R. Roberts, Fenian President, issued a proclamation on the 5th, counselling the Brotherhood to renewed efforts. He was arrested by U. S. Marshal Manning on the 7th, and arraigned before Commissioner Betts, when he assumed a defiant attitude, refusing to accept bail coupled with parole. Roberts was then committed to custody, and the hotels refusing to entertain him while under arrest, fearing attempt to rescue, he was lodged in the Eldridge street jail. Numerous other leading Fenians were arrested on the 7th at Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, and St. Louis, and the furor of war turned into indignation and despondency.

Great indignation meetings were held denouncing President Johnson for playing false with the Fenians. Col. O'Neil and other leaders of the Fenian expedition, were arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner of Buffalo, on the 8th, and gave bonds to appear for trial before the United States Commissioner at Canandaigua, on the 19th inst. Fenian privates to that expedition to the number of 350, were released.

Sweeney was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hoyt at St. Albans yesterday, and remanded to custody in default of $20,000 bail. The Fenian failure is made more complete from the fact that nowhere in Canada, has there been the least show of sympathy where riots and uprisings were expected.

The Canadian Parliament has assembled. The Governor's speech recommended the suspension of habeas corpus. Fenian prisoners held by the Canadian Government, have not yet been arraigned for trial.

Chicago, June 9.—The United States District Court met at Richmond on Tuesday, and on Wednesday the case of Jeff. Davis was postponed until the first Thursday in October, to which day the Court adjourned. No motion was made, as expected, to release Davis, the District Attorney saying that Davis was not in the custody of the Court.

The contract for daily mail service from Virginia City, Nevada, via Humboldt, to Boise City, for four years from the 1st of September, has been given Jesse D. Carr, formerly of Monterey, Cal.

Congressional Proceedings.

In the Senate on the 5th inst., Sherman, from the select committee, reported a bill granting aid to the National Telegraph Company, conditional upon its not selling out or consolidating with any other company.

The Senate passed the reconstruction constitutional amendment—year 33—having amended it in several particulars not before reported. The following is the full resolution as returned to the House for its concurrence:

Resolved, That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of the Legislatures aforesaid, shall be a part of the Constitution, namely:

Article.—Sec. 1st. All persons born of or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State where they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within the jurisdiction thereof the protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be proportioned among the several States, according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. Whenever the right to vote at any election for electors of President and Vice President, or Representatives in Congress, Executive and Judicial officers, or members of the Legislatures thereof, shall be denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being 21 of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crimes, the basis of representation therein shall be the number of male citizens twenty years of age. [This, as reported by telegraph, is quite intelligible.—Ed.]

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office civil or military, under the United States, or any State, who, having previously taken the oath as member of Congress or officer of the United States, or as member of State Legislature or Executive or Judicial off-of any State to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemy. Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

San Francisco, June 13.—The following private dispatches have been received in the city: New York, June 9.—To Mr. Hamill: We mean fight. Send us every dollar you can. Don't believe the lying reports of the newspapers. W. B. ROBERTS, Pres't F. B. To John Hamill: The following we have just received: Pigeon Hill, O. E., June 9.—We are in the enemy's country. The green flag waves defiantly. We have captured Pigeon Hill, have stormed Centre Slab City, and taken the British colors, and we are ready to advance again. Victory or death! Growlers and cowards have gone to the rear. They will talk about our position, but don't mind them. The tried men of nerve are at the front. E. L. CAREY.

New York, June 9.—To John Hamill: God bless your noble efforts in our glorious cause. Our troops are doing their work; notwithstanding a few arrests, everything goes well. Give the accompanying telegram to San Francisco papers. There is no such word as fail; all are determined to sacrifice their lives all the work of Ireland's redemption is accomplished. E. L. CAREY.

Chicago, June 13.—Reports from all points represent the Fenian excitement to be subsiding, and many parties are being disbanded and sent home on parole with U. S. transportation from St. Albans, Malone, Ogdenburg, or wherever else they have assembled. Gen. Spear's invading column returned to Franklin, Vermont, and St. Albans yesterday from Pigeon Hill, totally disappointed. General Meade visited Malone, N. Y., yesterday and arrived at St. Albans last evening. He feels confident that all trouble is over.

Chicago, June 11.—The Fenian leaders are very much depressed at the interference of the Government and the consequent failure of their scheme, and bitterly denounce the Administration for bad faith; alleging that it had found more than half a million dollars worth of arms, knowing what use was to be made of them; that Fenians were in every way encouraged to make the attempt which our Government suppressed.

Gen. Meade states that in all he has had reports of 40,000 stand of arms bound for the invading army. This confirms what has already been said of the magnitude of the campaign as planned, and the probabilities that but for the United States Government it would have made their invasion a serious matter.

Copperhead Literature.

FISHER'S LANDING, JUNE 12.

I received the enclosed morsels of Copperhead literature through the mail, with the Vancouver post mark, this morning. No doubt the author will be hugely delighted to appear in print, and you will oblige me by allowing him to do so:

Why is A Dead Duck like A Dead Doctor case dey had bafe stoped quacking

I think you will agree with me, that there must have been a "consultation" of quacks when he was delivered of—all that; great must have been the travail! Sincerely hope that he didn't die of the—after-throes. This duck isn't dead; only a little lame, and in the best of humor.

I am fond of a little rillery, but would like the man who does it to stand out in the sunshine so that I can have a chance for a "lick back."

JOEL KNIGHT.

THE RIVER.—The river, though it has not been so high this summer as it was four years ago by some three feet, has still been high enough to inundate and destroy nearly all the bottom crops. It has already fallen nearly two feet, and will probably recede sufficiently before long to admit of a second planting of potatoes and such other vegetable as the lateness of the season will allow.

The land being thus invigorated by the overflow, brings forth crops with wonderful rapidity and success. We advise all whose crops have been destroyed to plant again as largely as they can of such vegetables as will come to maturity. They will probably find good market for them next winter.

THE ELECTION.—The following gentlemen were elected at the late election in this county:

For Representatives, John Pollock, J. W. Brazer, H. M. Knapp; County Commissioner, G. W. Hart; County Treasurer, C. B. Hunter; Sheriff, H. C. Morse; Auditor, P. A'Hern; Probate Judge, Jos. Petrain; County Assessor, Alex. Coffee; Prosecuting Attorney, H. L. Caples.

A SCHOOLMASTER, who was as fond of his grog as of his globes, was asked the difference between gravity and gravitation. "When I have drunk five glasses of grog," replied the pedagogue, "my gravity vanishes and my gravitation begins to operate."

NEW ADVERTISEMENT.—Mr. Evans advertises a farm for sale, six miles from this city. The location is a very pleasant one, and persons desiring to purchase would do well to examine it.

Oh, yes! We're friends and comrades true, There's a lot of fun about you,

What Will You Have?

The following vivid sketch was introduced by the late Dr. Alexander into his "Letters to Workmen."

After a day's work of copying, I was under the mortifying necessity of waiting an hour in the tap-room of a low tavern,

The presiding genius of the bar was a bloated, whiskered young man, whom I had long known as the abandoned son of a deceased friend.

"Methinks I can answer this question," said I to myself, as I cast a glance around the murky apartment.

"Gentlemen, what will you have?" I choose to supply the answers for myself, The baker there will have an apology,

The cooper. Not to speak of himself, I have reason to believe that both of his grown sons are beginning to drink.
