THE TILT.
The costume of Greece and the toga of Rome
Are outside now, in toto, by fair ones at home,
For married men, and single men with,
When dancels pass by with a swing of the "tilt."
I've stood on Mount Blanc and been lost in amaze
As nature her lordly grandeur displays;
And have felt my soul thrill on a bright Summer day,
As I languidly floated down Napier's fair bay.

But to see Nature perfect in every degree,
From the size of a calf to the turn of a knee,
And observe in detail how the body is built,
Let a dancels pass by with a swing of the "tilt."

These tilt-way hoops are as large and as light,
Reveal such queer dry goods, once hid from the sight,
You can read the initials marked on them quite plain,
From which men (if they're mortals) will scarcely refrain.

It makes no great difference 'bout culture of mind
While a crowd of young fellows are always behind;
Perhaps she's a flirt, or perchance she's a flirt,
But she sets them all crazy by swinging her "tilt."

The fair sex—the ruddy ones—at least as I hear,
Are the chief apparatus on which tilt appears;
The more you know of them, the more you'll see—
Wear the old-fashioned hoops and a large crinoline.

A small dainty boot, and a stocking as white,
As the full moon swings makes a beautiful sight;
And as she steps gaily where water is split,
She expands on the view with a swing of the "tilt."

For the costume of Greece and the toga of Rome,
Are outside now, in toto, by fair ones at home;
And married men shiver, and single men with,
As dancels pass by with a swing of the "tilt."

A Fortunate Kiss.
The following pretty little story is narrated by Frederika Bremner, who vouches for its truthfulness:

In the University of Upsala, in Sweden, lived a young student, a noble youth, with great love for study, but without the means of pursuing them. He was poor, and without connection. Still he studied, lived in great poverty, but keeping a cheerful heart, and trying to look at the future which looked so grim to him. His good humor and excellent qualities made him beloved by his comrades. One day he was standing at the square with some of them, prattling an hour of leisure, when the attention of the young man became arrested by a young and excellent lady, who, by the side of an elder one, was slowly walking over the place. It was the daughter of the Governor of Upsala, living in the city, and the lady was her governess. She was generally known for her goodness and gentleness of character, and was looked at with admiration by the students. As the young men stood gazing at her as she passed, like a graceful vision, one of them suddenly exclaimed: "Well it would be worth something to have a kiss from such a mouth!"

The poor student, the hero of our story, who looked on that pure, angelic face, exclaimed, as if by inspiration: "Well, I think I could have it."

"Well," cried his friends in a chorus, "are you crazy! Do you know her?"

"Not at all," answered he, "but I think she would kiss me if I asked her."

"What! in this place—and before all our eyes?"

"Yes, freely."

"Yes, freely."

Well, if she will give you a kiss in that manner, I will give you a thousand dollars!" exclaimed one of the party.

"And I!" and I!" exclaimed three or four others, for it happened that several rich men were in the group, and the bet ran high on so improbable an event. The challenge was made and accepted in less time than we take to tell it.

Our hero (my authority tells me whether he was plain or handsome; I have my peculiar reasons for believing he was rather plain, but singularly good looking at the same time) immediately walked up to the lady and said: "Mine fraulein, my fortune is now in your hands."

She looked at him in astonishment, but arrested her steps. He proceeded to state his name and condition, his aspiration, and related simply what had just now passed between him and his comrades.

The young lady listened attentively, and, at his ceasing to speak, she said, blushing, but with great sweetness: "If by so little a thing so much good can be effected, it would be foolish for me to refuse your request;" and publicly, in the open square, she kissed him.

The next day the student was sent for by the Governor. He wanted to see the man who dared to seek a kiss from his daughter in that way, and whom she consented to kiss.

He received him with a scrutinizing bow, but, after an hour's conversation, was so pleased with him that he ordered him to dine at his table during his studies at Upsala.

Our young friend pursued his studies in such a manner that it soon made him regarded as the most promising student in the University.

Three years were now passed since the first kiss, when the young man was allowed to give the second kiss to the Governor's daughter as his wife.

He became later one of the most noted scholars in Sweden and was much respected for his character. His works will endure while time lasts among the works of science; and from this happy union sprung a family well known in Sweden at the present time, whose wealth and high position in society are regarded as trifles in comparison with its goodness and love.

CIRCULATING THE WRONG PAPER.—At a recent temperance meeting an amusing incident took place. A strong exhortation had been delivered by a speaker present, and the President requested the secretary to pass around the pledge for signatures taking from his pockets what he supposed was the document, he, without looking at it gave it to the secretary for that purpose. A large number of names were enrolled of both ladies and gentlemen present, and the document returned. It was observed by the secretary, while passing around the paper that considerable tittering prevailed among the ladies, who took the precaution to read the contents of the paper, while those who did not read it and desired to sign it, did so. After going through the congregation the secretary on his way back, looked at the paper to see what was the cause of the amusement, when it was revealed to him that, instead of the temperance pledge, he had passed around and received signatures to a document setting forth the pedigree of a celebrated stallion.

The Last of the Rebel Army.
The serenity of the office of the commanding officer of this post was agitated, on yesterday, by the apparition of four Confederate soldiers, who gave their names and "descriptive lists" as follows:

Anthony Monkas, Co. E. Fifty-second Geo. Infantry, Third Army Corps. A. N. V.
Thomas Wells, do.
James Brinberger, do.
Allen Tewksbery, Forty-third Louisiana, do.

A more ragged set of mortals had never appeared before the Colonel during all the dealings he has ever had with the "ragged rebels" of Lee's army. Tewksbery was a sort of walking illustration of original patch-work. His clothing had been tied and sewed and stuck together with strings and thread and thorns until there did not appear a solitary square inch upon it which had not been tied up, sewed up or stuck up in some way or other. His companions were not quite as badly off, one having a pair blue, Yankee pants with only a half a dozen rents in it; another hiding the raggedness of his grey pants with a flowing, tough ribbonry, Yankee overcoat, and the other making his decency apparent by concealing the defects of his upper garments with an old oil cloth fly, awfully bedaubed with mud.

Tewksbery stated to the Colonel that he and his party stopped on the Apptomattox, about seven miles above the city, after the evacuation of Petersburg, for the purpose, at first, of resting; that they staid longer than they expected, and were out off. They then made a vow to live on that spot, and never go home or give up until the Confederacy was completely annihilated. They sought out a cave on the banks of the river, which at that point is very rocky, and after some little industry succeeded in erecting for themselves a most comfortable little home. Here they lived upon fish and game and occasional roasting ears during all last summer, and upon bread made of corn they had gathered from the corn fields, and an occasional pig they found without a mother, in their rambles during the winter. This spring and summer they lived as they did last summer, but recently, hearing from an old negro man that the Confederacy had undoubtedly "gone up," they concluded to quit their barbarian life and surrender. They marched to the city yesterday morning, with their muskets and accoutrements, stacked arms in front of headquarters, sent in word that they were the remnants of the Army of Northern Virginia, and that they wished to surrender upon the conditions accorded to Lee and the main body. Col. Milton assented to their request, and gave them transportation to their homes, and bade them adieu.

The illustrious four roamed about town for a short time, had new suits of clothing given them, and, after being made about half drunk embarked on the Southern train for their homes. —Petersburg (Va.) Index, August 15th.

AFRAID HE MIGHT BE DEAD.—Scene at the counting-room of a morning newspaper. Enter a man of Teutonic tendencies, a considerable one for the last night's spree.

Teuton—(to the man at the desk)—"If you please, I vant de baper mit dis morning's. Voo vat hashde names of de beebies zat kills cholera all de vite."

He was handed a paper, and after looking it over in a confused way, said:

"Vill you be so good ash to read de names zat don't have de cholera any more too soon shat you, and seeef Carl Geinseinkoopfenen hash got 'em."

The clerk very obligingly read the list, the Teuton listening with trembling attention, wiping the perspiration from his brow meanwhile, in great excitement. When the list was completed, the name of Carl Geinseinkoopfenen, well, no matter about the whole name, it wasn't there. The Teuton's face brightened up, and he exclaimed:

"You ton't fink 'em!"

Teuton—(seizing him warmly by the hand)—"Dis ish nice; dis ish some funs; dat ish my names. I peen trunk ash never vash; und, by tam, I vas frint I vos gone ted mit der cholera, und tiddn't know it. Mien Gut I vas scart."

FAST LIFE.—The San Francisco Dramatic Chronicle tells a vast deal of truth in the few words that follow, concerning fast life. It says:

Lives are worn out faster on the Pacific coast than anywhere else, perhaps in the world. Men who come of long lived families and whose fathers and grand fathers, uncles and aunts died at seventy and eighty, here drop off at forty and fifty five; fifty is a rare age to attain; sixty very rare. Sudden death, too, are the rule and not the exception. The diseases that carry men off, are not as a general thing, fevers, consumptions, contagious diseases, etc; they are diseases caused by over work, fast living, long continued excitement; by keeping the machinery going too steadily; by lack of repose in rest or quiet. A fire that is kept burning in full blast soon burns itself out, and here we "keep the blower up" all the time. It is true, we have our "recreations," but it is not rest. Our enjoyments are as "wearing" as our work; for we have no calm or quiet enjoyments. From the rush of business, we turn to the whirl of pleasure; from wearing labor to shattering excitements—sometimes to wasting dissipation. Body or brain, and sometimes both, are kept on the strain. We go upon the high-pressure plan, and keep the steam up, and the engine going until the machinery gives out or the boiler bursts. Paralysis, heart disease, brain disease, cerebral apoplexy, short, sharp, sudden attacks, that result from over-strained nerves—these are what sweep us away. In order to live long, it is requisite to live slowly and to live naturally. The strongest constitution must give way prematurely under the influence of a pressure that is never relaxed, or an excitement that is never remitted. As we must die at some time, it may seem of little importance whether it be ten or fifteen years sooner or later. But in reality every premature death is an unnatural and violent one, that interferes with that full development which is the best happiness of life; and besides there is no true happiness in the life that is one continuing whirl, even while it lasts.

Peter the Great Match Making.
The members of the reigning house of Russia, though adhering to the Greek faith, have always intermarried with Protestants; and they have not a little contributed, by their wealth and power, to distribute German princes and princesses over the thrones of the civilized world. The Teutonic alliances of Russia date from the time of Peter the Great. They formed part of his great plan for civilizing Russia, or rather for making its institutions similar to those of Western Europe, to which object he devoted his life. He managed his match-making business in a very rough and uncouth manner, the same as in all his other civilizing. The undertaking was commenced by an order of His Majesty to his ambassador at Berlin to proceed on an exploring journey through Germany, and after due negotiations with princely papas and mammas, to pack off as many good-looking royal ladies as possible to St. Petersburg. The ambassador of Peter I was very fortunate in his search, and managed to despatch due north no less than eleven more or less handsome princesses, traveling in groups of twos and threes, duly chaperoned and cared for. The first set of fair pilgrims was stopped at Poudlam by graff King Frederick William of Prussia, who, being himself engaged in the arduous task of raising tall grenadiers by importing big men and carrying them Nolans volens to home-grown big women, did not at all like to see so many good-looking young ladies quit the Fatherland. However, Casar Peter, who understood no joking in the matter, sent at once a very stiff ultimatum to Frederick William, and the King remembering Pomerania and the close neighborhood of Russian troops, raised his embargo, and let the ladies depart in peace. The fair visitors arrived safely at St. Petersburg, but Peter had left some weeks before, and they had to follow him to Moscow. Here they were entertained by gorgeous, but not always elegant fetes, until the other royal guests from Germany had arrived. Now the real business began. Alexis Petrovitch, eldest son of the Czar by his first wife Edokija Lapuchina, was summoned from the convent of Pechorowski, where he was staying with his imprisoned mother, and peremptorily ordered to choose a wife from among the flock of German princesses assembled at his father's. Alexis demurred, saying he was unprepared; the fact being that he was living with a Finnish dancels, and inspired, besides, by his mother with hatred of all foreigners, particularly Germans. Thereupon Peter got into a towering passion, declaring that he would kill his son on the spot; but cooling down commanded him to get ready to be married immediately. From among the number of fair visitors the Czar picked out Princess Charlotte Sophia of Brunswick Wolfenbuttel as the bride of his son Alexis and future Empress of Russia, and the marriage was solemnized with great pomp on the 25th of October, 1711. The union, as might have been expected, was a wretched one in the extreme. Alex, not content with neglecting his wife, a quiet and meek German girl, with a heart full of tenderness and affection, at times went so far as to ill-treat her cruelly in the presence of strange women whom he brought to the Court. This was more than she could bear, and lingering away in pain and sorrow, she died—so it was stated officially—in the summer of 1715. Casar Peter got furious at seeing his plans thus overthrown by his son, and on account of the cruelty shown to the princess, and for other reasons, had Alexis thrown into prison soon after. The heir to the throne was solemnly tried before a special court summoned by the Czar and condemned to death. Two days after his condemnation, Alexis died in prison—some say a natural death, but according to others by poison. A fearful tale was rumored at the time that Peter himself had beheaded his son. Here ends the story of the first matrimonial alliance of Russia with the royal families of Western Europe.

PROSPECTS OF IRELAND.—An Editorial correspondent of the Albany "Argus" takes a very hopeful view of Ireland, as follows: "The progress among the people in wealth and education is decided. The Catholic University rivals the Queen's Colleges in giving instruction to the people, and the rudiments of learning are pretty generally diffused. The rate of wages rises steadily, food is cheap and abundant, and the climate is free from the extremes of heat and cold that tell with such severity upon the laboring poor of our land. The convivial habits of the better classes, for which Ireland was once famous, and which the memories of Sir John Barrington, and the hardly less historical stories of Laver, gave us amusing accounts, have given away to soberer moods and less riotous life. The teachings of Father Mathew have made many disciples among the poor. The records of the police show less disorder and assizes have fewer crimes of violence to pass upon."

A FEDERAL SOLDIER TURNED TO STONE.—We learn from the Mobile "Advertiser" and "Register," that while some laborers were exhuming the bodies interred in the Potters field of the new graveyard in that city, one of the coffins broke and revealed to the astonished gaze of the grave-diggers the remains of a Federal soldier perfectly petrified and looking as natural as life. What was further remarkable, he had not been buried more than nine months. A new coffin was procured, and this remarkable image of nature workmanship recommitted to its mother earth in the soldiers burying-ground. Several prominent gentlemen of Mobile visited the spot and examined the petrified warrior, and they testify that he had turned to solid stone, with all the features and limbs as natural as life. The ground where he was buried is very low and damp most of the year.

PEN D'OREILLE.—A correspondent of the "Alta" writing from Pen d'Oreille Lake July 5th, says:

It was our fortune to spend the Fourth of July in crossing the Pen d'Oreille on board the new, staunch little steamer Mary Moody, and a very pleasant ride we had.

The boat at present, has its landing on the river some fifteen miles below the lake proper, but it is the intention of Mr. Moody to remove to the Southern arm of the lake where the water does not freeze in winter and while it shortens the land travel, does not increase the distance by water. To mark the day, Mr. Moody took us on a little excursion around the lake, visiting, at the same time the proposed new landing here and being engaged in opening the new road and preparing timber for ware houses. Wallula, from this point, is about two hundred and ten miles, and goods are freighted by wagons at five cents per pound. This lake is surrounded by very high hills or bluffs, so that it is only from one to one and a half miles in breadth while it is 45 in length and the boat then runs up the river about twenty miles, and lands its passengers and freight beneath a high and wild looking bluff, where a dense cedar forest and muskeets innumerable hold, at present, undisputed sway. Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Moody for the enterprise and energy he has exhibited in opening this route, and with what he is already doing it stands to-day the only practicable and safe route to Montana.

From a report made to Congress it appears that the Government has provided 6,075 artificial limbs to soldiers; 2,134 arms, 3,784 legs, 44 hands, 9 feet and 104 other appliances; twenty-three different manufacturers of artificial limbs supplied the Government, and the cost was $357,728.

The Empress Charlotte, of Mexico, is described as tall, and having the impress of a resolute character on her countenance. Her complexion is clear and her hair dark, like all the descendants of Louis Philippe. Toilet is a subject of utter indifference to her. She wears a black silk dress and "paradeaus," not only utterly devoid of ornament of any kind but considerably the worse for wear, a straw bonnet and black veil.

The Lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars had a grand rally in Sacramento on Wednesday evening, 25th ult.

YOUR HOME PAPER.—The Iowa State Register refers to the influence of your home paper and to those who grumble at it as follows:

You say it isn't interesting and all that.—Well, sir, whatever your private opinion of the Register may be, it has helped to build up this city more than any instrumentality of which you can make mention! Why, bless your dumb soul, and may the Lord look pitifully on the peculiarities of your narrow structure!—Don't you know that many of the most solid and prosperous business men of Des Moines, have been brought here by descriptions of the attractiveness of Central Iowa which they saw in the State Register! Didn't you know your poor cock eyed son of a gun, that numbers of the daily and weekly State Register, containing truthful and some comprehensive views of the situation out West, have gone into every Eastern State, and have induced many men of means, and of solid personal worth, as well as of political soundness, to pull up their Eastern residences by the roots, and transfer their entire interests to Des Moines. You don't know this, eh? Don't go thy way, old critic, and learn to appreciate the value of printer's ink! Thy head is un-sound, and it swingseth crookedly. Thy ways are perverse, and thy understanding, of which thou hast but a small share, can be sounded and punched through by a half inch plummet. Men of business, and of intelligence, men whose souls have not been drawn out of them by the capillary attraction of ignorance and small fisted meanness, comprehend the value of a journal which describes the advantages of their homes, and stirs up the population of the East with the long pole of immigration! Let the Register drop out of existence as the exponent of local interests, and some very fat takes in business matters among our readers wouldn't be worth two cents on the hundred dollars! Get out, old stick-in-the-mud, and learn sense before it shall be overlastingly too late!

MISSISSIPPI.
The following is the "sub" of a yarn which is told of a big, whiskey guzzling fellow who came home drunk one night and set down by the fire to warm his feet which were regular "worm-killers." Says the legend: After dosing some time he awoke chilly; the embers were completely hid from view, and seeing his feet mistook them for his little boy, when, with a majestic wave of his hand, he said: "Stand aside, my little son, and let your poor father warm himself."

A Saratoga correspondent says: "In consequence of the quarrel between Morrissey and the hotel keepers, the former intends to erect in Saratoga the largest hotel in America. It will cost $1,000,000. Among the stockholders are Commodore Vanderbilt and John Davidson. The former subscribes for $200,000 worth of stock and the latter for $100,000. To punish the Leland and other hotel keepers, the rates for board are to be fixed at $2 per day instead of $3, the present price.

The Sphymograph is a new and ingenious invention for registering the human pulse.—The short arm of a tight lever is applied to the pulse, and at the end of a long arm is a very delicate pencil, which passes over a roll of paper, the roll being moved by clock-work. The result is a wavy line, which differs according to the age and condition of the patient and shows, clearly, phenomena which would otherwise escape observation.

A letter writer from Fort Abercrombie, Dakota Territory, is under the impression that he has found Paradise. He sets forth the charms of that part of the world as follows:

No income tax; no internal revenue; no spies to see if you treat a friend on Sunday; no dog tax, poll tax, or tax for county tax. And, to end with, the Indians and half-breeds can't tell one greenback from another, so all our ones are tens.

A couple of nicely dressed ladies lost their tickets on the Hartford and New Haven cars the other day, and after hard urging by the conductor consented to ride and see if they had not dropped these while sitting in their seats. They found their tickets, and the conductor found a stout fourteen year old boy nicely tucked up under their skirts, bound for a safe and quiet ride to Boston.

The Chicago Lake Tunnel.—This great work is rapidly approaching completion, 8,675 feet having already been excavated, out of 10,565 feet, the entire length of the tunnel. But 1,835 feet are yet to be excavated. It is estimated that the daily supply of water to Chicago through the tunnel will be 18,000,000 gallons, and to raise this vast amount huge engines are being constructed in New York.

In Aurora, Indiana, lately, John Bailey quarreled with his brother-in-law, named Cooper, about the settlement of money matters. During the quarrel Bailey stabbed Cooper in the left breast, when the latter walked across the street and back and fell dead. Bailey was arrested, but managed to make his escape across the river to the Kentucky shore.

In Iowa, recently, two husbands traded wives, one giving the other $1,500 to boot. The citizens don't like that style, and drove the husband who received the "boot" from the country with his new wife. The other couple yet remain.

The recklessness which frequently possesses men while in battle is well illustrated by a soldier, who loading and firing with all his might while his fellows were falling around him, exclaimed: "Boys, ain't this—ain't it bully!" A certain German took a different view, on another occasion. After a series of hardships and reverses, and while the battle was still in hot progress he belched forth, "tam Christopher Columbus, he discover Amerikes!"

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 8.—Gov. Orr, in a special message, will recommend to the Legislature the acceptance by the State, of the provisions of the Act of Congress of 1862, donating lands to States and Territories for establishing Agricultural Colleges. He estimates that the State can realize $150,000 from the sale of scrip.

Rev. Mr. Law, Methodist Episcopal clergyman from Centerville, Michigan, attending the conference at this place, was invited to Mosherville, eleven miles north to hold service last evening. After delivering his discourse he knelt to make his closing prayer, and suddenly expired in the pulpit.

"Did I understand you to say I was lousy, sir?" "Oh, no! I merely told my friend when it rained lice in Egypt, I thought you must have been walking about there without a hat or an umbrella—that's all."

The Chicago Lake Tunnel.—This great work is rapidly approaching completion, 8,675 feet having already been excavated, out of 10,565 feet, the entire length of the tunnel. But 1,835 feet are yet to be excavated. It is estimated that the daily supply of water to Chicago through the tunnel will be 18,000,000 gallons, and to raise this vast amount huge engines are being constructed in New York.

LAW REFORM.

Our Territory has been organized for thirteen years. Each year the Legislative Assembly has met and enacted a batch of laws, public and private, some of them new in their features, and others reaffirming laws already passed, and again others that repealed legislation had the year before. The result of this constant legislation is a series of statutes contained in some thirteen different volumes and none but an experienced lawyer can tell without much research and examination what statutes are and are not in force.

To remedy this evil, immediate steps should be taken to codify our laws. This labor should not be undertaken by the Legislative Assembly. Personal experience and knowledge of the manner in which our laws have been made has satisfied us that such an important work should not be entrusted to their hands. Most of the members of that body, excellent and worthy citizens though they be, are generally unskilled in framing a code of laws, that will challenge the respect of the people and the approbation of the bench and bar, afford security to person and property and protect the interests of the people.

A Code Commission consisting of gentlemen of the best legal attainments in the Territory should be chosen by the next Legislative Assembly charged with the duty of preparing a full and complete digest of our laws, both those of a general and local nature, and to report such amendments, as in their judgment are proper and to the best interests of the Territory.

Before we quit, we would like to ask our country friends one question, and that in a whisper. Do you think it improves the appearance of your place very much, to have it so arranged that one must go through the cow yard to get to the dwelling house? Would it detract very much from your comfort to have your dwelling and yards enclosed with a neat picket fence? Have you very serious objections to having here and there a flower in your front yards? or a shade tree here and there? We merely suggest these enquiries, if you can't answer the questions, just refer them to your wives.

A WORD TO THE FARMERS.

The Register is not a political paper, hence we have not, and shall not, advocate the views of Radicals or Conservatives, but we shall leave those who have a fancy for political themes to indulge that fancy by the perusal of those papers who profess to advocate the views of their respective parties.

It will not be denied that the agricultural interest of this county is its chief interest. It is true, we have all the natural facilities requisite to the building up of an extensive manufacturing and commercial interest, but these have yet to be developed, and when they are developed, they will be, to some extent, founded upon, and supported by the agricultural resources of the county.

Assuming the foregoing proposition to be true, it becomes of great importance to our community to foster and encourage agricultural enterprise. But the work must be begun by the farmers themselves.

First of all is needed concert of action among the farmers, and perhaps this idea of concert of action cannot be better expressed than by the single word "Organization."

So far as we know, there is not in the whole Territory, such a thing as a farmers club, and we are sure that if one were organized in this county, its good effects would soon be manifest. It need not take the form of a county fair, (if it does, so much the better) but if the farmers on Lewis river, on Fourth Plain, on Mill Plain, on the Lacamas, and on the Washougal, would each organize a club with its President and Secretary, and hold regular meetings, at which each one would tell of experiments made by himself, giving the results, and tell the best way of doing this, that, or the other thing, of the amount and kind of crops raised, and the kind of treatment required to produce the best results from the different kinds of soil; such meetings would be made pleasant and profitable, and illustrate the truth of the proverb, "As iron sharpeneth iron, so does the countenance of a man that of his friend."

Doubtless, farmers reading this will say, "True enough, it would be a good thing;" but saying this will effect nothing. Somebody must begin it, and we are sure that if started the ball would roll merrily on, and increase in bulk as it rolled.

We should be glad to record in the columns of the Register that our farmers had moved in the direction indicated. Indeed its columns will always be open to farmers who have any matter of interest to the community generally to relate. The Register is the County paper, and we want it to be used by the citizens for any purpose tending to promote our general welfare.

ARMY INTELLIGENCE.
The last remnant of the Oregon Cavalry, consisting of Capt. White's Company is expected down here in a few days to be mustered out of the service. Lieut. Noble, 1st Ogn. Cavalry has also been ordered down for the purpose of being mustered out. He has been in charge of Fort Walla Walla for some time past. There will be no more troops stationed at Walla Walla for the present.

General Steele has issued the following, being General Order, No. 10:
Captain W. L. Sanborn having been mustered out of the Volunteer Service and appointed 2d Lieutenant in the 13th United States Infantry is hereby assigned to duty as Acting Assistant Adjutant General at these Headquarters, by virtue of his rank in the Regular Army, to date from October 1st, 1896.

The army waits with natural eagerness for the promulgation of the appointments to positions in the new regiments. The return of General Grant to Washington will probably be soon followed by the final settlement of this important matter. If the selection of the officers rests with the General, we may be sure the award of places will be fair and for merit; but there is some fear lest political influences from outside the War Office may be brought to bear to change the list the military chief may make up. The opportunity to reward distinguished service during the war is a great one, and we hope it will be well improved.

Major-General Nelson A. Miles has been relieved from the command at Fort Monroe, and Brigadier General H. S. Barton Colonel of the 5th United States Artillery, garrisoning the fortress, has assumed the command of the District and the command of the 1st and 2d regiments of the 5th United States Artillery. The following is the order directing Gen. Miles to Washington: "Major-General N. A. Miles, United States Volunteers, is relieved from duty at Fort Monroe, Virginia, and will report in person to the Adjutant-General; and will bring with him all the confidential records pertaining to his late command and deliver them to the Adjutant-General."

DISTRICT COURT.—The Court is now in full blast. Judge Hewitt, who was detained by sickness, finally made the connection on Wednesday afternoon and opened Court at that time. The Petit Jury has been discharged until Monday, to enable parties litigant to make up their issues.

Washington Territory Items.

We learn from Mr. John O'Donald, who is down from Colville, that quite an excitement existed in that place at the time he left, in regard to some very extensive mining ground just discovered on Arrow Lake, about half way between Colville and the Big Bend country. Nearly the whole population of Colville stampeded for the new diggings. About five miles of country has been prospected over, and Mr. O'Donald was assured that from ten cents to six bits to the pan was easily obtained. The steamer "49," Capt. Len. White, joins just the new diggings, en route to the Big Bend mines. Mr. O'Donald brought quite a lot of the dust with him, and it is pronounced to be worth $18 per ounce; the dust resembles Mormon Gulch gold of California. It is certainly good for some eyes to get a sight at such dust as "Uncle John" has on exhibition. Capt. White is in good spirits; the last trip of the "49" took up forty passengers and a large lot of goods to the new diggings. We are glad to learn that we have such diggings so close at hand, and hope that they may prove not only rich but extensive.—Walla Walla Statesman.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On this (Friday) morning, at an early hour, a man named Geo. Greer, in charge of a threshing machine, at work on O. P. Lacy's farm, on Dry Creek, was caught in the jack wheel, and before the machine could be stopped had his right arm torn off below the elbow. Dr. Gibson has gone to the relief of the unfortunate man.—Id.

One of the most amusing incidents that transpired during the whole progress of the Fair was the appearance of Messrs. Ward and Sanders, the popular stage drivers, who were seated in a stage coach drawn by sundry yoke oxen and driven by an experienced bull-whacker. The "turn-out" was an admirable hit, and as the strange craft circumnavigated the Fair grounds it was everywhere received with peals of laughter.—Id.

J. W. Murphy, a man who has been employed as private watchman for several months, disappeared on Wednesday last and has not been heard from since. He went down on Wednesday's stage to Wallula, and there took passage for the lower country. It is supposed that Murphy was in some way implicated in the escape of Donahue, and fearing detection fled. Murphy leaves a wife and two children in destitute circumstances.—Id.

The October term of this Court commenced on Monday last. There are about sixty-five cases on the docket, civil and criminal, and more than half of them have been disposed of. The Court will probably dispose of all the cases by the middle of next week.—Id.

A breach of promise case is on the tapis here, and a good deal of fun and scandal is naturally expected, if matters do not take a different turn, and unless the "injured female" is bought off and drops the suit. Thirty thousand dollars is the sum demanded for disappointed hopes and trifled affections.—The Gay Lothario is an old wealthy bachelor who should know better, and is not entitled to sympathy.—Olympia Cor. Oregonian.

A NOVEL PROCESSION.—The scholars of Father Chirroux' school will give an exhibition in this place this evening. Yesterday afternoon the company marched through town to the music of the fife and drum, the musicians all being Indian boys. The standard bearer, carrying the American flag, was dressed in an infantry coat with large epaulettes on the shoulders, regulation cap of the U. S. A., and light colored pants with stripes down the outside seams, the balance of the company wore similar caps and pants and carried colored coats, trimmed with a dark colored braid. The company numbered some fifty or sixty persons, ranging from six year-olds up to manhood. In marching they kept very good time, and presented a rather gay and dashing appearance for Mr. Lo.—Seattle, P. S. Weekly.

REMOVAL OF THE CUSTOM HOUSE.—Collector Wilson informs us that he has received a telegram from Washington, in answer to one sent by him asking for information in relation to the removal of the Custom House from Port Angeles to Port Townsend, confirming the news heretofore received of the passage and approval of an act for its removal on the first of this month. The instructions to Mr. Wilson relating to the matter were sent by mail and have not yet arrived, hence the delay in making the change.—Id.

Rev. A. C. McDonald delivered a course of lectures on temperance, at the Methodist Church in this place, during the past week, and organized a lodge of Good Templars.—Some thirty persons joined and were initiated into the order.—Id.

Steamboating seems to be lively at present on the Sound, whether it is profitable or not. On Monday last there were nine steamers arrived at this port.—Id.

The Agricultural Society of King County in this Territory are holding their first annual Fair at Seattle commencing Oct. 18th. A respectable list of premiums have been offered. Walla Walla and King County are the only counties in the Territory, that have exhibitions of this kind. Ought not our county to follow this example.

OREGON NEWS.

A severe and painful accident occurred at the mill of Messrs. Carter, Hayden & Co., on yesterday morning, in which Mr. Wm. H. Carter lost his left hand. Mr. Carter was acting as screw turner, and his position was at the screw nearest the saw. The log had been turned down and they were sawing off the slab side. The saw had just run through and the man at the other end was endeavoring to remove the slab, when Mr. Carter stepped across the carriage to help him; he stopped across the saw to take hold of the slab and had grasped it when his left hand swung down across the saw and was cut off immediately above the joint at the wrist.—Oregonian.

The Oregon State Fair opened October 16th with prospects much fairer than the opening day last year. A considerable showing in the pavilion is on hand. The attendance of visitors is very fair.

The trotting premium match for Oregon bred colts and fillies two years old, half mile heats, 2 in 3, to harness and to rule, was won by Mr. Welch's brown filly against Durbin's bay colt from Paul Jones. The first heat was not timed. The 2d was made in 2:05. The premium offered $5.

The Oregon Legislative proceedings are devoid of interest, both houses working upon the regular orders with very little debate.

The two escaped convicts, arrested at Red Bluff, Cal., Williams and Daniels, arrived by the stage at Salem on October 12th.

All the warehouses in Corvallis and vicinity are completely crammed with grain.—Farmers are storing, with the hope of getting better prices by and by.—Gazette.

Mrs. Susannah Butterfield died at Albany, Linx county, on the 6th inst., in the 97th year of her age. She was born in Westmoreland, N. H., on the first of January, 1799; lived in her native town 89 years, and was the oldest person who ever left an Atlantic home for the Pacific coast.

The following list of personal property in Jackson county is taken from the assessment rolls for 1896: Number bushels of wheat raised, 91,533; do of oats, 92,833; do of barley, 16,771; do of rye, 181; do of corn (estimated) 8,404; tons of hay, 3,761; head of horses, over one year old, 3,300; do of mules 187; do of cattle, (excepting cows) 2,794; do of cows, 2,487; do of sheep, over four months old, 6,641; do of hogs, 8,177; yoke of oxen, 79.

A private letter has been handed the Sentinel, from Captain Sprague, from which it learns that he is going on an expedition next week after Snake Indians with a detachment of Co. I. On the morning of the 8th a party of soldiers was bringing in two Indians as prisoners to the fort, when they started to run and were shot. Lieut. Outman was out after more at the time the letter was written.

The Sentinel learns that Messrs. Geo. Funk, Jas. Hubbard, and C. Webb, hearing lately that Hauxhurst, the escaped convict, was at Fort Klunmath, started out after him on Sunday morning last, arriving at the Fort on Monday morning. When they arrived there they found that he had started on Sunday morning with some trappers to the Deschutes river. They immediately started on in pursuit but no word as to their success has been received.

A cattle disease is prevalent in Josephine County, which is proving very fatal. Great numbers of cattle have died, and the farmers are unable to account for the malady.

One day this week, says the Jacksonville Sentinel of the 13th inst:

"Sherman, of Willow Springs, got on the track of a grizzly at Granville Sears', and tracked him into a brushy canyon not far from Willow Springs, where the track made many zigzags; and, in following them, the hunter came very close to the bear, which made a noise and immediately attacked him, knocking his gun from his hand and catching him by his right arm. The bear threw the man down and then caught him by the back and tore him up badly. The bear was finally driven off by Sherman's dogs, when he regained his standing position, but his arm was so much paralyzed that he could not shoot.—The dogs kept the attention of the bear engaged until their master escaped. It is thought the wounded man will recover."

[From dispatches to the Daily Oregonian.] EASTERN NEWS.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Herald's Toronto special dispatch says great excitement was caused at Fort Erie on Monday by the circulation of a report that an organized party of rangers contemplated a raid on Fort Erie, and a guard of police was immediately detailed to patrol between Buffalo and Niagara Falls. A company of volunteers patrolled the river in the vicinity of Fort Erie, and precautions were taken, but the raiders failed to appear. The same day the Fenians had a picnic excursion down the river, and when passing Fort Erie and the Canadian gunboat Resolute, the land party of the "Green," and other popular airs, and the excursionists waived their banners and cheered for Roberts and O'Neil. This so exasperated the Captain of the gunboat that he ordered the excursion boat away, and threatened to fire into the party.

New York, Oct. 14.—Foreign files to October 4th contain the following:

At a banquet in honor of the cable, a message was received from the Queen which conferred knighthood on Capt. Anderson, Prof. Thompson, Glass and Canning, and Baronetcy on Sampson and Gooch.

The Queen says her reason for not conferring distinctions marks of her favor upon Cyrus W. Field, was an apprehension that it might encourage upon the province of his own Government.

Electroting movements are progressing in various parts of England, looking towards a probable dissolution of Parliament next spring. It is stated that wet weather in England has destroyed one-tenth of the whole crop of wheat.

The King of Hanover has protested to all the cabinets of Europe against the annexation of his kingdom to Prussia, and appeals to all powers to aid him against oppression.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Salt Lake, 4 p. m.—The case of Charles P. Duane, indicted for the murder of Wm. G. Ross, is on trial in the 12th District Court to-day. Duane is defended by Eliza Cook, Judge Bennett, Col. James and Mr. Omen. The prosecution conducted by District Attorney Porter and Judge Hardy. A good deal of difficulty is experienced in getting a jury, fully seven eighths of those summoned having formed an opinion as to Duane's guilt.

In the United States Circuit Court, before Judges Field and H. Finan, the demurrer in the case of the Pacific Insurance Company against Frank Sule, United States Internal Revenue Collector, was argued and submitted. This case involves the constitutionality of the late act of Congress requiring the payment of income tax in gold on gold receipts in Greenbacks at their equivalent value to the dollar on tax due.

J. D. Fenwell, formerly an officer in the Quartermaster's Department of United States Volunteers, pleaded guilty to a charge of petty larceny by permission of the magistrate.—He made a statement to the effect that he had been driven to the crime by poverty and hunger, and that he was without food or means of support.

We have information from Mazatlan to the effect that its evacuation by the French has been positively determined on, and will doubtless be speedily effected; indeed, orders to that effect had been issued by Marshal Bazaine. He had given orders to hold the place at all hazards, but as he has no forces to back him, such order is of course a mere brutum fulmen. Everything points to a speedy collapse of the Empire.

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—A state convention of delegates from temperance societies, churches and such volunteers as were present met in Calvary Presbyterian Church this morning. The State was very well represented—delegates being present from all of the most important points in the State.

The argument in the case of Tam. Donahue who applies for his discharge on habas corpus, was had before Judge Dwinell last evening. The matter was finally submitted on brief, and will be decided on Saturday next.

The bark Endine, from Shanghai via Yokohama brings China dates to the 25th.

Yokohama letters contain the report that several engagements have taken place between Chosius and the Tyeon's forces, but ascribe the victory to the latter instead of the former. Which source of information is more reliable is an open question. The Nagasaki correspondent relies on the official of Salsuma who is friendly to Chosius while Yokohama parrots are, of course, inspired from Jodo when the Tyeon's interest prevails. However this may be, the Georgia have declared themselves unable to bear the responsibility for any damage that may be done to foreign vessels which may wish to pass through the inland sea while the struggle continues, as the frequent firing from both sides of the straits renders the passage highly dangerous.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's bark Chas. Bell, from Okhotsk sea, arrived last night, and reports the arrival of the Col. Bulkeley, engineer in chief of the Russian American telegraph expedition, and party at Peropulofsky, about the end of July. All well. Major S. Abasa chief of the Russian party, with an expedition, had explored the route and determined the position of lines between Ghikiga and Okhotsk. Capt. Matson explored the route between the mouth of the Anoor and Okhotsk, and joined Major Abasa at the latter point. The various explorations had decided the route between Behring's Sea and terminus of the line at the mouth of the Anoor. Timber was plenty and four hundred miles of poles are expected to be ready before the close of the present season. The natives are very friendly along the whole route, and offered to use dog trains to assist in transporting materials, and could supply any amount of raider meat. Maj. Abasa purchased dog trains and established fisheries to supply the dogs with food. The Government officials render every facility without awaiting instructions from St. Petersburg, and Count Anosoff issued orders to all officials to render any service that was necessary for completion of the line. When the necessary material is received, work will be pushed with great rapidity.

The last will and testament of Christopher Inuelti who committed suicide last week by shooting himself on Pacific street wharf has been filed. After providing for payment of his debts he bequeathed $10,000 to his friend Frederick Roeding, and the remainder of his property to the children of his brother in Hanover, share and share alike. The will is dated three days before his death.

A jury was found in the case of Chas. P. Duane, indicted for the murder of Wm. G. Ross, and at 11 o'clock to-day the court adjourned for an hour after the jury had been empanelled. The jurors were selected out of 156 who were examined. On the re-assembling of the court by consent of council the trial was postponed until Monday next, owing to the absence of witnesses.

The examination of Newman and Huppenburger, charged with setting fire to the store of Newman Brown, was resumed yesterday afternoon. The judge held both the defendants to answer before the county court, fixing Newman's bail at $10,000 and Huppenburger's at $3,000.

San Francisco, Oct. 18.—The Eastern line is still down. No dispatch.

A Los Angeles dispatch states that a fight occurred between the citizens and a murderous band of Indians in the vicinity of Harlyville in which 50 of the latter were killed. The citizens lost none.

Gen. Rufus Ingalls and Gen. W. D. Simpson, on a tour of inspection of the military posts of Pacific Division left Los Angeles Oct. 12th for San Diego and Ft. Yuma.

A Tallit letter dated August 21, says the growth of cotton is extending. Eighty tons have been shipped to B. Rhein, and eighty tons would be shipped in January. A steam sugar mill had arrived from San Francisco. Another was expected from London. The ship Galatea, for Hong Kong, took $307,100 in gold and silver bars and Mexican dollars. The steamer Golden City, which sails for Panama to-morrow morning, takes as freight about twenty tons of Japanese tea for New York. These teas were shipped in bond to-day, their import valuation being in the neighborhood of $16,000.

Several companies are prospecting on the right bank of Antler creek with a view of reaching the hill channel. One company will start a tunnel during the present week. The Red Rock Flume company washed up about two hundred feet of the Flume with very satisfactory results.

There are two companies at work on California creek making wages. The water of Stevens creek has been brought into this creek by means of ditch.

Notice to the Public.

The steamer of Sept. 23rd and 24th appears an advertisement signed by Sumner Barker, charging me with stealing and killing his cow, which he says he never did. I deny everything seen Barker's cattle or any one of them to my knowledge, and I deny that any of my employees ever told Barker that I had killed his cattle as alleged in said advertisement. The date of which Barker makes history are as follows: In the spring of 1891 I bought of John Laak, of Grand Ronde Valley, a black cow, for which I paid him good money, as attested by Laak, but when running up the River station the spring of 1892. In the fall of 1892 I killed the cow and sold the hide to the side of my barn where it has been ever since and is now. About the first of Sept. last Barker came along and seeing the hide, claimed that it was of his cow which he had lost in that month of Sept. Preceding Mr. Barker to be a confederate. I explained the case to him fully—showed him the bill of sale—told him I had known the cow, and told him that Mr. Laak was a respectable man, and if the cow was really his, he could, with my testimony, get his pay from Laak. Upon my explaining all this, Barker then goes on to say he had had his cow, but a great deal of trouble in the upper country—thought he had a good thing on me, and wanted me to pay him something to drop it. I then told him he was an old wretch and a villain, and judged everybody for himself, and I plainly told him so, and ordered him out of my presence. He then accused me of killing his cattle and that he would make me trouble. On the 10th of Oct. inst, my attention was called to this advertisement while in Portland, and I immediately came over to Vancouver and inserted this notice. I intend to get affidavits and have them published, in order to clear myself of all suspicion in this matter, and at the proper time will attend to Mr. Barker as by law in such case made and provided. H. J. CRAWFORD. Umalla, Oct. 14, 1896.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE COMPANY, Y.

Florence, - Massachusetts, MANUFACTURERS OF THE CELEBRATED REVERSIBLE FEED SEWING MACHINES!

Making Four Distinct Stitches.

While a large number of Machines have been offered to the Public, some of which possess points of excellence and acknowledged merit, we have long felt that no other has been offered, which combines in the highest degree simplicity with durability, and which is capable of doing a greater range of work, one that could be easily understood and comprehended by all.

To supply a Sewing Machine free from the objections attaching to others, has been no easy task; for we had not only to surpass others as they appeared years ago, but also to improve from time to time, by more recent experience.

This we claim has been accomplished by the liberal assistance of the public fully appreciating the value of years; and in presenting our Machine to the public, we shall make strong assertions respecting its merits, which we are prepared to substantiate in every particular.

Discarding the Chain and Loop, or Knit stitches, we adopt the Lock Stitch, (stitch on both sides of the fabric), which is regarded by the masses as best suited to all kinds of work. But in most of our Machines we have added the Knit, Double Lock and Double Knit, either of which is stronger and more elastic than the Lock; thus enabling the operator to select a stitch perfectly suited to every grade of fabric, and where necessary sew seams much stronger than it is possible to do by hand.

The FLORENCE makes four different stitches with as much ease as ordinary Machines make one, and with as little machinery.

The result of repeated tests has been all we could desire, and from its first introduction the FLORENCE has gained a host of friends, and been regarded a household necessity; proving that the public fully appreciate the value of simplicity and durability combined in the FLORENCE Machine.

We claim for the FLORENCE the following advantages over any and all Sewing Machines: 1st. It will sew four different stitches, Lock, Knit, Double Lock, and Double Knit, on one and the same Machine. Each stitch being alike on both sides of the fabric.

2d. Every Machine has a simple and easy method of selecting the stitch, by simply turning a thumb screw, to have the work run either to the right or left, to stay any part of the seam, or fasten the ends of seams, without turning the fabric.

3d. Changing the length of stitch, from one kind of stitch to another, can readily be done while the Machine is in motion.

4d. The needle is easily adjusted, and can be used where quiet is necessary.

5d. The foot is in all positions; there are no springs to get out of order, and its simplicity enables the most inexperienced to operate it.

6d. It does not require finer thread than the under than the upper side, and will sew across the heaviest seams, or from one to another thickness of cloth, without change of needle, tension, or breaking thread.

7d. The tension is easily adjusted and will turn any width of hem desired.

8d. No other Machine will do so great a range of work as the FLORENCE.

9d. It will sew, gather, fell, bind, braid, quilt, and gather and sew on a ruffle at the same time.

10d. The taking up of the slack thread is not performed by the irregular contraction of a wire coil or uncertain operation of wire levers. The precision and accuracy with which the FLORENCE draws the thread into the cloth, is unapproached in any Sewing Machine hitherto offered to the public.

11d. We furnish each Machine with "Elliott's Self Sewer," which guides the work itself, and is of incalculable value, especially to the inexperienced operator.

12d. It is fully protected and licensed by Elias Howe, Jr., and his associates, and our own Letters Patent.

13d. While possessing the above and many other advantages, the FLORENCE is also furnished with other first class Machines, and a careful examination will fully substantiate all that we have claimed for it, and justify the assertion we now make, that it is the best Sewing Machine in the world.

We warrant every Machine to be all that we claim for it and will give a written warranty.

Further reference may be had by addressing J. L. FARRISH & Co., Agents, Portland, Oregon.

HYGIENIC MEDICATION.

W. H. GODDARD, Hygienic Physician, may be consulted in his office at his residence, about 1/2 mile above the Ordinance Department, in full view of the Columbia River and opposite Mr. Ryan's place. The Doctor has chosen this system of Medication in preference to all other systems, because he is fully convinced of its great superiority—being true in theory, borne out in science, in harmony with the laws of nature, and successful in practice. It embraces everything lying in the healing art except poisons, and is applicable to all diseases. Are you afflicted? Is your pulse weak? Is your system deranged? Is your health in any way impaired? Is your mind in any way affected? Is your blood in any way impure? Is your system in any way debilitated? Is your health in any way impaired? Is your mind in any way affected? Is your blood in any way impure? Is your system in any way debilitated?

Over 5,000 women, 1,100 of whom had previously submitted to caustic burning for uterine diseases, have been cured by Dr. Jackson's mode of treatment.

Over 4,000 young men who had been ruined by spermatorrhoeic weakness have been treated successfully, after a method also discovered by Dr. J. J. Jackson.

Dr. Goddard is familiar with this mode of treating disease. Persons thus afflicted may be sure they will not die when they receive his services.

Dr. Goddard will also prescribe treatment for the disease when called upon by their friends. Many such have been cured by hygienic medication. What your own case can be best treated upon each person has a good mind.

For counsel and prescription, in cases of Chronic disease, Rheumatism, and in cases of acute diseases, $5, at the Doctor's office. For attendance, in addition to the usual fee, the charge will be more or less according to circumstances—time, distance, expense, &c. Advice to clergymen, free, and to the poor without charge.
