Farmers and Monopolies.

It would be cause for congratulation if farmers would read more of the history and the status of their class a thousand years back, and compare it with their present condition.

But though these changes were great there are others yet to come. The chrysalis is more comely than the egg, but the imago is the perfect insect.

For more than fifty years a great system of internal transportation has been gradually extending itself over the whole country.

But while this vast railroad system, in itself a great blessing, has made it possible to rapidly develop remote parts of the country, brought them into close communication with each other, and enabled them to exchange products to their mutual benefit, it has also brought with it evils that must be corrected.

These railroad corporations wield legislative and judicial, and carry elections by means of money. Certainly they are a formidable foe, for they work at and undermine the very foundations of society, but farmers have not, and frequently cannot, quered greater difficulties these thousand years, and will do so again.

Some Democratic "Blunders"

The Republican, as well as certain "Independent" papers, take special delight in pretending that the Democrats are continually "blundering."

They play so continually on this subject, and when the elections are over and their banners are trailing in the mud they hysterically proclaim that the Democrats have again "blundered" into victory.

They have held their own in the United States Senate. They have changed the United States House of Representatives from a Republican body of twelve majority, to a Democratic one of seventy-seven majority.

They have elected a Democratic governor in California in place of a Republican. They have elected a Democratic governor in Colorado in place of a Republican.

THE TACOMA CITY.

New Tacoma has made immense progress since my former visit some two years since, and to say that the city has increased two-thirds, both in size and population, during this period, is keeping within bounds.

The business portion has more than doubled itself and where formerly everything looked dead in its fall of life in an enterprise, on all sides I find work progressing, buildings going up and more contemplated; in short, New Tacoma has awakened to the fact that to progress in this rushing age no chances must be taken, and that energy, alertness and enterprise will surely win.

I never saw a lot of people more sanguine of the great future which is surely before them than these Tacomaites. They not only have the terrible advantage of being backed with all the power of the Northern Pacific railroad company, but have infinite resources all around them in the shape of fertile valleys, forests of the finest timber in the world, immense mineral deposits such as coal and copper, and the waters of their beautiful bay, which yield their many treasures daily.

It has yielded their many treasures daily. It has yielded their many treasures daily. It has yielded their many treasures daily. It has yielded their many treasures daily.

The Tacoma land company sell lots with the proviso that a building must be erected, and 500 such contracts are now being fulfilled; of these there are five large brick business houses; for the present they have withdrawn lots for sale on the business streets. Many people come here from the east making it their initial point; on a general average they bring with them from $500 to $1000 each, and most of them remain or go to other parts of the Sound. The company are building a magnificent hotel which will soon be completed; it is of stone and brick, built in the Norman French style of architecture and will contain, besides a restaurant, 100 rooms. Mr. Tyler, of Philadelphia, one of the best hotel men in the United States, is to have the management of it. Jealous neighbors say of Tacoma that all the money made there is sent to Philadelphia, but the manager, I saw W. Anderson, Esq., assures me that the assertion is a base slander, for the company are making important investments all the time and at present are projecting an extensive system of water works and other improvements which will add materially to the importance of the city. The city is fast being built toward the new depot about a mile from the old landing place, and work will soon commence on the tide flats, on which piles will be driven and extensive wharves built. A new flour mill, ash factory and saw mill is also contemplated and work on them commences at an early day. The status of Tacoma is due to a great extent to the work of the Ledger and its indefatigable proprietor, R. F. Radelaugh, Esq.; ever since he has been here his sole exertions have been toward making Tacoma a great city, and right nobly he has performed his work. There is probably no other city on the coast, with a like population, that can boast such an enterprising newspaper; it takes the Associated Press dispatches and its editorials are solid, to the point and of sterling quality; the citizens are deserving of much praise for their patronage and appreciation of their paper, for it is run at a heavy expense; they advertise very liberally and do all in their power to make it the best of their city. There is one more paper there, the News, published in the evening, which is also ably edited and well sustained.

DEBATE ON TOBACCO.

Debate on Tobacco. Delegates Brents will shortly lay before the house a petition from the retail dealers in manufactured tobacco in Walla Walla praying the tobacco relate to be distributed to dealers. The manufacturers took their rebate out in stamps, but the local dealers have to wait until it passes Congress to make an appropriation for the purpose and then await its distribution.

Rubber Agents. Messrs. Nye & Frank are the agents of Bradley & Doheny, of Portland, for rubber and leather belting of every description, and rubbers hose and rollers. Nye & Frank, 214 Main street, Walla Walla.

The Exchange Hotel. Strange but nevertheless true, that the Exchange Hotel is now enjoying one of the largest runs of custom in the city. Single meals, 25 cents. Board per week, $4. Board and room from $5 to $7.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station 31, New York City.

On North Juniper, Unstilled county Oregon, 480 acres of land, 100 acres doled and half section railroad land; 100 acres under fence and 1400 acres in wheat. A good house and abundance of water on the farm which will be sold for $15,000. Apply to D. C. Cox, North Juniper.

WHY WE REDUCE DRESS GOODS!

WHY WE CUT DOWN SILKS!

READ THE REASONS!

The completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad brings New York, from a business point of view, as near as San Francisco.

The Prices in these Cities Differ Very Widely

We have made arrangements with eastern importers and manufacturers for the future delivery of Dress Goods and Silks in this city and the difference in prices between New York and San Francisco revealed an alarming situation.

OUR REMEDY.

The remedy for all this will be to us a dead loss, but we grasp the situation as it exists. Events once in a while make startling changes, and the channel of trade in this case develops a solid advantage to the public although we lose by it.

WE HAVE MARKED GOODS DOWN TO THE SAME PRICE THEY WOULD BE SOLD FOR IF PURCHASED FROM THE MANUFACTURERS.

The public, we believe, are convinced of the fact that our prices have always been the lowest in this Territory, but they can scarcely realize the actual importance of this announcement.

For example we have been selling diagonal suitings for $1.00 a yard, that were considered at that price the most desirable goods ever offered for sale in this city. NOW THEY ARE ALL MARKED 75 CENTS. All other dress goods and silks are cut down in the same proportion.

The Mines. It is reported that rich new places have been struck 45 miles northeast of Pritchard...

The cold spell is making a harvest for the ice men. The Grand Lodge K. of P. convenes at New Tacoma, Feb. 25, 1884.

John Muir's resignation will not take effect until March 1. There are daily departures from this city to Rathdrum and Couer d'Alene.

The Dalles Sun shines once more, after being burned out in the late fire. It is whispered that Sullivan, the singer, will visit Walla Walla early in March.

Notwithstanding the dull times the saloon men say their receipts show no falling off. Six blood thirsty murderers are now confined in the Malheur county jail at Portland.

The Short Line track will be laid to the Snake river bridge near Huntington by next Tuesday. The Salt Lake Tribune says large parties are outfitting in that city for the Couer d'Alene.

Complaint is made that the quality of coal imported here is getting poorer and poorer. Fears are entertained that the soup house will attract all the loose men in the country to Walla Walla.

Father Duffy, as usual, in all affairs of liberality, is one of the foremost in relieving the necessities of the needy. The farmers in the vicinity of Parnell's estate in Ireland plowed fifty acres of his land as a tribute of esteem.

We rise to again remind the ladies that this is leap year and that the city is full of handsome and eligible bachelors. Wm. Bendoras purchases place in Couer d'Alene City and will leave for there on Monday next to open and run a saloon.

Much work is going on and by the time spring opens everything will be lively as several new brick buildings are to be erected. The reporters of this city will thank somebody to fall down a well and break his neck, or get up a dog fight or something exciting.

The bankers and merchants of this city say that just at present money is a little close—not close enough, however, to be within reach. The Chinese eat amendments are completely snubbed under by other bills, and there is small probability of its getting off the files at this session.

Some of the embryo Couer d'Alene editors will find ere the snow falls that it is impossible to run a paper on wind and mountain scenery. In the Nutt trial at Pittsburg, the ladies and the prisoner were excluded from the court room while the famous letters from Dukes to Capt. Nutt were read aloud.

The Primville News, burnt out last November, is again to start, and under date of Jan. 26, brings us the old time news of the escape of Elfus and Orenley. Messrs Schellworth and Lux have received the first shipment of two car loads of lumber from Dayton. This is the earliest shipment ever made at this season of the year.

Daniel Morris, an aged Mormon with three wives, hanged himself in a shed immediately after reading the message of Governor Murray. His head was level. Father Brontlett, the old time missionary of the northwest, is lying at the point of death in a Washington hospital. He lost his eyesight in the spring of last year.

Frederick Billings writes from Woodstock, Vermont, under date of Jan. 8, to the Kittitas Localizer, that railroading up the Yakima Valley will be continued. Senator Edmunds entertains no doubt of the constitutional right of the government to construct telegraphs, but he is strongly opposed to the purchase of existing lines.

Washington Territory will probably be admitted into the Union as a state, by this Congress; but it will be at the next session, after the presidential election shall have passed by. Gradually our law makers and law dispensers are building about our liberties a great wall of restriction. A South Carolina judge has just fined a woman $5 for eating peaches in court.

The county commissioners meet in regular session next Monday, and parties having bills against the county are requested to present same to Auditor Painter on or before that date. Brevity is a lost art; but it is the fault of that writers and speakers cannot be brief. There is too much to say, because too many things have happened since this world was started.

The Whatcom jury, composed of eight men and eight women, made a strong statement upon the whisky element in that town, indicating almost every man engaged in the business for violation of law. Thos. P. Page is up from his Umattila tribe to a day or two and informs us that winter about is looking well in that country, and that the weather was such that farmers were able to plough up to Christmas.

The assertion that the Sisters of mercy required labor to be performed in return for food supplied is altogether wrong; they made no terms and freely supplied all who required food. Altogether they gave meals to 140 people. Tickets for the soup house will be sold at the rate of eight for $1; at this rate citizens can easily receive 50 cents and when men need it at private residences for a square meal they can be stood off by means of a soup ticket.

If you have the Couer d'Alene force pump water on your head and walk three months attached to three meals of pork and beans, and at night the cold side of a plank at Couer d'Alene, there is an expense of $8 per day. It is rumored that Peck is going to dramatize his "bad boy." Peck should measure the youngster for a coffin and bury him. The boy is too wicked for this city and the history of his later exploits is horribly thin and uninteresting.

The steamer "Gold Dust," so long in commission at the Dalles, will soon be placed on the route between The Dalles and Cascade, to connect with the steamer Little Salem, which will ply between Portland and Lower Cascade, touching at all the landings, to accommodate passengers and shippers. It is greatly to the credit of the sisters of St. Mary's Hospital that they have furnished gratuitously 140 meals to destitute applicants in the last five days. Several charitable disposed citizens in the suburbs are also very liberal in this respect and have done a great deal to mitigate the sufferings of this unfortunate class.

Among the gifts received by Mrs. Nichols on her marriage Monday, was a deed to Tacoma real estate, valued at several thousand dollars, from her father, Mr. W. C. Bardeley, who supplemented the gift by a check for $10,000. The brother of the bride also gave a set of bed room furniture valued at $500. Mrs. Nichols was the recipient of other valuable gifts from her father previous to the marriage.

Ed. Bowden the well and favorably known telegraph operator of the Western Union office in this city has resigned and will enter into the real estate and insurance business with S. B. Davenport and Harry Paxton. Since he has been among us Mr. Bowden has gained hopes of friends as much by his strict attention to business as by his gentlemanly manners and has proved the best operator ever had, and therefore we are sorry to see him. He is a nice man and with his new connections will make a success.

When Rome was in its decline there were among its symptoms: The elections were matters of annual heresy. Plagues spring up in the city and castles in the country. By the sea were villas, parks, fish ponds and game preserves. Money was the one thought from the highest to the lowest.

Many judges give unjust decisions and lawyers give corrupt verdicts. The elections were managed by clubs and coteries. Those who spent the most money were most certain of success. Public spirit among the masses was dead or sleeping.

Crises averted for money getting were held in "Prison of the State," being "in the cell of the people." These were sought after by means which demoralized both giving and receiving. Really most of these symptoms are recognized in our day. Are we nearing the last stage of dissolution?

ENTERPRISE LODGE NO. 2, I. O. O. F. Twenty-one Years of its History by James McNeill.

MR. PRESIDENT:—In placing me in the position of historian of this lodge you must do so in the full knowledge that its early recorded history is quite fragmentary. Tradition and memory avail but little for the vicissitudes of an active life with its ever changing scenes and never ending cares, have a blurring effect on the pictures of the past.

Walla Walla 21 years ago had just begun to put on the dress of a chartered town, and aspired with its 1500 people to be called a city. A great civil war was at its heat in the east, but its tumult made but little impression in this far off northwest, where it took a week for a letter to go to Portland, and another week to reach San Francisco, and two weeks more to make the stage.

Walla Walla naturally became a distributing point and rendezvous for these places. Added to this, a United States post office was a title of emigration just beginning to pour in from the states, tended to fix the permanent character of Walla Walla. Evidence of progress and growth were abundant on all sides and the irrepressible spirit of our race made itself manifest here 21 years ago to-night by the granting of a dispensation to five Old Fellows in Walla Walla to organize a lodge.

Enterprise Lodge was the second lodge instituted in the Territory of Washington, but at the time of its institution was the only Lodge of Old Fellows in the territory, and continued the only lodge until 1865, when Oymys Lodge No. 1 assumed their charter which they had been obliged to surrender in 1861. It will be noticed that the lodge was chartered by the Oregon Grand Lodge, it being supposed that by permission of the Sovereign Grand Lodge they had jurisdiction over the Territory of Washington, with organic powers. But in 1871 the Sovereign Grand Lodge declared that the Grand Lodge of Oregon had exceeded their limit in granting charters in Washington territory, and directed the charters issued by the Grand Lodge of Oregon received by charters from the Sovereign Grand Lodge. Enterprise Lodge, however, never received a charter from the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and has always worked under the charter received from the Grand Lodge of Oregon. The Sovereign Grand Lodge in its last session made a special order to its charter from their grand body and issued to Enterprise Lodge and this charter will soon be in possession of the lodge.

But to return to our early history. The first lodge room used, and where the lodge was instituted, was near the southeast corner of Main and Fourth streets, in a building that stood on the property now owned by Mrs. O'Rourke. The lodge continued to hold its meetings in this hall for about a year, when a fire hurried them out, and they moved into a hall in a building that stood where Mr. M. B. Ward's dwelling now stands, belonging to Mr. A. B. Roberts, in the lower story of which his family lived. The lodge did not find the building convenient, it being too far from town, and they soon moved back into the old quarters at the corner of Main and Fourth streets. In the summer of 1864, after the fire which burned the lower north side of Main street, the Masonic fraternity built a two story frame building on the corner of Alder and Third, using the upper story for a lodge hall, and the lower story was rented for a theatre. Enterprise Lodge rented this hall of the Masons and made another move, which also proved satisfactory, for the small boy and his fire-cracker set fire to the building, July 4, 1866, and records, regalia and all lodge property were destroyed. The loss of the records was irreparable and serious—one not so much felt at that time as now when information is sought concerning our early history. After this disastrous fire a hall was fitted up on Alder street between First and Second—a place well known to all lodge goes as the "pigpen room," and it was well named. Here the lodge rested and grew, extended its influence, garnered its means, made judicious investments, and while it cannot probably be said that its very pleasant memories linger about the old "pigpen room," yet it was there the lodge gained its strength and incentive that has made it a success possible. In the year 1880 the lodge sought 60 feet fronting on Main street at the corner of Main and 35th, paying there for $1200. This move was an important step to the lodge and to that part of town, for the rest derived from the buildings on the lot were an important part of the lodge room, and the ultimate building of our temple on the lot has given character and stability to that part of town. About 1870 the lodge took another move going to Brecht's hall, but owing to some misunderstanding they remained but a short time, returning again to the old pigpen room on Alder street. Here they rested quietly and peacefully, as lodge matters go, for four years, until the summer of 1875, when the lodge again moved going again into Brecht's hall. Nothing of note appears on the records during the next four years, except the regular fraternal work.

In 1879 repeated efforts were made to combine with the Masonic fraternity in the building of a temple by the two orders but an agreeable understanding could be obtained by the committees of the two orders, and March 8, 1880, Enterprise lodge, by resolutions ordered its building committee, consisting of Samuel Jacob, E. W. Evers, D. J. Coleman, and Julius Weisk, assisted by the trustees, H. Wintler, E. Baumister and Chas. Alder, to proceed immediately with the work of erecting the Temple. The resolutions were short and to the point, and the committee proceeded at once to carry it into effect, and as a result they were able, at the close of the year, to turn over to the lodge as its home, one of the finest temples on the Pacific coast, costing with its appointments nearly $20,000. Into this Enterprise lodge moved in January 1881, with a membership of about 100, and here is where we find them to night, happy, and fraternal, having taken, it is hoped, their last almost disappear beneath the horizon of our memory. So it is no easy task to look back through 21 years to 1863. In doing so we find the way lined, not with wrecks, but with those surprises, successes and wonderful developments that can only be found with a strong people in a young and vigorous community. As year after year has come to us it has brought its surprises and developments, and at each time we thought we had reached the limit of our strength and growth.

A history of Enterprise Lodge would not be complete without considering one of its outgrowths—Washington Lodge No. 19. This lodge was organized March 7, 1881, meeting in the same hall with Enterprise Lodge. Between the two lodges the most fraternal and fraternal relations exist, the only strife being a healthy emulation to see which shall be the best lodge of Old Fellows. Washington Lodge is young, being only three years old, but it is a most healthy and vigorous infant and promises great things when it reaches its majority. Walla Walla Lodge No. 3, another outgrowth of Enterprise Lodge, was organized about the same time at Washington Lodge. Its portals were sought after by members of the lodge in Eastern Washington on the higher degrees, and its tent of hospitality is open alike to all.

This closes the outline history of Enterprise Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F. for the past 21 years. The mere history of the lodge as recorded work by work, is full of personal interest, but time prevents including even on their page. Enterprise Lodge is what you have made it, brothers and Past Grand, and it has been no small factor in the social history of Walla Walla. We leave it with you now, standing firm and solid, and can safely promise that the future history of our City will find rooming all through its warp and woof the threads of Friendship, Love and Truth, woven in by those fraternal hearts of 21 years ago.

It is characteristic of Old Fellows to care for their dead as well as their living, and Enterprise Lodge has taken it upon itself to attend thoroughly to this important fraternal matter in the purchase from the city of the necessary ground in the city center to constitute an Old Fellows cemetery. This has certainly been looked out and the native grass replaced by a good sward that keeps green all the year and continued improvement is being made of a nature to beautify and embellish it, and it is hoped that this home of the dead will be a beautiful and restful place.

A large part of the financial success of the lodge is due to the careful management and prudent investments of the funds of the lodge by the Old Past Grand—namely E. W. Evers, E. Baumister and John Gundy. Especially can it be said E. W. Evers, the Senior Past Grand in the lodge, by his careful forethought in seeing the opportunity to invest the funds of the lodge in real estate, has added largely to the funds and revenue of the lodge. It was by his advice that the lodge became owner of 25 feet on Main street near Third street though at the time there was not enough money in the treasury to pay for it, the lodge going in debt for it, and afterward clearing by the transaction about $2,500.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delirium in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become so corrupted that conditions broken down, and the hopes of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.
