POETICAL SELECTIONS. Afterward

When transient friends, who love for a day,
Are scattered like the leaves at Autumn time
When from thy listening car, far, far away,
Their praise has floated, as the evening chime When lips that smile on thee for one sweet hour Have breathed a blighting word upon thy

And brows, once light as Vesta's flower,
Are dark with haughty frowns or passion

Then come to me, as in the "Auld Lang Syne,"
Before thou deemed me fickle, proud or cold,
And know that in this loyal heart of mine
There blossoms for thee a friendship ne'cr grown old.

When hands that clasp thine own in seeming or linger, in caress, upon thy head, Have rudely broken idols of thy youth And flung them down amid thy treasured dead; When earth holds naught for thee but weary strife, And thou hast grown to doubt the name of Hast learned that living is not all of life,

Nor welcome death its tranquil, longed-for end; When thou hast stopped to gather Summe flowers,

And wept to find them only withered leaves, and thro the harvest of the Autumn hours Hast sought in vain for goodly-ripened sheaves;

Then come to me, and I will give to thee
That old-time friendship and undoubting trust,
Which tinged, with rose, the clouds of life for And held my faith from crumbling into dust.

All for Love. There's not a wild flower blossoming,
With green blood dancing to a blush,
Nor bird of all the greening spring,
But with love's tender feel doth flush.

And there is not a heart on earth, That loves, but shall be loved again: Some other heart bath kindred birth, And aches with all the same sweet pain.

The good God giveth love for all,
The earnest heart to cheer and melt;
As His own smiles of glory fall
On hidden flowers, unseen, but felt!

Then cheer thee, cheer thee, yearning one, Keep hely still that love of thine, Some spirit waiteth long and lone, For thee, its ministrant divine.

A Wonderful Clock.

The Reading, (Pa.) Eagle gives the following description of a clock, constructed by Stephen D. Engle, of Hazleton, that state, now on exhibition in Reading. The clock is the property of Mr. Reed, who paid the maker $5000 for it. Engle never saw the Strasburg clock. In fact, he has not traveled more than two hundred miles 5. T. A. G. E. R. S. from home at any time. This clock stands to its numerous customers, and will furnish the same cleven foot high. At the base it is about runlity to families, by the log, at reasonable rates.

Three manutes before the hour a pipe organ inside the clock plays an anothem. It has five tunes. Bells are then rung, and when the hour is struck double doors in an alcove open and the figure of Jesus appears. Double doors to the right then open and the apostles appear slowly, one by one, in procession. As they appear and pass Jesus they turn toward him. DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF pear and pass Jesus they turn toward him, Jesus bows, the apostles turn again and Wines, Liquors, Syrups, proceed through the double doors in an alcove on the right. As Peter approaches Satan looks out of a window above and tempts him. Five times the devil appears, and when Peter passes denying Christ, the cock flaps its wings and crows. When Judas appears Satan comes down from his window and follows Judas out in the procession, and then goes back up to his place to watch Judas, appearing on both sides. As the procession has passed, Judas and the three Marys disappear and the doors are closed. The scene can be re-peated seven times in an hour if necessary, and the natural motion of the clock pro dnees it four times per hour, whereas the Strasburg procession is made but once a day, at 12 o'clock. Below is the main dial, about 13 inches in diameter. To its right is a figure of time with an hour glass, and above this is a window, at which appear figures representing youth, manhood, and old age. To the left of the dial is a skeleton representing death. When the hour hand approaches the first quarter Time reverses his hour glass and strikes one on a bell with the scythe, another bell inside responds; then childhood appears instantly. When the hour hand approaches the second quarter or second half hour, there are heard the strokes of bells. Then youth appears and the organ plays a hymn. After this Time strikes two and reverses its hour glass, when two bells respond in-House, Sign & Steamboat Painting in the upper poarch, and one at the right of the court, when our Saviour comes walking out. Then the apostles appear in procession. The clock also tells of the moon's changes, the tides, seasons, days, and day of the month and year, and the NATURAL HUMANITY. - Antiquity has preserved a beautiful instance of this quality in an anecdote of Alexander, the tyrant of Pheres, who, though he had so industriously hardened his heart as to seem to take delight in cruelty, insomuch as to murder many of his subjects every day without cause and without pity; yet at the bare representation of a tragedy, which related the misfortunes of a tragety, when related the histortunes of Heeuba and Andromache, he was so tonched with the fectitions distress which the poet had wrought up in it, that he burst out in a flood of tears; the explanation of which inconstancy is easy, and casts asgreat a lustre upon human nature as the man himself was a disgrace to it. The case seems to have been this: In real life he had been to nave occur cms: In real me he had been blinded with passions, and thoughtlessly hurried on by interest or resentment; but here there was no room for motives of that

New York, Feb. 20.—A dispatch from Rome says the conclave has been in session since Monday evening, and only two ballots daily lave been taken.

Cardinal Pecci was chosen on the third Cardinal Pecci was chosen on the third ballot. The moderates hesitated between Cardinals Franchi and Pecci, but the con-flicting elements became harmonized and the result was the election of the latter. An-nouncement to the people was made with prescribed formalities and ceremonies from the Verlagen indicated intense excitement. the Vatican indicated intense excitement, although it had been accepted as a foregone conclusion an Italian cardinal would be the

The smoke of burning ballots having been seen at 12-30 r. m. to-day, the crowd before the Vatican, thinking the ballot was again without result, had almost dispersed, when, at 1:15 r. m., Cardinal Cateroni appeared in the Vatican Basilies. the grand gallery of the Vatican Basilica and announced in the customary formula Cardinal Pecci's succession to the papacy.

A few bystanders cheered most enumsias-tically and a large crowd soon assembled, densely thronging the open space before the Vatican and approaches thereto. At 4:30 the newly elected pope, surround-ed by all the cardinals, appeared in the inner gallery of the Basilica. The crowd voicin-

The circumstances of the election are a follows: At this morning's ballot Cardinal Pecci received 36 votes, which was 5 short of the requisite two-thirds majority. When the voting was done and the papers were burned, Cardinal Franchi and those holding the same views with him, advanced and knelt before Cardinal Peeci. This example being followed by other cardinals, Pecci's election was accomplished by the method known as "by adoration,"

Count Legur immediately informed the pope that he proposed to present him with a million francs as the first donation of Peter's pence from the French episcopate.

As the result of the election became known the bells in all the churches of Rome were rang and diplomats went to the Vatican to congratulate the new pope.

The cardinals will remain in the Vatican until to-merrow. Perfect order prevails everywhere.

PEN PICTURE OF THE NEW POPE. LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Rome correspon dent of the Times, in a letter to that journal under date of the 14th, present month, writes as follows of Cardinal Pecci, to-day elected pope: "Pecci is tail, with a fine head, high forehead narrowing at the temples, long face and straight features. He has a large mouth and prominent chin, cheerful, open counte-nance and large well shaped ears. His face reminds one of Consulei, renowned minister of Pins VII. He has a fine sonorous voice, of Pris VII. He has a me sonorous voice, great dignity, even austerity of manners in public life, but privately is affectionate, unassuming, sociable and witty. As camerlengo he has been the head of that party which, without formally renonneing the right of the Holy See acknowledges the wisright of the Holy See acknowledges the wis-tion of the decrees of Providence, accepting what he calls irrevecably accomplished facts, The general opinion is that for learning, tact, energy, dignity, anniability, real moral worth and sincere piety, the sacred college could and sincere piety, the sacred college could not find a more deserving pope, than Cardinal Peeci. Cardinal Peecis private life at all periods, is above reproach. He has considerable literary talent and has written poetry. He never has had intercourse with the functionaries of the present Italian government, but is esteemed by them all, and those with whom the necessity of duty brings him into contact, are perfectly charmed with him. ed with him.

A STORY OF VICTOR EMMANUEL.—His Majesty, one day, hunting in the neigh-borhood of Rome, shot at a hare at the very moment when a stout citizen, out enjoying the pleasures of the chase, discharged his piece at the same object. The king claimed that he had killed the hare; the citizen, ignorant of the person of his rival, declared in very impolite terms that he himself was the successful-marksman. The result was a regular trial of strength for the possession of the game—a tussle which resulted in favor of the king, who walked off with his prize, while the citizen poured upon him a perfect flood of such abuse as only an Italian of a certain sort has at command. At the city gate the king ordered the commandant of the guard to follow the angry citizen and report his name and residence. After a few hours the officer was able to say that the unknown hunter was an honest cabinetmaker of the Porta del Popodo, when the king sent one of his carriages to fetch him to the palace. Naturally the man was terribly anxious as well as full of wonder why he should be wanted at the palace, and he was not much relieved when he recognized in the king the man whom he had abused. "Master Salvina," said His majesty, and at the sound of his own name from loyal lips, the man trembled in every nerve—"Master Salvina, I have sent for you because I have found shot different from mine in the hare; we both hit the beast. Come, we will eat the hare together," and thereupon the door of the dining room was opened, where, between two plates with appurtenances, smoked the hare properly roasted.

AMERICAN GIRLS ABROAD. -At a continental ball, where there was a sprinkling of all the principal nations, and a prince, count, baron, or princess here and there, to everybody's great delectation (themselves not excepted), a gorgeous officer expiated to us upon the incomparable superiority of American young ladies. "English ladies," said he, "are beautiful and refined, but icy, and always oppressed with an evident fear of overstepping some propriety, which renders their conversa-tion constrained. The German ladies, less carefully trained to coldness and re-serve, but bound by rules no less seve and as much absorbed in balancing the feather of propriety, prove no less back-ward in the matter of entertaining. But the Americans! ah, they are so dignified, yet so natural; so elegant, yet so enter-taining! I will go and introduce myself to another."

AMERICAN YOUNG WOMEN.

of the Advantages that she Entare It has often been affirmed, and with truth, that nowhere in the world may a young woman travel with greater security than in America. Along the whole route she finds men ready to put themselves to personal inconvenience of ge her, and who do not presume on what they do to ingratiate themselves. Men sep forward as her protectors as if it were according to a law of the state instead of a custom, and were any one to treat her wich discourts a defenders would spring up on all sides. With a chain of conductors she will pass from one cud of the Union to the other, with perhaps more care than if she were under the charge of a relative. In this general attention with which the pretty woman is surrounded it is seldom there is an ulterior motive, as there is, for instance, in a country like France, where it It has often been affirmed, and with truth, there is an interior montry like France, where it is not safe for her to accept the proffered service of the other sex, for the Frenchman stands ready to make his declaration on slight provocation. In America the recognition of er right to deference in all her wishes, some ner right to deterence in an ner wisnes, some-times, and particularly of late years, has led her to claim as a right what was only extend-ed as a courtesy. Hence her neglect to re-turn thanks for the seat yielded up in the car; hence the growing reluctance in the man to resign his seat, in the spirit of the turning worm which will not be trodden on forever. This reluctance, however, is contined to the large cities. In the towns and villages throughout the Union the man still gives up his seat to woman though he he gives up his seat to woman, though he be old and feeble and she be young and strong. This is gallantry that costs something. I have seen is a railway car women occupying extra seats with bundles that might have been placed under the seat or hung up in the racks while a group of men stood, without being able to rest themselves, and they never complained. Such an incident could bardly occur in any other country. For three hours these victims with aching limbs stood with-out a murmur, looking from time to time to out a murmur, looking from time to time to the covered seats occupied with the bandles, not daring to lift up a voice to ask for one. Their faces showed plainly that they would have liked to sit down, but their exceeding respect for the sex would not permit them to approach the indifferent young woman who kept guard over the places with their traps. It did not even occur to them to speak to the conductor. Had this situation presented itself in France, a Gaul would have appreach-ed this femine group hat in hand, with abov asking a thousand pardons, then he would have quietly installed himself in the seat be had paid for and to which he was entitled. He would, of course, have invested the act with much form; he would have been dis-tressed beyond measure to have them move tressed beyond measure to have them mov their bundles, been desolated at the troubl their offinites, been desolated at the trouble he gave, but would indubitably have secured his seat. On the other hand, supposing his advances to have been met with a refusal, he would have called the conductor, and asked for a seat or his money, and the discomfited dames would have had to submit. Now, were an American to meet with such a rebuff from the other sex, he would retreat to another corner, without an idea of having recourse to the official of the train to claim his rights.—Galaxy. THE DARDANELLES, towards which so much attention is now directed, fairly teems with historic and poetic memories. Its navigation was first attempted by the Argonauts, under Jason in search for the Golden Fieece. At Abydos Xerxes built his famous bridge of boats for the invasion of Greece, and it was here that the loves of Hero and Leander became world renowded. Leander, who lived at Abydos on the Asiatic shore, was in love with Hero, the beautiful priestess of Venis, at Sestos, and regularly swam the strait to meet his mistress. One dark and stormy night he failed to appear, and when the luckless Hero visited the shore next morning the waves had washed the dead body of her lover upon the sands. Overcome by her loss, she plunged into the sea, and the spot became ever after sacred to memory. On the 3d of March, 1819, Lord Byron swam the Dardanelles at the same point in seventy minutes. He was ac-companied with Lieut. Akenhead. The swim from Abydos to Sestos is still repeated yearly by Byron inspired tourists, and will probably continue to be as long as the glamor of poetry and tradition hangs round the spot. collector will never be quite happy so long as there remains one specimen which s not accessible to him, and this is likely always to be the case with the largest of our national stamps, those which are used for newspapers and periodicals in bulk. When these are mailed in quantities the postage is prepaid, and the publisher takes a receipt for the amount, the postmaster attaching to the stub of the receipt these stamps, provided especially for this purpose, which are never sold to any person. The stamps are about twice the size of ordinary postage stamps, and range as high in face value as $90. They are canceled by punching a hole through them, and their use is designed to prevent misappropriations by postmasters. STEPHEN GIRARD'S will provided that after

A Story With an Application. He was the manager of the church fair, and one morning he walked into the news-paper office and said, "Want an item this morning?"

"Of course," replied the editor, whereupon the visitor laid the following note on the table : "The ladies of the Street Church will give a festival at their vestry hall next Friday eveding. Literary and musical enter-tainments will be provided, and a supper will be served to all who desire. The ladies in charge of the affair have much experince in such matters, and are sure to provide a good time. The admission will be only 15 cents, and it is certain that no one can spend that amount to a better advantage. Be sure to go and take your friends."

When the editor had read it he said:

"Oh, I see, an advertisement.

"No, not an advertisement. We prefer to have it go into the local column," the manager. And seeing the editor looked skeptical he continued, "It will interest a great many of your readers and help a good cause; besides we have spent so much money in getting up our entertainment that we cannot afford to advertise it without increasing the price of the tickets. In such a matter as this we ought to be willing to help each other."
"Well," said the editor, "if it goes into the locals, I suppose you would reciprocate by reading a little notice in your church next Sunday." The visiting brother asked what notice, and the editor wrote and handed him the following:

"The Weekly Chronicle for the coming year will be the best and cheapest family paper in Maine. Its proprietor has had much ex-perience, and has all the helps which a large outlay of money can procure. His paper has a larger circulation than any other published in the county, and is to be furnished at only three dellars. It is certain that no one can spend that amount of money to a better advantage. Be sure to take the Chronicle, and subscribe for your friends."

The manager hemmed and hesitated, and then said, solemnly, that he "doubted whether it would be judicious to readsuch a notice," but suggested that if it was printed copies of it might be distributed at the door of the readsuch as the property of of the vestry on the evening of the entertainment.

"Yes," said the editor, "but it would attract more attention in the middle of a sermon. It will interest a large number of your congregation and help a good cause; and, besides, so much money is spent upon the Chronicle that I don't see how the owner to without increasing the subscription price. In such a matter as this we ought to be willing to help each other."

i until the accused party was notified of the charge, and had an opportunity of being heard; but instead of this, the court, experie, appointed a committee to investigate the charge, with Alanson Smith (the person who made it) chairman.

to help each other."

Then the gentleman saw the situation and went straight out, without leaving so much as a complimentary ticket.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION. - Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and ten-derness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled by them. The things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send o brighten and sweeten their hom fore they leave them. A RING OF FEDERAL OFFICIALS.

War on Governor Brayman, of Id

Idaho has its federal "ring" as well as other territories. It was founded under Grantism, and is composed of federal officials, long united to support each other in office, and to mutually assist to obtain modey from the government. It was hoped that the judges and officers of the court had not and would not so degrade the bench and bar as to pollute the foundation of justice, and to prosume the court, which should be sacred to justice, to the mean intrinse of restrictions.

to the mean intrigues of petty politicians.
Governor Brayman was appointed after this ring was formed, and each member fully instructed as to the part he was to perform for the furtherance of its ends. It is evident that he must fall into the ring, and perform his part in upholding its members in their places, assist in ob-taining the spoils of office, and help cover up any jobs that the ring dictated, or he must be ousted from his position by the ring influence.

The governor has been watched long and well by the ring, and not finding him guilty of any unworthy action that could be magnified into improper conduct, the members have kept up a system of ridicule to annoy and degrade him in the eyes of the people. This plan not having the effect to drive him force his post of dur. feet to drive him from his post of duty, and his official position being such that his knowledge of ring matters made him dangerous if he reported the truth, and the terms of office of some of the membees of the ring being about to expire, and a reappointment desired, Alanson Smith exhibited in the supreme court of Idaho, a paper, charging Governor Bray-man with having used "language reflect-ing on the integrity of the members of the court and bar.

This paper did not purport to state what language the governor had used, nor against what member of the court or bar it was directed, or to whom the language was uttered, nor at what time or place it was uttered. For any member to make such a loose, uncertain, indefinite charge in court, against another member, merited rebuke and punishment by the court. But if the court concluded to entertain such an indefinite charge, contrary to all precedent, it ought to have suspended action person who made it) chairman.

Four of the committee acted on the inquest. Two of them, assuming to act as a quarum of the committee, reported back to the court all the evidence they could find. This evidence proved that the governor had advised people in Alturas county, where they only have one term of court a year, that they had better settle their differences by arbitration or miners' meetings, than to go to the ex-pense of long littigations in the courts. Only this and nothing more. Mr. Brumback, of the committee, reported that this language of the governor was such as any member of the bar or citizen had a right to use, and was not derogatory to the tench or bar. Smith and Heed reported that the language was highly censurable, and recommended that a committee be appointed to hunt for further testimony.

professes no privacy of others, however the sentry sleeps. Bolts and bars, locks and keys, hedges and pickets, bonds and scurrities, notices to trespassers, are none of them for him. He may be trusted to him; he justified the use of it and declared he had not intended any disrespect toward the bench or bar. His language was mild, not even censuring his accusers, except by moving that Huston's report which characterizes the language advising compromise as the "garulous vaporings of senile vanity," should be stricken from the file of the court, because the same was not pertinent to the matter-abusive, and unfit language to be made part of the records of court. Upon this motion, Smith, Heed, and Huston, made speeches in court, consisting of violent personal abuse of the governor, in language sufficiently brutal to have disgraced the merest pettifogger in a justice's court, but never before a justice s court, but never before tolerated in a court of record, particularly in the argument of a point of law.

As to the report of Brumback, that the language used by the governor being such as any citizen had a right to use, the court reminded Mr. Brumback that the remarks of Governor Brayman were made while littigation was going on in court. The court refused to exhonorate C-vernor Brayman, or to strike from the nles the report charging his language as being the "garulous vaporings of senile vanity," expressly approved of the whole proceed-ing, including the vile abuse of Governor Brayman, and commended the committee for its performance of duty.

The malicu of these proceedings is only equaled by its stupidity. They have clearly proclaim d that any member of the bar who advises compromise instead of littiga-tion, is in danger of unmeasured abuse by the bar, and the censure of the court. Reversing the precept of holy writ "Blessed is the peace-maker," they heap censure, abuse and injury upon him.

A court by entertaining such an indefinite and groundless charge without notice to the accused, that will tolerate such low to the accused, that will tolerate such low and brutal abuse in its presence, and even on its records, and end by approving the same, and censuring those who strive to make peace, and indirectly encourage those who stir up strife, must be an object of terror to the community.

To publish such a proceeding as judicial action, has a tendency to create a feeling which considers opposition to the regular administration of law by the courts a virarmanistration of law by the courts a vir-tue, and the courts themselves detestable, and the honoroble profession of law a dangerous nuisance. To avow such prin-ciples as law is an insult to every other court and to every other bar.

If the courts of Idaho show such a disregard to every right principle, and turn the supreme court into a den where rav-ening political demagogues may be let loose, to tear and lacerate those who may peacetul love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, the hardest heart that ever locked itself within and contempt from their fellow citizens. Such proceedings of themselves prove that a ring, without conscience or dignity, are fighing flowerner. Resuman and that the

The total annual pension list for the whole number of survivors and widows would not exceed, it is stated, $1,300,000, and the death-list each year would materially reduce this until the grim destroyer had taken the last veteran and the last widow of the brave men already gone. Congress can well afford to pass the bill.

Relief Measures.—The Washington (D. C.) Herald, a recognized organ of the friends of silver remonetization, thus outlines a programme for action to follow the success already gained by them. It says the depressed business interests of the country will derive no great relief from the passage of the silver bill unless it be supplemented by other fearning reforms as the secretary of these fearnings are forms as the secretary of these country in the silver fearning as the secretary of these fearnings. silver bill unless it be supplemented by other financial reforms, as the secretary of the treasury may still hoard silver for purposes of resumption. It therefore calls upon the senate to speedily pass the house bill repealing the specie resumption act, so as to prohibit further contraction of the currency, and urges the enactment of Beck's bill to stop further nayment of the multic debt until the further payment of the public debt until the sinking fund is reduced to the limit actually required by law. The article continues as follows: Then let taxes be reduced to the extent of $37,000,000 of the surplus thus created and we may hope for some lightening of our present burden. The passage of the silver bill is but one of a series of measures necessary to the public welfare and we expect to see it supplemented by the measures above named and others replacing national hank notes with greenbacks and making the latter receivable at par for custom duties. When these measures shall be passed the country will return to a season of preservity. country will return to a season of prosperity such as has never been known since contrac-tion became our national policy.

THE FRAUDULENT PRESIDENT.—The Cincinnati Times was the first paper in the United States to name Fraudulent Hayes as a candidate for president. Here is what the Times now says of the president's standing

There is not a man in that body who is recog nized as a republican in full standing who can be depended upon for even a half way defense of the president's republicanism, of the organ-ization of his administration, of his civil ser-vice ideas, of his disposition of the patronage, or of his entire course toward the south.

This carries with it, incidentally, the necessary implication that Stanley Matthews, the confidential adviser and champion of Hayes, is no longer "recognized as a republican."
When we turn to the other branch of congress, we have only this cold comfort.

Secretary France Lawrence Confidence Congress, we have only this cold comfort.

The situation is but little better in the house. There is no man there who, when he rises to speak, is looked upon as one in thorough accord with the administration.

We suppose it will not be pretended by any well informed person that the state of things is materially different among the people in the country at large. We have carefully watched for some signs of a reaction in the president's favor, but have only found an

SENATOR BAYARD, referring to a remark lately made to the effect that both himself lately made to the effect that both himself and Judge Thurman, at the time the elector- al bill was passed, thought that it would result in the seating of Hayes, said that any such statement was utterly unfounded. He said he could not, of course, be cognizant of what was passing in the mind of Judge-Edmunds or of his hidden object, if there was any, in inserting in the bill these pregnant words, "if any," to enable the commission to decline hearing testimony. But he knew words, "if any," to enable the commission to decline hearing testimony. But he knew then, and knows now, that if the bill had been fairly executed, the inevitable result would have been to place Tilden in the presidency. Bayard says there is no doubt that Dr. Mary Walker be made queen of Bulgaria. We dissent. That place should be reserved for Mrs. Andrew Jackson Duniway, the greatest woman of all time, and the rival of Mrs. Susan B. Anthony are convertibled except years. idency. Bayard says there is no doubt that Senator Morton expected that to be the result, for he opposed the bill in committee with all the vigor and force of which he was capable, and fought it in the senate up to the very last minute. Bayard said that, as a member of the electoral commission, when Justice Bradley commenced to read his opinion in the Florida case, he looked at Thurman, who sat beside him, and nodded to intimate the confidence which he felt that Justice Bradley would vote for Tilden. For twenty minutes he held this convictions $1,250,000. twenty minutes he held this conviction, so evenly did Justice Bradley hold the scales poised, first going a hair's breadth on one side then on the other, until he finally landed on the republican side.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION. - We have CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.—We have unofficial information that the chairman of the republican central committee for the territory has announced a proposition, subject, of course to ratification by the convenient of the course ject, of course to ratification by the conventions, that the republicans will nominate the district judges for delegates at large to the constitutional convention, if the democrats will make no nominations against them. In return for this, the democrats shall nominate the three district delegates and the republicans will make no nominations in opnositions will make no nominations in opnositions. Supplies — The long columns of names of licans will make no nominations in opposi-tion to them. By this plan six men will be chosen without any partisanship, and if the democrats will select their best men, there will be two-fifths of the delegates, at least, well qualified for the duries except at the control of well qualified for the duties assigned them. We could select three republicans that would We could select three republicans that would be at least as satisfactory to us and to the majority of the party, but whether by any other plan, that number could be chosen who would be as satisfactory to the whole people, is a matter of doubt. The proposi-tion would be more than fair to the demo-crats as it is almost certain that the three indees or any other three computent range. crats as it is almost certain that the three judges or any other three competent republicans could be elected delegates at large, on a party vote. Should our conventions approve this plan, our opponents will hardly dare reject it, as it would prove beyond a doubt, what we have asserted, that it was democrats and not republicans who were bent on making a party fight in this election. We regret we had not learned of this matter in time to give it a more general discussion.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION. - Much difference of opinion prevails regarding the propriety of making the election of dele-gates to the constitutional convention at Walla Walla a non partizan affair. At the outset there seemed to be a fair understand-ing on all sides that the political opinions of candidates would go unquestioned in ascer-taining their fitness for position, and all in-dications were favorable for the choice of the very best men the territory could afford, to perform the important duties atafford, to perform the important units afferdant upon the framing of our state constitution. But a little cloud arose above the horizon, having its origin, as all admit, in the efforts of a few Seattle politicians who the efforts of a few Seattle politicians who were anxious for the emolaments which only a partizan strife could bring. They were democrats, and their efforts, says the Walla Walla Statesman, a democratic paper of the rankest type, characterized heads of the cocoa nut stamp. They issued a secret circular, evidently with the intention of organizing a multad democratic expunsion to elect I. MADISON WELLS, a high federal official, is now in jail, charged with the commission of high crimes, and this reminds us that Mr. Hays declared some time ago that public officers would be expected to devote their time to the interests of the public service. Why not include in it, also, the survivors of the Stevenson regiment, who did gallant service in California? All of these veteraus, and their widows, are as deserving of pensions as any others now pensioned. It is estimated that there are about 8000 of the veterans of the war with Mexico still living, and that the widows of the others there are in all not to exceed 4000. The total annual pension list for the whole number of survivors and widows would not exceed, it is stated, $1,300,000, and the death-list each year would materially and the respective constituents. > HARD CURRENCY.-Iron is the currency of the iron region of East Tennessee, the metal being worked up into bars, half a dozen of which can easily be carried upon the shoulder. When a man wants shoes, clothing, coffee, sugar, or any or all domestic articles, he shoulders the bars of iron which have been given him in exchange for his labor, goes to a merchant and gets them. Just So.-A little seven-year-old boy in New Jersey was telling his brother that the portraits he was showing were those of the presidents of the United States. Said the boy, "Most of these were elected, and the other one got in." And this reminds us that it was Fraudlent Hayes and his brother conspirators in the Louis-iana penitentiary that brought that crown-ing disgrace upon the country.

Secret Session .- At last accounts the Louisiana returning board had gone into secret session, and is likely to remain there for sometime. Washington, Feb. 14, 1878.

Editor Stateman:—That influential and straight-forward democratic paper, the Bangor (Msine) Commercial, is ably arguing in favor of a general reduction of state expenses and aloping off excressness which grew with the flush times from 1861 to 1865. There are similar movements elsewhere. A private letter from Florida, giving much interesting information as to that state under its present rulers, mentions a general reduction in the state and county expenses for the past-year. In the tion as to that state under its present rulers, mentions a general reduction in the state and county expenses for the past year. In the county in which the letter was written, the reduction in 1877 from the expenses of 1876, was from $8400 to $3800. In other counties similar reductions are noted. The truth is that the government of the American people has always been the most expensive in the world. With the federal, state, county and municipal taxes combined, the rate of taxation has been such that only exceptional circumstances have enabled the people to stand the burden. They are no longer able to do it. I mention the Florids case simply as a movement in the right direction. It should be followed in every county in the country. States should do the same. Above all, the expenses of the federal government should be reduced. They are at the rate of $8 per annum for every man, wo government should be reduced. They are a the rate of $8 per annum for every man, wo man and child in the country. This is the re sult of continuing war after is over. Wa sult of continuing war after we is over. War always really impoverishes a people in the end, but its worst financial effect is if the wild extrawagance it engenders, and which does not disappear with the evil which coused it. There is a noble opportunity for the democratic majority in the house to confer great benefits upon the people and secure permanent ascendency by agreeing upon and insisting upon a general and large reduction in the expenses of every department of the government.

There is considerable interest felt in Secretary Sherman just now, independent of his course on financial affairs. He is the leader of those who wish to save Wells and Anderson, of the Louisiana returning board from punishment. That he should have held office under Hayes, and have supported a southern policy of the Louisiana returning board from punishment. That he should have held office under Hayes, and have supported a southern policy which was distasteful to nearly every other republican leader, only to become fiercer in his radicalism than any of the others at this late day, excites surprise. It is noted, too, that the occasion of his wrath is one in which he personally has an interest. He is one of the "visiting statesmen" who counseled with Wells and Anderson, and their legal conviction is a moral conviction of himself. It is believed that, through his influence, countless old suits of the federal government against citizens of Louisiana will be renewed and a season of federal bull-dozing generally will be inaugurated, unless the state shall cease to attempt the punishment of members of the returning board. This will be a strange proceeding, inasmuch as Hayes was declared president because the board was distinctly a state institution and not subject to federal interference in any way.

Yesterday Carpenter's painting of the signing of the "Emancipation Proclamation" was formally presented to the United States, Mr. Garfield making the presentation speech in behalf of the donor, and Alexander H. Stephens accepting it for the country. The specch of Mr. Stephens was, more than any other scuthern leader, outspoken in his declaration in 1861 and 1862, that the confederacy was founded upon negro slavery, and he held that, so founded upon negro slavery, and he held that, so founded upon negro slavery, and he held that, so founded upon negro slavery, and he held that, so founded the time of his election as vice president of the confederacy, read in connection with what he said yesterday would illustrate wonderfully the changes of both the material affairs of the country and the sentiments of men. A pamphlet containing these two speeches of a very able man, would have numberless readers wherever the English language is spoken.

THE GREAT DINCAN. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—A Call reporter interviewed Duncan last night. He said, in

I did not think I was going to fail; wa struggling up to the last moment to save myself; up to 5 o'clock on Sunday alternoon I expected aid and hoped to pull through. In such state of mind was I when I went home that evening that my family insisted I should not return by the bank and even wished me to leave the city. I refused to leave town but finally consented to go to the house of a friend. I did not intend to wrong anyone and not one cent of the depositors' money went into my pocket and they would not have lost anything if I could have succeeded in my plans.

Duncan here became greatly excited, his voice trembled, tears rolled down his cheeks. and his nervous prostration was such that the reporter was obliged to support and caim him, he protesting all the time that he was not excited. He continued: I never wanted to go away from here, but

Secretary Evarts should now step forth and champion the cause of Anderson and his pals. Evarts is on record, as a lawyer, as having said in public speeches that the returning board was a model of honesty and patriotism. Let the returning board send for Mr. Evarts and be happy.

A Place of Refere.—The Louisiana returning board ran to the New Orleans custom-house for refuge from the state courts, tom-house for refuge from the state courts, according to their habit, but they soon out. had done so much wrong as 1 am accused of.
I invested money for the bank in real estate and intended to take the whole 20,000, for and intended to take the failure of the Bank of California everything went down, Pierce county warrants," demands the fullest investigation and asks that his case be submitted to the grand jury at the next term of the district court. It now looks as though Hoover is an innocent man. We hope he may be able to establish his innocence.

WE DISSENT.—An exchange proposes that Dr. Mary Walker be made queen of Bulgaria. We dissent. That place should be reserved for Mrs. Andrew Lesten.

Food by Mail.—A good deal of advantage is taken of Uncle Sam's mail facilities, not at all reckoned in liberalizing the postal system of the country. It was perhaps never contemplated that cooked or raw meat should contemplated that cooked or raw meat should pass over the routes, although seeds, photographs and light articles of virtu are transmitted daily. There are people, however, who consider the mail bag vehicles of conveyance for everything that can be smuggled into them. This was illustrated a few days ago by a sale of unclaimed packages at the post office department in Washington city. One of these, received from New York, contained a miscellaneous collection, which, on being catalogued, exposed a roast snare-rib being catalogued, exposed a roast spare-rib, a large piece of roast veal, several pounds of jerked venison, and several buffalo tongues, potatoes and onions, a pound of butter, loaf of fruit cake, a lot of candy, raising loat of fruit case, a lot of early, raisins, nitts, oranges, apples, etc.; several small bottles of wine and whiskey, two boxes of cigars, two Limburger cheeses, etc. There were also in the same package, salt, pepper, vinegar, etc., for the seasoning, and cranberries for the sauce; and, in addition, an abundance of flour and yeast.

ANDERSON SENTENCED.—Gradually the men who stole the vote of Louisiana for congressmen voting against subsidies in the abstract look very impressive, but nobody is deceived thereby. The first vote on a real subsidy proposition is likely to show very different results.

SAN FRANCISCO papers are endeavoring to create sympathy for J. C. Duncan, the savings bank thief, by describing him as a penitent rogue.

A GREENBACK CLUB has been organized at Corvallis, Oregon, and already has on its rolls the names of a number of prominent citizens.

STEAMSHIP COMBINATION. - The rival lines of steamships that have been running between Perland and San Francisco have formed a combination, and as a result freights and ares will be advanced.

PURE LIQUORS. - We call attention to the JUDGE LACY has returned from a hurried trip to Washington, having been called there in the interest of the postal service. Judge facy says the democrats in congress are not hankering after another Colorado swindle, and that the effort to smuggle Washingto territory in as a state will fail.

A FARCE.-A score of republicans got together at the court house, Thursday afternoon, and placed in nomination a trio of very respect able gentlemen as candidates for the constitutional convention. The attendance was so slim and the proceedings so nearly bordering upon stare, it is doubtful whether any of the gentiemen named will accept the doubtful honor of such a nomination.

COL TOM O'BRIEN, proprietor of the brick hotel, has returned from San Francisco, after an absence of just one month. He brings with himnew carpets for the hotel, and contemplates many other improvements calculated to sustain the reputation of his house as the best hotel north of San Francisco. Mr. O'Brien is de-trumed to be up with the times, and deserves credit for his enterprise.

J. BAUER, in his new brick store, keeps an se stock of tobacco, cigars, pipes, etc. to which he invites the attention of all those who indulge in the use of the weed. His pure "Havanas" cau at all times be depended upon as genuine, and all his brands are of the very best. Running a large stock he is now prepared to fill jobbing orders, and invites the patronage of interior traders. See his new card.

PATENT OBTAINED. - Several months since the Statesman published a full description of an improved bobbin for the use of sewing mathines Mr. C. Schumacher, the inventor, has now received a patent for his improvement, and already sewing machine manufacturers are negotiating for the purchase of the royalty. We congratulate our friend upon his good fortune, and trust that he may live long to enjoy the fruits of his ingenuity.

and Columbia counties to Oregon. The muchlymarried senator is splendid at introducing bills, but somehow or other his bills never appear upon the statute books. He is like a man who is constantly going through the motions and never accomplishes anything. Oregon should endeavor to replace him with a man whose character is not a bar to the passage of his bills.

SOAP FACTORY. - The old warehouse at the lower end of Main street, formerly occupied by the late Joseph Helmuth, has been fitted up for the purpose of a soap factory, and is now turning out soap in neat packages, and apparently quite as good as the soap brought from below. The manufacturer, Mr. R. H. Rumble, has had great experience in the business, and It the last Oregon State Fair took the first premium for the excellence of the soap exhib-ited by him. A local industry, we trust that Taylor & Co. will be liberally patronized.

DISPATCH. A large invoice of paper for the STATESMAN office, shipped from San Francisco on the 12th, arrived at Walla Walla and was ready for delivery on the 25th. This is a great improvement upon the arrangements of last year, when it required six and eight weeks to get goods through from San Francisco, and even then the same invoices were strung along the way. This year the arrangements, both by river and railroad, seem to be perfect, and hav-ing complained when delays were the rule, we deem it our duty to award the merit of praise now that all cause for complaint is removed.

SHOCKING MURDER. - At a late hour on Friday night, a couple of soldiers got into a quarrel in front of a house of Ill-fame on Alder street, and in the course of the altercation one of them drew a knife and cut his antagonist in the abdomen, inflicting wounds from which he subsequently died. The perpetrator of the of the trade. homicide was brought before Justice Whitman for examination, Tuesday morning, but waived s hearing and was committed to answer the John Schneider, and is spoken of as a good soldier and inoffensive man, Wm. Murphy, the man who killed him, has a had reputation and less than a year ago made a murderous as-sailt upon one of his comrades. Murphy claims to have acted in self-defence, but the fact that he waived an examination goes to show that he is without justification,

A USELESS TERRITORY. - Congress at its pres ent session is quite likely to inquire into the condition of the territories, and in making anything like a thorough scrutiny it will discover that maintaining Idaho territory involves a useless expenditure of public money. The territory is dwindling away in population, and the most prosperous parts wish to dissolve their connection with the organization. The people of Northern Idaho, to a man, wish to be annexed to Washington territory. The interests of the Owyhee country point to a union with Nevada. After these changes are made, what is left of the territory can without inconvenience be assigned, in about equal parts to Montana and Utah territories. If there was any prosand Utah territories. If there was any prospect of Idaho ever becoming a state, there might be some excuse for keeping up the present expensive territorial organization, but in the absence of this promise, congress may very properly divide up the country after the manner suggested, and then abolish the territorial organization.

Account of the was any prospect of Idaho ever becoming a state, there is McDonald, J C Wheeler, J J McRobinson, J McRobinson, J McRuten Miss Maggie Wood, R M Nichols, Titus Persons calling for these letters will please properly divide up the country after the manner suggested, and then abolish the territorial organization.

mittee on railroads has reported a bill extend ing the time for the completion of the North Pacific railroad. The extension is for the term of ten years, and is subject to the following restrictions :

A FAIR PROPOSITION.—We give place to an article copied from the Olympia Courier, in which it is set forth that the republican central committee will place in nomination the three supreme court judges as delegates at large to the constitutional convention, and allow the democratic committee to name the candidates for the three judicial districts. This proposition seems to be fair, and if carried out will ensure the election of at least six members respectable on the score of ability. The democrats may reasonably calculate upon carrying four out of the five council districts. Should this arrangement be carried out, the convention will most likely stand seven democrats and eight re-publicans. The old story of the electoral mmission.

RUSHING THINGS .- Just now the Sound country is in a desperate hurry to frame a constitution and secure admission. The explanation of this harry is to be found in the fact that the Eastern counties are gaining in population, whilst the Western counties are at a stand still. In the course of a year or two the Eastern counties promises to outnumber the clam counties, and if the formation of the state is delayed to that time, Walla Walla more than likely will secure the capitol. This is the milk in the occoa-nut, and this is the reason why Scattle, Olympia, and other towns on the Sound are in such a hurry. In this matter the Eastern counties can aford to wait, and in the end ome in for a share of the "chicken pie,"

Won't Extruse. -After any amount of puffing and blowing on the part of the propunning and downing on the part of the Ohio ectors of the constitutional convention, it now becomes apparent that the people will not enthuse worth a cent. The farmers are all opposed to the movement because it will necrease their taxes. The business men regard it with disfavor for the same reason, and these classes constituting the bone and these classes constituting the bone and these classes constituting the whole thing is jectors of the constitutional convention, it now becomes apparent that the people will all opposed to the movement because it will increase their taxes. The business men regard it with disfavor for the same reason, gard it with disfavor for the same reason, and these classes constituting the bone and sinew of the community, the whole thing is just about as limber as a wet rag. Demagogues may prate about the great state of Washington, but the men who are expected to fout the hill fail to see it. to foot the bill fail to see it.

DR. EDWARD SHEIL, a former resident of Walla Walla, died at Salem, Oregon, a few days since. At one time Dr. Sheil owned considerable land in and around Walla Walla, and was regarded as a man of means, but bad investments crippled him, and at the time of his death he was quite poor. He was a man of dignified manners, and for this reason he was frequently called upon to preside at public meetings. In this and other ways he made himself quite prominent and commanded very general respect.

INDIANA DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM. INDIANAPCIES, Feb. 20.—The democratic state convention met this niorning, Ex-Gov. Hendricks was chosen permanent chairman. Hendricks made an hours speech when called to the chair and it was well received. His ed to the chair and it was well received. His remarks largely foreshadowed the platform. He said he believad the presidential contest was decided wrongfully, but that to avoid strife that decision should be accepted. Yet those who perpetrated the crime would be held up to such infamy as would forever prevent a repetition of the outrage.

THE PLATFORM. The committee on resolutions reported a platform which was manimously adopted. It demands that national bank notes shall be and that such issues should be made as the business interests of the country demand; favors taxation of U. S. notes in common with all other money; deem syndicates to place our loans abroad as inexpedient, and favors legislation which shall distribute the debt among the people, thus giving the masses a safe investment for their earnings; the 4122 grain siver under the same terms as gold is coined, and demand immediate and unconditional repeal of the resumption act; demand rigid public economy and reduction of official saleries; repeal of the bankrupt law; deplore the bitter constant between contral and labor.

test between capital and labor.

Several clauses looking to the improvement of the condition of working men are part of the platform. It declares for public anti-sectarian schools; declares that the circuit courts of the United States have claimed and exercised munistly neighbors over ed and exercised unjustly privileges over corporate and individual states rights; op-poses class legislation and subsidies; de-nounces repub ican leaders who through ve-nal returning boards committed the monnal returning boards commented will of the peo-strous crime of defeating the will of the peostrous crime of defeating the will of the peo-ple in the late presidential election. The resolutions on this point are remarkably se-vere, declaring that the crime can only be condoned when the malefactors who seated a fraud in the presidential chair are driven from power and coasigned to everlasting in-fany. They denounce the resident to an famy. They denounce the president for ap-pointing the returning board to lucrative positions; for attempting to interfere with the prosecution of the returning board for their crimes; also requesting state congress-men to favor the bill for pensioning Mexican CHEESE MADE TROM POTATORS.—A foreign paper says that cheese is made from potatoes in Thuringia and Saxony in the manner described below. Possibly the process may be found worth trying, if not profitable in this country: "After having collected a quantity of potatoes of good quality, giving the preference to a large, white kind, they are boiled in a cauldren, and after becoming cool they are peeled and reduced to a pulp, either by means of a grater or mortar. To five by means of a grater or mortar. To five pounds of this pulp, which ought to be as equal as possible, is added one pound of sour milk and the necessary quantity of salt. The whole is kneaded together, and the mixture covered up and allowed to lie for three or covered up and allowed to he for three or four days, according to the season. At the end of this time it is kneaded anew, and the cheeses are placed in little baskets, when the superfluous mosture escapes. They are then allowed to dry in the shade, and placed in layers, in large vessels, where they must remain for fifteen days. The older these cheese are the more their quality improves. Three kinds are made—the first and most common is made as detailed above; the second, with four parts of potatoes and two parts of curdled milk; the third, with two parts of curdled milk; the third, with two parts of potatoes and four parts of cow's or ewe's milk. These cheeses have this advan-tage over other kinds, that they do not en-gender worms, and keep free for a number of years, provided they are placed in a dry situation and in well closed vessels.

LEAVE A NAME BEHIND. - Thousands of men live, breathe, move, pass off the stage of life—are heard of no more. Why? They do not a particle of good in the world, none was blessed by them as the instrument of their redemption. Not a word they spoke could be recalled, and so they perished; their light went down in darkness, and they were not remembered more than the insects of yesterday. Will you thus live and die, oh, man immortal? Live for something. Do good, and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storms of time can never Write your name in kindness, and love, and herey, on the hearts of thousands you may come in contact with year by year. You will never be forgotten. No, name, your deeds will be as legible on the hearts you leave behind as the stars on the brow of evening. Good deeds will shine as the stars from heaven.

A SUBTERRANEAN RIVER.-How many readers of the Journal are aware that one of the wonders of nature may be seen four riles west of Swar's prairie and one mile in the Indian territory? Here you will find a cave that is a perfect wonder to the brave adventurer, who will provide himself with the necessary outfit for exploring the subterranean cavern of darkness, inhabited by wild animals and bats in countless thousands The necessary outlit consists of good lights and a boat in which to navigate a subterranean river, which so far as we know of, has ver been traced to its source. The entrance to the cave is in a grove of tall trees grow-ing under the jetting rocks of a small moun-tain. Long before you enter the wood you can hear the roaring of the falling waters, which rush forth in crystal pureness, far ex-celling the noted spring of Neosho. A short distance from the cave stands a single Indian cabin, inhabited by Alexander Zane, of the Wyandotte tribe of Indians.

BALLOONS AND SCIENCE. -In conversa balloons and scatter—in conversa-tion with a St. Louis newspaper reporter a few days ago, Prof. Wise, the aronaut, expressed his views of the possibilities of ballooning, as follows: "Balloons may be made of boiler iron if built large enough. You know it is the battles of cubes and surfaces. When the surface is doubled the cube is quadrupled, and a balloon of 400 feet diameter of copper boiler plate will lift up a man-of-war ship and sail away with it. With such a balloon stocked with bombs and other munitions of war, think what construction war, think what consternation could be earried into a besieged camp. But the mission of the balloon will be more for scientific explorations. That overshadowing science called meteorology will yet provide its definition in the use of the balloon."

PAY FOR SLAVES-A petition has been presented in the house for payment for slaves. The petitioner is J. N. Carpenter, a former paymaster in the United States navy. He says that when the law was passed authorizing payment for slaves in the district of Columbia he was on duty with the African squadron, and he could not file his applica-tion with the district emancipation commis-sioners within the time designated by law, and his twenty-one slaves were freed. He asks to be paid $12,000, on the ground that if he had been in the district at the time that amount would have been allowed him by the commission.
