Sunshine Comes To-Morrow.

BY FRANK W. POTTER.
Here's a lasting truth to learn,
That trouble borrows
Though thy path be dark to-day,
Sunshine comes to-morrow!

True, the skies of Summer fade,
Like the Summer dews;
And stern Winter rudely brings Dark and gloomy hours.

Yet the Spring shall come again
With all its kindly glances,
And again the Summer bloom
As the year advances.

Then the birds shall warble songs
In the sunny meadows;
Branches waving in the breeze,
Cast on earth their shadows.

Soon the light of holy truth
Error's dark hall sever;
Nigh's rays shall wrong grow right,
Peace descend forever.

Then this lesson wisely learn,
It will heal your sorrow,
However dark the day,
Sunshine comes to-morrow.

Nature's Noblemen.
Away with false fashion, no ovals and so on,
Where pleasure just cannot be found,
Away with cold breeding, that fattens still Affects to be quite at its ease;
For the deepest in feeling is highest in rank,
The more the heart is kindly and frank,
And nature's own nobility, friendly and frank,
Is a man with his heart in his hand.

Fearless in honesty, gentle and just,
He warmly can love and can hate,
Nigh's rays shall wrong grow right,
To fashion's intolerant state;
For best in good breeding and highest in rank,
Though lowly or poor in the hand,
The man with his heart in his hand.

His fashion is passion, sincere and intense,
His impulses simple and true,
Yet tempered by judgment, and taught by good sense,
And cordial with me and with you;
For the finest in manners is highest in rank,
It is your heart that you should stand
Nature was nobility, friendly and frank,
A man with his heart in his hand.—Turra.

Dancing and Whist Playing.
Gail Hamilton, in her last work entitled "Stumbling Blocks," has some remarks upon these amusements, which we commend to the attention and consideration of our readers. She is well known as an approved contributor to the "Littell's Living Age," and her views are of the "most strict" sort, and from that point of view her opinions on this subject are worthy of note, as they show a degree of progress in liberality, and independence in thinking, and not to be fenced off from the most healthful and conscientious people are still treading in the path of error, which would not have been tolerated a few years ago. We look upon this change as highly favorable to the general adoption of sound notions on the matter of amusements for the young, as we know many of our own people who are still treading in mind from fear that indulgence in these recreations is injurious to its tendencies. To such we commend the following extract:

Money Market. New York Gold Quotation 140 San Francisco Legal Tender Notes 140 3/4

Coeur d'Alene.—Parties continue to return every day from Coeur d'Alene. The latest news we have is that Wilson and his party, which had dwindled down to eleven men, were still engaged in cutting their trail into the "big basin," and would probably emerge from the mountains somewhere in the vicinity of Pen d'Oreille Lake.

From Mr. Fall, who returned this week, we learn that the trail party had abandoned the mountain route to the "basin" and gone down to the Coeur d'Alene river and were traveling up it, prospecting the bars along the river as they went.

WHITE INDIANS.—It is generally believed that there is a band of white men leagued with the Indians in the horse and cattle stealing business on the other side of the mountains. Several of the suspicious characters who were invited to leave this valley last spring are known to be lurking along the Boise road and in the vicinity of where the supposed "Indian depredations" have been committed.

MILITARY.—Capt. Curry left on Monday for Fort Vancouver, which place has been made the headquarters of the Oregon Infantry.

A detachment of Capt. Waters' Company of the Infantry has been ordered to Agbara, Capt. W. with the balance of the Company, is ordered to Fort Lapwai.

THE FIRST.—Mr. Henry Bateman, of Coppell, reached this valley last week, having come across the plains this season. Mr. Bateman went home on a visit last fall, and like a sensible man has brought a "better half" back with him to make home for him here.

NOT ALONE.—From the various reports published in the Lewiston Radiator, purporting to have come from different sources, it would appear that Wilson was not the only person who engaged in circulating the story about the Coeur d'Alene mines. This fact would favor the idea expressed by some that Wilson was paid for the part he took in the matter. Of course we would include the publisher of the Radiator as among the duped.

SPREADING OUT.—A large proportion of the miners who went to Coeur d'Alene are "spreading out" in all directions. A few have gone into the Blackfoot country to prospect; some have gone to Kootenai, some to Bitter Root and Beaver Head, some to Oro Fino, Florence and Warren's, and some to Elk City and Salmon river.

TO FARMERS.—The Quartermaster at Fort Lapwai wants two hundred tons of oats and barley. Bids must be made in the usual form, and by the 7th of August. For further particulars, inquire at H. Parker's Book store.

COMING HOME.—Our friend Dr. E. Sheil, who recently went up to Coeur d'Alene Mission "on a visit," is coming home. A number of other Walla Walla men who went up there about the same time "on a pleasure excursion after gold" are also on their way home.

GRAIN CROPS.—Both our California and Oregon exchanges say that abundant crops will be harvested in those States this season. The Oregonian says that more grain will be harvested in Oregon this year than ever before.

GONE TO BITTER ROOT.—A goodly number of the miners who went up to the Coeur d'Alene have crossed over to the Bitter Root country. Recent favorable reports from the newly discovered mines there give the hope that they can make mining profitable in that country.

THE Idaho election comes off next month. Both the political parties in the Boise Basin have entered into the canvass with their usual energy.

A report has been current that the Indians had attacked the town of Auburn. It is not so. The report probably grew out of the fact that the Indians stole some horses and shot at some men near the town.

FIRE MEETING.—The regular monthly meeting of Washington Engine Company will be held at the Court House on Monday evening next.

BALL & STONE'S train of "prairie schooners" returned on Wednesday from Boise.

Song of Erin.
It's a little I am by the dawn of the day,
To my brother that's over the sea;
But he'll care for my life any where,
For he'll break my heart's will;
But a treasure I'll take for auld Ireland's sake,
That I'll prize all belonging above;
It's a handful of earth from the land of my birth,
From the heart of the land that I love.
And won't the poor lad in his exile be glad,
When he sees the leaves present I bring?
And won't there be flowers from this treasure of ours,
In the warmth of the beautiful spring?
Och, Erin Machree! tho' it's partin' we be,
It's a blessing I leave on your shore,
And your mountains and streams I will see in my dream.
Till I cross to my country once more.

Grant and Stanton.
When Gen. Grant was about to leave Washington to enter upon the campaign which began with the battle of the Wilderness and ended with the downfall of the rebellion, he called upon Secretary Stanton to say good-bye. The Secretary was anxiously awaiting him. During the two and a half years that President Lincoln and Secretary Stanton had managed the eastern armies, it was the first point in their plans to keep Washington heavily garrisoned with troops. Large bodies of men were stationed in the fortifications around the city, and other large bodies were kept in supporting distance. Now that Grant had come into power, Stanton wanted to see that the defense of Washington had not been overlooked. Accordingly, after a few preliminaries, the Secretary remarked:
"Well, General, I suppose that you have left us enough men to strongly garrison the forts."
"No," said Grant, coolly; "I can't do that."
"Why not?" cried Stanton, jumping nervously about. "Why not? Why not?"
"Because I have already sent the men to the front," replied Grant calmly.
"That won't do," cried Stanton, more nervous than before. "It's contrary to my plans. I can't allow it. I'll order the men back."
"I shall need the men there," answered Grant, "and you can't order them back."
"Why not?" inquired Stanton again.
"Why not?" "Why not?"
"I believe that I rank the Secretary in this matter," was the quiet reply.
"Very well," said Stanton, a little warmly, "we'll see the President about that. I'll have to take you to the President."
"That's right," politely observed the General; "the President ranks us both."
Arrived at the White House, they asked to see the President upon important business, and in a few moments the good-natured face of Mr. Lincoln appeared.
"Well, gentlemen," said the President, with a genial smile, "what do you want with me?"
"General," said Stanton, stiffly, "state your case."
"I have no case to state," replied Gen. Grant; "I'm satisfied as it is," thus outflanking the Secretary, and displaying the same strategy in diplomacy as in war.
"Well, well," said the President, laughing, "state your case, Secretary."
Mr. Stanton obeyed; General Grant said nothing; the President listened very attentively. When Stanton had concluded, the President crossed his legs, rested his elbow on his knee, twinkled his eyes quaintly, and said:
"Now, Secretary, you know that we have been trying to manage this army for two years and a half, and you know we haven't done much with it. We sent over the mountains and brought Mister Grant—as Mrs. Grant calls him—to manage it for us, and now I guess we had better let Mr. Grant have his own way."
From this decision there was no appeal. Nobody ranked the President. So General Grant went off with the army, and Secretary Stanton went back to his office.
The result was that General Grant accomplished what he never could have done had Stanton been allowed to continue on in his jealous interferences, and wove a victor-wreath for his brow which might otherwise have been clouded by disaster and defeat. "Time at last makes all things even," and Secretary Stanton's name must henceforth bear a load of that same kind of odium which, prompted by his jealousy or his cowardice, he has so ruthlessly caused to be heaped upon the names of others in interferences with their plans. His retirement from the Secretaryship will be regretted by few people of any party in the nation.

Mr. Choate once began a political speech at Faneuil Hall by saying: "Mr. Chairman, you called on me last evening to invite me to speak to the Whigs of Boston to-night. I told you that under no circumstances could I be present, and accordingly here I am! This humorous non sequitur seems to have been followed by General Lee in his surrender to Grant. He says, practically—"I entirely disagree with you, General Grant, about the despatching of my situation, and accordingly I give in."

STRAYED.—An Eastern exchange contains the following notice:
"Broke into the pocket of the editor of this paper sometime during the week, a silver dime. Who it belongs to or where it came from is a mystery to us, and we earnestly request the owner to come and take it away; we have been so long without silver that its use is entirely forgotten. Upon one side is a beautiful young lady with a handkerchief to her eyes—weeping to think she has no mate, and a nightcap on a pole as a signal of distress."

PERFUMES.—A lady correspondent of the Sacramento Union, writing from one of the Eastern cities, says:
"The elite have discarded perfumes this year. When you are overpowered by musk or night blooming cereus on a woman's handkerchief, you may guess that she is either behind the times in taste or fashion, or is not of the best possible character."

"Some young ladies insisted on naming a gentleman's kitten Julia," "it was so pretty." He gallantly replied that he should be most happy to gratify them, but it was not that kind of a cat!

A GUEST, disputing with a landlord, inquired, "Did you never have a gentleman stop here before?" "No," said he, "not if you are one."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
The Remedy for Curing
Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, CROUP, Diphtheria, and all Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pleura and Oppression of the Chest or Lungs, Dilated Bronchitis, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.
ITS ACTION IS EXPROBATANT, ALTERNATIVE, SUDORIFIC, NERVINE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs.
It excites expectoration, and causes the sputa to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE CIRCULATION AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heats the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and im-partially to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that IT IS WARRAN-TED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING CROUP IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED TO give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PER-FECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for relieving the system. THERE IS NO RIVAL PREPAR-ATION FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.
Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED
In One Minute.

New York, September 3, 1864.
P. TREMAN, Esq., 415 Battery Street,
Brooklyn, and Clay, San Francisco.
DEAR SIR: We notice an advertisement in your daily papers respecting the "security" of your "Lillie's" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock, and of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such representations. We have just sent for one of our men to the factory, and he,
in our presence, opened one of Lillie's best safe locks after it had been locked and the combination turned on.
By one Blow of the Hammer Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron bolt inside.
The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that if it is not opened by false representations, etc., etc.
Respectfully, etc.,
Wm. McFARLAND.

NO PRACTICAL
Look Picker or Thimble Rigger Required to OPERATE THIS LILLIE LOCK.
Any parties desirous of seeing the above mentioned lock, its insecurity and easy mode of opening the same, can call at 318 Battery Street, San Francisco.

GLOUCESTER, March 26, 1864.
Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safes Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr.
Lillie, I was induced to purchase one of his
So Called "Fire-Proof Safes."
On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our one with the rest. We trusted our lock, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the ac-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and opening it we found Everything had been Destroyed.
We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed Messrs. McKenrie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make), and the contents were found to be In Perfect Condition.
This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s "safe"— such as land, port, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being to the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was a report of LILLIE'S safe being subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than ours. Very respectfully, your obedient servants,
[Signed:] GEO. L. CHESSBORO & CO.

TILTON & McFARLAND'S
THE ONLY PROTECTION Against Fire and Burglars.
For the last Fifteen Years
This Safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific Coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the record that No man ever lost a dollar out of one of our safes by means of burglars. Their fire and burglar proof qualities are so well known that they need no further recommendation.

A good assortment of Tilton & McFarland's Fire and Burglar Proof Safes to be had at 318 Battery Street, San Francisco.

large and commodious building from Mr. A. J.
Miner, on First Street, near the Bridge, Walla Walla, has fitted the same in a superior manner for the accommodation of
The Sick and Afflicted.
And is now prepared to receive patients from all portions of Washington Territory and the Upper Country generally. Having had a great deal of experience in the HOSPITAL PRACTICE, and being familiar with all the diseases incident to the climate of the Pacific coast, we are fully prepared to treat all persons who are so unfortunate as to require the services of experienced Physicians and Surgeons.
EXCELLENT BEDS
Have been prepared for the reception of the sick, and kind and attentive nurses will be on hand at all times to suit upon them. Particular attention will be paid to the treatment of the following named diseases, and cure in most cases guaranteed:
All Diseases of the Nervous System, Private Diseases of every Description, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Old Sores, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, Tubercle, Piles, Consumption, Eruptions, Femoral Complaints, Fever and Ague, Sick Headache, Liver Complaint,
And in fact all diseases which human flesh is heir to will be successfully treated at our Hospital,
On reasonable Terms.
The climate of Walla Walla Valley is the most healthy on this coast, and persons in declining health, who have failed to secure benefit elsewhere are earnestly advised to visit this place, and if they require medical treatment, we will furnish them a place to remain during their stay, and will do all that skill and science can do to restore them to health.
