UNGATHERED LOVE.

When the autumn winds go wailing Through branches yellow and brown.
When the grey sad light is failing,
And the day is going down,— I hear the desolate evening sing Of a Love that bloomed in the early spring, And which no heart had for gathering I and my love we dwell apart,

Then what can be said or done, When winds, and waters, and song-birds sing Of a Love that bloomed in the early spring, And which no heart had for gathering?

When day is over and night descents, And dank mists circle and rise, I fall asleep, and slumber befriends, For I dream of April skies. But I wake to hear the silence sing

Of a Love that bloomed in the early spring, And which no heart had for gathering. When the dawn comes in with wind and rain, And birds awake in the eaves, And rain drops smite the window pane, And drench the eddying leaves,—

I hear the voice of the daybreak sing Of a Love that bloomed in the early spring, And which no heart had for gathering.

FAILURE OR SUCCESS IN LIFE.—Here are seful suggestions from a member of the British Parliament, Lord Derby, who is a robust, manly man. He says: Take two men, if they can be found, exactly alike in mental and bodily aptitudes, and let one go on carelessly and idly, indulging his appetites, and generally leading a life of pleasure, and let the other train himself by early hours, by temperate habits, and by giving to muscle and brain each their fair share of employment, and at the end of three years they will be as wide apart in their capacity for exertion as if they had been with wholly different constitutions. Without a normal, healthy condition there can, as a rule be no good work; and though that quality cannot absolutely be secured or preserved by any set of rules, a little common sense and care will go a long way in both securing and preserving it. On that point I would give you bor which hurts anybody, unless the excess be very great, but rather fretting and fidgeting over the prospect of labor to be gone through; so that the man who can accustom himself to take things cooly, which is quite as much a matter of discipline as of nature, and who, by keeping well beforehand what he has to do, avoids undue burry and nervous excitement, has a great advantage over one who follows a different practice. Next, I would warn you that those students who think they have no time for bodily exercise will sooner or later have to find time for illness. Third, when an opportunity of choice is given, morning work is generally better than night work; and lastly—a matter which I should not stop to allude to but that I know the dangers of an over-driven existence in crowded down-if a man cannot get through his day's labor, of whatever kind it may be, without ('artifical support'—that means beer or bourbon,) it should be a serious considera-

CIVILIZING THE INDIANS.-A correspon dent of an Eastern journal suggests that all attempts to make the red man a farmer must | this order may have been worded, fail for the reason that pastoral life always preedes agriculture in civilization, and proposes that the experiment be made of making catsomething in this, but if experience is worth anything the noble red man would very soon be engaged in raiding upon the pasture grounds of his neighbor tribes, and endless to civilization. Evolution does not proceed in leaps, whatever Mr. Mivart may think, and it is as impossible to transform a tribe of nomads into a community of orderly citizens as it would be to make even an average Congressman out of a Chimpanzee. All attempts to condense the slow process of generations into the work of a few years or months must fail, because they are attempts to transcend natural laws. The Indians might certainly be changed as some joke-loving folks once proposed that the negro should be changed, namely, by miscegenation; but as a Govern ment policy such a proposition would hardly be thought suitable, and, therefore, in all probability, the Indian will never be changed until he is educated off the face of the earth

SUING A DEMIJOHN.—A peculiar breach of promise suit has been brought in Manchester, England. A maiden appeals to the courts for damages, now that a certain inkeeper refuses to take her in marriage after encouraging her to hope. It is proved that he had the delirium tremens in her house several times. She gets a verdict of £10. Why any women wants to marry the delirium tremens we know not. She deserved ens we know not. She deserved congratulation at escape from such a man, instead of £10 for the loss of him. No man can afford to take a man if she has to have delirium tremens thrown into the bargain. A man is very well, but better no at all than such an accompaniment man at all than such an accompaniment. Let women be cautious how they marry men with highly spiced breath, the spice Fut in to hide whiskey odor. If a man makes for himself unhappy connubial relation, he may run away and so get rid of it; but for a woman wrongly affianced there is no escape. woman wrongly amanced there is no escape.
The young men may have glossy hair and bright eyes and immaculate broadcloth; but if he drinks, even moderately, make up your mind that before 35 he will do one of two mind that before 33 he will do one of two things—either stop drinking entirely, or else go to perdition; and if he does the latter, he will probably take you along with him.— Christian at Work.

THE MORMON MURDERERS.

Brigham Young the Chief at Mountain

Braven, (U. T.) July 19th, 1875. The telegraph has informed your readers of the rejection of John D. Lee's statement by the Prosecuting Attorney, on the ground of the insufficiency of his admissions. This terminates all temporizing between counsel on the opposite sides, and this arch-criminal is to be placed on trial to-morrow for participation in the Mountain Meadows Massacre The part taken by this criminal in the great crime of the age seems to be clear. He was farmer to the Pah-Ute Indians, appointed by Brigham Young, at that time Governor of Utah Territory and Indian Superintendent. As Lee spoke Indian and lived among them, he acquired

GREAT INFLUENCE OVER THEM, And when the destruction of the company of emigrants was determined upon by the leaders of the Mormon Church, the assistance of Lee was invoked to take direction of the Indian allies. Higbee was Lieutenant-Colonel of the regiment and seems to have commanded upon the field. Dame, the Colonel, directed the bloody business from a distance. His instructions were received from George A. Smith, Brigham's First Counselor, who preceded the emigrants on their way through the territory and instructed the people in every settlement to sell the emigrants no supplies. In Beaver one disobedient Saint sold a small home-made cheese to one of the starving emigrants for a bed quilt, and for this offense he was

CUT OFF FROM THE CHURCH And handed over to the buffetings of Satan for a thousand years. From motives of polbe perpetrated by the Indians, but when the danger of attack was imminent the emigrants barricaded themselves with their wagons, and as their assailants closed around them kept up so active and well-directed a fire as to inflict severe injury upon the savage enemy. It is said that as many as fifty Indians were killed and wounded in the assault upon their these hints: First, that it is not mental la- position. The latter succeeded in raiding the emigrant's herd, amounting to 600 head, and wounded four of those in charge of them. At this poin comes in the complication. The order to the local military authorities—Dame, Higbee and Haight—which George A. Smith is supposed to have borne and delivered, cannot be produced. Of course great care we be used by the heads of the church in

FRAMING SUCH AN ATROCIOUS ORDER, To make it as blind as possible, for fear of future consequences. Having fanatical and ruthless subordinates to deal with, who paid no heed to the responsibility they incurred, an intimation of the will of their dread masters was sufficient, without asking positive instructions or the elaboration of specific details. Besides, the distinct teachings of the church since their settlement in these mountains have been hostility to the human race and the approaching universal domination of the Saints. If, in carrying out the revealed will of the Almighty, His chosen people choose to help a score of the doomed race out of existence, and appropriate their goods, such zeal is only aiding the Almighty in His inscrutable designs, and must be accounted to them for righteousness. Hence, however this order new hore been worked tion for him whether that kind of labor is fit

THE PROPHET, SEER AND REVELATOR-Supposing him to have issued the mandate or been privy to the conspiracy against the lives tle-raisers out of the Indians. There may be of this company of emigrants-must have known that the mere cry of "Havoc!" would let slip his fanatical dogs of war, and the work of blood being once begun, the instinct to destroy all surviving evidence would white men had to be called in. So bloody an employment was distasteful to many of the Prophet's followers. Some fled from their homes to escape service, and others were forced into the fight at the threat of their lives. About fifty white men were thus mustered, who, when they appeared in front of the beleagured emigrants, were hailed as friends and deliverers. These victims of a REVENGEFUL AND BRUTAL THEOCRACY Were suffering untold agonies for want of water, and their ammunition was nearly expended. Next some wagons were seen approaching, and from the foremost floating a flag of truce. This act of perfidy was re solved upon in a meeting held on the ground, where Higbee and Lee were the chief spirits Lee presenting himself with the flag of truce, offered the Arkansans protection from the Indians on the condition of their surrendering their arms and following him to a place of safety. Although a portion of the emigrants were inclined to doubt his good faith, yet be-ing without ammunition and water they finally resolved to capitulate on the terms offered THE ARMS WERE DELIVERED UP. And were placed in the wagons, together with the children and four wounded men. The women then issued out, followed by the men, and when the mournful procession had advanced far enough to be strung out in line a volley was fired upon them, the Mormons selecting the men for their mark and the Indians the women. This treacherous assassination filled the survivors of the murderous fusilade with terror; the men sought refuge behind any object that presented itself, and the women sought the knees of their assailants to supplicate for mercy. Then ensued the indiscriminate massacre of all who were found alive, and during this work of butchery occurred the revolting episode of Lee seizing a young girl, while begging for her life, and first violating her and then cutting her throat. This act of fiendish brutality, however, he persistently denies.

THE CATTLE RAIDED From the emigrants were driven to Salt Lake as the property of the church, and were sold for a mere song to Captain W. W. Hooper, afterward elected Delegate to Congress, and Secretary of the territory and acting Governor.) The gold captured from the slaughter ed emigrants was also carried as an oblation to Brigham; and the valuable effects of the victims, horses, wagons, a pleasure vehicle, a pianoforte, together with clothing and bed linen, were taken to the tithing yard in Cedar City, where a portion was divided up between the Indians and settlers, and a portion selected and sent to Salt Lake. The carriege fell into arriage fell into THE POSSESSION OF BRIGHAM YOUNG. With these facts before us, it is evident hat the leader of the Mormon Church, who as Governor of Utah had placed the territory inder material law, and commanded all military movements, must be held responsible before the bar of public opinion for the treachous taking off these peaceful emigrants. As a religious leader he held absolute control over the minds and actions of every one of his followers: and as Indian Superintendent he was responsible for the good behavior of his charge. If the massacre had been perpetrated without his knowledge or approval, he could have ordered an investigation, and with his absolute control over the consciences of his followers in addition to his authority as chief executive of the territory, every ma-terial fact—every lightest incident—could have been taken down in writing and the

EVERY PARTICIPANT IN THE MASSACRE Learnt for future criminal proceedings. But the persistent suppression of all evidence during this long interval, and the obstacles thrown in the way of any judicial investigation into appalling crime, show a guilty complicity on the part of the highest church icy it was intended that the massacre should rulers, and render the Prophet pre-eminently open to suspicion. The trial of one or both of the human butchers now in confinement will be most searchingly prosecuted, and from the admissions of the witnesses who will be called upon the stand, it is reasonable to sup-pose that their testimony will go far to remove the dread mystery. The conviction and execution of John D. Lee is not so much the crime of this fearful tragedy where it belongs, and bring the prime movers to pun STATISTICS OF THE GLOBE.-The earth is inhabited by about 1,300,000,000 inhabitants, namely 360,000,000 of the Caucasian race; 550,000,000 of the Mongolian; 190,000,000 of the Ethiopian; 200,000,000 of the Malay races; and 1,000,000 of the American Indian. All these respectively speak 3064 languages and possess 1000 different religions. The amount of deaths per annum is 33,333,333, or 91,954 per day, 3730 per hour, 60 per min-ute or 1 per second. This loss is more than ompensated by the number of births. The average duration of life throughout the globe is 33 years. One-fourth of its population dies before the seventh year, and one-half before seventeenth year. Out of 10,000 half before seventeenth year. persons only one reaches his hundreth year, only one in 500 reaches his eightieth, and and only one in 100 his sixty-fifth. Married people live longer than unmarried ones, and is really in an unhappy condition; that we a tall man is likely to live longer than a short one. Until the fiftieth year women have a better chance for life than men; but beyond that period the chances are equal.

Sixty persons out of 1000 marry. The months

LOSS OF A VALUABLE HUNTING-KNIFE. curious and valuable hunting-knife, from the atelier of Senor Estevas de Souza, jeweler to the King of Portugal, was lost in the re-cent wreck of the Cadiz off Ushant. The strife would follow. The truth is that all attempts to civilize the Indians are doomed to the attempt of the Indians to destroy the failure, simply because there is no royal road emigrants having proved fruitless, the aid of senting the lordly stag, the bear, the wolf, the wild boar, and other fere nature still found in the Louisitanian forests. It was the work of Senor Raphael Zacharias da Costa, who was occupied in its execution for a period of eleven years, from June 1863, to May 1874. The knife was sixty-three centimetres in length, and was sent from Lisbon by the Cadiz to be placed on view at the Portuuese Legation, Gloncester Place, Portman guese Legation, Gloucester Place, Portman Square. Unfortunately the model was lest as well as the knife itself, but from the pho-tographs we have seen, it is evident that there is no falling off from the well-earned renown of the Portuguese artistic workers in the precious metals. The hunting-knife and eath were insured for £7000 .- London News.

CANALS AND LOCKS .- As a kind of addenda to his speech on the Mission claim the other evening, Colonel Kelley gave some items of interest concerning the possibility of canal and locks round the Cascades, and the Dalles of the Columbia. General Michler, in conversation with Colonel Kelley, gave of his advent into Utah in preference to the Liberal Republicans as Leaders. It is probably not an overstatement to say that the country was never before in its his tory so earnestly desirons of good government, and that it never before had so little hope of it. We are drifting toward a Presidential election with a feeling in every thoughtful American mind that neither of the two political parties which are preparing to dispute for the supremacy is worthy of confidence or can be hopefully trusted to serve the nation as it would like to be and as it ought to be served.

There are wise, sincerely patriotic, states

There are wise, sincerely patriotic, statesmanlike men in each party—men to whom the people would readily trust themselves, with the fullest confidence that they would guide the vessel of State with skill and fidelity; but these men are not at the top. They do not lead; they allow themselves to be put aside, and adroit, noisy, ignorant demagogues mainly usurp the places of leaders, control conventions, make platforms and call themselves "the party." No patriotic democrat can look with pleasure or hope at the condition of his party, with distracted councils, abandoument of time-honered princouncils, abandonment of time-honered principles and reckless self-seeking everywher predominating. No patriotic republican can look with patience at his party dragged through an interminable and nauseous mire of corruption and mismanagement, ruled by men forgetful of the public good, and with no leader to protest and save the honor of an organization which deserves better than to lie the death of a dog. What is the matter? What has become of our public men? Where is American states-manship? Have the people no longer lead-ers fit to draw their affairs out of the mire ers fit to draw their affairs out of the mire— men with courage and ability and voice to protest in the name of good government against the reign of chicanery and ignorance in party councils, able and willing to make a crusade through the country for sound prin-ciples, and to gather around themselves the multitude of men in both parties who are deeply and justly dissatisfied with the present condition of our affairs, and hopeless of sub-stantial improvement at the hand of either condition of our affairs, and hopeless of substantial improvement at the hand of either party as at present constituted?

The democratic party leaders hope to win next year through the people's disgust at the hard times and the notorious corruption of General Grant's administration. But so far the democratic are no more united nown a plat-

Is it not time for a little truth? Suppose one or half a dozen republican leaders had the courage—the audacity let us say, considering what a timid creature the American states man has got to be—suppose they dared to ad-dress to the country a plain, honest, truthful unexaggerated statement of its condition, of the evils from which it suffers, and of the remedies which they propose? Suppose they should tell the people that there is no hope in either of the old parties; that the country need statesmanship and brains at the top, and not ignorance and party zeal; that it is time for honest and patriotic men of both parties to combine and try to give the nation an administration which shall have wisdom and

The liberal republican caucus at Saratog recently was a step in the right direction, bu recently was a step in the right direction, our a very mild one. The country does not want caucuses, but a crusade. The people have got fired of political machines and machinery; they have learned by a long and sad experience that if they trust to political manipulation the professional politicians of the baser sort are pretty sure to step in at the last moment and beat them. The country does not want to see the Cincinnati Con vention repeated. What is needed is some public man—some man of eminence, of char-acter—in whom good men everywhere can have confidence, who shall set the example of have confidence, who shall set the example of a break of both parties and organize a crusade over the whole country for sound principles. Three great questions are before the nation—the currency, the South and the civil ser-vice. We cannot enjoy good government and prosperity until we return to gold and silver until the Southern States are allowed silver, until the Southern States are allowed to rule themselves in their local affairs and until the civil service is securely placed on a business footing and is no longer the sport of political gamblers and favorites. Now, it is ertain that the mass of the people in the country desire all three of these reforms. But what political leader promises them? Which political party will give them? The necessities of the country require all three, and they are of such a kind that there is no good reason why—given a few real statemen to work for them—we should not gain all three at the next election. If the liberal republicans means business it is good time for ler, in conversation with Colonel Kelley, gave it as his opinion that a canal about a quarter of a mile in length, with three locks, would be all that is necessary at the Cascades; and that this, with some work in blasting, and removing rocks in the river, would make it comparatively easy for steamers to get through. The fall is twenty-one feet for the length of the canal above mentioned, and the rapid current is between seven and eight miles per hour. The estimated cost is about seven hundred thousand dollars. The work at the Dalles would be a little longer but the canal shout a quarter to step to the front. They have no time to step to the front. The polarity is and they need seven hundred thousand dollars. The work at the Dalles would be a little longer but probably not more expensive; the river could be made navigable to Tumwater by clearing out the rocks. A DESERTER CAPTURED.—A deserter named McGinty, who effected an escape from Walla Walla several years ago, was captured recently and sentenced by court martial, to five years' confinement. On Wednesday Licutenant Brandt and a sargeant took McGinty down the river to Fort Canby, and delivered him to the proper authorities. This is the second or third time McGinty has deserted and been recaptured.—Oregonian.

We commend the above paragraph to the attention of our territorial authorities. The Walla Walla deserter is sentenced to five years' imprisonment, whilst Struve, equally guilty, escapes all punishment, and in fact is rewarded by being given the second highest office in the territory. The Clergyman's Reception: When she came to work for the family on Congress street, the lady of the house sat down and told her that agents, book peddlers, hat-rack men and all that class of people, must be met at the front door and coldly repulsed, and Sarah said she'd repulse 'em if repulsed, and Sarah said she'd repulse 'em if she had to break every broom-stick in De-

I have not lived half of my three score and ten years yet, and I am sure I have wasted time enough in the fruitless operation to have made myself mistress of all the hieroglyphics ever discovered. Only one thing I have learned, that man, like the present woman's 'watched Sixty persons out of 1000 marry. The months of June and December are those in which half have wisdom and man, like the present woman's watched marriages are most frequent. You say, 'Ah!' in an offended tone, or in an unnaturally calm one, and perhaps remark that 'dinner was burnt to a crisp four hours ago,' cr that you have 'sat with your bonnet on ready for the concert from seven until nine, and wait for some expla-nation. It is sometimes vouchsafed, and then generally proves to be: 'Met a fellow.' Yes, meeting a 'fellow' is reason enough for any amount of staying out. Who is 'a fellow,' I wonder, that he should outweigh wife, mother and sweetheart, daughter, niece and aunt? Why should 'a fellow' have such influence? No one ever sees 'a fellow,' or hears all his name. He is never produced. Ask after him, and you hear that he is not the sort of 'fellow' to be introduced. He is never brought home. Apparently he is not good enough; but he is important enough to upset a household, to keep meals waiting, to keep people up until mid-night; to have met him is ample excuse for anything forgetful or neglectful.

DIVISION OF THE COUNTY .- Letters

received from Dayton inform us that the 'division question' is fast growing in popular favor. Petitions are being their strength, but with the record of the pase five years to argue from, they have it all their own way. It is true that the present officials are retrenching and cutting down expenses whereever practicable; but the advocates of 'division' claim that there is no assurance that this policy will be permanent, and so to make assurance doubly sure they propose to divide the county, and to that end they are bending all their energies. When the work of dismemberment is completed, Walla Walla will descend from her present high position and no longer rank as the empire county of the territory.

But for all of this it is no country for an enterprising farmer. The newspapers and business men have persued a foolish policy. They have invited immigration and it has poured in and contin-ues to come, because everybody says so much, in popular favor. Petitions are being circulated asking the change, and the promoters of the measure represent that they will go before the legislature so strongly fortified that success is certain. The action of the last legis lature in the passage of swindling bills has largely contributed to bring about this feeling, and if in the end Walla Walla county is torn limb from limb, the people will have to thank their own trusted representatives for the untoward result. no other weakness than getting drunk about twice a year, and then he is amiable as Pontiac or Goliath. All the rest of the year he is a cool, measuring, gain-seeking business man, with the soul of a merchant. He owns nearly two acres of ground here, on which are a large hotel, a pool house for betting on horses, four cottages, a mineral spring, a rock spring, and trout pond. He has nearly one thousand trout, and he took us out to see them fed. Many of them weigh two pounds. His hotel is a substantial brick edifice, built on piles and planks twenty-four feet under the surface. He took a swamp, piled it, filled it, and made a paradise of it. I asked him how much he had spent here. He said: 'I have laid out $340,000. The first piece of ground I bought, fifty feet front, I paid $200 a foot for. I never bought anything in Saratoga at second price. If you reflect on any proposition over night they'll raise on you next morning. I keep a hotel in connection with my club-house, to be allowed to gamble. I aim with that hotel to pay my servants and to support the table. There are seventy people in my employment here. The cook is paid $400 for the season, and I generally present him $200 when he goes away. The good servants I generally re-engage for the next year.' The botel part of Morrissey's establishment bears no relation whatever in his gaming, and the games are neither visible nor the players audible from the dining-room. His salle de jouer is a sort of transept to his hotel, one immense room, lighted from the sky, carpeted richly, with a narrow rim of gaming tables around the sides. No citizen of Saratoga is allowed to play, no intoxicated persons, no verdant young men. Gambling has its own class. There are some men who game as naturally and TATTLING .- In all the black catalugue of vices, which unhappily debase the characters of the sons and daughters of Adam, tattling well nigh holds the pre-eminence. It is the meanest, the most detestable of all habits and when once contracted, clings as it were, with the tenacity of a demon. In view of its depravity, and of the many and fearful vices following in the train, the Lord commanded Moses to 'speak unto all the congregations of Israel and say unto them: Thou shalt not go up and down, as a tale bearer among the people,' and in the sacred psalm it is written, 'Whoso privily slandereth his neighbor, him will I cut off.' The rabid dog, let loose in a community to bite whatever man or beast the meets, is not as dangerous as the tattler. The dog kills only the individual bitten while the tattler's venom poison's madly and fatally, the whole community. He goes to a neighbor's and listening attentively, hears, perhaps something said that may be used to the disparagement, possibly, the ruin of another, which he drinks down with the avidity with which the thirsty toper does the fiery fluid, and then disseminate suspicion, distrust, and rankling hate, where before was the abode of neighborly love and confiding trust. Thus the peace of society is marred, is often disrupted; confidence is destroyed; friends made foes, discord and strife created, and all the diabolical schemes of the father of lies, used to destroy all that is lovely and of good report, furthered by the tattler, who may well be compared to the viper in the fable, that, warmed and brought to life by the care of a too kindhearted benefactor, turned and stung him to the heart.

PARENTAL LOVE .- No love is so true and tender as the love our parents give us, and for none are we so ungrateful. We take it as a matter of course, as something we deserve. Especially may our mothers toil and deny themselves, think all night and labor all day, without receiving any thanks whatever. From the day she walks all night with us while we cry, to the day when she helps to make our wedding dress and give us those cherished pearls which she wore in her girlhood we do not half recognize her love for us. Never until we are parents ourselves, do we quite comprehend. Yet is there anything like it? and good nature; outriders, heralds, The lover may desert us for some brighter beauty; the husband grow indifferent when we have been his a little while; the friend be only a summer friend, and fly when riches vanish, or when we are too sad to amuse; but our parents love us better in our sorrow, and holds us dearer for any change or disfigurement. There isn't much of heaven here on earth, but what there is of it, is chiefly given in

When these people say 'the Prince,' it is with an air of 'long live the King! Here comes the Marlborough House liveries, and such a carriage load of royalty; the Princess of Wales and her sister Dagmar, their white dresses and pink hats look ing pretty in the evening light; opposite them the Prince of Wales, who, in spite of rumor and increasing weight, is yet fine-looking, and the tall broad shouldered, good-looking Czarevitch; and then comes a last goes forth with venomous tongue to carriage, out of which little, sleepyholland white ribbons, appear to be rolling. upon one seat, and opposite, a stout, gracious-looking lady, of whom we remember chiefly her brilliant smile and pleasant salutation. The finest and softest wool is always found on the shoulders of a sheep But not one person in ten thousand is aware of this fact. Let us watch an expert when he is about to pass judg ment on a sheep concerning the value of the animal for producing wool, and it will be seen he always looks at the wool on the shoulders first. A writer of extensive experience in rearing fine Druggist's Sundries, &c. wooled sheep and in handling wool, communicated the following sugges tion for selecting a good wooled sheer

"Always assuming the wool to be inspected is really a fine wool we first examine the shoulders at the part where the finest and best wood is usually found. This we take as a standard and compare it with the wool from the ribs, the thigh, the rump and the shoulder parts, and the nearer the wool from the various portions of the animal approaches the standard the better. First we scrutinize the fineness, and if the result is satisfactory we pronounce the fleece in respect of fineness very 'even.' Next we inquire into the le cloaks and straw hats, with fluttering we find that the wool on the ribs, white ribbons, appear to be rolling. No one remedy is louder called for by the necessities of the American people than a sure and safe cure for Fever and Ague. Such

we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure; for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemmer. This "Curpe" expelsion. risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents the develop-ment of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and cer-tain cure of Intermittents is, that it contents no Ouinine or mineral correction. no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, sequence of the masmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Bheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure; and few will ever suffer from Intermittents if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines fail.

Ayer's HairVigor

natural Vitality and Color. A dressing

youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its casional use will present the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, LOWELL, MASS.
