OVER THE STREAM.

Dark the wilderness, rough the way,
Thorny, rugged, with danger rife,
Only safe when we watch and pray,
Toiling on in the path of life.
Still in the distance far we see—
Piercing the shadow—a golden gleam,
Yet ah I poor heart, it is far away.
And over the stream, over the stream.

"Must we cross the waters that lie
Dark and turbid, so deep and cold?
Is there so other way that leads
To that blest city with streets of gold?
Or is there no boatman with mystic oars—
Is there no angel of heavenly mien
To bear us across to that other shore—
Over the stream, over the stream.

"Stay weary spirit, so sad, forlors,
Seest thou not that slight canoe,
Pearly white, and amid the storm!
A pilot is waiting, and calling to you:
"Ob, beloved, be not afraid,
Death is not what ye mortals deem;
Trust in me, and I will land you safe,
Over the stream, over the stream."

Faith is the pearly white cance,
Christ is the pilot who holds the cars,
So poor spirit, 'its not for you
To fear, and tremble, and ask for more.
So why should we mourn when the shado

o why should no come,
come,
If through the darkness we see the gleamthe blessed light of our spirit's home
Over the stream, over the stream.

THE TOAST FOR LABOR.

Here's to the man with borny hand,
Who tugs at the breathing bellows;
Where anvils ring in every land,
He's loved by all good fellows.

And here's to him who goes afield, And through the glebe is plowing, Or with stout arms the ax doth wield, While ancient oaks are bowing.

Here's to the delver in the mine,

The sailor on the ocean,
With those of early craft and line,
Who work with true devotion.

The Gern an eitizens, who there, as elsewhere almost monepolies this branch of business, are naturally the heaviest losers by this peculiar and charact-ristic development of radii cal piety and policy. The Post says:

Some spoke out in sorrow, some in indignation, some in anger. The universal sentiment was that of great injustice. Hundreds of Germans are thus deprived of their only business. They cannot easily turn their hands to other business, even if opportunity occurred. Nine tenths of these men were order-loving, law abiding citizens, who respected themselves and the good name of the city. They mention—and who shall say other than with reason—that their rights are abridged, their property put in peril, and their persons made liable to the punishment and disgrace of prisons. We know not where this absurd idea sprang from, but we know that it is absurd, and one which brain workers themselves laugh at and deride.

EX-PRESIDENT FILLMORE

HIS VIEWS OF THE POLITICAL SITUATION-WHAT HE THINKS OF GRANT—THE NEGR

SUFFRAGE QUESTION, &C. I called to-day upon Mr. Millard Fillmore, ex-President of the United States, to ascertain that gentleman's views on the important public questions of the time. I found him at his office in Court street—for he still practices in his profession. I was struck with the little change time had made in his appearance since I saw him fifteen years ago, when he was the occupant of the White House. His hair is whiter and a little thing but he at the same accept and full round; House. His hair is whiter and a little worder, but he has the same erget and full round, ed form, smoothskin, with scarcely a winkle, and all the appearance of well preserved health. He said he had not varied in weight more than ten pounds since he was President, a chart was a contract to the said that he was a chart was a contract to the said that t and thought that he might have been abou and thought that no high have been about that much heavier when in the presidential chair. I found him the same digoified, courtly and affable gentleman for which he was always distinguished when in public life.

The first subject introduced was that of General Grant and his administration. Mr. General Grant and his administration. Mr. Fillmore believes Gen. Grant means well, and wishes to do right, but that through his inexperience in politics and public affairs, he has got himself into the meshes of the politicians, and has lost the finest opportunity of benefitting the country. He referred particularly to Gen. Grant's position immediately after the inauguration with regard to the Tenure-of-Offnee Act and the dimentics which the politicians in Congress raised about the Cabinet He thinks that had Grant been firm about requiring the repeal of the been firm about requiring the repeal of the Tenure-of-Office Act, and the confirmation of Tenure-of-Office Act, and the confirmation of his Cabinet as first formed, the Senate would have yielded; for Grant held at that time the confidence of the people, and would have been supported by them. Besides, Senators as well as members of the House, wanted the distribution of the offices, and the President had, in the power of nomination, the winning card. Had be refused to make any appointments unless this act were repealed, the Senators would have been so impressed by his firmness and so anxions to get the offices for firmness and so anxions to get the offices for have swept the act from the statute book.

Nor would they have embarrassed the president about his Cabinet nor have led him to Nor would they have embarrassed the president about his Cabinet nor have led him to change the original cast of it to suits their political views and ends. Distasteful as were his first Cabinet appointments and the policy in making them to these politicains, and much as they wished to cling to the power they had acquired over the Executive, they would have surrendered for the sake of the offices, and in the face of Grant's firmness and popularity, had he been determined and unmoved. It was a glorious opportunity to restore the equilibrium which has been destroyed by the usurpations of Congress between the different branches of the Government. The ex-President regards that issue The ex-President regards that issue as involving the greatest consequences—an issue the importance of which Gen Grant failed to comprehend, and which may change forever the practical operation of the Forerament. Looking at the tendency of all erament. Looking at the tendency of all public bodies to usurp power, and the ten acity with which they cling to it when once acquired, it may be a long time, if ever before the opportunity occurs to restore the former equilibrium between Congress, the Executive and Judiciary. The danger is, that, under the name of a Representative and Enderstips, Republic, the Government may that, under the name of a representative Republic, the Government may become an oligarchy of politicians. When speaking of this Mr. Fillmore took from his library Washington's Farewell Address, and read that portion of it in which the Father read that portion of it in which the Father of his Country pointed out the danger of Congress absorbing those powers of Government which properly belong to the Exceutive and the Judiciary, and in which he seemed almost to have a prophetic knowledge of the present state of things Washington said it must lead to despotism in one form or another, and Mr. Fillmore fears that this may he the case unless by some extraordinary.

But he does not see how the suffrage is to be taken away or re-stricted when once given. We are rushing on in the way of political revolution, and it seems that it must run its course to the extreme point of radicalism. It will be fortuntreme point of radication. It will be fortunate if this does not cullminate in a sans culotte regime, to be followed by another kind of despotism or personal distatorship. When speaking of this state of things, Mr. Fillmore referred to one of the old Italian Republics-that of Plorence. Adulteration of Food, Liquors and Drugs

WHAT WE EAT AND DRINK WHEN WE ARE WELL, AND WHAT WE "TAKE" WHEN WE ARE SICK.

Is is not a little remarkable that so apathy should exist among the masses of the popple on the subject of the adulteration of food, liquors and drugs. Nothing has been more clearly proved or is more generally believed than that such adulterations are very secondly menticed. generally practiced.

WHAT WE EAT-INGENTOUS AND DELETERI-

OUS ADULERATIONS.

Every well-imformed man in the community knows that a considerable portion of the food we eat is adulerated, and that the same is the case with the tea, coffee and wine we drink. The man who possesses only a moderate share of chemical knowledge knows at a glance that the fine green shades of certain classes of the fine green shades of certain classes of "choice" pickles and the delicate tint of many favorite brands of green tea are due to the use of mineral poisons. In regard to the adulteration of milk, no one has any doubt. At in tervals public attention is called to the subject and considerable excitement is develop-Ject and considerable excellent is develop-ed. A panie among the adulterators is the result, and a tempory and partial reform eu-sues. But presently the excitement subside-and things soon "become normal again." The fraudulent dealers regain their hardihood and return to their old ways. At the height of the last "swill-milk" commotion in height of the last "swill-milk" commotion in London some industrious person, with a genius for "facts and figures," went into an elaborate computation, showing that the whole number of cows supplying milk for London could not furnish a tablespoonful per

London could not furnish a tablespoouful per day to each mun, woman and child of the population. Thus far, there is reason to believe that flour is not tampered with in this country to anything like the extent to which it is in England. There, it has been established beyond doubt, slicate of magnesia, in the form of soap-stone, clay and bone dust, have been largely used in adulterating flour. In the United States unwholesome damaged flour has been mixed with good, and alum has been used to produce that extreme white has been used to produce that extreme white ness in the bread which the mistaken taste of a portion of the public so foolishly admires. We know of no worse injustly than this in reference to flour and bread on this side of the Atlantic, though it is quite posible that some of our Eastern manufanturers ble that some of our Eastern manufactures and dealers have taken lessons recently of the English adulterators. Green teas are generally poisoned by the Chinese themselves before exportation—arsenite of copper being extensively used for the purpose of metamorphosing inferior black teas into high-priced green teas. Coffee is adulterated with priced green teas. Conce is additerated with chicory, peas, beans and acorns, all of which are, however, more barmless than the genulae article, so that the swindle is not a mischierous one. As to the "roasted horse liver" which is said to be so large an ingredient in the cheap coffees used by the English poor, though nauseating to the fancy, it is not injurious. WHAT WE DRINK-SKILLFUL ADMIXTURES WHAT WE DRINK—SKILLEL ADMIXTURES.

Ninety per cent of the port wine consumed in England and this country (we do not speak of California port) contains infusions of dye stuff, and is strengthened with the most villainous brandy, itself an entirely begus article. Every year immense quantities of cheap whiskey are exported from the United States to France and come back, after hears meaningsted, in the above of his United States to France and come back, after being manipulated, in the shape of high-priced French brandies. Gin is adulterated with earbonate of potash, acetate of lead, grains of paradise, and extracts or compounds called "gin flavorings." "But our whisky at least is genuine," says the toper. Our old rye and Bourbon are not tampered with. We can't say how this may be. But we know that when the internal revenue tax on whiskey was $2 a gallon there was just as strong a motive for adulterating it as any other liquor; and we also know that, while other liquor; and we also know that, while that tax was in force, sales of whiskey at $1 80 and $1 90 per gallon were not infre-$1 80 and $1 90 per gallon were not infrequent. How could this be if there was no adulteration. The "New American Encyclopedia" says: "The common whiskey of the country is largely diluted in the distilleries with water, and then to restore the strength the lye of ashes is added in sufficient quantity to give the linger the absence of strength the tye of ashes is added in sumercial quantity to give the liquor the character which is expressed by the common name by which it is called, "rot-gut."

If our health suffers from the deleterious stuff that forms so large a percentage of wha we eat and drink, or from any other cause and we go to the apothecary's with a physi we eat and drink, or from any other cause, and we go to the apothecary's with a physician's prescription, the chances are that it is composed of adulterated drugs. The adulteration of opium is carried on as a regular business and on an enormous scale. Sand, aloes, gams of various kinds, stems of plants and other foreign substances are freely mixed with it to such an extent that the active principle of the drug is in a great measure lost. Peruvian bark, rhubarb, seons and numerous other articles comprised in the materia medica are in like manner subject to a cierkship is a curse to a young man, if there is any thing in him.

Willo Is A GENTLEMAN!—A gentleman is nat merely a person acquainted with certain forms and etiquette of life, easy and self-possesed in society, able to speak and act and move in the world without awkwardness, and free from habits which are vulgar and in bad taste. A gentleman is something beyond this; that which lies at the root of all his pleasing is the same spirit which lies at the root of every Christian virtue. It is the thoughtful desire of doing in every instance to others as he would that others should do unto him. He is constantly thinking, not indeed how he may give pleasure to others for the mere sense of pleasing, but how he can show respect to others—how he may avoid hurting their feelings. When he is in society he scrupulously ascertains the position and relations of every one with whom he comes in contact, that he may give to each his due honor, his proper position. FLORENCE is described in a letter written there as a slow place. The legend says that Florence was built upon a field of lilies, by refuge from persecution, about fifteen hundred years before the Christian era. The letter in question says the poppy is a fitter exponent of her present state. For a spell of sleep is upon her polities, her religion, her industry, her modern art. The driver lies asleep upon his load; the huckster nods upon a bench outside his little shop in the drowsy morning. The writer has seen a barefoot boy enjoying his siesta stretched upon the pavement of a crowded thoroughfare, and another throw down his cap for a pillow in the public street, with that careless grace which belongs to the Italian people, as his sole preparation for a similar slumber. FLORENCE is described in a letter written

A STORY OF REAL LIFE.

YOUNG LADY LEAVES HER HOME AND EN-TERS UPON A LIFE OF SHAME-STRANGER THAN FICTION.

There are many in this city who may remember a certain young lady named A—a P—il—s, who was the belle of the different parties given at Upion Hall, two years since, by the Hawthorne and Nereus Boat Club Soby the Hawthorne and Nereus Boat Club So-cieties. She was of surpassing beauty. Her form was queenly. She dressed in elegant style and with exquisite taste. Her complex-ion is alabaster; her hair reven black, flowing in natural ringlets. Her voice is superb. Her accomplishmests are varied; she can sing with ease and skill the most difficult musio of the best masters. She has a firefield ad-ucation and could fill and adora any station in life. She has a pareetage the most re-spectable in our city. Their honor and repute, until lately, have been without a stain, Apparently happy in her home and virtuous and modest, she left her father's house one evening to attend a private party. She never and modest, she left her father's house one evening to attend a private party. She never returned to her home again! Her absence was the cause of great distress. Months passed and no knowledge of her was obtained. The gentleman who accompanied her to the party stated that he had left her at her own gate, after she had bid him good night.

SHE MEETS HER FATHER.

One evening about the middle of last March, the lather of the unfortunate girl saw his daughter emerging, thickly vailed, from a restaurant on Washington street. His first his daughter emerging, thickly vailed, from a restaurant on Washington street. His first impulse was to rush forward and clasp his daughter to his heart. Restraining his paternal feelings, however, he resolved to follow her and learn, if possible, her place of resiwdence. Lightly she glided over the pavement, little thinking that the purent she loved so well was tracing her footsteps, his eyes fixed upon her form heeding not the passer-by who rudely jostled him as he hurried along. She entered a large building on Kearny street near Bash, the almost erazed father rushing blindly after her. She heard him on the stairs; she turned and her eyes met his, and with one wild, thrilling screamshe fell insensible upon the floor of the carpeted hall. He raised her tenderly in his arms and kissed her pale, white cheeks, and with large, scalding tears coursing down his face he pressed her again and again to his heart. The landlady had heard the scream and now came into the hall inquiring the cause of the unusual noise. With her assistance the insensible girl was conveyed to her room, and by the administration of proper restoratives recovered consciousness. Slowly she opened her eyes and her gaze rested upon the face of her father. He bent over her, murmuring in heart-broken, accents. "My daughter, oh! my daughter!" Her snow-white arms are thrown around his neck and she kisses him again and again.

She REFUSES TO RETURN HOME.

SHE REPUSES TO RETURN HOME.

The landlady withdraws from the room; The landlady withdraws from the room; probably she thinks of the time when she had a father to love, protect and care for her, and her heart melts at the tender scene she has just witnessed." "My child, my child." asks the father, "why did you leave your home, your poor broken hearted mother and your tender old father, who loved you better than life?" She answers not; her arms are still around his neck, and her head its resting upon his become. Onestions we arms are still around his need, and her head is resting upon his bosom. Questions are useless in regard to the cause of her leaving home and friends, and why she entered upon a life so full of shame and remorse. Deaf to all entreaties she refuses to look upon the face of the mother who bore her, and those face of the mother who bore her, and those to whom she is still dear. To one she has but one answer: *I can never return home, father; think of me only as one who is dead!" And the desolate and despairing man murmurs, while his utterance is almost choked, with sobs: "My child, I would rather see you dead than here." But tears and sobs are of no avail; she firmly refuses to return home, and so the poor old man leaves her. O God! what agony must be his as he passes down that carpeted hall, where the shaded lights cast their beams upon his uncovered lights cast their beams upon his uncovered head! What intense misery must be his to think that he goes from that house leaving a a West Troy receiver of a good sized box:

What do them 'ere letters mean?" pointing to the 'C. O. D.' on the corner. Them to the 'C. O. D.' on the corner. Them means psy,' said the emphasic expressman. Them don't spell pay,' rejoined the other; 'you go along, this 'ere is paid for, I know.' I tell you what,' returned the expressman, the bright thought almost knocking off the wagon seat, 'them 'ere letters mean Come Ommediately Down,' at which conclusive auggestion the happy man paid for the box, and the expressman went over the river with a new idea in his head.

Think that he goes from that house leaving a daughter whom for nineteen years he has worshiped, behind him, leaving he to a life worshiped, behind him, leaving he worshiped, behind him, own bosom. Soon her sunny day dream will close. The black winds of winter will blow on that form trained to tenderness and reared in delicacy, and her feet will stumble on the dark mountains, with no one to help or heed her bitter cry.—S. F. Northern Pacific Railroad. An Illinois exchange has an article in relation to the North Pacific Railroad, the main points of which we reproduce. It says that from Duluth, Minn., at the head of Lake Superior, to Seattle, Washington Territory, on Puget Sound, is 1,774 miles. The ground will probably be broken for the Northern Pacific Railroad which is to span this distance between, inside the next eight months. This is the shortest possible link between the Pacific ocean and the Northern Lakes. The road was first chartered during the administration of President Polk, and the original projectors were southern politicians and capitalists in Kentucky, but prior to the rebellion the franchise passed into Northern hands. Gov. James Gregory Smith, of Vermont, is now the President of the Company. This road will be built by business men on business principles, and receives no loan of Government credit, nor will any bond subsidy be asked for, although it has a munificent land grant, consisting of ten alternate odd-numbered sections, or 12,800 acres per mile through Wisconsin and Minnesota, and twice that allowance through the territories. Ffty Million acres of virgin soil, stretching in a belt thirty miles wide from Lake Superior to tide water on the Pacific slope, are embraced by this grant along the main trunk and its branches. For an hundred miles from the Eastern terminus most of this land is adapted to grain culture, while through Montana and Idaho there is mineral wealth and soil adapted to grazing. The Northern Pacific will follow the line of the forty-seventh parallel, and pass midway through Minnesoto, Dakota, Montanna, the northern part of Idaho and the centre of Washington Territory. Although six degrees further north, the new road will be more readily kept free from snow than the Southern line, and pass through a milder winter climate. This is easily explained by the difference in altitude. The Northern Pacific will not have along its entire length, for more than 250 miles, an elevation of more than 3,000 feet above the sea, while 1,100 miles of the present Pacific Road is more than 4,000 feet above the ocean level. The highest point on the recently construct ed Pacific line is 8.262 feet above tide water: the highest point on the Northern Pacific will be less than 4,000 feet above the same Jay Cooke & Co., will be the Fiscal Agents of the road and the contract will be formally, as it is already virtually, closed, as soon as the survey of the route is completed. Two parties are to accomplish this starting from Lake Superior and Puget Sound respectively. The Fiscal Agents of the Company are respresented in each expedition. The preliminary examination will be completed by the first of October, it is expected, when, if the report is favorable, work will be begun at at once. The road is expected to cost $120,000,000, and cover about five years in construction. A burean of immigration will be opened and work afforded immigrants, as well as a chance to procure farms along the Jay Cooke & Co., will be the Fiscal Agents vell as a chance to procure farms along the line of the new Road

THE GIFTS .- Scott, the sodomite, is like the man who said the "horse was sixteen feet high." Having said that the Gifts are democrats, he sticks to it. We have no objection to the fellow lying if it will do him any good, and if he wants proof that he is a liar, we have only to refer him to radical papers published during the last Presidential campaign where he will find the Gifts paras ded as "converts from democracy." At the time the radical papers had much to say about old Col. Gift making stump speeches for Grant, and the younger Gifts were represented as following suit. Scott's democrats are like Falstaff's men in buckram.

A HARD HIT. - The Salem Press republishes Scnator Williams' speech, delivered in the U.S. Senate two years since, in which that gentleman urged that the Indian reservations be placed under the exclusive control of the military. The point of this is, that Williams has just made a hasty trip to Washington for the purpose of urging the abandonment of the very policy which on floor of the Senate he advocated. Pope's description applies to the Oregon Senator-"All things by turns, and nothing long."

CUT MOUTH JOHN is on his way to Ne vada with a herd of sick mules, which he will dispose of to the Nevada people at, a great bargain! After John completes his trade it will stand him in hand to make tracks as soon as possible, as other wise he may find himself dancing a jig at the end of a rope.

ADMIRAL FARRAGUT, the highest officer in the American Navy, arrived at San Francisco about a week since, and failed to create any sensation whatever. These was no speech making, or firing of guns, and altogether his reception was about the coolest thing imagi-nable.

CENTER SHOT .- It will be seen by the telegraphic dispatches that the democrats have carried Tennessee by 65,000 majority, electing their Governor, Legislature, and every thing else. Senter was the democratic candidate for governor, and the election may be regarded as a center shot for the demo-

IMPORTANT MISSION .- Hon. Frank P. Dugan starts overland for the States within a few days, for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures in the cities of Chicago, New York, Boston, Cincinnatti, and other cities of the East, upon the climate, mining, and agricultural resources, scenery, and other incidents of the North Pacific Coast, with a view of laying before the laboring millions of those cities, the advantages of Oregon and Washington for permanent homes, and also inducing capitalists to take hold and build our Railroads, and thereby furnish us and the large, anticipated influx of population with markets for our vast surplus products. Mr. Dugan is an able and fluent speaker, and having resided in this city for the past seven years, having frequently visited every portion of the country about which he proposes to speak, we are confident that his visit will be mutually advantageous to the people of this country and those to whom he imparts the vast stores of useful knowledge which he has in years of personal observations and research acquired, concerning this Valley, and the adjoining Territory of Idaho, Valley, and the adjoining Territory of Idahor as well as the State of Oregon. On the conclusion of his lecturing tour, Mr. D. proposes to publish a pamphlet for distribution, containing reliable information, statistics, &c, and which will be largely circulated in the Atlantic States, and must be the means of attracting to these shores a vast influx of immigrants. Paners in the cities named attracting to tness shores a vast influx of immigrants. Papers in the cities named above, as well as throughout the country, are requested to give notice of Mr. D's. coming, and thus secure for him that full attendance at his lectures which their importance demands.

FROM KOOTENAL-Mr. H. Hewitt, just down rom Kootenai, reports business in the mines rather dull. About three bundred men are a work on Perry Creek. Three claims that ar opened are paying well. Huff & Co., took out of their claim the week previous to Mr. H. starting down $2,300. Other claims were yielding a the rate of $200 a day. A number of men had in a measure suspended work, waiting for the completion of a shaft when they expect to thoroughly test the diggings. The shaft was down 55 feet, and it was thought they would strike the bed rock in two or three days. In the old camp two or three claims that are owned by white men are paying well. About three hundred Chinamen are at work in the old camp and judging from the money they expend for provisions, they are doing well. An Indian who provisions, they are doing well. An Indian who was caught "crevicing" in a miners claim was shot and killed, just before our informant left. The English Gold Commissioner continues to collect the heavy tax from the miners, and fails to apply any portion of the same to opening roads. As a matter of course the miners complain of this injustice. The camp is well supplied with full stocks of flour and bacon. But groceries are in short supply. Flour is selling at from $13 to $16 per hundred; Bacon 22 @ 40 cents; Sugar 50 cents; Coffee, 50 @ 60 cents; other articles in proportion. Trains were comving in with fresh stocks, and all the indications were that the camp would be well supplied. The general health of the miners was good, and no casualities to note, save the killing of the Indian thief. The country produces plenty of regetables, and with several parties engaged in suppyling the camp with fresh milk, the miners are enabled to fare sumptuously.

DEMOCRATIC RECRUIT.—The Oregon City Enterprise is now edited by D. M. McKenny. and is a straight out democratic paper. We are pleased to notice that the democracy is gaining recruits from the stronghold of the enemy. The Enterprise, under D. C. Ireland, was about the meanest black republiname, was about the meanest black-republican paper in the land, and hence the charge of editors and politics is something for the democracy to feel jubilant over. Let the democrats give the Exterprise and other reliable democratic newspapers a liberal support, and their success at the next June election is assured. tion is assured.

Gov. Evans, is not the editor of the Ter ritorial Republican. The Governor keeps in mind the maxim, "Touch not pitch less ye be defiled."

Herewith I enclose circular of March 10th, 1850, and call your attention to Section 21, page 7, showing the manner of proceeding in making Homestead proof. Respectfully Yours, Joseph S. Wilson, Commissioner.

1. That new proof be sent to this office, showing upon its face why the witnesses cannot attend in person, and
2. That each claimant appear at this Office and make the affidarit required by law.

This bears very hard upon the settler, and I have written to the Commissioner in their behalf, and hare in their name requested that the first requirement may be met by the claimant himself making affidarit as to why the witnesses do not come to the land office, to wit, because it is too far, and costs too much, and for the second I have requested permission: o come to Walla Walla myself, to take the affidarits of claimants, and have shown to him that while it would cost each man at least fift vollers to come here. waita myself, to take the admarts of claimants, and have shown to him that while it would cost each man at least fifty dollars to come here, I could go at a cost of about three dollars to each person. I will give due notice of the Commissioners reply. It will be observed that persons taking homesteads are not affected by this letter, only refers to final homestead proof.

REDUCED PRICES .- It will be noticed by their card in another column, that Messrs-Schwabacher Brothers offer the whole of their magnificant stock of goods at greatly reduced prices. Goods are now sold at Walla Walla at lower prices than at any other point east of the Mountains, and as consequence trade is being attracted here from all parts of the country. Parties who used to go to Umatilla and the Dalles to who used to go to Umatina and the Danes to make their purchases, now find it to their in-terest to come to Walla Walla where they are always sure to find large stocks to se from, and prices placed at the lowest margin.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS .- Just at this time both the from one hundred and fifty to two hundred boys are left to run the streets and contract habits LATEST EASTERN NEWS Dates to August 6. [COMPILED FROM THE OREGONIAN.] MISSISSIPPI POLITICS.

Jackson, Aug. 6.—The Clarion of to-day sublishes an address signed by thirty-six publishes an adverse signed by thirty-six old line whigs and democrats, representing every county in the State, urging the people to support the National Union republican party, and vote the ticket they will present, claiming that in this party are the support-ers of the views of the President and the Congressional plan of reconstruction. This party has called a nominating convention for the 8th of September, in this city.

TENNESSEE ELECTION.

Nashville, Aug. 7.—Additional returns indicate that Senter's majority may reach 65,000. As far as heard from the State Senate stands, Conservatives 16, Conservative republicans 4, with five districts to hear rom. House Conservatives, 46; republifrom. House Conservatives, 46; republicans, 4; Stokes republican 4.

Nashville, Aug. 6.—Stokes' majority in the city is eight. Senter's in the county is 1,800. Senter's in Knouville, 300; in the county 800. Returns show that Senter has carried middle and western Tennessee by a sweeping majority. Making allowance for Stokes' probable majority in east Tennessee, Senter has carried the State by 50,000 or 60,000. The conservative Legislative tickets have been in all the districts carried by Senter. Probably the conservatives will have a majority in both branches.

Specials from various points of Tennessee show that a much heavier vote was cast than at the Presidential election. Senter's major ity in the State will probably be from 50,000 to 60,000. No serious disturbances are thus far reported. The Legislature, it is probable will be strongly democratic.

FROM THE INDIAN COUNTRY.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Washington specials say that accounts from the Iudian country are still favorable for peace. Commissioner Parker sees no reason for fear of a disturbance this fall. The policy of collecting the Lediana or accountries being arrially nuch. Indians on reservations is being rapidly push Indians on reservations is being rapidly push-ed. Unexpectedly large numbers are com-ing in and showing a disposition to take hab-its of civilized life. The system of distri-buting annuity goods at a large town which led to lawlessness and the transfer of most of the goods to white traders at nominal prices, has been broken up. The distribu-tions are now made on the reservations and access is denied to the traders.

SOUTHERN STATES. Augusta, Ga., Aug. 6.—A report has been received from Edgefield, S. C., that Charles and J. D. Creswell, who left here on Wednesday, it is supposed to engage in a duel, met near Edgefield yesterday and fought with pistols, when the former was instantly billed and the helt to engage in a dual of the control of the contro with pistols, when the former was instally killed and the latter seriously and perhaps mortally wounded. The affair is entirely of a private nature, and it is alleged grew out of family troubles.

They went down in a buggy. Coming to the village, they left the horse on the road and passed through the different streets, leaving notices at every house. When they returned to their buggy they were astonished to find that the buggy, horse and harness were decorated all over with the notices they had just served. On inquiry ioto the cause the negroes informed them that no attention would be paid to those notices; that the military would to those notices; that the military would have to remove them. They offered no violence to the officers, but assurred them that no civil faw was recognized in that village. Thus the matter stands, Taylor is deprived of his property by the military, and to recover it he is referred to the civil law, which is powerless.

Marshal Barlow says the boats $600,000. will not be permitted to leave their present positions until their character is changed or instructions are received for their release.

34-4f Opposite I. T. Recec's Warshouse.

DISTRICT CLERK .- Judge Kennedy has signified his intention to retain R. P. Reynolds in the position of District Clerk. In our intercourse with Mr. P. we have found him gentlemanly and accommodating, and baring his black re publicanism, we regard him as a clever fellow.

DESIRABLE RESIDENCE.-Mr. E. Brown, being about to remove from the city, offers for sale his residence, most desirably situated on Alder street just below the Court House. To a private fam ily, desiring the comforts of a home, no better opportunity can be offered. Possession given immediately. The house will be sold separately or with the furniture, and in either case at a very low price.

PATENT MEDICINES. - Specimens of Dr. Murray's "Magic Oil," ås also his "Lung and Liver occasion requires will have a trial. These medicines are spoken highly of by those who have used them, and without doubt can be relied upon for the cure of diseases for which they are recommended. Dr. Murray's medicines are for sale by Drs. Colman and Day, at their drug stores.

FRESH CIDER.—The printing office is indebted to Mr. John Hancock for a plentiful supply of fresh cider, manufactured by him at his orchard, some ten miles below town. This cider appears to have "body," and with age promises to be an excellent article. Mr. H. has provided himself with the very best machinery for the manufacture of cider, and will convert green fruit into a de-lightful beverage at a very small cost to the fruit grower.

season to fix a standard of value for the new wheat coming into market. For the present the are shy about entering into engagements. A mill owner on the Upper Touchet has bought small lots at 75 cents, which may be regarded as the ruling rate. Holders, however, are sanguine that wheat will bring $1 before the close of the season, and prefer to hold for an advance.

LIEUT. JOHN PULLMAN, a Walla Walla youth, just graduated with the highest bonors of his Licut. P. has a three months' leave of absence, at the expiration of which he will join his regi ment, the 8th Cavalry, now on duty in Arizona. Our young friend was appointed to West Point on the recommendation of Geo. E. Cole, and his career in the Academy was eminently creditable to the Territory from which he hailed.

Hon. J. K. KENNEDY, the newly appointed Judge for the First Judicial District, arrived at Walla Walla in the early part of the week, and at once entered upon discharge of his official duties. Judge Kennedy is extremely radical in politics, but being a courteous, genial gentlenan, and withal a thorough trained lawyer, we feel quite sure that he will fill his high office to the satisfaction of the people of the District. A stringer in our midst, we bespeak for him what we know he will receive—a courteous reception.

At Home.—Our friend, and everybody's friend,

Charles Russell, has returned from his hurried trip to the Atlantic States. Mr. R. returned by way of the overland railroad, having come through from Omaha in six days. He speaks in high terms of the railroad; says that it is better than the best of the Eastern roads, and that traveling by rail is a pleasure. He also has a good word for Hailey's stage line, which he says is complete in all its appointments and run with special regard to the comfort and conveinance of at the Internal Revenue office, on Tuesday after of Col. Cock and Dirty Cox, rival aspirants for the Governorship of the Territory. The caucus seemed to have been got up under the auspices of Gov. Ballard, of Idaho, and Dr. Bailey, o Oregon. The attendance was quite large and embraced leading radicals from all parts of the valley, the majority of whom were in the interest of Dirty Cox. Col. Cock's friends, however, were too smart to be caught in the trap set for them, and so after a couple of hours spent in a vain endeavor to harmonise conflicting interesst the caucus adjourned without having accomplish ed anything. We give our radicals friends the benefit of this notice free of charge, and by way of conclusion suggest that although Gov. Bal land and Dr. Bailey are very clever gentlemen we yet think it in bad tasts for them to meddle in the local politics of Washington Territory.

THE MINING TRADE.—There is not a day passes that does not witness the departure of one or more trains for the mines. As a rule these trains are mainly loaded with flour and provisions, the product of this Valley, thus bringing to us constant stream of treasure very little of which is sent abroad to pay for importations. A community that sells more than it buys is on the high road to prosperity, and this being the condition of Walla Walla Valley, we are assured of a prosperous future. As indicating the Training the trains fitted out by I. T. Reese, give a list of the trains fitted out by I. T. Reese, give a list of the trains fitted out by I. T. T. Cable, 32 packs, for Granite Creek, Oregon; John Harvey, 39 packs, for Mon. iana; C. H. Davis, 35 packs, Burnt River, Oregon; James Smith, 30 packs, for Kootenai; Hank & Yank, 60 packs, Helena, M. These trains were all loaded with flour' whiskey, and assorted stocks of general mer-In addition to the above, Mr. Reese-ed 25,000 lbs of flour to Idaho by teams. He also made a shipment of one thousand barrels of flour to a Dalles operator. This is a summary of the operations of but two establishments. Other business houses have used a fair trade with the mines, as also for home consumption, the whole of which, when footed up, shows a business activity that places Walla Walla at the head of commercial centres in the Walla at the head of commerc tablishments. Other business houses have done as recently turned out at his shop in this city, a mammoth wagon, which is a curiosity in its way and well merits a description. It built after the style of the "prairie school er." familiar to all old Californians. Height er," familiar to all old Californians. Height of wheels, 63 feet; tires, 14 inches thick; bed 18 feet long and 5 feet high; capacity 10,000 pounds, exclusive of feed for animals, or a total capacity of 11,500 pounds. This wagon in built of the best Eastern timber, is heavily ironed throughout, and for the purpose of transportation is unequalled by any wagon in the country. This wagon was built at the cost of $750, which is less than inferior wagons can be laid down for from below. Persons requiring substantial freight below. Persons requiring substantial freight wagons should examine this speciman of Mr. Lynch's handicraft.

BALL .- It will be noticed that Mr. Phillips' new and magnificent brick store is to be inaugurated by a grand ball, given under the auspices of Mr. John Justice, who is just the man to get up a neat and tasty entertain-ment, where everybody will enjoy themselves. The building having a solid, substantial ap-pearance, we propose to take a hand in that ball, and so friend John, put us down for a tinket.

JOB PRINTING. HAND-BILLS, BUSINESS CARDS, &c., neatly

Many years ago, the writer of these lines and an invalid physician, while visiting the Island of St. Croix for their health, experienced and witnessed many surprising and beneficial effects of the Eum there produced upon many of the invalids who were (like ourselves) seeking health; and, upon inquiry and investigation, obtained a full history of its medicinal virtues. He was delighted and surprised, and after his own recovery, which soon occurred, determined, if possible, to procure the sole right to manufacture and sell it in the United States.

The result of his labors was a glorious success for himself and suffering humanity, for the celebrated PLANTATION BITTERS was thus made known to the world. PLAN-TATION BITTERS being an article of real merit, founded upon new principles, and relying wholly upon the vegetable world for its medicinal effects, worked a rapid revolution in the history of medicine, and became as a household word all over the civilized world. The cabalistic S. T.—1860—X. was a talisman of health, and the demand for the PLANTATION BITTERS soon far exceeded the abilities of the proprietors to supply.

Notwithstanding the large importation of St. Croix Rum, made appressly for the compounding of these Bitters, the quantity was inadequate. It therefore became necessary that arrangements upon an extensive scale abroad should at once he made, and an agent was dispatched to St. Thomas for that purpose. He was fortunate in securing and leasing several plantations on come of the largest and most productive estates on the island. Houses, stills and presses were erected as if by mayic, which utterly "astonished the natives." The services of experienced men and natives of the island were procured, and very soon the proprietors of the PLANTATION BITTERS were in a position to supply their laboratory with all the perfectly pure St. Croix Rum needed in manufacturing the GREAT DYSPEPTIC TONIC AND INVIGORATOR. The above cut represents the natives crushing the sugar-cane and otherwise preparing it for the stills and presses.

As an antidete to Fever and Ague, Intermittent and Malarious Fevers, Dyspopsia, and other kindred diseases, the use of the PLANTATION BITTERS is unsurpassed in the history of the world. Over five million bettles are disposed of annually. They are adapted to old and young, male and female. They are agreeable in taste, and always produce an immediate beneficial result.
