

Walla Walla Statesman.

FRIDAY EVENING, September 13, 1867.

GORHAM, on the supposition that he would be elected Governor of California, resigned his position as Clerk of the U. S. District Court.

PROSPEROUS.—The Register says that Vancouver never was more prosperous than at present. We are glad to hear it, and trust that our neighbors only have a foretaste of the "good time coming."

SENATOR WILLIAMS, of Oregon, has just led to the hymenal altar Mrs. Kate George, a Portland belle and highly accomplished lady.

HORACE HAWES, of San Francisco, has offered to donate $50,000 toward endowing an institute for the use of the workmen of that city.

DEAD.—The S. F. Flag, one of the most blatant radical sheets on the Pacific coast, has given up the ghost. Its proprietor, D. O. McCarthy, was the radical candidate for State Printer, and defeated before the people, his sheet at once collapsed.

EXPLORATIONS.—Parties are now out surveying the different passes through the Cascade range, with a view to ascertaining the most eligible route for a railroad connecting the Columbia river with Puget Sound.

THE LESSON.—The result of the late election in California teaches the lesson that if political parties would succeed they must nominate good men for office.

AS HISTORICAL CHARACTER.—The Lieutenant Pike, referred to in an item headed "Military," is quite a historical character. A native of Ohio, he found himself in Texas, at the breaking out of the war.

JUBILEE.—The democrats of Portland had a glorious time over the California election. Salutes were fired, speeches made, and the whole closed up with a grand torch-light procession.

A Political Revolution.

The returns of the California election indicate a remarkable political revolution. Two years since the radicals elected their Congressional ticket in that State by an average majority of seventeen thousand.

ENTERPRISE.—It may seem somewhat surprising, but yet it is nevertheless the fact, that the first news we had of the California election, reached us by way of Owyhee.

THE INVESTIGATIONS into the gambling business in New York city reveals the existence of four hundred and fifty men who earn their living solely by deceiving fools.

JEFF DAVIS recently said in conversation that the Tennessee election will probably inaugurate a war of races, and he believed there was no other course open for the whites in that State than to discharge the Radical blacks in their employment.

CALIFORNIA produces annually three and a half million gallons of wine worth one and a quarter millions of dollars, and brandy worth a quarter million more.

CREEK MINING.—A friend who was down on More's creek, below the point where the Boise City road crosses, a few days ago, informs us that there are all of two hundred men engaged in mining, and from them generally he received information that the claims were paying very well.
