HEART-SEARCHINGS. There hangs a picture in my little room Of a face that is tender and strong and true; Where in wintry days sweet roses bloom, And in summer violets wet with dew.

Idle Money. It is somewhat paradoxical to say that a people make a prodigious showing of wealth in a time of general depression than when business is brisk and times "good."

THE HOPEFUL YANKEE ON ARRIVING. How it is conducted. A Night with the Monks of St. Bernard, as described by an American Correspondent. A correspondent of the Boston Globe furnishes the following interesting account of a recent visit to the famous Hospice of the Monks of St. Bernard.

HER ONE MISTAKE. A Woman who had unparalleled Good Judgment in Everything except Choosing a Husband. A local correspondent of the Boston Transcript (can it be a woman?) writes in this strain: "I happen to know a woman, now more than sixty years old, who was taken from an honorable business avocation, in which she had been eminently successful, to become a wife.

THE HOPEFUL YANKEE ON ARRIVING. The road up the valley from Martigny has nothing of special interest. A tunnel through the solid rock, seventy yards in length, is entered near a point where formerly there was a lake, but which burst its barriers in 1838, and spread devastation in the valley below.

THE HOPEFUL YANKEE ON ARRIVING. How the fly breathes.—Insects have no lungs like the vertebrate animals, nor gills like the molluscs. The blood is oxygenized by means of a complicated series of air tubes ramifying to the most delicate organs.

HER ONE MISTAKE. It happened, however, that he went to her whenever his affairs became desperately straitened, and, by means of her severe economy, often managed to extricate himself. Once when he had foolishly exhausted his income in building additions to old houses or in extensive repairs for exacting tenants, for which his bills came in fast, she patiently showed him how to change certain investments, proposing to take stores in lieu of those absorbing houses—a successful change.

THE HOPEFUL YANKEE ON ARRIVING. Here it is, as we afterwards learned, that most of the accidents occur. Travelers at certain seasons of the year are sometimes overtaken by avalanches and buried in the snow, but usually, wearied and fatigued, a drowsiness comes on and yielding to this, they lie down to die, undisturbed in season to be restored to consciousness.

HER ONE MISTAKE. A Beautiful Reflection.—It cannot be that earth is man's abiding place that our life is cast up by the ocean of eternity to float a moment upon its waves and then sink into nothingness.

Rules for Spelling. The following rules should be carefully committed to memory as the knowledge of them will prevent that hesitation about the spelling of common words which is frequently experienced even by the well educated.
