THE POLITICAL CAULDRON is buzzing, and our republican friends are in high glee. It is best not to get too jubilant, as possibly after the convextion is over some of the patriots may be sore-headed.

Chris Maier now lives on the old Bush farm, adjoining town, and his pleasant face can be daily seen on our sfreets. Chris has shown what industry and a determination to succeed can accomplish in this world.

HENRY VANSYCKLE, a member of the last legislature, was before the democratic conven-tion for a county office, and failed to get a single vote. Henry is a pretty young man, but as a politician he is scarcely a success.

DUSENBERY BROS. are now opening their fall goods, and judging from the piles of boxes and bales, they have enough to supply the whole country. Enterprising and industrious merchants, they deserve their immense success.

OLD POLITICAL HACKS.-If the republicans wish to succeed in electing any portion of their ticket, they must avoid the mistake of loading it down with old political hacks—regular "dead beats." This is the great objection to the ticket already in the field.

Main street, between Second and Third streets, is now ornamented with a Chinese Joss House, from the second story of which lighted lamps are displayed nightly. Notwithstanding all the prejudice against them, the number of Chinese in the valley is constantly increasing, and certain lines of labor are almost exclusively monopolized by the moon-eyed celestials.

PAFER FROM CHICAGO.—The STATESMAN of last week, as also the issue of to-day, was printed on paper shipped direct from Chicago. The freight charges on the shipment alone amounted to $109 41, and yet after paying these charges the paper cost us much less than amounted to $199 41, and yet arter paying these charges the paper cost us much less than we could lay it down from either San Francisco or Portland. Hereafter we will keep on hand a full supply of paper, imported direct from the East, and will be able to fill orders at lower figures than the Portland dealers.

THE COW NUISANCE. - A gentleman whose house is on Third street, nearly opposite the court house, desires to know whether cows owned by a minister of the gospel have privi owned by a minister of the gospel have privi-leges over and above cows owned by "any other man?" We think not, although it is quite likely that our model police will view it in a different light. For years we have been pestered by cows, but in our case the cows be-longed to the county assessor, and as a matter of course we had no redress. The "ring" has been enlarged, and now includes ministers as well as officials, and hence our complaining friend is without redress.

At various times Mr. Madigan has been in government employ, and at all times he has shown himself honest and capable, and in that way gained the unbounded confidence of his superior officers. An educated gentleman, genial and sociable, we regret to part with our eld friend, and trust that after making his fortune in Arizona he will return to his beautiful home in this valley, and again become one with us.

IMMIGRANTS. - This city is filling up with im. migrants so rapidly that scores of ordinary dwellings will have to be erected this fall to meet the demand for them. Already, on every street cottages and small houses are being built rapidly, but in every case a tenant rents the building before it is out of the hands of the carpenters, and generally moves in before it is finished. Money cannot be invested to a better advantage and up her to say house. ter advantage, and we hope to see houses enough erected before cold weather to accommodate our increasing population. The hotels are crowded so that it is difficult to get a room, and unless there is provision made, people will have to leave, instead of remaining with us.

A member from the Second ward, who has taken no part in the police swindles, and whose character is above reproach, suggested that it is doubtful whether the property holders will vote a tax to be expended under the direction of the class of men who make up a majority of the council. This was a palpable hit, and brought the crimson to the checks of men who are unused to blushing. Here the city attorney came to the rescue and volunteered the opinion that all the moneyhad been wisely and economically expended. This Here the city attorney came to the rescue and volunteered the opinion that all the money had been wisely and economically expended. This explanation is very like that of the U. S. marshal who had seized a ship on the charge of smuggling. A forfeiture followed, and the marshal was directed to sell the ship. At the sale the vessel brought in round figures the nice little sum of $125,000. Subsequently the marshal was asked by the Washington authorities to account for the money, when he made return that there was "Barly enough for the officers." And so of the city with a revenue of $14,000 per annum, there is "barly enough for police," and if the citizens wish protection against fire they must go down into their pockets to furnish the means.

Cummings idea of buying new hose when the money could be paid over to pet policemen, who in turn is "divided" with the councilmen, was not to be thought of, and so the department was left to depend upon rotten hose, liable to burst upon the slightest pressure. We make these remarks for the reason that at the late fire, persons who were not familiar with the facts thought that the firemen were at fault. We now place the blame where it properly belongs, and wish property holders whose buildings were in danger, to understand that it was owing to the neglect of corrupt city authorities that the town marrowly escaped destruction. Men go into the council pretending to serve without pay, and then find their reward by employing policemen who are wilding to divide. LIVE AS YOU EARN.-It is painful to witness the efforts of many poor people to emulate their rich neighbors in style of dress and outward show. Nor is it con-fined to the weaker sex alone, but many a young man dishonors himself and impoverishes his family for the sake of making an appearance among his fellows. In many a washerwoman's house can be found a piano and costly furniture for the front room, where the daughter can receive company "in a respectable way," as it is said, while her lack of education and culture would render her an object of contempt, if she had not by her folly excited our pity. The man or woman must have fallen to a low degree of degradation who can eat and drink and wear good clothes at the expense of the shop ke Said a shopkeeper to a bystander the other day, as a belle passed along the street arrayed in the latest fashion, but whose dress ceuld not conceal her vulgarity, "I own the dress on her back, her shoes, in fact, I have supported her and her family for the last three months, and her family for the last three months. and her family for the last three months, and don't expect to ever get a cent of what they owe me. They never pay their debts, and owe everybody who is foolish enough to trust them." People of this kind have the audacity to imagine that they are respectable and entitled to some consideration in a community. Their number is legion, and every neighborhood is overrun with them. Some imagine that it is right and proper to wear agine that it is right and proper to wear good clothes at the expense of others, but it is nothing else than downwright swind:

ling. Many vulgar persons judge a per-son by his dress, and regard it as an un-disputed fact that a poorly dressed man or woman must be disreputable; but this might be expected of them. But every man or woman whose opinion is worth having, always respects those who dress in accordance with their means, who are not ashamed to declare that they are only comfortably situated, and that they must work in order to live. Such persons are infinitely superior to the yulg and while trying to prove themselves respectable, show conclusively that they have not the faintest idea what the word means.

A DAILY PAPER.

A few weeks since we issued a prospectus setting forth the intention if sufficient encouragement offered, to commence the publication of a daily paper. The response is even more liberal than we expected, and accordingly, to-day we issue the first No. of the DAILY STATESMAN. As stated in the prospectus, it is intended to make the Daily in a great measure a chronicle of local news, and in order to secure the support of the whole community it will be independent rather than partisan in his character. The columns of the Daily Statesman will be open to the discussion of all questions of public interest, and the conduct of officials freely and fairly criticized, at the same time avoiding personalities and in all cases aiming to do equal and exact justice.

ENLARGED. - For months past the pressure upon the columns of the WEEKLY STATESMAN has been such that we realized the necessity for an enlargement. This has been done by lengthening the columns and otherwise changing the "make up." The Statesman of this week appears in its changed form, and we think it not too much to claim for it the merit of being the neatest country paper published on the Pacific coast. It is, also, the only paper in Washington territory that takes telegraphic dispatches, and thus gives its readers the news from two to three days in advance of its contemporaries. This prosperity has been attained by strict attention to business, and a determination at all times to give our readers a good newspaper. Our success has been far beyond our expectations, and to-day it is known far and wide that the WALLA WALLA STATESMAN is the most valuable establishment of the kind on the Pacific coast. Our acquaintance with Mr. Brentz cemmenced when he was a mere boy, riding an express between The Dalles and Canvon City. At that time the Indians all along the road were on the warpath, and although nearly every trip Tom made he brought us news of men, women and children being mur dered, he was lucky enough to save his scalp. When the express boy used to come in and relate to us the details of his marvellous escapes, and how he outrun the savages, we used to mentally exclaim that "Tom was not born to be shot," but we never dreamed of his being saved to run for congress. Of Brentz's career since he reached manhood and drifted into politics, we cannot speak so favorably. Upon the organization of Grant county, he received from Gov. His difficulty with Judge Lewis, and his suspension from the practice of the law, our readers are familiar with. In that controversy the parties became heated, and pessibly there was wrong on both sides. We accordingly dismiss that affair as not likely to figure in the canvass.

Our Washington Letter.

Washington, September 26, 1878. EDITOR STATESMAN: - From Iowa-think it—comes a prophecy of Senator Kirk-ood that the radicals will lose four members of the house of representatives. Excepting Kansas and Vermont, this was perhaps the most reliable of republican states, and whenever a hard fight was made, as is now being made, the majority was always from 40,000 upwards. There are now no radicals except those hovering around Washington who talk of the old time success in any state, and their beasting is not what it was twenty days ago. Hale, chairman of the congressional committee, left last night for New York to raise funds, Gorham having failed in a previous effort.

THE CANDIDATE. - Passing a house in the outskirts of the city the other evening, we heard the following sad word sung to a low, plaintive melody. It strikingly reveals the sacrifices of the noble men who take their characters in their hands and go forth to serve the dear people:

"Father, who travels the road so late?" Hush, my child, 'tis the candidate: Fit example for human woes— Early he comes and early he goes, He greets the woman with courtly grace, He kisses the baby's dirty face, He calls to the fence the farmer at work,

He calls to the fence the farmer at work,
He bores the merchant, he bores the clerk,
The blacksmith, while his anvil rings,
He greets, and this is the song he sings,
"Howdy, howdy, howdy do?
How is your wife, and how are you?
Ah! it fits my fist as no other can,
The horny fist of the workingman."

WHILE at Prescott, General Sherman was asked about the likelihood of war with Mexico. He said: "There is no more probability of a war with Mexico than there is of one with Denmark or England. ENGLAND'S GRAIN REQUIREMENT.—The London Pall Mall Gazette of September 6th, furnishes information interesting to wheat-growers and shippers on this coast, to this effect: "Mr. Caird has calculated that we shall require some 13,000,000 quarters of wheat from foreign countries this year to supplement the deficiency in our home production. This seems likely now to be an under-estimate. But taking even these figures, the outlook, in face of a falling export trade and general depression in every branch of business, is grave enough. At the current market price such an import of wheat will certainly not represent less than £30,000,000. Thus for one article of food alone we shall be paying at the rate of nearly £1 per head of the population to foreign growers. No doubt we obtain the supply far cheaper than if we attempted to grow it at home, even if so large amount could be profitably grown at all on these islands. But it is certainly a serious matter for us that our principal sources of supply-America and Russia-should show an increasing disinclination to be paid for their food in our manufactures. The protectionist policy which has almost destroyed our iron and cotton trade with the United States has no doubt been disadvantageous to that country, but it most certainly has also been damaging to us. We have now to pay for our food import from America out of profits made in other directions instead of by the interchange of produc-

And at the same time it is clear that the bare conjecture that British Columbia will at some distant day desire to sunder the bonds of allegiance to the mother country and become a portion of the United States is disquieting. Referring to the subject, the Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "There is nothing to show at present, of course, that this memorial is any thing more than an at-tempt—and so far a justifiable attempt— to force the hand of the rest of the Do-minion; and, whether the Canadians have been to blame or not, it is quite clear that we can never permit some 20,000 people in Vancouver's Island and British Columbia to indulge in such dreams of annexation to the United States as some agitators in their midst have lately encour-

The Russians are reported as stating that they had merely sent the embassy as a matter of courtesy, and for no political ends whatever. As an answer this is almost justiliting for it As an answer this is almost insulting, for it looks as though the St. Petersburg govern-ment hardly cared to maintain the semblance of fair dealing, and would not trouble itself to invent even a plausible lie to cover its chicanery. Considering the fact that Russia has pledged herself to abstain from all inter-ference with the ruler of Affghanstan, the open dispatch of a mission to Cabul might have seemed to demand some avalention. have seemed to demand some explanation; but when the arrival of that mission at its destination is speedily followed by a defiance of the British government on the part of the Amir, the demand for specious apologies grows much stronger. It is not to be expected that the English government will put my with this provides a special special control of the stronger. up with this preposterous statement, but it is to be hoped that at last it will recognize the hopelessness of counting upon Russian pledges or Russian honor. Lying and cheating are the favorite arts of Muscovite di-plomacy, and have been since the days of Catharine, not to go further back. The Russian government infact has in no instance kept faith with another country when its kept taith with another country when its own interests appeared to suggest the desirability of breaking its piedges. In Asiatic diplomacy it has made itself notorious for mendacity and base trickery, and it would be simply fatuous for the English cabinet to place any further reliance upon its shuffling and tricky assertions. The course to take is that which will most surely and swiftly avenge the insolence of the Amir of Cabul, and it is to be hoped that this will be done so effectually that no more Russian missions. so effectually that no more Russian missions will ever have an opportunity of entering that country.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The annual meeting of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company was held at New York. The report of the directors was read, showing that the business of the road was increasing satisfactorily. The gross earnings for the year were $1, 193, 381, and the expenses were $631,-302, leaving a net increase of $169,381 over last year. The several divisions of the road have been operated without accident, and been maintained in good working order, and the condition of the road is fully up to the average of railroads of the country. On account of wear and tear, one hundred and forty miles of new rails will soon have to be laid between Brainard and Fargo. The operations of the land department have been grain will be a contract of a will be not be soon to b active, nearly three quarters of a million of acres being disposed of. The report says that in nine counties in Minnesota, and in seven counties of Dakota intersected by this road, the area under cultivation this year was 250, 000 acres, of which 185,000 was in wheat; and the new breaking already accomplished in the same counties will add 133,000 acres for next year,s crop. The population has increased forty per cent. in nine months, and the wheat product has been most bountiful. For the sale of 749,633 acres of land there were received $3,379,432, and timber sales in Minnesota and the Pacific divisions have realized $31,251,251. have realized $24,350.

THE long talked of ship canal to connect Chesapeake Bay with Delaware Bay and shorten the water route from Baltimore to New York and Europe some 225 miles, seems now likely to become a reality. Besides his arduous duties the proprietors have decided to the past summer in the field, he made his mark last year in the campaign against the Nez Perces. The Clearwater fight was the first time he was under fire, yet with true Anglo Saxon pluck he headed his company, and after charging the enemy, held his go to the fact that our police force is almost ground under the hottest fire of that desperate fight. Here again the Boss shows his appreciation of mechanipleasing, and we trust cal skill and ability. C. F. The church will be decked Tweed, and this is what the city attorney, with autumn leaves, flowers, grain and fruits. The exercises will consist of recitations sing ng, and addresses by the paster on "The Les son of the Harvest." All are cordially invited. A collection will be taken for the sunday school library.

> AN EXPLANATION -- Some one has described lawyer as one "Who speaks with a forked ongue, trained to make the worse appear the better side." This accounts for the promptnes exhibited by the city attorney in coming to the aid of Boss Tweed, and vouching for the "strict conomy that characterized his management of the city finances." When the great Boss Tweed ruled New York, kind attorneys were aiways ready to plead eloquently in his vindication, and so it appears that our Boss Tweed finds an advocate in the city attorney.

A SAFE. - In future the STATESMAN office will be ornamented by a fire and burglar-proof safe, imported direct from Cincinnati, at and killed McDonald, the business manager of sons to learn that a safe is required in a printing office, but however surprising it troubling our neighbors.

"Not a Gun was Fired."-It is somewhat remarkable in view of the fact that both the candidates for delegate came from this town, that no demonstration whatever was made over their nominations Heretofore when candidates were nominated it was the custom of both parties to fire salutes in their bonor. This time, with all the honor clustering around our town, "Not a gun was fired." It looks as though our people intend to let the two Toms fight it out, without intervening on either side.

Dr. MAUZEY, who has been out with Gen. Howard all summer, has again opened his office, over the express building, and will be pleased to see his friends. We are glad to have the doctor with us again, as he is one of the ablest physicians on the coast. THE DIFFERENCE.—The affairs of Walla Walla county have almost uniformly been under democratic rule, and having been wisely and economically managed, the county is out of debt. and her scrip is worth its face. Boss Tweed in the management of city affairs has always made it a point to form a combination between republicans and democrats, and through the aid of this "ring" he has been able to steal right hand and left. This was the way the New York Boss managed to steal millions, and it is in the same way that our Boss Tweed has stole his thousands. "The city affairs are wisely and economically managed." NOTICE OF DISTRIBUTION.

TERRITORY OF WASHINGTON, SS. County of Walla Walla. IN PROBATE—In the matter of the Estate of SAMUEL WATERMAN, Deceased.

SAMUEL WATERMAN, Deceased, CHTATION:—On reading and filing the Odly verified petition of JANE WATERMAN, setting forth that SAMUEL WATERMAN, her husband, died intestate in the County of Walla Walla, Territory of Washington, on the 27th day of January, 1877; that decedent at the time of his death was a resident of said county, leaving real and personal property therein, valued at $2620; that all of said property is community property, it having been acquired since decendent's marriage with petitioner, and praying for an order distributing and assigning all of said property to petitioner as the survivor of said decedent, according to law. And it appearing to the Court that no good reason exists to issue letters of administration in the matter of saidestate, it is ordered, that all persons interested in the estate of said

the term were called on to define " nice people" he would find it somewhat difficult; yet the word is in constant use. "Are there many nice people at the springs this year?" "Oh, yes; I met a great many nice people." The additional word "very" adds greatly to the difficulty. The nice people are not necessarily wealthy. There are a great many rich people who are not "nice" at all, quite the reverse; and on the other hand one the reverse; and of the other hand some quite poor people, or even people in debt, are considered "very nice." Beauty and youth do not make people "nice;" genius and learning so far from making people nice have the opposite effect. Genius is eccentric, and learned men are bores. What then is that very strange quality that wealth, beauty, youth, genius and learning strive in vain to acquire, and which nevertheless is possessed by people who have no claims to any of these advantages. It is very hard to say, and yet the judgment of other nice people is admost instantaneous. As soon as a nice lady sees another lady, notices how she dresses, the tone of her voice, her air and manner, and her associates, her mind is made up as to whether she is nice or not. A woman's judgment upon men, however, is more lenient. Either she has less insight into the masculine nature, or else she is partial in her decision, or else she is partial in her decision, leaning in his favor if he be well-dressed and moderately good-looking. Men's judgment of ladies is also fallible. If the specimen be young and pretty the male intelligence is very apt to consider her nice. Yet uncertain and vague as the term seems to be it has a meaning well accepted and understood. People love to meet nice people, and hate to be caught in the company of those who are not nice. Yet the closest appreach to a definition is Yet the closest approach to a definition is that nice persons are persons that other people consider to be nice persons, and who associate only with nice people, ex-cept occasionally when they associate with very nice people.

The Palouse Country.—From a gentleman residing in this section we gather the following: The Palouse country proper is about 140 by 175 miles on both sides of Snake river, it embraces say a territory of 120 by 75 miles. This territory embraces as good soil as can be found anywhere for the production of wheat, oats, potatoes, flax, &c., and apples and berries are perfectly at home here. Some snow falls in winter, requiring working stock and milk cows to be fed a short time, other stock requiring no feed assaily. As a grazing country it can't be beaten. There is timber and good running water interspersed all over this region at convenient distances, and good well water is obtained. There is in the Palouse country a population of say 10,000, with fourteen

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

BOSTON, Sept. 21, 1878.
EDITOR STATESMAN—Dear Sir:—In behalf

Boston, Sept. 21, 1878.

Editor Statesman-Dear Sir:—In behalf of the American Woman Suffrage Association, of which Lloyd Garrison is president, and Mrs. Lucy Stone, chairman executive committee, I am instructed to address you in regard to the amendments, No. 1 and No. 2, of your proposed state constitution, which if adopted will extend impartial suffrage to women. We believe that this measure, if adopted, would prove a benefit not only to yourselves, but to the outire country. Certainly all citizens who obey the laws should have a voice in their enactment.

There are thousands of excellent people in our Eastern, Middle and Southern states, who feel the pressure of the times, and are about to go West. They are in sympathy with this movement. If Washington territory adopts this measure, it will be heralded all over the country. Those people will have their attention drawn to your country, and will naturally choose it as their future home, for they are well aware that where woman is respected, the elements of order and progress must exist. Will you not use the influence of your paper to secure the adoption of the woman suffrage amendment? With the help of the press it could easily be carried. We have the pleasure of exchanging papers with you, and we shall be happy to supply you with documents and arguments in favor of extending the suffrage to woman.

Hoping you will lead off in this good work,

Hoping you will lead off in this good work,

Yours respectfully,

GRAIN IN OREGON.—The receipts of wheat continue very large from a variety of causes, principal of which is that the how personal its many begins a special of causes, principal of causes, p practice another; it is to say one thing and believe something else; it is to pretend honesty and sincerity, when deceit and hypocrisy are plainly branded on every issue of the paper. And alsa, how many newspapers, now-a-days, are run on precisely these principles!

NICE PEOPLE.—If anybody who uses the term were called on to define "nice mouth of the Yamhill, and at Salem and mouth of the Yamhill, and at Salem and points above a great deal of grain is in store. The Dayton narrow gauge railroad is hauling from interior sections of Yam-hill and Polk counties a great amount of grain, Which is being brought to the city by a line of opposition boats. A grain speculator of Walla Walla has leased the warehouse at Astoria, and has bought over 4000 tons of Walla Walla wheat, which he is shipping there direct and will hold. Farmers and warehousemen every where seem to have confidence in a rise in the market, and many are buying to hold over on speculation.—Record-Union.

An Interesting Relic.—At low tide a Monterey, a part of the wreck of a vessel formerly the Natalia, can be seen though very few who see it was aware that she is or was few who see it was aware that she is or was the shipon which Napoleon Bonaparte escaped from Elba sixty-three years ago, to revive his personal magnetism, and lost it forever on the methorable field of Waterloo. The old vessel, now slowly going to pieces in the Pacific, has a local history. She brought to California, in 1834, from Mexico, the colony of Hijsa, whose members intended to settle in what was then Sonoma county. Not liking Sonoma, they returned to Monterey and gradually dwindled into indistinction, being tyoffied by the ship that had transported typified by the ship that had transported them thither. It is odd that some enterpris-ing showman like Barnum has not carried off a portion or the whole of the wreck of the Natalia, and put it into a museum to aid the common mind in its effort to understand the character and genius of the first captain of modern, or perhaps ancient, times. 'Frag-ments of the ship in which the great Napol-eon escaped from Elba' would be to the many an alluring curiosity and a bit of material history withal history withal.

Woot.—All who have given attention to this subject know that this valuable export has, in those counties where successfully p oduced, been the great lever of prosperity; and, coupled with the wheat and flour we can produce, ought to place us in the foremost rank of wool-producing states. Certainly the wool product of Oregon and Washington is each year increasing largely; and it is also true that it is likewise becoming a more favorite field for investment by our own citizens. With those vast unoccupied lands we have in Eastern Oregon and Washington, and free range for steck and sheep, we ought in a few years to have as large or larger wool exports than California has now.
