[From Tuesday's Tri-Weekly.] LAND MONOPOLISTS.

In an article on the prospects and need of immigration, the San Francisco Bulletin advocates the justice and equity of taxing those large land speculators who are holding immense tracts at prices which virtually exclude small farmers. It says these lands "have been taken up and held in large quantities to await the arrival of immigrants and that competition which insures high prices;" and it thinks there is justice in taxing an individual who holds 75,000 acres of land worth $7 per acre as much as for acre as the owner of 160 acres of the same quality of land are taxed.

As a matter of public policy, it is becoming of very general belief that these large landholders are a nuisance that ought to be abated, and we are glad to see the Bulletin assisting in reformatory counsels. There is no other way to reform the evil, so far as it has gone, than that suggested. It may be prohibited from future expansion by such wholesome changes in the land laws as will prevent the absorption of large estates by a single individual at the Government minimum price, and these we are assured will be brought forward by the Chairman of the House Committee on Public Lands at an early day of the coming session of Congress. But, after all, our best remedy lies in county taxation upon these overgrown properties. If the Constitution did not prohibit it, we are sure that an issue made on this question and fairly presented to the people, would result in legislation adopting a discriminating scale of taxation on land which would make it very expensive to own over 600 acres fit for cultivation, and if the monopoly continues, we are not sure that the constitutional prohibition against such discrimination will be long allowed to stand.

Next to the security given for personal liberty, it is the greatest boast of American political institutions that they offer the best possible advantages to the poor to obtain lands on which they can earn their living and add something to the general wealth. Our Pre-emption and Homestead laws have contributed millions to our population and thousands of millions to our taxable resources. They form the ground-still of our educational system and general prosperity. Wherever they have been least obstructed in their legitimate operation, there will be found most of comfort and intelligence generally diffused in society, and least of poverty and crime. And wherever there rises a class inimical to this social condition, pursuing with a deliberate purpose a course calculated to render these laws nugatory, it is the right and the duty of the common people to combine for their own interest in putting it down.

The greed and avarice of these land speculators are wholly out of sympathy and in direct antagonism with the public welfare. They want immigration, not to augment the general stock of wealth, intelligence and morality, but to speculate upon its necessities. They are, therefore, public enemies, and ought to be restrained by wholesome laws.

GRANT STILL RECEIVING.—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican of a recent date says that Grant intends holding another reception. A set of noodles in the employ of a manufacturing firm at Shelburne Falls have completed a magnificent set of cutlery for presentation, which, of course, he will refuse; Grant always refuses. The set consists of sixty-two pieces,—which we suppose is intended to remind him of his famous exclamation of "Let us have peace"—two dozen dinner knives, half a dozen carving knives, and forks, and a pair of steels. The carving knives and forks to remind him that he is carrying his road to fortune, if not to fame, and that he gratefully accepts what other folks seek to "fork" over; and the steels to remind him—well, we will say nothing about them, except that Ben Butler could give him a practical demonstration.

A DIRTY LIAR.—If old Baker was looking for a dirty liar, he struck the right man when he got Baldy Ross. Take Baldy's story about the dog law as a specimen. The bill originated in the House, and when it came up in the Council the writer opposed it, and as Chairman of the Committee made a report against it, all of which appears in the Council Journal; but Baldy asserts to the contrary. Dr. Baker pays Baldy for lying, and the dirty scoundrel in his feeble way endeavors to earn his wages.

RADICALS REINFORCED.—E. A. Josslyn has been admitted to a seat in the Council, vice A. J. Tripp, who is absent from the Territory. With this reinforcement, it is calculated that the radicals will be able to carry through the Legislature any measure they may desire.

NEW COUNTY.—Several weeks since we chronicled a movement looking to the division of Walla Walla county, and the creation of a new county, of which Waitsburg would be the county seat.

The agitation culminated in a public meeting, held at Waitsburg, on Friday last, at which the boundaries were agreed upon. The new county embraces one-half of township eight, by running a line through said township from East to West to a point near where said line would cross Touchet river, thence due North to Snake river, thence up Snake river to the Oregon line, thence along the Oregon line to a point East of the place of beginning—that is to say, taking all the inhabitants North of Dry creek, and leaving Walla Walla county about twelve miles wide from North to South, and hooking around to the mouth of Snake river. The officers designated are E. Ping and C. C. Cram, and some other gentleman, for County Commissioners; L. Bond for Sheriff; S. L. Gilbreth for County Auditor, and Wm. Vauter for Probate Judge.

At the meeting it was stated that letters had been received from Olympia, setting forth that there would be no difficulty in getting the bill through the Legislature; and that all that was required was an agreement upon the boundaries, and designation of the persons to fill the county offices. The time may come when it will be desirable to divide the county, but this movement is in anticipation, and is gotten up for political purposes. As the county is now organized, Anderson Cox, Dr. Baker, and the balance of the brainless idiots who run the radical party can never expect to hold office, or wield influence, and hence they favor the division, hoping that they can secure a majority in the new county. The programme, as we understand it, includes the creation of a Council District, out of the new county and Stevens county, and the apportionment of two members of the House making a total gain for the radicals of three members of the Legislature, and securing for them in all future time control of the law-making power of Washington Territory.

Legislation for purely party purposes, and without any regard for the public good, we have always opposed, and on this principle we shall oppose the creating the new county, and call upon our members in the Legislature to exert all the influence in their power to defeat the measure. As far as we can learn there has been no popular demand for the division, and at the Waitsburg meeting Anderson Cox, and his man Friday, were the sole prompters and prime movers. Decent men of all parties will distrust a measure that has Cox for its sponsor, and will see in his connection with it the evidence of fraud and corruption. Whenever the people of any considerable portion of the county desire a division, we shall acquiesce in their wishes, but we are not willing to see the county mutilated for the one sole purpose of securing offices for the vermin who have originated and are championing the division movement.

A DIRTY LIAR.—If old Baker was looking for a dirty liar, he struck the right man when he got Baldy Ross. Take Baldy's story about the dog law as a specimen. The bill originated in the House, and when it came up in the Council the writer opposed it, and as Chairman of the Committee made a report against it, all of which appears in the Council Journal; but Baldy asserts to the contrary. END OF THE WALKERS' CASE.—

On Friday evening the Court having disposed of nearly all the cases on the calendar, and but little unfinished business remaining, the Judge in obedience to the order of the Supreme Court, as evidenced by the remittitur on file, caused Simeon Walters to be brought into Court to inform him of the time set when the Sheriff would carry out the sentence of death heretofore passed upon him.

When the prisoner was brought in, his Attorneys, Messrs. H. E. Prickett, P. E. Edmondson and A. O. Bowen, thereupon filed their motion to vacate the judgment, and that the death penalty could not be inflicted on the defendant Walters, for the reason that the jury failed to specify in their verdict in which degree they found the defendant guilty. The question was ably argued by the counsel on both sides, the prisoner in the meantime evincing considerable anxiety as to what the decision of the Court would be on the motion, for it was a slender thread upon which hung, to him, the important issue of life or death. The motion being submitted, the Judge, in giving his decision, reviewed the history of the case in the Supreme Court, as well as the former proceedings in the case, as they came to his knowledge through the judgment roll and the papers on file. He said that while the point made by defendant's counsel might probably have been well taken at another stage of the proceedings, yet it was not in his power now to consider it. The case had been argued before his predecessors on the Supreme Bench, and the judgment of the Court below had been affirmed and a new trial denied. A motion for a rehearing had been made at the last term of the Supreme Court, before him and his associates on the Bench, but under the law they were compelled to deny that also, and the remittitur had been sent down by which alone he could be guided, and under it he had no discretion whatever, nor could he pursue any other course than that of fixing the time when the sentence heretofore passed upon the prisoner should be carried into effect. He said he came from a State where the death penalty had been abolished and that he himself was opposed to such punishment, but that the Legislature here had provided for such a punishment, and he was bound by the law; that while he had not the slightest doubt but that the prisoner was guilty of one of the most atrocious murders in the annals of crime, still, could his assistance be of any benefit, he would exercise what influence he had in favor of Executive clemency, that his punishment might be commuted to imprisonment for life. He then ordered the prisoner to arise, and stated the time of execution to him as follows: "That you, Simeon Walters, be taken hence to the prison from whence you came, and that you there remain until Friday, the 10th day of December, 1869, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon; that you be then taken to the place of execution by the Sheriff of Boise county, and that you be hanged by the neck until you are dead." The prisoner's face flushed very perceptibly, and he lost that careless, nonchalant manner in which he had conducted himself heretofore, and we understand has given up all hope of escaping the terrible punishment which the law has decreed he shall suffer.—Idaho World.

AN AEROLITE, OR METEORIC EXPLOSION.—On Monday, the 11th inst., a singular phenomenon occurred between Placerville and the Payette, and one not often witnessed in a lifetime. About 3 o'clock in the evening persons living in that section of the country were startled by a tremendous explosion which shook the ground like an earthquake. The first impression on the minds of the people at and around Placerville was that the boiler of the quartz mill on Granite creek had exploded, but such not proving the case, speculation was rife as to the cause of such a terrible explosion and shock, especially as the sky was clear and the sun shining brightly. We are informed by Mr. Miner, who has at his ranch opposite Horse Shoe Bend, on the Payette, that the explosion sounded to him as though it took place on the divide between the headwaters of Granite creek and the Payette. Other parties with whom we have conversed, among them Mr. Abbott of the Middle Payette, agree upon the locality of its occurrence. Maj. R. G. Allen informs us that he was coming down the mountain, on the Boise City road about three miles below Judge Stringham's, and that he not only heard the explosion but felt the ground shake under him quite plainly, and if we are correct as to the place where the explosion occurred he was at least thirty miles from it. He also conversed with a gentleman at Thorn creek, about ten miles from here, on that evening, who said he saw something like a meteor—apparently a huge ball of fire—in the direction of Placerville; that it was some distance up in the air above the mountain, and suddenly exploded and disappeared. It was from three to four minutes from the time he saw it burst until he heard the sound. Several parties in Idaho City also say that they felt the shock, but as it was not very severe they paid little attention to it. We do not know how to account for the matter on any other theory than of its being a meteoric explosion. It may have been the bursting of an aerolite, but we have not yet heard of any stones or debris of the exploded matter having been found, but as it appears to have taken place on the mountains at a point seldom if ever visited, nothing of that kind would be discovered unless a party should visit the place in search of it. We should like very much to visit the spot and see what we could find; for should we discover any such stones or material evidences of the explosion, it might be an interesting subject for examination by men of science.—Idaho World.

THE bondholder receives for his bond $50 in gold, which brings him $68 in greenbacks.

The farmer receives for his wheat, corn and wool, $50 in greenbacks, which brings him in the market only $35 in gold.

Difference between the bondholder and farmer, in favor of the former, thirty-three dollars, or sixty-six dollars on every hundred dollars' worth of produce raised by the farmer.

PEOPLE'S MONEY.—A correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce alleges that the heads of Departments at Washington have, in their private service, horses, carriages, grooms, etc., paid for by the Government for the public service.

VERY TRUE.—The Springfield Republican very truly says that "the supremacy of the party that elected General Grant is fast passing away in the South, and is growing weaker all over the North."

THE Norwegian immigration to this country is perfectly enormous. It is stated that some 200,000 will arrive during the ensuing eighteen months.

ILLINOIS is receiving through Castle Garden, at the rate of about 45,000 inhabitants each year.

THE once famous ballet dancer, Maria Taglioni, is said to be dying of consumption at Bruun, Moravia.

THERE are now engaged in the Mississippi trade, 910 steamers, with a capacity of 292,174 tons and of an estimated value of $24,550,000.

A WOMAN died in Worcester (Mass.), a few days since, aged thirty-nine, who was the mother of nineteen children.

RADICAL FINANCING.—Flooding the country with a circulating medium that is worth seventy cents on the dollar in the morning, and sixty cents at noon of the same day.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 19.—The Post this morning contains an article by Mr. Pendleton against the attacks of some Eastern Democratic papers, and calls for a "convention of Democrats of the Mississippi Valley" to take action on the political position.

A FEW days ago T. J. Sartwell, of North Troy, Vermont, went to adjust the wheel of his carding machine, when he found a mudturtle under it, weighing twenty pounds. The wheel had worn a hole through the back of the turtle causing its death.

A DRUNKEN man stopped at a hotel in Homer, Illinois, a few days ago and deposited $54 with the porter for safe keeping. He returned to bed and that night the porter fled for parts unknown, taking with him the money and a fine horse belonging to the proprietor of the hotel.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Albany Argus offers to bet any sum from $1,000 to $10,000, that the New York Democratic State ticket will be elected by 50,000 majority, the same amount that the new constitution and negro suffrage will be defeated by 50,000 majority, the three wagers to be taken together.

DEMOCRACY IN THE SOUTH.—The dispatches state that the Democrats elected their entire ticket in Savannah, Georgia, by a majority of over three thousand. This is quite cheering, when we take into consideration that all the efforts of the radicals in Congress, and the Reconstruction Committees in particular, have exhausted all their efforts to make Georgia a radical State—first admitting, then rejecting her; then placing military despotism to force the people to an adoption of their views. Radicalism is fast drawing to a close.

BROKEN PROMISES.—The republican party of the present day may be well styled the party of broken promises. Scarcely a promise made to the people prior to elections has been kept after attaining power. The Pittsburg Commercial indirectly admits the fact, for it says, "the republican party will correct its own errors and respond honestly and fully to the requirements of public sentiment if the people will only continue them in office." We think it too late in the day to make such promises; they have been made and broken so often that the people have come to the conclusion that retrenchment and reform can only come through a democratic administration, and they are determined to try the experiment.—Capital Reporter.

CRUEL EXACTION.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, (radical) says considerable feeling has been aroused here by the death of a lady clerk employed in the Internal Revenue Bureau, who was suffering from typhoid fever, and remained at her work until she had to be almost carried home. She was poor, and the fear of being docked for lost time, impelled her to remain on duty till she was so far gone that recovery was hopeless. And yet, while this poor woman's life was thus sacrificed to the merciless rule of a heartless bureaucrat, the President and heads of departments have been idling for months at watering places, and indulging in pleasure trips on public vessels at the people's expense. And, at the same time, another clerk in the same branch of the public service has been sent to Ohio as a political newspaper correspondent, and the government pay, and the chief of the Bureau has himself been neglecting his duties in order to make stump speeches in the same State.

[From Thursday's Tri-Weekly.]

A GREAT WRONG.—The bill providing for a special term of the District Court for Walla Walla county, has passed both Houses of the Legislature, and having received the signature of the Governor, is now a law.

The Court will open on the first Monday, in January, and is limited to a session of three weeks.

Apart from the inconvenience of holding a term of Court in the dead of winter, at a time when farmers more than any other are required to be at home, this special term will impose an additional tax upon the county the aggregate of which will not be a penny less than $3,000.

For years we have been struggling to get the county out of debt, but just at a time when we begin to see daylight ahead, here comes the Legislature with an enactment that postpones the extinguishment of the debt for at least another year, and imposes an additional burden upon the shoulders of tax payers.

What makes this action worse is the fact that not a single request had gone from the people of the First Judicial District asking that a special term be held. Without prompting from the people, and in defiance of their wishes, the law has been enacted, and all that remains for the tax-payers is to foot the bill.

The men who father this outrage will find that they have hung a mill-stone around their necks that will sink them so low that a line and plummet will never find them.

GROSS OUTRAGE.—On Monday, the 18th, a scene was enacted in the Council, at Olympia, that may fairly be characterized as one of the grossest outrages in the history of legislation. The details of this outrage are about as follows: To give the radicals full control of the Legislature, it was necessary that they have another member of the Council.

A. J. Tripp, the duly elected member from Clark, Skamania and Cllickit counties, was absent, but had not resigned, and as a consequence there was no vacancy. But this was a small matter when the radicals had a purpose to accomplish, and accordingly, without declaring Tripp's seat vacant, and without ordering an election, the radical President of the Council ordered a man named Josslyn to be sworn in as a member of that body.

Josslyn's credentials, if he had any, were never referred to a committee, he was sworn in without a vote, and he holds his seat to-day simply on the order of McLean, who had no authority whatever to make the order. The radical rump in Congress have never hesitated about outraging both law and precedent when they had a purpose to serve, but it has been left to the rump in the Washington Territory Legislature to improve upon even their bad example.

GRANT ASKED TO RESIGN.

Wendell Phillips unquestionably is the brain of the radical party, and notwithstanding the "weak brothers" occasionally grow restive under his rule, he always manages to whip them into the traces, and in the end fairly bring them up to their work.

Just now Wendell is after Grant's scalp, and having described the Presidential itinerant, his junketing, and his reception of presents, from a fine farm to a box of cigars, he thus delicately calls upon the radical chief to resign:

"Rational recreation in itself is good and sometimes very important. If he absolutely needs, and is likely to continue to need so much, he ought, in the present condition of affairs, to resign, that the country may have, what it very much needs, a President in fact as well as in name. No thoughtful observer of the tendency of affairs during the past six months, but feels that the pilotless drifting of this summer has been towards dangers with which a little later it will be most difficult to grapple.

Not only are cruel and needless burdens imposed upon the loyal people of the South, but, while an incompetent President gives months to the watering places, races and jaunting, the shrewd diplomats of the old school of rebel politicians, perceiving their opportunity, are marshaling their forces, and by fraud and intimidation regaining control of their former political estates."

Mocking Religion.—The radicals lay claim to all the morality and decency, and yet when they have the power they insult not only the decency but the religious sentiment of the country. Witness their election of P. D. Moore, an avowed spiritualist and scoffer at revealed religion to the office of Chaplain to the House.

This man opens each morning session with prayer, and every member who listens to him knows that his prayer is the sheerest mockery. This insult to religion, offered too in the town of Olympia, where there are some four or five ministers, any one of whom would gladly take the position of Chaplain. Good men that we know of in this county affiliate with the radicals on the score of religion, and yet we here find their leaders mocking at all religion.

It is such an example, what wonder is it that radicals in office steal all they can lay their hands on? No Discussion.—The World says the Democratic State Convention (New York) has assembled, concluded its labors, submitted a ticket and a platform to the people for their approval. The quarrel between the different interests of the party, which the radical press had been boasting would take place, did not transpire.

The Convention was in every way harmonious, enthusiastic, and confident. The ticket nominated is composed of men who have the confidence of the people of the State. All save one have held public office and have left a record without blemish. The democracy can point to the names on the list with pride, and challenge their opponents to present the names of candidates equally good and men of their high reputation.

SPECIAL TERM.—The following is the section of the judiciary bill which provides for holding a special term of the District Court: "That, in addition to the regular term of the District Court of the First Judicial District, there shall be held a special term of said Court to be held at Walla Walla, commencing on the first Monday of January, 1870, and to continue for three weeks unless sooner adjourned: Provided, that at said special term of said Court there shall be tried only such civil causes as may have been continued from the October term, 1869, and no others."

EARTHQUAKE.—We are informed that an earthquake shock was felt one day this week on Dry Creek, in this county.

The shock was sufficient to frighten the residents in that locality out of their houses, also to cause the stock to stampede. It was only of a few seconds duration. — Boise Chronicle.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 19.—A vote was taken in the Legislature to-day for United States Senator, resulting as follows: In the Senate, Johnson, 11; Etheridge, 8; Payton, 3. In the House, Johnson, 32; Etheridge, 21; Fletcher, 12; the rest scattering. It is believed Johnson cannot poll over 47 votes, and that he will be eventually defeated.

A JERSEY genius has invented a device for watering horses when traveling or at work, by which their thirst may be assuaged without stopping. The bit of the bridle or head stall is made hollow, and has attached to it a flexible tube connected with a tank carried in or on the vehicle. By pulling a string, the water is caused to flow into the bit, and thence through a suitable orifice into the horse's mouth.

ASHLEY HAS FLOPPED.—An alarming report comes from Montana. It is to the effect that Impeacher Ashley, the Territorial Governor, has "flopped" over to the democracy. He made a speech at Bozeman City a few days ago, and astonished the audience by declaring that he was in favor of making Montana a "white man's government." Probably this apostasy is due to the fact that Ashley went to Montana to get himself into the United States Senate, and Montana has just gone democratic by 2,000 majority.

[From Saturday's Tri-Weekly.]

Captain Hall's Case.

It is rather a singular coincidence (says a Boston paper) that a man should return from one of the most successful and perilous expeditions ever undertaken, and while he is making reports and receiving the heartiest congratulations, he is charged with murder. The killing of Coleman is justified by Dr. Hall on the ground that he was the leader of a mutinous party, who threatened the success of his expedition. He shot him and there was no further trouble.

One Bayne, a brother-in-law of Coleman, has made a complaint before Justice Martindale, of Jersey City, charging Captain Hall with murder; but the Justice decided that he had no jurisdiction, and sent the complainant before a Court having marine jurisdiction. If Captain Hall should be arrested, he will never be convicted of the crime, and all these proceedings against him will prove but temporary annoyances. It may gratify a feeling of revenge entertained by Coleman's relatives to bring the Captain before a Court of Justice, but nothing more should be accomplished.

The Courts should not meddle with the matter at all. It is just as necessary for Captain Hall with a dozen men in the Arctic regions to maintain discipline as it is for the Captain of any merchant man or man-of-war, who commands a larger number. The moment the Courts recognize the right of a subordinate to dispute the commands of a superior, or demur at his orders, they then begin to encourage insubordination and mutiny. Captain Hall is a "tight place." The fate of his whole expedition depended upon the willing and hearty co-operation of all his followers. He shot a troublesome man who threatened to destroy the results of his labors and hardships, and contribute to his future plans. The complete success of his expedition, and the reward is a vindication that his prompt action, have as it may appear, was his only resort under the circumstances.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STORY.

Peter Bayne and J. Samuel Spearman, seamen, publish this card in the New Bedford Mercury: Having seen a statement made by Dr. Hall relative to the men he had with him on his expedition in search of Sir John Franklin's remains, we, the undersigned, deem it our duty to make a positive denial of this accusation (as made) in his report to Mr. Grinnell of having murdered Coleman's relative to bring the Captain before a Court of Justice, and a cowardly manner, without sufficient cause. Hall having taken all the weapons we possessed (a rifle) away from us, then, appearing with a loaded revolver in hand, asked Coleman whether he would be a dutiful man or not; which he answered by asking: "How, dutiful, Sir? What more duty do you want of me?" Coleman, in his dying moments, requested us to inform his friends of his being shot, and in what manner. We deem it our duty to make such statements as will cause the proper authorities to investigate this sad affair.

THE OAKLAND (Cal.) Transcript tells us that "the great need of California is that the land monopolies should be broken up. Until this is done, we cannot expect any rapid increase of our population. If the next Legislature will propose an amendment to the Constitution, permitting discriminating taxation against large aggregations of land, and will pass a law compelling Assessors to tax large estates at their full value, it will do more to promote immigration than all the societies the merchants of San Francisco can get up."

A YOUNG and beautiful woman appeared not long since before the Roman Senate and announced herself as the last descendant of the Emperors of the East, living unknown in a valley in Piedmont. After an investigation, she was recognized as the Princess Lescarria-Palcolous, and the Senate ordered her name to be inscribed in the Book of Gold at the Capitol. Then she went to Florence and found a Masonic lodge for women.

ROME, by a new census, has 220,532 inhabitants; 7,480 of them are priests, monks and nuns. THE Laying of a submarine cable in the Black Sea, as part of the Indo-European telegraph, was finished on the 11th of July.

Why Dickens Separated from His Wife.

[From the Boston Folio.] The great novelist prefaces his letter as follows: "You have not only my full permission to show this, but I beg you to show this to any one who has been misled into doing me a wrong." We therefore take pleasure in presenting his statement to our readers:

MY DEAR — Mrs. Dickens and I have lived unhappily together for many years. Hardly any one who has known us intimately can fail to have known that we are in all respects of character and temperament, wonderfully unsuited to each other. I suppose that no two people, not vicious in themselves, ever were joined together, who had a greater difficulty in understanding one another, or who had less in common. An attached woman servant, (more friend to both of us than servant) who lived with us sixteen years and is now married, and who was, and still is, in Mrs. Dickens' confidence and mine, who had the closest familiar experience of this unhappiness in London, in the country, in France, in Italy, wherever we have been, year after year, month after month, week after week, day after day, will bear testimony to this.

Nothing has, on many occasions, stood between us and separation, but Mrs. Dickens' sister, Georgina Hogarth. From the age of fifteen she has devoted herself to our house and children. She has been their playmate, nurse, instructress, friend, protectress, adviser and companion. In the manly consideration towards Mrs. Dickens which I owe to my wife, I will only remark of her that the peculiarity of her character has thrown all the care of the children on some one else. I do not know, I cannot by any stretch of fancy imagine—what would have become of them but for this aunt who has grown up with them, to whom they are devoted, and who has sacrificed the best part of her youth and life to them.

She has remonstrated, reasoned, suffered and toiled, and could come again to prevent a separation between Mrs. Dickens and me. Mrs. Dickens has often expressed to her a sense of her affectionate care and devotion in the house—never more strongly than within the last twelve months.

For some years past Mrs. Dickens has been in the habit of representing to me that it would be better for her to go away and live apart; that her always increasing estrangement made a mental disorder under which she sometimes labors; more that she felt herself unfit for the life she had to lead as my wife, and that she would be far better away. I have uniformly replied that she must bear our misfortune and fight the fight out to the end; that the children were the first consideration, and that I feared they must bind us together "in appearance."

At length, within these three weeks, it was suggested to me by Foster, that even for their sakes, it would surely be better to reconstruct and rearrange the unhappy home. I empowered him to treat with Mrs. Dickens as the friend of both of us for one and twenty years. Mrs. Dickens wished to add, on her part, Mark Lemon, and did so. On Saturday last, Lemon wrote to Foster, that Mrs. Dickens "gratefully and thankfully accepted" the terms I proposed to her. I will only say that I believe these are as generous as if Mrs. Dickens were a lady of distinction and I a man of fortune. The remaining parts of them are easily described—my eldest boy to live with Mrs. Dickens and to take care of her; my eldest girl to keep my horse; both my girls and all my children but the eldest son to live with me in continued companionship or their Aunt Georgina, for whom they have all the tenderest affections that I have ever seen among young people, and who has a higher claim (as I have often declared, for many years,) upon my affection, respect and gratitude than anybody in the world.

I hope that no one who may become acquainted with what I write here, can possibly be so cruel and unjust as to put any misconstruction on our separation so far. My elder children all understand it perfectly, and accept it as inevitable. There is not a shadow of doubt or concealment among us. My eldest son and I are one as to it all. The wicked persons, who should have spoken very different of me, in consideration of respect and gratitude have (as I am told, indeed, to my personal knowledge,) coupled with separation the name of a young lady for whom I have a great attachment and regard. I will not repeat the name—I honor it too much. Upon my soul and honor there is not on this earth a more virtuous and spotless creature than that young lady. I know her to be innocent and pure, and as good as my own daughters.

Further, I am quite sure that Mrs. Dickens, having received the assurance from me, must now believe it; in the respect I know her to have for me, and in the perfect confidence I know her, in her better moments, to repose in my truthfulness. On this head, again, there is not a shadow of doubt or concealment between my children and me. All is open and plain among us, as though we were brothers and sisters. They are perfectly certain that I would not deceive them, and the confidence among us is without fears. C. D.

LATEST EASTERN NEWS.

Dates to October 23. [COMPILED FROM THE HERALD.]

TOBACCO STAMP COUNTERFEITERS.

Richmond, Oct. 22.—The case of the parties charged with selling counterfeit revenue tobacco stamps promises to lead to important disclosures. Two more arrests have been made in connection with it. The parties arrested yesterday were held to bail to-day, and the District Attorney in urging that heavy bail shall be required, said, this was a wealthy gang, who would release them if $20,000 had to be forfeited. The case excites much interest, on account of the former position of the parties, as revenue officers here.

SNOW IN NEW YORK. New York, Oct. 22.—Ten inches of snow fell at Leyden, Lewis county, New York, yesterday.

THE EARTHQUAKE. Hartford, Oct. 22.—A shock of earthquake was distinctly felt about five A. M. to-day. It was felt also at Windsor and other places in the State.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 22.—A distinct shock of earthquake, lasting three seconds, was felt at five A. M., and a less violent shock followed about two seconds between the two.

Boston, Oct. 23.—The earthquake was quite severe in Newport—shaking doors, windows and many moveable things in the houses. People were generally awakened by the commotion. Old brick mansion houses, built seventy years ago, having thick massive walls, so common in those days, were shaken from roof to cellar, rattling doors and windows and creating general alarm. People in their beds were very sensible of a vibratory motion beneath them.

CASE OF BUTTERFIELD. Chicago, Oct. 23.—Gen. Butterfield has demanded an investigation of the charges against him, in connection with the gold speculations. He offers to resign if the President or Secretary Boutwell desire it.

Richmond, Oct. 23.—It is said to have been discovered that the newly elected Senator from Virginia, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Gibson, representative from that State, are still laboring under the disabilities imposed by the Fourteenth Amendment. The amendment was ratified after the passage of the act by Congress, relieving the disabilities of Johnson and Gibson. It is asserted that the act of Congress, approved April 1st, 1869, removing disabilities imposed by the amendment fails to embrace the cases of Johnson and Gibson.

FATHER HYACINTHE'S BELIEF.

New York, Oct. 23.—Father Hyacinthe yesterday made the following statement: "I believe it is impossible to enjoy freedom of thought and exercise it, and yet belong to the communion of the Catholic Church. I still consider myself a Carmelite Monk, and as devoted as ever to the Holy Mother Church, but I maintain that I exercise my priestly functions by the authority of God alone; that the Church has no right to change the faith as handed down by the fathers—to add or take from it anything whatever. I believe Protestants to belong to the great brotherhood of faith, but I do not intend to ally myself with their peculiar views."

IMMIGRATION TO THIS COAST.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—A New York special says that over one hundred passengers start to-day on the weekly through train for San Francisco. The Panama Railroad Company and the Pacific Mail Company have completed arrangements for reducing the rates of freight, to compete with Cape Horn and the overland railway. The charges were to be reduced one-fourth or one-half the present figures.

Foreign Items.

A SUBORDINATE clerk in a banking establishment drew the grand prize in the Russian lottery a month ago. It amounted to $140,000. It is estimated that of the population of France 11,000,000 persons are living in the cities, and about 28,500,000 in the country. AMONG the agricultural implements now manufactured in Great Britain are large numbers of elephant plows, which are forward by way of the Mediterranean, the Isthmus of Suez, and the Red Sea and Indian Ocean, to Hindostan.

An English correspondent of the Revolution says of Mrs. Harriet Martineau: "We were grieved to learn that a severe attack had brought Mrs. Martineau very low, and that she had scarcely yet recovered from the effect of it. She had not this summer been able, as yet, to go out on the sunny terrace in front of her house, but had occasionally sat in the porch to enjoy the fragrant air, and all the bird and insect life around. Weariness and restlessness, rather than actual pain, are the characteristics of her complaint."
