DRUGGIST.—The soldier who assaulted policeman Bentley, has been committed to jail in default of $1000 bail.

H. E. HOLMES, the druggist, is now established in his new stand, formerly known as the "Eagle Drug Store," where he has a large stock of drugs, perfumery, etc.

LEWIS has been appointed to the police force, with a salary fixed at fifty dollars a month. The presence of an unusual number of recruits is assigned as the reason for increasing the police force.

SINGING SCHOOL.—Dr. James Dorr, an accomplished professor of music, will open a singing school at Dr. Eggar's church, to commence Tuesday evening next. Those who wish to improve themselves in vocal music are invited to attend.

A HEAVY TRADE.—Messrs. Adams Bros. inform us that during the last fall they sold more than the quantity of goods sold the corresponding season last year. They also inform that payments have been prompt and business in every way encouraging.

J. B. MONTGOMERY, the contractor for reconstructing the obstructions in the Columbia and Snake Rivers, was at Walla Walla in the early part of the week. His men are now at Walla Walla, and in a few days he will commence operations at Pine Tree Rapids. This is the place where the steamer Alinda struck on her last trip, and with the removal of these obstructions it is thought that light draft boats will be able to navigate the Snake River at all seasons of the year.

CONCERT.—The concert given by the First Choral Band, Friday night last, drew a very large crowd and was eminently successful. The instrumental and vocal music was very fine, and elicited much praise. The grand part of the performance was scarcely open to the student, and in future entertainments may well be omitted. Another entertainment will be given under the direction of the Leader of the Band, when a very choice programme will be presented.

OPENING FOURTH STREET.—A petition is being circulated asking the city council to take measures to open Fourth street through what is known as "Chabot's addition." The opening of this street would give farmers coming in from the foot of the mountains ready access to the town, and in that respect would be a convenience. The trouble is that the city finances have been managed so badly that there is no money on hand to apply to legitimate purposes, and hence, however desirable it may be to open streets, the authorities are powerless.

SERIOUS ASSAULT.—Saturday night last a party of soldiers were at the saloon, corner of Main and Third streets, and becoming noisy Dock Bentley, of the night watch, was summoned to put them out. He led one of them to the door and was in the act of bringing the second one out when he was struck over the head with a stone and knocked senseless. A man named McConn was suspected of committing the assault and at once placed under arrest. For a day or two Dock Bentley suffered greatly, but he is now out again, and beyond a scar on the head seems to have suffered no damage.

SECOND STREET IMPROVEMENT.—We understand that Mr. Frank Orselli, offers to sell to the city his horse and lot, situated at the intersection of Main and Second streets. This lot is right on the line of Second street, and now that valuable improvements have been made in that neighborhood, it is desirable to have the street opened to its full width. Mr. Orselli asks four thousand dollars for the property, payable in city scrip, and bearing interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum. If the terms can be agreed upon, and any way devised to raise the money, it would be well to extinguish Mr. Orselli's title.

RUNAWAY HORSES.—Mr. A. R. Ayres, clerk of the District Court, has a handsome pair of horses that he takes great delight in training and exercising. Wednesday evening he had driven out to the residence of Philip Katz, and was standing holding the horses, when they took fright and dashed off at a fearful rate. They made direct for town, and soon succeeded in smashing the buggy. The horses run together until they reached the corner of Alder and Fourth streets, when one of the animals fell and thus ended the race. The horse that fell was got up with great difficulty, and it is feared met with serious injury.

ANOTHER CROWDED SCHOOL.—We learn that district school No. 1 is badly crowded, and that many children living in the district from this cause fail to attend school. The demand for educational facilities in this town is really startling. We have two district schools, both crowded to overflowing, and in addition we have the Catholic schools for girls and boys, the Episcopal school for young ladies, the Whitman Seminary, Prof. Grim, and a select school kept by Dr. Chamberlain, all well patronized. With seven schools and academies in our midst, we have the startling fact that many of the schools are crowded to an excess that endangers health.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.—Last Saturday evening witnessed the first outside that has taken place in Walla Walla for a long time, in the death of Wm. McGinn, of Dayton, formerly a soldier in the U. S. army. The unfortunate man has been in the employ of Mr. Hunt, of Dayton, in the capacity of cook, and was regarded as an honest, industrious man, his greatest fault being an occasional drink. About the middle of last week Mr. McGinn came to Walla Walla, and for two or three days drank very freely. On Saturday he was suffering from "horror," and was very nervous and despondent all day. About five o'clock in the evening he took a razor and a bottle of brandy and retired to the water closet in the rear of Peter Keifer's notion store, first door below the St. Louis Hotel, where he was soon after found in a pool of blood with his throat cut. Dr. Bingham was summoned and secured the divided blood vessels, but too late to save the man's life as he had already lost a large amount of blood, the jugular vein and several other large vessels having been severed. Coroner Lambert held an inquest Sunday morning, the jury rendering a verdict in accordance with the facts related.

THE HOG CROP.—A gentleman who is largely engaged in the pork trade informs us that the farmers of this valley will market 5000 head of hogs this season. About 1000 head have already been purchased for the Portland market and driven off. The balance will be killed and cured by our own pork men. Mr. H. P. Isaacs alone will slaughter one thousand head. This latter gentleman early in the season put up a number of hogs, carefully noting at the time the weight of each animal. He has since kept an account of the grain fed to those hogs, and from their increased weight finds that grain fed to hogs has brought him fully double the price grain has been selling for in this market. That is to say, if wheat sells for 50 cents a bushel, it will pay the producer $1 a bushel to feed the same wheat to hogs. To fatten hogs to advantage, two things are necessary—good shelter and clean water. Give them this advantage, and they will always pay back in increased flesh all the grain they consume. To sell hogs on foot and allow them to be driven out of the country, is bad policy. Build sheds and provide an abundance of water, and then it will pay you to feed them grain when wheat is worth not to exceed 75 cents a bushel.

STEAMER DAISY ANNWORTH LOST.—On Tuesday morning, the 23d, the steamer Daisy Annworth left the Dalles for the Cascades with something like 200 head of cattle. When nearly opposite the warehouse at the upper Cascades, she struck a rock, immediately under the fire-room. She then commenced to settle, breaking her main log-chains right off, also some of the smaller ones. The crew shoved the cattle overboard and succeeded in getting about 130 on the main land, and about 20 of them swam to an island, the balance were lost. The steamer continued settling off and down on to another rock right in the neck of the falls, where she now lies hard and fast on a rock. Yesterday they succeeded in dropping a large barge down alongside of her with long lines. They are going to strip her and save what they can of the wreck. They will save the cabin and most of the machinery. She was the most valuable boat the Company owned, her engine alone having cost about $25,000, and the boat about $60,000.

THE RESULT.—Every hour in the day and twenty times a day, we are asked in confidence to state just what we know about the result of the Presidential election. In this emergency the grapevine telegraph has come to our relief and tells the whole story. Here it is:

The latest Rutherford B. Tilden is in result and Samuel J. Hayes growing favor of receipt in Tallahassee. Democrats claim large Florida than result of doubt. Both parties Carolina claim by South. Majorities insist in adverse and Louisiana refuse concede both parties uncertainly Samuel J. Rutherford B. Tilden fixes majority republican of Louisiana where a bloody precinct threatened unregistered voters if they throw out illegal are voters. The democrats are republicans and the dependents confident. This may the fluctuating adherents of the hopes of the passing hour remain and the great event uncertain. Neither the partisans of Rutherford B. Tilden or Samuel J. Hayes are willing to defeat admit.

CROWDED SCHOOL.—The school at the lower end of town has on its roll the names of over one hundred and fifty scholars. The average attendance, as we are informed, is 125. This large number of children crowded into two small rooms, and these rooms badly ventilated, is calculated to endanger health. In this condition of affairs the residents of district have the choice either to divide the district, or to build an addition to the school room. The last will involve the expenditure of less money, and seems to be the best solution of the difficulty.

THE IDAHO DELEGATE.—The returns from the various precincts of North Idaho show an increased majority for the democratic candidate for delegate to Congress. At Mount Idaho his majority over Clark is 47, at Jackson's Bridge 15, at Slate Creek 12, and at other points in like proportion. Clark carried Oacida by nearly 175 majority, and Penn carried Bear Lake by more than 250 majority. Clark carried Alturas by over 50 majority and probably Lemhi by somewhat smaller figures. Fann's majority in the territory will reach 400, and most probably go beyond these figures.

THE INDIAN COMMISSIONERS, headed by Gen. Howard, completed their business, and have gone below. It is understood that practically their mission proved a failure. Joseph, chief of the non-treaty Nez Percés, was haughty and defiant. He refused to enter into any treaty disposing of the Wallowa country, and thus practically ended the interview. It is understood that the commissioners were instructed to enquire into the practicability of restricting the Indians to a single reservation, and that part of their object here was to make the inquiry.

MONEY UP.—A former friend visited Lewiston lately for the purpose of disposing of a lot of cheese. He found a ready sale for his cheese, but not a dollar in money could be realized. The explanation is that all the money in the town is bet on the Presidential election, and being in the hands of stakeholders there is a great stringency in the money market. Our friend left his cheese, and after the radical complete the "counting out" of Tilden he expects to receive his returns.

THE THOMAS & RUCKLE ROAD.—We are informed that the above named road is now open to the free use of the traveling public, and will remain so until the coming spring. The present manager has graded and completed over 23 miles of the road, which avoids crossing the river by bridges so often. The road is in very good condition through to Sumnerville, and being free should gain a great deal of travel.

AN IMMENSE STOCK.—The new store of Schwabacher Bros. is an immense concern, and to say of the stock of goods now on hand that it is "immense" scarcely expresses the idea. Their invoices fully foot up $200,000, and on their shelves may be found almost every article known to commerce. Such a stock never before was seen in a country town, and it is not strange that the store is constantly crowded by a throng of customers all anxious to secure the bargains.

HOLIDAY GOODS.—The Francisco Store, next door to Dusenbery Bros., has been enlarged, and now has a very full stock of goods suited to the holiday trade. A card setting forth the facts will appear next week.

OUR BOYS.—A very respectable citizen, the father of a family, calls our attention to the fact that many parents allow their boys, ranging all the way from 6 to 14 years of age, to run the streets at night, and visit all manner of improper places. It is no unusual thing to see small boys, with stumps of cigars in their mouths hanging around the doors of saloons, and listening to the vulgar talk of drunkards and bummers. To bring boys up in this way is to train them to a life of shame, and parents who thus neglect their offspring will have themselves to blame if in the future they reap an abundant harvest of sorrow. Boys of the ages noted above should be sent to school in daytime, and the evenings might profitably be employed in studying their lessons for the following day. "Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined," and boys who are allowed to keep bad company are quite sure to grow up bad men.

Our Next President.

It is not by any means improbable that months will intervene between the day set for the election of President and the declaration of the final result. The people meantime will watch very closely what is going on in the three doubtful States, and a very large portion of voters will arrive at conclusions irrespective of party relations. The question is so grave and momentous that party success loses much of its ordinary importance. Our republican institutions are being subjected to a severe test, and confidence in their permanency in the estimation of public opinion, both at home and abroad, will depend very much on the manner in which the people conduct themselves, and the restraint they can exercise over the rule or rain leaders of either party. It is stoutly claimed by the democrats that in Louisiana they have a majority of the votes cast, variously stated at from six thousand to eight thousand. This claim is not allowed by the republicans, but it has been admitted by republican journals that the vote cast in the five disputed parishes gave an apparent majority to the democrats. It is claimed however by republicans that the vote in these five parishes is properly subject to revision by the returning board on the ground of gross fraud and intimidation. All intelligence from Washington and Louisiana points to a determination on the part of the republican leaders to protect the returning board in performing their duties as defined by law. From the decision of this returning board there is no direct appeal. The method of their work is this: They first canvass the undisputed ballots and thus arrive at a positive knowledge of the vote of each party which will stand in any event. They then receive statements of supervisors of registration or commissioners of election from districts the vote of which is in dispute. They may also receive the affidavits of citizens who were not officials. If the returning board become convinced that in consequence of disturbance or intimidation or other causes a sufficient number of qualified electors were prevented from registering and voting so as to change the result of the election they may exclude such districts from the count in making up the vote of the State. It will readily be seen that in arriving at a conclusion in regard to intimidation, there is a great chance for errors of judgment. There is also a chance for premeditated fraud on the part of the returning board. There will be no trouble in finding witnesses who will swear that they were intimidated. The returning board, intending to be honest, may be imposed upon by false witnesses; and if the returning board does not intend to be honest, they can very easily procure testimony in such districts as they desire to exclude from the count. It will be the more easy to do this with a show of justice, as the character of the vote in certain parishes in Louisiana is at least suggestive of strong influences at work to keep colored voters from the polls. We will suppose, therefore, that honestly or dishonestly, the returning board of Louisiana throws out the disputed parishes and counts the vote for Hayes. The returning boards of Florida and South Carolina may do the same thing. In that case Mr. Hayes will be elected by a majority of one vote. He will have 185 to 184 for Mr. Tilden. But there is yet an official act to be performed after the votes of the States are officially declared before the President is declared elected. The federal constitution provides that the two houses shall meet in joint convention on the second Wednesday in February, when the President of the Senate shall open the package of returns from the different States and declare the result.

Now, if as we have supposed, the three States of Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida shall, through their returning boards, declare for Hayes, the returns reaching the President of the Senate would elect Mr. Hayes by a majority of one. A very important question here arises as to the course the House would adopt at this crisis. If it should appear to representative democrats who are now in the disputed States that Mr. Hayes was fairly elected, they would doubtless permit the States to be counted without protest. But if it should appear that the returning board of any one State threw out returns to create a majority for their own party it is not probable that the democratic House would permit such State to be counted without entering a vigorous protest. But it is not so clear at present how that protest can be made effective. Under the twenty second joint rule the vote of no State could be counted while either House objected. But this rule is not now regarded as in force, and it is not at all probable that the Senate will accept it and thus arm the House with the power to rule out a State. It may be urged that the twenty second rule is as good law as when both Houses were republican, but it is not so good party tactics. If this twenty-second joint rule is not adopted, the House, to make its protest against counting the vote of a State effective, must create a precedent. The federal constitution points out no remedy in such a case. neither has our experience suggested any. At this time, with so many uncertainties to suppose away, it would be idle to speculate upon the course the House would pursue. There is one thing, however, that every patriot should bear in mind and endeavor to impress upon the minds of his countrymen: In a Republic the ballot box prescribes a remedy for every possible transgression. There is no occasion to appeal to the sword. Wrong may triumph for a time, but right will triumph at last and permanently. The party that elects a President by means that do not command the confidence of a majority of thinking people, irrespective of party, commits a tremendous and irretrievable blunder. It may thus secure power for a day, or a year, or a Presidential term, but in a short time the people will speak, and in tones that cannot be mistaken—S. F. Call.

PROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS

Which may be done with one-fourth the usual expense, by using our

PATENT SLATE PAINT,

MIXED READY FOR USE.

Fire-proof, Water-proof, Durable, Economical, and Ornamental.

A roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by application of this slate be made to last from 20 to 25 years. Old roofs can be patched and coated, looking much better, and lasting longer than new shingles without the slate.

One-third the Cost of Reshingling.

The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them. The paint is fire-proof against sparks or flying embers, as may be easily tested by any one.

IT STOPS EVERY LEAK.

and for tin or iron has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and NEVER CRACKS nor scales. Roofs covered with Tar Reshingling Paint can be made water-tight at a small expense, and preserved for many years.

This Slate Paint is EXTREMELY CHEAP.

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, while on tin, iron, felt, matched boards, or any smooth surface, from two quarts to one gallon are required to 100 square feet of surface, and although the paint has a heavy body it is easily applied with a brush.

No Tar is Used in this Composition, therefore it neither cracks in Winter, nor runs in Summer.

In decaying shingles it fills up the holes and pores, and gives a new substantial roof that will last for years. Cracks or warped shingles it brings to their place, and keeps them there. It fills up all holes in felt roofs, stops the leaks—and although a slow dryer, rain does not affect it a few hours after applying. As nearly all paints that are black contain tar, be sure you obtain our exclusive article, which (for shingle roofs) is when first applied, changing in about a month to a uniform slate color, and is to all intents and purposes SLATE. On our red color is usually preferred, as one coat is equal to five of any ordinary paint. For our mortar red is the only reliable Slate Paint ever introduced, that will effectually prevent dampness from penetrating and disintegrating the plaster.

TIN ROOFS

These paints are also largely used on out-houses and ices, or as a primer coat on fire buildings.

Our only colors are CHOCOLATE, RED, BRICK RED, and ORANGE.
