Mr. Lincoln's Visit. New York. - Mr. Abraham Lincoln has been in this city nearly two weeks, submitting to medical treatment at the hands of Dr. A. Sayre. A Times reporter says: She has not the needed means to secure proper attention and nurses, and the $3000 pension granted by congress is utterly inadequate to supply her wants in her present condition. It is stated that active efforts are making to have congress increase her pension.

A Big Affair. CHICAGO. - The Irish-American National convention, which begins its sessions on the 30th inst., at McCormick hall, promises to be a monstrous affair. Delegates will be present from all the principal cities in the country, arrangements have been made to accommodate 2000.

Not without Cause. New York. - A Tribune's Washington dispatch says Arthur recently told an office-seeker: "Come and see me about it thirty days before incumbent's time expires. I have made up my mind that all officials shall serve out their terms unless they fail to perform their duties properly."

A Contractor with a Grievance. WASHINGTON. - There arrived in this city yesterday a gentleman who is taking a great interest in the star route prosecutions. His name is Jennings, and he comes here to tell a little story which is without doubt a counterpart of what hundreds of other sub-contractors could tell were they so disposed. Among Dorsey's routes in Montana was one about 200 miles in length. The schedule of this route allowed eighty-four hours for the trip and required three trips per week. The pay for the service was $22,000. Dorsey sub-let this route to Jennings for $12,000 and pocketed $10,000 per year clean cash. Dorsey two years since went to work and had the route "expedited" from eighty-four to sixty hours, and the pay consequently raised to about $35,000. He pocketed the $13,000 additional pay and told Jennings he had better make his trips in sixty hours instead of eighty-four hours, as the government would prefer it, but made no raise in the contract price. Jennings obligingly attempted to do this work in sixty hours, but failed frequently, owing to insufficient equipment. As a result terms were inflexible, and last year Mr. Jennings' fine exceeded his pay as sub-contractor by nearly $1,000. This proceeding naturally made Mr. Jennings' contract unprofitable, and he was obliged to throw it up. The government is making a thorough investigation in this case and it is thought that Jennings' fines will eventually be remitted.

A Mad Scene. A Herald's Washington dispatch of the 22d says: The janitor at the police court building was surprised late to-night by the apparition of a woman bareheaded and in her night-dress rushing madly up Louisiana avenue toward Sixth street. He overtook her just as she was entering the law office of Cook & Cole, and to his amazement discovered that it was Mrs. Lillie Christiany, defendant in the celebrated divorce suit. Her hair was streaming over her shoulders, her feet were devoid of any covering whatever, and she was scratching wildly and viciously at her face. The janitor endeavored to persuade her to return to her residence, but she broke away and exclaimed that she would never return home again, that she would never see her lawyers on any important business. Her shrieks attracted quite a crowd, and a gentleman kindly volunteered to relieve Hughes of his charge. A carriage was quickly summoned and the unfortunate lady was placed in it and driven to her residence, about four squares from the spot where she was discovered. Her ravings were terrible to listen to as she was borne down Louisiana avenue. It is asserted that the evidence submitted by the prosecution in the divorce suit during the past week or two has been of a very damaging character, and Mrs. Christiany has brooded continually over it. It was impossible for anyone to see her to-night, as she was under a doctor's care who had prescribed absolute rest and given her narcotics to induce sleep. Her moans could plainly be heard on the sidewalk and passers by were attracted by the unusual sound until a crowd had congregated in the vicinity of the house. The affair has created excitement in this city owing to the fact that the parties are so well known. The construction put upon Mrs. Christiany's conduct is that her troubles have driven her mad, and the next step in the case may be to send her to an asylum.

Mahone's Prediction. CHICAGO. - The Times' Washington special says: Senator Mahone predicts that all men opposed to sectionalism will be invited to participate in the next national republican convention as a means of breaking up the solid south.

MR. BRAINER has renewed his resignation, which was tendered the day after President Garfield's funeral, and it will be accepted without any protest or demur, though he will remain until December by request of the President. As soon as he is out, the Grant people will proceed at once to administer upon the effects of the department. - Wash. cor. N. Y. Tribune.

BRINCKER knows that old Emperor William would almost as soon cut his own hand off as part with his Chancellor. He runs little risk therefore, in asking the Emperor's distinct expression of his wishes as to his proposed retirement. But statesmen are sometimes astonished to find that resignations designed for rejection are accepted. At least, it is so in this country.

CHICAGO Alliance. The boss again reigns at Washington; the spoils system has full sway; and when the first citizen of the republic is at the capital successfully lobbying for this or that friend of his, it is time for civil service reformers to raise the note of alarm and prepare for the contest with the spoils system, which will make its last fight in 1884. Then the party that places itself squarely on the platform of civil service reform will be successful. This is the great living issue. If the republicans select Grant or Grant's candidate in 1884 it will be beaten as surely as the sun rises on election morning. That the powers that be are preparing for such an issue every sign indicates, whether the "veritable student and writer of politics" of the stalwart journals can see it or not.

LETTER FROM THE CAPITOL.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15, 1881. EDITOR STATESMAN. - The average Puget Sounder prides himself as much upon the product of the saw mills of this country as the ever-confident granger east of the mountains does to the cereals his locality sends to the markets of the world. Both are alike guilty of the pardonable sin of seeing only the superiority of their own adopted homes when engaged in the laudable pastime of contrasting respective merits.

A BIG MORTGAGE. A Puget Sounder got the better of an up-country representative the other day by remarking that "the Creator had done the work of planting this country for man's benefit, while east of the mountains man has to perform the labor of planting every year." "Well," said Walla Walla, "that may seem a power to you, but to me it appears a lamentable failure. Your horticulturist commenced work, according to recent testimony, about 50,000,000 years ago. Our boys have been doing earnest work less than ten years. You now beat us in annual income only about one-third, and when our agriculturists have worked one millionth as long as your planter has we will be just 5,777,896,324,110,000,000,000,000 times ahead of you, and hold a mortgage on you in security for payment for our crops the remainder of the 49,000,000 years." Granger here lost his breath and could not add another numeral, and lumberman could only articulate, "Horticulturist is a new name for the planter of these fir trees."

LARGE LUMBERING INTERESTS. Estimates show the product of six of the principal mills here to be about 130,000,000 feet of lumber annually, as follows: Port Gamble, 30,000,000; Port Blakely, 25,000,000; Washington, 20,000,000; Discovery, 20,000,000; Tacoma, 18,000,000, and Puget, 17,000,000. The average price paid for this article is eight cents per foot, which gives an annual income of $10,400,000. These mills employ from 60 to 160 men each, besides their loggers. There are a number of other mills, which probably produce one-half as much more lumber as the six mentioned. It must be borne in mind that the money for much of this lumber never reaches the Territory, for many of the rich proprietors live in San Francisco and the East. This lumber trade does not benefit a whole people like grain raising east of the mountains does; for, excepting the wages paid to employees, which, in the main, does not exceed the amounts paid by the farmer to his hands, the net gain goes to the enrichment of not more than a score of individuals.

SOME SERMONIZING. The practical man, looking through these mills, cannot but be impressed with the amount of brain labor required to carry on establishments so extensive. The theorist looks on and envies the position of those who have so much wealth at their command, thinking only of the many good things this wealth would buy, and never dreams of the sleepless nights and weary days the proprietors pass while waiting to hear of the safe arrival in port of a delayed vessel, carrying a precious cargo, which may be of less value than the vessel itself. With all their acquired millions these men never lose the nature that first prompted them from small beginnings, to practice economy and self-denial, in order that they may save and thus accumulate. Fretting naturally becomes a matter of habit with such, and if the mind is not worried over the safety of a vessel and cargo, valued at $100,000, it is terrorized at the breaking of a saw or the loss of a log that has floated away from the boom. It has always been written that the wealthiest men are not the happiest, yet the very envy that rankles in the bosoms of those who are not thus blessed is the evidence that they would be willing to take and stand the wealth and risk the loss of happiness.

A BRIEF HISTORY. Of the lives of one company would satisfy most minds that such a life of less than sixty years is no compensation for the possession of millions. One of the partners died insane. His malady was said to be softening of the brain and his monomaniacal kind that so universally fastens upon the brains of those whose chief aim in life has been the accumulation of money. Though his assessable property amounted to millions and his income was hundreds of dollars every day he feared poverty and starvation and went about, when permitted to go, like a rag-picker, carrying a sack in which he carefully deposited all manner of cast-off articles. Another partner died suddenly in early middle age, of disease of the heart, and a third is living a life of singular blessedness, possibly dreaming of the good time coming when he will be able to marry.

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION. It should by no means be inferred that because these men apparently failed to find the goal they sought, they conferred no benefits on others, for hundreds and thousands of men have found employment in their mills, lumber yards, logging camps, stores and shanty towns, who otherwise might have gone hungry, and many of them with humbler hopes and more moderate aims, have supported themselves and made the beginnings that in after years enabled them to rear and educate families, some of whom may in the years to come, occupy positions more responsible than did the employers of their fathers, as the promoter of the welfare of their fellow men.

SPECIAL LEGISLATORS. One of the very worst of things about these large companies is that they always have their representatives in the territorial legislature, who would block the wheels of government rather than permit the passage of any measure that might result inimically to the interests of their employers. If a change of this rule depended upon the development of this country into an agricultural region, when all its great farms are cut down, the first half of the twentieth century would not witness it. But if the next decade shows as wonderful a change in the eastern portion of the Territory as has the past the special legislator will play a small part here in shaping general legislation as did the gold mining representative from the mountain counties twenty years ago.

THE COAL MINING INTEREST. Which is destined to become a feature of this country as important as the lumber trade, is yet in its infancy. Although there are innumerable coal beds extending from the extreme north of Whatcom county nearly to the mouth of the Columbia, on the Columbia river, the Newcastle mine is the only one that is yet worked on a large scale. About 600 tons per day are taken from this mine. It is taken by railroad thirty miles, to tide-water, at Seattle, at the very moderate cost of mining and carriage of $1 per ton, and sold there at $3 and $4.

A PERILOUS LEAP. The superintendents take great pleasure in conveying visitors over this road to the mine. The visitor is weak enough to pass over the 120-foot trestled with mind fully made up never to gratify curiosity in that direction again after listening to Superintendent Williams' relation of how he jumped from a car when the ninety-foot trestled gave away two years ago and was landed with the wrecked train in the abyss below and awoke from the stupor of being only stunned to find one man with both legs broken and another a mangled corpse. And, if he be as valiant as a bear hunter who has not found a bear when he arrives at the mine, if it should be at the moment when the colliers come up, each bearing a lamp upon his head and looking like an imp of darkness, this second shock will drive all fortitude from his knees, and, while involuntarily playing palsy, he will not refuse something on which to brace up before he consents to make a mile long pilgrimage into that dark hole. It is alleged that even though he be a good temple and 400 miles from home his overstrained nerves will argue in extenuation for taking more "something," that it is no time for the observance of ceremonies when he prepares, at the end of the railroad journey, to make the descent from the upper to the lower level. This descent is about 700 feet and at an angle of 43 degrees. The cage or platform upon which the passenger makes this descent is worked by a stationary engine which is located upon the hill above the shaft, and from the moment he starts until his emergence to the light of day, if he be a Catholic, he counts his beads; if Orthodox, he asks the Lord to save him for Christ's sake; and if he be an infidel he varies the prayer by saying "I wish the Lord Harry I was out of here, and I wish I may be d--d if I ever enjoy such a place again!" Upon being told when he ascends to the top side that the cage works sometimes break loose and the thing goes down on its own hook like the devil on a hog's back, he would be willing for the sake of the assurance that he could be immediately transported to a place of safety, to consent that that place might be the company of the girl of the period who could articulate for him, "This is too utterly utter!"

THE PREVAILING DISEASE. Which the physicians of the Sound have pretty unanimously declared is small-pox, is still spreading. Owing to the enforcement of the quarantine regulations there are no cases in Olympia. The situation at Tacoma is said to be appalling and all of the incorporated towns on the Sound are quarantined against the place. The new incorporation act of that city was sent from here two weeks ago, on the day of its passage, and the same evening the city council organized under and passed stringent laws, having for their object the prevention of the spread of the disease, but from previous inability to control the population it has become very general throughout the city, and the sanitary measures adopted have not thus far had much effect in preventing its ravages, but they have stopped public funerals and burials. News from there to-day is to the effect that the pest house is full of patients, and a floating hospital has been fitted up in an old vessel lying there and that is also filling up. Blackwell's hotel was closed yesterday and another shut up to-day, both having small-pox patients in them. Many of the inhabitants are panic-stricken, and not being permitted to leave the town by the steamers, they are moving in various directions by wagon and such other conveyance as they can get. Charles Egan, who was clerk of the House here two or three sessions in the 60's died of the disease at Tacoma yesterday. MORE ANON.

MORMON PROSLETES continue to arrive in great numbers in New York, and no effort is made by our government to put an end to the disgrace. Among the recent converts are men and women from England, Scotland, Wales, Switzerland, Germany, and Scandinavia. It is noticeable that there are no Irish, and the reports of Utah tell us that there are scarcely any of this race among the "Saints." All Europe does not wink at this great wrong as does the United States, which is its home. One of the "elders" is now in prison in Hamburg. He has been in Kiel and Hamburg for two years, a hundred and fourteen days of which he has passed in prison.

THE PILOTAGE BILL. The effort to introduce a compulsory pilotage law into the legislature should be most severely discontinued, it is one of the great drawbacks experienced by San Francisco as it is one of the charges which go so far toward making an expensive port and therefore to be avoided rather than courted by shipmasters. Let the bill be relegated to the obscurity where it properly belongs. Encouragement and not injury is what the Sound needs at this time.

IN respect to the opinions of others, the governor of Oregon has appointed Thursday, Nov. 24th, as Thanksgiving day.

HOWEVER, the signal service swindler has had no less than seven indictments for forgery and embezzlement brought against him.

CENTAUR LINIMENT
The protected rains in Wisconsin, Minnesota and other parts of the Northwestern wheat belt have been productive of much damage to the wheat in shock. The Millers' Association in Milwaukee passed resolutions asking the Chamber of Commerce of that city to enforce a rigid inspection of wheat, as a vast quantity of that commodity is coming in from the Northwest which, while it looks fair and grades No. 2, and even No. 1, is badly injured by rain and is damp and tough, and totally unfit for flour. The association also telegraphed to the Millers' Association at Minneapolis, that owing to the unwarranted condition of the wheat market - which is manipulated in the interest of speculators and against all legitimate business - they believe it to be for the interest of the millers of the country to make common cause and shut down their mills until the price of wheat shall be set at a figure to compete with the markets of the world. All the mills in Milwaukee have shut down and invite operation.
Once again we advise the Peeping Tom of the Standard to be very careful when playing with subsidy fire or we shall have no hesitation in making public his threats against a certain corporation unless his terms were agreed to in regard to a certain advertisement. They were not agreed to as we will prove by his own files since a certain date, when compared with former issues. And as for his threats against us he is dared to his worst. But be very careful on the subsidy question, Thomas.

A Volume of Inducements!

LET THE PEOPLE
STUDY OUR PRICES
AND
ONE PRICE ONLY!
EVERYTHING MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES.

GOODS SOLD ONLY FOR CASH.

These principles have been before the public since our advent in business. They represent the system by which we cater for the people's confidence, and the judgment of every person in this Territory can readily understand whether those ideas agree with their opinions, or otherwise.

We are now prepared to present to the public a vast assortment of the most desirable and staple Dry Goods, and would ask the favor of a careful examination of the inducements we offer and our method of business, and then JUDGE ONLY ON YOUR OWN JUDGMENTS.

We offer two Heavy Honey Comb Towels for 25 Cents. We offer Heavy Undercrossed Table Linen at 40 Cents per Yard. We offer 12 yards Heavy Lion Toweling for $1. We offer Very Heavy Scarlet Wool Flannel at 50 Cents.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES

We offer inducements in Dress Goods, Silks and Frocking Goods which the public know has never been equaled in this Territory. Being the only exclusive Dry Goods house in this Territory, it stands to reason that our prices should be lower than any other house, and THEY ARE LOWER.

Heavy All Wool Black Cashmere, (40 inches wide) 50 cents per yard. Extra Heavy All Wool Serge (48 inches wide) 75 cents per yard. Heavy Black Gros Grain Silk, 90 cents per yard. Silk French Valenciennes, 50 cents per yard. Full Line Frocking Silks, all shades, 60 cents per yard. Low Priced Dress Goods, same prices as in San Francisco.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES

In our Hosiery and Underwear Departments we offer goods at prices which have never been entirely unknown in this upper country. Buying and selling fairly and honestly for Cash, our system enables us to sell goods as low as any house in San Francisco. Our theory of business is this: It does us as much actual benefit to sell goods cheap as it does the purchaser to buy cheap, because we consider that an advertiser must more potent than any language can express.

Ladies Heavy Merino Under Shirts, 50 cents each. Ladies Heavy Ribbed Hosiery, Finished Stays, 25 cents per pair. A vast assortment of Men's and Children's Wool Hosiery. Cloaks and Ulsters at San Francisco prices.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES

In our Gents' Furnishing Goods Department we are prepared to offer inducements which cannot possibly be surpassed by any house in San Francisco. There is scarcely a man that has ever examined these goods that has not openly acknowledged that our prices are at least 40 per cent less than other stores in Walla Walla. Our best assortment of Men's Gents' Goods in Walla Walla. Overalls, Jumpers and Duck Clothing, at San Francisco prices. Men's Wool Underwear in every possible style. Men's and Boy's Hats, 40 per cent less than Walla Walla prices.

ONE PRICE - CASH ONLY.

WHAT WE MEAN BY THESE METHODS.

Do you ever consider when entering an establishment to purchase goods whether it is safer to trust to your own judgment or the integrity of the store. Can you trust your own judgment always? Remember, the price and value of goods are frequently changing. What is worth $100 to-day may be only worth 75 cents a week. Can you always keep track of these changes? Does it occur to you that you must purchase more or less confidence in the house you purchase your goods? That the consideration for you is this: What store can you have confidence in? It is not in the store at all it is in the system that the store does business by, that is the only safeguard for the purchaser. Do you wish to purchase in a house where you pay one price, and another person comes along and pays a less price? Do you wish to pay cash in a store doing a large credit business? Does it not occur to you that the storekeepers expect you to reimburse him for his losses in bad book debts. You don't find the money, you have to labor for it in some shape or another and it is your direct and positive duty to invest your money to the best advantage. Our system is one price. You pay one price, every other person does the same, no more or no less, and there is no human consideration could induce us to alter it. We sell goods exclusively for cash, and we mark all goods in plain figures. Do you think these rules a safeguard for you or not. If our prices were not lower than any other store could we dare mark them in plain figures. Armed with those principles we are enabled to offer equal advantages with any cash house in San Francisco. But we must either have the money or the goods. Book debts will not pay manufacturers in New York, and from our view of business the very smallest marginal profit is better to-day than the uncertainty of a large profit in a year hence.

AN OLD VETERAN GONE.

I. O. O. F. ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given by the Odd Fellows at their handsome hall on Monday evening was well attended by nearly 200 persons.

A GOOD FINDER.

There are some wide-awake energetic firms in Portland, and of these the names Messrs. Skidder & Chabrousse, the great furniture and cabinet makers, are familiar in their monthly household words...

MATCH MAKERS.

The status of the licit match makers in London is the subject of enquiry. The employees in the factories making matches are badly off in all respects.

BARRELED PICKLES.

The first pickles in barrel which ever came to this city are at Crutenden & Logan's and from samples purchased it must be confessed that they are far superior to anything we ever tasted before.

APPOINTMENT.

Mr. J. P. Goodhue, long and favorably known in this city in the steamboat agency, has been appointed receiver at South Astoria, by the O. R. & N. Co. of Portland, Oregon.

THAT JURY CASE.

After being out over thirty hours in the case of Howe vs. City of Walla Walla for damages for injuries sustained by falling down the cellar, when the building owned by Dr. Day was in course of erection.

MELTUM IS PARVO.

Much has been said and written on the subject of "association of ideas," but a clear case was noticed on the streets on Sunday when a noted undertaker was walking home with a struggling duck under his arm.

GRANGES.

We wish to state that the number of Pendleton's citizens have formed an association and taken up some 9000 acres of land in a body somewhere west or southwest of Pilot Rock.

ANOTHER WIDOW.

Still another victim to the insidious man of the Columbia river bar; this time it is the Edith Lorne, a fine iron ship of 903 tons register, and had on board 25,000 cents of Walla Walla wheat valued at $4,000 and sold by Sibson & Church to a London firm.

MEANS BUSINESS.

We were handed a copy of the Wood River News this morning, a neat little 6 column folio sheet, well printed and very spicy.

THE DUTTON MAIL.

Mr. Postmaster Stone informs us that after Monday next he will send the Dayton mail every day instead of every alternate as at present. But no mail will be received from there.

ESTIMELY WRONG.

The "grate" paper is a little off in asserting that there are a few cases of small-pox in this city. There is not a case in the city, and the health of Walla Walla was never better in all its history.

BUILDING.

Affairs have come to a pretty pass when a parcel of ignorant quacks dictate to the principal citizens of Walla Walla and order men like Dr. Day to stop advertising in the Statesman, for no other reason than that this paper says, as a duty it owes the public, to expose their wiles and intrigues.

COMING BACK.

Troop G, First Cavalry, Col. Bemis commanding, has been ordered back from Arizona to McDermitt, Nevada, their former rendezvous.

NO MORTGAGE.

No mortgages given by you, unsatisfied on the records of this office. Good enough, so far as it goes; it is a difficult thing for a person to mortgage property when it has been taken from him.

The status of the licit match makers in London is the subject of enquiry. The employees in the factories making matches are badly off in all respects.

BARRELED PICKLES.

The first pickles in barrel which ever came to this city are at Crutenden & Logan's and from samples purchased it must be confessed that they are far superior to anything we ever tasted before.

APPOINTMENT.

Mr. J. P. Goodhue, long and favorably known in this city in the steamboat agency, has been appointed receiver at South Astoria, by the O. R. & N. Co. of Portland, Oregon.

THAT JURY CASE.

After being out over thirty hours in the case of Howe vs. City of Walla Walla for damages for injuries sustained by falling down the cellar, when the building owned by Dr. Day was in course of erection.

MELTUM IS PARVO.

Much has been said and written on the subject of "association of ideas," but a clear case was noticed on the streets on Sunday when a noted undertaker was walking home with a struggling duck under his arm.

GRANGES.

We wish to state that the number of Pendleton's citizens have formed an association and taken up some 9000 acres of land in a body somewhere west or southwest of Pilot Rock.

ANOTHER WIDOW.

Still another victim to the insidious man of the Columbia river bar; this time it is the Edith Lorne, a fine iron ship of 903 tons register, and had on board 25,000 cents of Walla Walla wheat valued at $4,000 and sold by Sibson & Church to a London firm.

MEANS BUSINESS.

We were handed a copy of the Wood River News this morning, a neat little 6 column folio sheet, well printed and very spicy.

THE DUTTON MAIL.

Mr. Postmaster Stone informs us that after Monday next he will send the Dayton mail every day instead of every alternate as at present. But no mail will be received from there.

ESTIMELY WRONG.

The "grate" paper is a little off in asserting that there are a few cases of small-pox in this city. There is not a case in the city, and the health of Walla Walla was never better in all its history.

BUILDING.

Affairs have come to a pretty pass when a parcel of ignorant quacks dictate to the principal citizens of Walla Walla and order men like Dr. Day to stop advertising in the Statesman, for no other reason than that this paper says, as a duty it owes the public, to expose their wiles and intrigues.

COMING BACK.

NO MORTGAGE.

No mortgages given by you, unsatisfied on the records of this office. Good enough, so far as it goes; it is a difficult thing for a person to mortgage property when it has been taken from him.

THE WHITMAN MONUMENT.

The executive committee of the Pioneer and Historical Society of Oregon, met in Astoria on Tuesday last. Mr. W. H. Gray whose interest in the project of erecting a monument to the martyr Whitman, never waned...

AN OLD VETERAN GONE.

ORLANDO SERGEANT BRIDGE, an old veteran who had been 40 years in the U. S. service, peacefully departed this life at the Garrison on Monday the 21st inst.

I. O. O. F. ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment given by the Odd Fellows at their handsome hall on Monday evening was well attended by nearly 200 persons.

A GOOD FINDER.

There are some wide-awake energetic firms in Portland, and of these the names Messrs. Skidder & Chabrousse, the great furniture and cabinet makers, are familiar in their monthly household words...
