The Washington Star says the Postmaster at Fairfax Court House has arrived. The Star says the enemy is encamped 20,000 or 30,000 strong at Gainwille, near Manassas. It also says the rehelas succeeded in getting most of their army seroes the Rappalhamock, at the base of the Blue Ridge, messing them at White Plains. It is evident they aim to get between Pope and the fortificultions around Washington, and having done so they would have had a lively time getting out of this position.

Washinkorns, Aug' 29.—The following official dispatch has been received from Gen. Pope, dated Manassas Junction, Aug. 28th, 10 r. M.:

To Gen. Halleck:—So soon as I discovered that a large force of the enemy was turning our right towards Manassas, and that the division our right towards Manassas, and that the division of selection of short prayers; we pray Thee that they will also conceive a love for short right towards Manassas, and that the division our right towards Manassas, and that the division say, asy it and then stop—Amen.

by Warrenton and Alexandria, Pike's and one of ny warrenton and Alexandria, rike a and one of the intelleman's to march on Greenwich, and with Porter's corps and Hocker's division I marched hack to Manassas Junction. McDowell was ordered to interpose between the forces of the enemy which had passed down to Manassas through Cainsville, and his main body moving down from White Plains through Fan Gap; this was accombilished completely.

Longstreet, who had passed through the Cop, being driven back to the west side, the forces to Greenwich were designed to support McDowell in case he met too large a force of the enemy. Hooker's division moving towards Manassas came on the enemy near Kittle river on the afternoon of the 29th. After a sharp action he round. thein completely; surrounded 300, capturing the camp and baggage, with many stand of arms.—
This morning the command pushed rapidly forward to Manassas Junction, which Jackson had evacuated three hours before. He retreated by Centerville and took the turnpike road towards. Centerville and took the tumpike road towards Washington. He was met six miles west of Centerville by McDawell and Sigel, and late this afternoon a severe fight took place, which darkness terminated. The enemy was driven back at all points; and thus affairs resit.

The Oregon Senatorial Question.

The legislative assembly of Oregon convened on the 8th inst. We have no re-port of its proceedings up to the present time, but we judge from the various speculations indulged in regarding the Senatorial question, that this subject is to form the most important element in its proceed-ings. And this is not unreasonable, when we consider that in addition to the usual party and political strife incident to the election of a U. S. Senator they have in the present contest a religious element, as fierce and as eager for the mastery as the other. The prominent candidates who are said to represent these two factions are Asahel Bush, in the political field, and Bro." Pearne, in the religious. Both are fast and popular nags, and will individually bring more votes to their support than per-haps any other two leading men in the State could do; thus making the contest a formidable one on both sides. Bush of course expects to receive the Democratic vote,—and will doubtless get it if the can-vass becomes narrowed down to a choice between him and Pearno,—and probably some of the anti-higher-law republicans will vote for him in preference to Pearne, On Persti crat will vote for a man of his peculiar political notions, whatever faith he may have in his good intentions; and although there is said to be a majority of republicans on joint hallot, Pearne cannot rely upon this fact for his election, for we are confident that there is the same of the same the other hand, Pearne must rely solely upon the republican strength; for no demo-erat will vote for a man of his peculiar poand liberal minded man chosen to fill the position. A professional political wire-worker and intriguer would reflect no particular credit upon the State in the Senate, one object in life to accomplish.

There is no gainsaying the fact that the gold mania—which has made and unmade governments as well as individuals, and has made the Pacific coast what it is infectious, and of that postilential character that none attempt to flee from it, whatever their antecedents may have been. All that can be done in a philanthropic way is for the victims to endeavor to ameliorate each other's condition as much as possible. Credulity has been one of the fatal symptoms, and in regard to it, we will remark that no people of equal civilization and in-telligence, in the history of the world, have suffered as much as those of the Pacific coast, and they have, as a general thing, so far given up to it as to relapse into a su-perstitious condition, and rely upon luck, so called in these vulgar times, but in Pu-ritanical times, "Divine interposition."

They are the gentlemen, no doubt, that furnish those items about "secesh majorities" of a thousand votes—tell affecting atories, a fa Beatty, of their persecutions by infrainted Southrons, and deem these mines played out. Now, air, there was no "secesh majority" in this precinct or county. No man could be elected in this county exhibes the void take the bestty tribe, the Under Sam's Union. That is what I am to tell you shout in this latter, and it is about them the "returned miners" have occasion to be sorry, if not for their contempible and cowardly lies.

The new mines are on the tributories of Hig.

The new mines are on the tributories of Big Meadow creek, a stream running into the South Fork of Salmon. They are forty miles from this place, in a direction nearly due east—a little south of it.

Reports come to us from the new diggings that as high as one hundred ounces a day have heen made with a single range of sluices. From that sum the reports tend downward. If any "returned miner," who is "a perfectly reliable man," wants to get rich any faster than at the rate of twelve hundred dollars a day, he hud better stay at home.

You will perhaps recollest that the undersigned has not endorsed a "steamboat" this summer—has not heen sold once; well, if everybody in this country has not conspired to lie to him, these new mines will equal Florence—to him the control of the control of

Our new jall is nearly finished. Its construction has been viewed with a melancholy jealousy by a band of thirese up here, who, until now, have had no fear of punishment before their syss.—They have all accededded since there was a chance juil on charge of murder—a man named Winters. He killed Pierce in front of Creighton & Co.'s store before breakfast one morning. He says it was an accident. If it was, all right; if not these eauguinary pistel men will get a warning.

Some enterprising persons have completed a railroad from the timber out of town to Florence, for the purpose of bringing in a supply of wood. It will proze a paying speculation if the population here this winter is as great as it was last.

THE NEW CANAL. The new canal was completed as far as Smith's Guleh last week, but the supply of water is scant. However, it is increasing, and with the rise of the springs will be a great benefit yet this fall.

I notice that you are already posted about the lodings of the "buy on the road." So far, they have not attempted anything large, but may make a trial before fall is over. Parties going out are generally strong enough to take care of themselves—from four to twenty being the number deemed necessary for safety.

P. S. I have just been talking with a friend who is "a perfectly reliable man," and has not yet left for "the land of big red applex," and is not going to leave, and he informs me that Pinkham & Co. are making $300 a day to four and five hands at the new diggings. Scaman & Smith toko out $5,000 to fourteen hands in one week. Pinkham sold one-fourth of four claims for $3,000 cash. The Seaman mechanism class in the amateur printer.

PLONENCE, W. T., Sept. 8th, 1862.
EDG. STATEMAN :—Pending the discussion, in your columns, of the detalections of Indian Agents the claims of Reverent and centinent. Divines to the Oregon Senatorship, and all the various and exciting questions that agiate the surface of a civilized community, a letter from the mines has almost ceased to claim attention. Moreover, when winter approaches the spread of a mining fever is stopped by the inducence of climate, In fact, it is too late in the season for men to afford the luxury of a trip to the mines. This bender is the control of the cont

It is noticeable that the "good time coming boys "is always deferred, and "a little longer" is so far ahead that we never come up with it. So I have found it, and so it is with most men. But the gist of the whole matter is contained in a proposition to make the Cascade range the western boundary of Idaho. The reason for this is not stated, but the Organizan comes in with some comments in its issue of Aug. 23d that explain why Washington should be divided as set toth in the windy communication in the Golden

Mew York, Aug. 30.—Reliable advices through letters received last night, state that affairs near Washington and Alexandria present a most favorable appearance. Burnside and Pope, successfully cut their way through rebel force at Manassas and formed junction with McCleilan's army this side of Centerville.

Several engagements, by divisions, under Hooker, Sturgis and Ecammon have occurred, in which from the vicinity of Manassas and Ball Run form the vicinity of Manassas and Ball Run form the vicinity of Manassas and Ball Run mountains. It is reported the loss on both sides has been heavy. No accurate information, however, is attainable at this point, but it is believed the enemy have been most severely punished.

SHORT SUPPLY OF PROVISIONS. Powder River correspondent, whose letter we publish this week, and in whose veracity and judgment we have implicit confi-dence, assures us that there is not twenty days' provisions at Auburn at the present time, and fears a total failure in the supply for the winter. This is the uniform repre-sentation of men who ere not interested in the speculations of trade, and their statements are entitled to more confidence the those of an equal number of speculators in a small way who are anxious to keep out supplies in order to keep up the prices.

New Diggings.—Mr. Curry informs un that new diggings, which pay with the average of the Powder River mines, have been discovered between Auburn and Mormon Basin. Also that miners, mostly emigrants, are now at work making good wages on nearly all the gulches which put into the Powder river valley.

GEORGE GRIMES was the name of the an who was shot by the Indians while Boise. Mr. G. was one of the first who visited the mines of the upper Columbia, in 1855. He leaves a wife and child at Milwaukie, Oregon.

PROTECTION FOR GOVERNMENT TRAINS -- We learn that Col. Steinberger dispatched a detachment of cavalry on Thursday last to protect Government trains in transite from Snake river to Fort Colville, from threatened Indian depredations.

FOR BITTER ROOT .- Mr. Charles Hutch ns, late Indian Agent at Lewiston, left this city on Thursday morning for the Bitter Root Valley, to take charge of the Indian Agency at that place.

THE MAILS.—The Postmaster General has or deced, that for the present, all the mails for the Pacific coast be sent by steam-hip, via Panama. Reason, an interruption of the Overland Route by the Indians, is anticipated.

OREGON LEGISLATURE.—The Oregon Legislature convened on Monday. Our latest advices from Salem state that the chances for the U. S. Senatorship lie between Asahel Bush of the Statesman and "Bro." Pearne, of the Advocate, with perhaps a small majority in favor of Bush. The people of Oregon have not recently been in the habit of choosing the least of "evils," but in the pussent instance we are glad to note that the chances are in favor of their doing so.

PRIGHT and Circular Mill Saws: Para-oved quality, at NORTHEOP & CO'S, Portland,

The Path Through the Corn Wavy and bright in the summer air.
Like a pleasant sea when the wind blows fair,
Like a pleasant sea when the wind blows fair,
The green highway to a distant world—
Soft whispers passing from shore to shore,
As from hearts resigned, yet desiring more—
Who feels forlorn,
Wandering thus down the path through the corn I

As from hearte resigned, yet descript more. Wander in feels forlors, Wander in feels forlors, want through the Ashert pages alone, and the dead leaves lay dentities a feel of the service of the Ashert pages and the dead leaves lay dentities a feel of the service of bird, O'er the desolate field was ever heard; Only at eve the patific also we little of the service of the service

As strangs, street path, formed day by day,
How, when, and wherefore, we cannot say,
No more than of our life-paths we know,
Whither they lead us, why we go;
Or whether our eyes shall ever see
The wheat in the ear or the fruit on the tree;
Yet, who's forford?
He who watered the furrows can ripen the corn.

BY MIDNIGHT.

BY MIDNIOHT.

Poetically speaking, "to kick" means to dun, with the batters of Connecticut.

An old, hasty, crabbed, nervous hat manufacturer of the village of B—, whom we will call Mr. Poke, engaged a green extract of the country as an apprentice in his factory. At the end of the first month, the young man stocd in need of funds; but not knowing the least improved way of getting them, he opened his heart to a fellowworker.

orker. "Kick the boss, then," was that worthy's worker.

"Kick the boss, then," was that worthy's matter-of-fact reply.

"Kick the boss?" repeated greeny, in astonishment. "Is that the way do it?" He was solemnly assured it was.

"Rick thin, is it?" muttered the enraptured Josh, as he started in quest of his employer. "By bokey, I'll do it strong, and no mistake."

One glance at his hoof would have immediately impressed a skeptically-inclined person with the truth of his assertion.

Going into the back yard an hour or so after-ard, he caught sight of the anxiously looked for boss, in the act of bending over to pick up something. If there was any kicking to be done, now was the time to do it. So, marching up to the unconscious man, with the air of a person about to do a magnanimous act, he drew back his foot, and "ith all his atrength of body and purpose, let drive direct at the stooping gent's rar. The concussion was heart-rending. The something about to be picked up, disappeared to be heard of no more, while the venerable Poke shot head with appalling velocity.

Any one can easily imagine the novel veneration Foke suct ancea with appaning velocity.

Any one can easily imagine the novel semantion experienced by Mr. Poke when he received the shock. He picked himself up; shook his fat in the astonished Jushua's dirty face, and emitted a streak of blue light from his mouth, and small pieces of flame from his eyes.

Joshua was not only amazed but crestfallen. He thought he had done the business poorly; made many apologies, and considerately offered to repeat the dose, at the same time assuring his master that; in his private judgment, a second trial would tend much to his improvement in that line. Strange to relate, his master disrespectfully declined his services, and would have prodeclined his services, and would have pro-ceeded to more violent measures had not several workmen, attracted by the noise, made their appearance and explained mat-ters, to the delight of Joshua; and so quiet again reigned.

THE ASHES OF COLUMBUS.—A cathedral in Havana claims the bonor of sheltering the remains of the navigator. A recent traveler thus describes the place:

A mural tablet in the choir, on which is a bust of the illustrious Genoese in alto relief, informs the public that all that is mortal of him reposes there; that whilst he has left the country he discovered, to be the bone of prosperous millions, he has made has left the country he discovered, to be the home of prosperous millions, he has made a voyage to a still more distant land, from which no traveler returns. One of the cfricers, who had an eye on business, during service, preaented me with a card, telling he story of the legirs of these illustrious bones. Though Columbus died at Valladid, in Synin, his remains were not permitted to remain. They were first transmitted to a Carthusion monastery, at Seville; next day they were removed across the seas to St. Domingo, and finally they were disintered and brought to Havana. Here in the Antilles, with which the discovery has rendered his name immortal, and has so intimate a connection, it is eminential fitting that his dust should repose. The has so intimate a connection, it is eminent-ly fitting that his dust should repose. The land which his heroism revealed to an as-tonished and admiring world, may well af-ford him a place to sleep his long sleep.

"I'LL KEEP 'EM AWAKE."—Near Newark, N. J., lived a very pious family, who had taken an orphan boy to raise who was rather underwitted. He had imbibd very strict views on religious matters, however, a donce seked his adopted mother if she and once seked his adopted mother if she didn't think it wrong for the old farmers to come to church and fall asleep, paying no better regard to the service. She replied that she did. Accordingly, before going to church the next Sunday, he filled his pockets with apples. One bald-headed old man, sho invariably went to sleep during the sermon, particularly attracted his attention. Seeing him at last nodding and giving meast evidence of being in the "land of ing nesal evidence of being in the "land of dreams," he hauled off and took the astifunded sleeper with an apple square on the top of his bald pate. The minister and congregation at once turned iound and gazed indignantly at the boy, who merely said to the preacher, as he took another apple in his hand with a sober, honest expression of countenance: "You preach, I'll keep 'em awake."

VALUE OF WASHOE CLAIMS.—To show the estimation in which Washoe claims are tat estimation in which washoo claims are beld by our own people, we make a note of a proposition made a few days since by Col. Morse, an experienced mineralogist and metallurgist, to the owners of the Ham-ifton & Burke claim, Gold Hill, and which have refused to entertain. Col. Morse, ofthey refused to entertain. Col. Morsa of-fored to rest their ground, amounting to stry feet, for one year, paying them for its see for that period of time one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and agreeing to timfifty thousand dollars, and agreeing to timber the mine throughout, leaving it in far better shape than he found it. To bind the bargain, he would pay fifty thousand dollars town, and the balance within thirty days, if it was wished, in any part of the world that they might desire. This looks like a big offer, but it appears the owners did not think it big enough, and they are probably best qualified to judge of the value of the ground.—Territorial Enterprise.
