The Sunset Land.

Oh! dimly through the mist of years, That roll their dreary waves between, The gorgeous sunset land appears, Arched in hues of fadeless green.

And from that far-off sunny clime, Old half-forgotten songs arise, And stealing o'er the waves of Time The sweetly lingering music dies.

As some bright island of the sea, Forever blooming—ever fair; Though cold, dark billows round it be, Eternal sunshine hovers there.

Thus o'er the silent sea of years, Our eager, longing looks are cast, Where, robed in fadeless spring, appears, The sunlit Eden of the past.

The memory waxes the garlands green, Beside the lone, unquieted shore; And musing 'mid Acid an scene, Twines flowers that bloom for us no more.

Oh! hallowed clime! best land of love! Sweet paradise for auld dreams! Still through thy vale my fancy roves, Still hark beneath thy evening beams.

And there they dwell—those cherished ones With snow white brows and waving hair; I see them now—I hear their tones, Of sweetest sigh along the air.

Hark! how their silvery voices ring, In cadence to the wind's low sigh, No sweeter is the wind-harp's string, That wakes at eve its melody.

They call us, they wave their hands— As by the mirage lited high, With snow white brows and waving hair; I see them now—I hear their tones, Of sweetest sigh along the air.

With tender looks—hand clasped in hand, They move along that loved-inland strand, Within the haunted sunset land.

Proceedings of the "Third House" In obedience to the resolution requiring members to give descriptions of their counties, the member from Clallam arose and said:

MR. SPEAKER:—Perhaps there is no portion of this Territory with which the inhabitants are so little acquainted, as the county which I have the honor of representing—from the fact of its being so situated as to be passed almost unobserved by the general traveling public. Cape Flattery being in Latitude 49° N. and Longitude (if my memory serves me right) 128° W. Bounded on the West and North by the Pacific Ocean and on the East by the straits of San Juan Del Fuca, extending easterly for a distance of about 100 miles, to the northern boundary of Jefferson county. Cape Flattery with Tatouch Island, is the most extreme northwestern part of the American possessions.—

Cape Flattery is a promontory of considerable height, which is often hailed with joy by the weary and weather-beaten mariner, and is the terminus of the Olympic range of mountains which traverse this, and other adjoining counties in a direction due North and South.

Tatouch Island is situated about two miles from the main land. It is about two miles square, and has an altitude of about 200 ft. Upon this island is a Light House, substantially built of stone and brick. This structure does not only credit to the government which ordered its erection and defrayed its expenses, but to the architect who drew the design. It displays a white fixed light.

Neah Bay, the most important, and first "haven" after leaving Tatouch Island, which presents itself to the storm-tossed bark, is situated upon Fuca Straits, about eight miles from the Cape. This, technically speaking, is not a harbor; but rather, a roadstead, and so important that it is to be hoped the attention of the government will be called to it for the purpose of constructing a Break Water, whereby ships may ride at anchor with more safety. It now being exposed to a strong north wind.

So as not to weary your patience, Mr. Speaker, I will improve this fine No. West breeze by sparing my yards, and sail up the Straits of Fuca for a distance of 35 miles; which brings me to Clallam Bay. "Clallam," also, being the name of the tribe of Indians which inhabit this (Clallam) county. Here is not only a safe harbor, and easy of access, but surrounded by lofty banks, which quite recently, have been discovered to be plentifully impregnated with Bituminous Coal—an immense field of wealth, which only requires to be developed to compare with some of the richest gold fields of Idaho.

The next point which should attract our attention, is the Klwaha river. It empties into the straits of Fuca, at a distance of about 75 miles from Cape Flattery. The course of this river is westerly and derives its source among the Olympic mountains. For a distance of 15 miles from its mouth, on either side, is soil of unsurpassed richness, susceptible of producing all kinds of grain and vegetables, which are natural productions of this latitude. It is by following this river that the only practicable pass is found to and from Gray's Harbor, which if not already, will be, considered an important item—to have a road constructed through this pass, by which means it would place the inhabitants of Gray's Harbor within 75 miles of Victoria, where it is probable a good market will always exist.

Four miles above this, is Port Angeles, the only Port of Entry in this Territory.—Here are features which are all important. Important, Mr. Speaker, from the fact that it is the most natural point for the permanent Port of Entry, on account of it being so situated that ships bound to all points on Puget Sound, have to pass this natural stopping place. Besides, it affords a safe and commodious harbor, and very easy of access.

Port Angeles will eventually be the grand rendezvous of Merchantsmen and Whalers. After first changing the name of this Port, which originally was Edix Hook, it was called Cherbourg, on account of its great resemblance to that stronghold of France. Its natural facilities for such a purpose, besides being directly opposite Victoria, certainly makes it a desirable point. But since both-headed and grasping politicians have become property holders, they have changed the name to the more euphonious appellation of Port Angeles. At this point is also a Light House.

Ten miles above Port Angeles is Dungeness, noted for its Light House and extensive farms, one of the latter being valued at $25,000.

Notwithstanding this county has generally been considered a worthless tract of country, barren, sterile and exposed to the beating storms of the broad Pacific, it nevertheless is possessed of a salubrious climate, at least 9 months of the year. It undoubtedly has more natural facilities for wealth than any other county in this Territory.

First iron and gold are found in almost every cleft of its mountain ranges. Iron of a good quality and gold in paying quantities. Its productive farms, improved and unimproved; its coal beds and gold fields are not the only things which should attract a numerous immigration, but its magnificent forests of the finest growth of timber, with numerous Mill sites, whereby Mills can with every facility be erected for the purpose of manufacturing the timber into lumber. Also, its shores and shoals abound in fish of various species, in which is unlimited wealth.

All that apparently is required to make this an important point upon our earth's surface, is capital and experience, which in my opinion, will both be extensively expended here. Clallam, then, will not be looked upon as an uninhabitable stormy cove, it only for the "clam" and "blubber" eating Indians to dwell upon.

I now, Mr. Speaker, leave this subject with you, hoping, if it has not been instructive, that it will at least, induce you to make haste with your hoarded and vaunted means to Clallam, for the purpose of launching out into some enterprise which the facilities of it, are bound to make lucrative.

THE MEMBER FROM PIERCE. MR. SPEAKER:—Pierce county, (which I have the honor to represent) so named to perpetuate the memory of an obscure individual of that name, recollected by some as formerly President of the United States, and who otherwise might have been forgotten, was discovered in the year 1858 by certain Californian miners, then on the way to Frazer river. It is inhabited by a peaceable and inoffensive race of people, who belong to the same genus, and are supposed by some naturalists to belong to the same species as the people living in the valley of the recently discovered Wollamet, generally known as Webfooters.

It is related of those interesting people, that during the exodus of certain migratory individuals, alluded to as the discoverers of that portion of the Territory—who were arriving and landing in vast numbers—that as they landed one ship load after another, the inhabitants would exclaim in tones of wonder and surprise with uplifted hands: "Still they come." Hence, the name "Stellacoom," the chief entrepot and commercial depot of the county.

It has been remarked that the inhabitants are a peaceable and inoffensive race, and we might add that they are noted for their generosity to strangers. It is not within the memory of the oldest inhabitant that a Stellacoomer has refused to a stranger the rites of hospitality. With a courtesy befitting the inhabitants of a great metropolis, they never fail to point the weary and benighted stranger to the unobtrusive shelter of some gigantic fir, and if hungry, they indicate the shortest route to beds of those delicious bivouacs commonly called "clams," which a generous providence has scattered so profusely along those shores.

Pierce county is noted for its lumber trade. Its principal productions are, Co. hogs, Oysters, and soft-shell Crabs. It contains about 1500 inhabitants, and is bounded on the North by British Columbia, on the East by the Cascade range of mountains, on the South by Thurston county and on the West by the Pacific Ocean. It would be well to state in this connection that a charter has been obtained to construct a Railroad from Stellacoom to Vancouver, with a capital of $14,000,000.

Stellacoom is an incorporated town, containing about 300 inhabitants noted for their superior intelligence; is a good sea port and has a garrison of United States soldiers.

THE MEMBER FROM SKAMANIA: MR. SPEAKER:—In obedience to a resolution passed by this body, I rise to give a description of the county I have the honor to represent—that of Skamania. I shall presume that the resolution is not so full as was intended by the House when it voted upon its passage. I conclude that it was the intention of the resolution to call forth a general description from the members of this body, of their respective counties, as to the moral condition of the inhabitants, the physical features of the country, the geological qualities and the agricultural resources.

I presume it would be proper to inform you that my county is bounded upon three sides by adjoining counties and upon one side by the Columbia river.

Ist, I shall devote a portion of my time to the moral condition of my constituency; which I am proud to say is of the highest order. To convince you that we are intelligent, I only have to call your attention to the fact that myself and my colleague are here.

We are most happily situated as holding the doors for the ingress and egress of the great tide of people passing from the happy land of Webfoot into the mineral regions of the interior, and on account of the continual association that we have with all kinds of men, if we were not schooled moralists, we might become contaminated; but, I am happy to announce to you Mr. Speaker, that we have no worse habits than that of playing freeze-out and bean poker, for lightning whisky, and we have become proverbial for our hospitality—never doing worse than to take the happy sojourner in for all he has, and sending him on his way rejoicing.

2nd. As to the physical features of my county, it is up and down,—principally up. We boast with commendable pride of our gigantic mountains, our beetling cliffs and unfathomable caves, while we are constantly reminded of the magnificence of nature by the rumbling of our cataracts.

3d. As to the geological qualities of my county, I fear I shall not be able to do it justice, being no geologist; but to give a general idea, the most prominent formation is basaltic. There are occasional fields of scoria that mark the once active volcano. Some fossil remains that have been discovered show that the country was once inhabited by a race of aborigines; but as the science of geology is yet in its infancy, and our county new, there has been no greater discovery than that of a few dead "ingens."

4th. As to the agricultural resources of my county, our hopes are great for its future development. Owing to the continual mist that falls, we think we shall be able to excel any other portion of the habitable globe in the production of Consumptions, Asthmas and joint-racking Rheumatisms. At present, the attention of agricultural amateurs is devoted to raising dead ingens. [It is said that the people living at and near the Cascades, when they desire to enrich their garden spots, have only to dig down a few feet in the ground to find a rich soil, occasioned by the decomposition of Indian bodies which were deposited there in immense numbers years ago; hence, it may be truthfully said that the agriculturists in Skamania "raise dead ingens."—Ed.]

I would wish to call your particular attention to one of the grandest and most magnificent scenes of nature,—the cataract of the Cascades. These falls are situated, as it were, right under the summit of the Cascade mountains. Here I may say, the Columbia river, like the leveling ingens of religious equality, has burst its way through impenetrable barriers of basaltic formation; thereby carrying down myriads of dead salmon. Here, in time, we expect to hear the hum of the loom, the rattling of machinery, where we have already become accustomed to the neighing of the iron horse.

Farm House Scene in Iceland. We extract the following interesting description of a farm house scene in Iceland, from a tour through that island by an English traveler: "It was morning, and he, with his wife and servant, were already up, and brisk as bees, and ready for a long talk. I was tired out and longed for bed, but hardly liked to get in before them, yet Grimar had just begun the Grimsey story, and that with all his grievances, would last an hour at least. I fairly fell asleep, with my head on the table, and was aroused by Grimar, who recommended me to go to bed. "But," said I, "these good people are in the room." "Oh, don't mind us!" said the priest. "Pray, go to bed!" said his wife. "Do let me pull your breeches off!" volunteered the maid. I started up at the proposal, fully roused, and with a flying leap, buried myself under the feather bed, then pulled off coat and waistcoat; and curled myself up. "Don't English people undress themselves more than that when they go to rest?" asked the priest, who had been watching me gravely. "He has got his breeches on," said the wife. "I'll pull them off if he likes," chimed in the maid with alacrity. "Never, never!" I cried in desperation. "Grimar save me!" Poor Ebenezer Henderson, the Bible Society delegate! The Icelanders still have a good laugh over his disarray, when first the ladies of the house insisted on dismounting of his legs. This was according to etiquette in his time, though now happily falling into disuse. In his book he tells the story of his wild struggle to reserve his nether garments, but he neglects to mention the compromise which was effected, he colling himself up in the covert and letting the ladies pull at the strap buttons. Henderson was a very good fellow, but he had no notion of a joke, and he only mentions the incident to fond on its moral and pious reflections. Among themselves it is still a common practice for the women to peel the men after their day's work, but the Icelanders have learned that strangers do not particularly relish this sort of attention, and they now seldom offer it.

It is published as a curious fact that the Buddhists have their praying done by machinery. But praying-machines are common everywhere.

AS THE cat in the fable, when she was turned to a fair maid, would play with mice, so a clown will be a clown let his condition be changed as it may.

THERE are now in New York Bay nearly twenty foreign vessels of war—representing Russia, England and France. They are all fine vessels, although fashioned on a model well nigh obsolete now.

WHAT is the difference between a mischievous mouse and a beautiful young lady? One harms the cheese and the other charms the boys.

You can't make a village or a parish or a family thing alike, yet you may suppose that you can make a world pinch its beliefs or pad them to a single pattern.

Never own that your wife is right; do it once, and on the very conceit of it, she will be always wrong the rest of her life.

Eastern News.

DATES TO NOV. 26th. SALEM, December 1st.—P. M. Washington, Nov. 25th.—Official dispatches from Grant and Thomas, dated Chattanooga, Nov. 24th, state that on yesterday Palmer, Grant and Harvey's corps charged on the first line of rifle pits between Chattanooga and the creek, and captured, nine officers and about 300 men. Our loss was 100.

To-day, Hooker, with Granger's and Osterhaus' divisions, and two brigades of the 4th corps carried the north slope of Lookout Mountain. The enemy's loss is about 600. Our loss small.

There has been continuous fighting from 12 o'clock till after 8 o'clock. We repulsed the enemy's attempts to retake the position.

Sherman's corps, stationed at the mouth of Chickamauga, with three divisions of 15,000 and one division of the 14th corps, carried the northern extremity of Missionary Ridge.

Our success, so far, is complete. The troops from Lookout Valley carried, and now hold, the eastern slope of the Mountain, and points higher up.

We have the following from Chattanooga, dated Nov. 25th: Gen. Bragg evacuated the summit of Lookout Mountain last night. Our troops now occupy that position. Bragg still holds the rifle pits on the base of Missionary Ridge.

Hooker reports 2,000 prisoners taken in one assault on Lookout Mountain.

Gen. Sherman attacked the enemy on Missionary Ridge this morning, and gained at that portion of the line a complete victory. Gen. Coffee led the rebel assault and was repulsed with heavy loss. Gen. Coffee being wounded, the second assault was made with Col. Loomis' brigade. They had nearly reached the summit of the hill, and enemy's works, when they were flanked, and an hour's fighting ensued, the enemy being compelled to protect their right.

General Grant attacked their weakened center, and after an hour's hard fighting broke it, and we gained possession of the Ridge. Our killed and wounded is unknown, as the killed and wounded were on the ground in possession of the enemy at dark.

Prisoners say that Bragg was on the Ridge just before it was taken. The main force of the enemy was driven north, toward Sherman, who caused them to break up and flee across the Chickamauga.

We have taken not less than 5,000 prisoners, and perhaps 8,000.

Hooker will probably intercept the flying enemy in the vicinity.

It is reported that we have taken a whole corps. We have captured fifty pieces of artillery. Hooker captured five boxes of muskets on Lookout Mountain. Our forces have entire possession of the field, and full control of the Railroad, and the river to Bridgeport.

Our loss will not amount to over three hundred killed and 2,500 wounded, in three days' operations. Our success has been brilliant.

The enemy is reported about two miles beyond and south of Missionary Ridge. Col. Phelps, of the 38th Ohio, and Major Riley, of the 32d Indiana, were killed.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The Star says we have positive and reliable intelligence from Burnside at Knoxville, up to noon of the 20th—24 hours later than previously reported. Burnside still holds his position without loss, and also kept intact his line of communication. Everything looks favorable.

New York, Nov. 24.—The President yesterday, in the course of a conversation, remarked that the next two weeks would be the momentous period of the rebellion.

THE Soutney-Zeitung relates a strange story. A Russian spy had succeeded in obtaining proof that a priest named Dodiaki, living near Warsaw, was an agent of the Polish National Committee. He was arrested, but no proof of his guilt could be obtained, and he was about to be released, when his accusers learned that great consternation existed abroad, lest some of the secrets of the National Government should be forced from him. Bribery was now resorted to—a repudiation stall and rich benefice. His resolution was thus overcome. He stipulated for a confessor to absolve him from the guilt of breaking his oath to the National Committee. This was granted, and the Confessor was left alone with the intended betrayer. A longer time elapsed than usual, and eventually the door of the cell was broken open. The priest lay dead on the floor stabbed to the heart, and the confessor was in the last agonies of death, having poisoned himself with Prussic acid.

THERE is a great deal of vanity in some people's humility, a great deal of poverty in their wealth, and a great deal of insolence in their condescension.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.—The petition to the Legislature, alluded to in our last, praying that body to pass a law authorizing the County Commissioners of this county to levy a special tax to relieve the county of its indebtedness, is now being circulated among the tax-payers. The petition prays that the tax may be increased from 7 1/2 to 14 mills. Mr. K. Guichard, of this city, who has taken the most lively interest in the matter, furnishes us with the following argument in favor of the plan proposed:

Three ideas have been advanced—
First: To amend the County debt.
Second: To take up the County debt and issue Bonds, or get some one to advance the money to the County and issue Bonds to him or them, bearing interest at 2 per cent.

Third: To circulate a petition praying the Legislature to pass a law authorizing our County Commissioners to levy a County tax of 14 mills.
The first proposition is inconsistent, since our County is solvent in the very highest degree of the word—its last assessment roll showing $1,100,000.
The second proposition would amount to nothing, as it would be of no benefit to either the County or scrip holder, for the reason that the present revenue is just sufficient to pay current expenses and interest on recorded scrip; and if there be no delinquent tax payers, of which there has been a frightful number, raised money as proposed, and with no possibility of creating a sinking fund, for the payment of the County debt, as my figures will clearly show.

The third proposition, in my estimation, is the only one that can be beneficial to the County. It reduces the County debt more than half, and will enable the Commissioners to make improvements at Dry Creek, Tucuman, Touchet and many other localities, which in reality need immediate improvements.
The present County tax, at 7 1/2 mills and County scrip at its low value, (it being worth only 20c on the dollar) is equivalent to 1 1/2 mills in gold coin. And if it is equal—which I deny—that the scrip is worth 50c on the dollar, it would then be only equal to 3/4 mill in gold coin, and still sufficiently low, to compel the County to refrain from making any of the so much needed improvements.

My figures will show that 14 mills for one year, and seven mills the next, will bring us above water inside of two years.
I make my calculations as follows:

|--|---|---|---------------------------|
| Assessable property, as per last assessment roll, $1,100,000, which will likely reach $2,000,000, if a competent assessor can be employed; that, however, I will not figure upon, but will take our last assessment of $1,100,000, which at 7 mills County tax, amounts to $7,700 00 | Licenses and Fines, estimated at 3,300 00 | Total Revenue $11,000 00 | |
| County Expenses $6,000 00 | Interest on Recorded Scrip 1,800 00 | Total Expenses $7,800 00 | |
| Leaving a balance of $3,200 for calling in scrip and making improvements, if our delinquent tax list did not show a larger amount than the one calculated to remain in the treasury. | On the other hand, calculating at 14 mills on $1,100,000, will give us $15,400 00 | Licenses and Fines, estimated at 3,300 00 | Total Revenue $18,700 00 |
| County Expenses $6,000 00 | Scrip bearing legal interest 1,800 00 | Total expenses $7,800 00 | |

Leaving a balance of $10,900 to take up scrip, with a very fine prospect, indeed, of a larger amount.
All this may be effected without material injury to any tax payer, and with great advantage to the County, by elevating the value of County scrip to that of U. S. Legal Tender notes.

Mrs. MAGRUDER and the MURDERERS.—Mrs. Magruder, accompanied by her three children, visited the prisoners at the Linn House, in Lewiston. Mrs. M. asked them to tell her what they had done with the body of her husband? The prisoners were silent for some time. At length Howard answered, that the last he saw of him, was about 70 miles from East Bannock. She then said to her eldest child: "Johnny, beg these gentlemen to tell you what they did with your father? The child, with streaming eyes, asked them to give him back his father! The mother, then, with frantic grief, implored the men to tell her; and said she had friends who would bring the body to her.

The prisoners were very much affected during the scene, and when Mrs. M. had left the room, Howard exclaimed to the guard: "For God's sake, don't let that woman come again. My father died suddenly, and I know how that woman feels. She feels like my mother did, and if I had a million dollars I would give it sooner than see her again."

CLOSE OF VOLUME II.—The present number closes the second volume of the STATESMAN. We have no disposition to follow in the beaten track usually pursued by publishers upon such occasions, and here our readers with a lengthy article upon the subject—to apologize for or to eulogize what we have done in the year that has passed, nor to make great promises for the future. We have only to say that we shall continue to publish the paper; and that its course will be as heretofore, independent upon all subjects and have every man upon our books continue there, with the sanction of its owner, we will not insist upon a single paper continuing unless he can believe he gets value received, either in the paper itself or in the benefits he may think our city and valley receives from its publication.

SENATOR FERN.—Superintendent Wood furnishes us with the following in regard to the School Fund for this county:

|--------------------------------------|--|--------------|--------------|
| Amount in County Treasury $1,185 00 | Out of twelve districts four have funds and have reported according to law, and are entitled to draw from the above fund as follows: | | |
| District No. 1 $124 00 | No. 2 207 00 | No. 3 246 00 | No. 4 175 00 |
| Total $752 00 | Total $2,185 00 | | |

There is upwards of $2000 of delinquent tax on the rolls of this year and last, belonging to the school fund. If the taxes were all paid in, as they ought to be, it would support a school in each district in the county for six months of every year.

DANCING SCHOOL.—A dancing party will be held at the City Hotel on Monday evening next, on which occasion it is proposed to organize a Dancing School. All interested are invited to attend.

THE LEWISTON MAIL.—In accordance with instructions from the Department, Mr. Mullan will, on Monday next, resume his contract for carrying the mail between here and Lewiston.

SICKNESS AT BOISE.—There has been a great deal of sickness at Boise during the past two months. The principal complaints have been mountain and typhoid fevers, which have in many cases proved fatal.

Council Proceedings.
CITY COUNCIL CHAMBER,
WALLA WALLA, DEC. 8, 1863.

Council met at 7 P. M. Present, Messrs. Guichard, Kyger, Kelly, Linkton and Thibodo.
Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

The committee on Public Improvements submitted a report showing that suitable crossings had been constructed on Main street. On motion, the report was adopted.

Motion of Mr. Kelly that the sum of $500.00, collected by Recorder Horton be retained by the Council for the payment of Mr. Linkton for lumber used in street crossings, carried.

Amendment to section 4 of Ordinance No 6 was read a third time and passed.
An ordinance authorizing the Recorder to employ counsel under certain circumstances was read a second time and laid over according to rules.

Mr. Jas McCalliff appeared as agent for Mr. John Kane, and submitted proposals for the purchase by the City of certain street property on the corners of Main and third streets, which, under the rules, laid over one week.

The committee on Public Improvements submitted a contract, entered into with Mr. P. Ferrell, for the grading and filling of certain portions of streets. On motion, the contract was received and the agreement ratified—Mr. Kyger voting nay.

The appointment of Mr. W. J. Tompkins as Watchman was approved.
Bills ordered paid:
Charles F. Kraft—work on streets $250 00
A. L. Brown, Clerk

THE Boise News is evidently not up to "Chinook," and gives the following at his own expense and that of Rev. C. S. Kingsley, of Portland:

"ORIGON LATIN.—Rev. Mr. Kingsley called on us on Thursday morning and announced that he would 'wa-wa' in the evening at Union Hall. Under the impression that the word meant something connected with the litany or some other religious observance to which an outsider might not be a proper spectator, we staid away only to ascertain when it was too late, that the Rev. gentleman had made a patriotic speech, and that in the classic Chinook, 'wa wa' signifies TALK."

NEW EXPRESS LINE.—Messrs. C. P. Wilson & Co., have commenced running an Express between Walla Walla, Mormon Basin and Oyhee. This express arrangement will be kept up during the winter, making weekly trips between the above points—The Messenger will leave this place every Wednesday, and will carry letters, packages, etc., etc.

HEAVY.—The Oregon Statesman gets off the following upon Vallandigham:

"HOW TO PRONOUNCE IT.—There are quite a number of pronunciations of the 'great exiled' name—Vallandigham. There is no n in the third syllable and the common pronunciation as though the dig were dig, is incorrect. A great admirer of him, not a hundred miles from Salem, calls him Vallandigym. A better and more appropriate pronunciation is Villandiamm."

ROBBERY.—Daniel McFadden, formerly of this place, was recently robbed on the road between Stinkingwater and East Bannock of between two and three thousand dollars in gold dust. He was going a passenger in the stage to Bannock, and the stage was stopped by "road agents" who compelled him to deliver.

THE CAPITAL OF IDAHO.—It is the current opinion among Idaho politicians that the capital of that Territory will be removed by the Legislature to Boise City in Boise valley.

PRATTVILLE VINTON Co., O., Aug. 15, 1864.
DR. O. H. BAKER—Dear Sir:—I have this day sold the last bottle of DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA. I should have written to you sooner, but not expecting to sell the large supply I had on hand. During the last week, however, my sales have been four times as large as any week since I have had your invaluable medicine, and the demand is still increasing. I have never sold a medicine that attained so high a reputation. Indeed, such is the celebrity in cases of Lung fevers, that the excellent lung medicines I have on hand have scarcely been called for in this neighborhood. The Lung Fever, Cholera Morosa, Cholera Infantum, Bilious Colic, Cramp Colic, and flux have been very prevalent in this vicinity the past season, and the Pain Panacea has not failed to cure in every instance where it has been tried, so far as I have heard. Please send me a large supply as soon as possible. Very respectfully yours,
H. W. STODDARD.

Bilious Fever Cured.
PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, April 1, 1859.
Messrs. A. L. Scoville & Co.: Gents—I have been for years, subject to attacks of Bilious Fever; and sometimes I have been laid up for months, and my system left in a feeble state by the use of strong medicine, which was given to me by my physician. I have been using Dr. Mott's LIVER PILLS for some time. I find that I can break those attacks in a day or so, and escape entirely the fever. My daughter had an attack of Dyspepsia which distressed her much; she could not eat scarcely anything without becoming nauetated at her stomach contents. Sometimes since she got used to being using Dr. Mott's Liver Pills, and she is now like another being. I have found also that they are the most valuable pills for breaking up Colds, Headache, Pains in the Side and Back. I would not be without them in my family.

The Little People.
A dreary place would be this earth
Were there no little people in it;
The song of life would lose its mirth,
Were there no children to begin it.
No little forms, like buds to grow,
And make the admiring heart surrender;
No little hands on breast and brow,
To keep the thrilling love-chorus tender;
No babe within our arms to leop,
No little feet toward slumber tending;
No little knee in prayer to bend,
Our lips the sweet words lending.
What would the ladies do for work
Were there no pants nor jackets tearing?
No they dress to embezzle?
No cradle for their watchful caring?
No rosy boys at wintry morn,
With satchel to the school house hasting?
No merry shouts as home they rook;
No precious morsel for their tasting.
Tall, grave, grown people at the door,
Tall, grave, grown people at the table;
The men on business all intent,
The dames less cheerful as they eale.
The sterner souls would get more stern,
Unfeeling natures more inhuman,
And man to stoic coldness turn,
And woman would be less than woman.
For in that time toward which we reach,
Through time's admiring heart dim unfolding,
The little ones of this world would be,
Are still our Father's face beholding.
So said his voice in whom we trust,
When in Judaea's ream a preacher,
He made a child confront the proud,
And he in simple guise their teacher.
Life's song, indeed, would lose its charm
Were there no babes to begin it;
A dreary place this world would be,
Were there no little people in it.
—These angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven.—MATT. XVII. 10.

COMMON SENSE.—It has made more great men than book learning. Washington never saw the inside of a college, and yet he has left a higher mark in the temple of fame than any other man of his age, because he excelled in good common sense.
Napoleon Bonaparte was scarcely better educated, except in what concerns the art of war, and was a man of erratic genius, and yet his great practical shrewdness, or common sense, did more for him than anything else. He was rarely ever borne away by passion or genius in a manner to hide from his view the true relation of things around him, or the practical connection of cause and effect. As Macaulay says, "no man ever knew better than he what men and horse could do." Caesar excelled as much in common sense as in genius. And, indeed, no man was ever truly great who lacked this quality.
Even in the ordinary callings of life, how manifestly has common sense more to do with our success than any of the rarer qualities of character. What can a farmer of genius do in comparison with one who takes a practical view of what his business requires, and who prosecutes it accordingly?
Merchants may, indeed, now and then, be made rich by venture, but if lacking in common sense to guide them in their new position to know what is fitting in the expenditure and investment of his money, and to sober their ideas upon all subjects, they will just as soon become poor again. So of ministers, lawyers, physicians, and men who live by their wits; our experience is that of common sense.—N. Y. Chronicle.

"WIND UP THE WAR."—In August last,
a foraging party, numbering about fifty men,
under a Lieutenant, went into Helena, Ark., loaded with "munitives," more than forage.
Gen. Curtis, hearing how the party was loaded, rode out on the road toward the picket to meet them. Soon they came along, each man loaded with some article he had "grabbed" on the road. One had an eight day clock; another had a double-barreled shotgun; another toiled under the weight of a feather-bed; another had a pillow case full of books; another had under his saddle a Jamaica rum taken from some bed-room.
All the goods were ordered to the Provost office. Last in the party was an Irishman, lugging an old-fashioned spinning-wheel.—
As he deposited the "keepsake" on the pile, the General demanded: "Well, sir, where did you get this machine?" "Fait, Gin'ral,
I confiscated it on the farm where I wint."
"Was this all you could find?" "Indade it was! Sure, Gin'ral, I was the last man in the house, so I was." "Well, what do you intend doing with such a concern?" "Bedad, Gin'ral, an' I just thought it would be a nate thing to give yez." "What in the devil do I want with yez such a machine?" "To spin cotton, sure; an' if it ain't no use for that, use it to wind up the war!" The General laughed, and allowed Pat to keep the machine.

RATHER A HARD HIT.—Ministers catch it sometimes, as well as other people: A minister was travelling where the road was difficult to find, and requested a man by the wayside to direct him, naming the place where he wished to go—
"Well," says the hedger and ditcher,
"I keep on just as you are now going, about a mile and a half; there, at the crossroads, you will find a minister, who will direct you to the left a couple of miles, and there at the fork of the road is another minister, who will direct you to the right about three miles, and so on; at every fork and cross of the road is a minister to inform you which road to take."
"Ah!" says the parson, "what do you call ministers?"
"Why," says the other, "those things which stand up at the cross and fork of the road, with something like a hand on them."
"Finger-boards, you mean; why do you call them ministers?" said the preacher.
"Because they are always pointing the way to other people, and never go themselves!"

A speculator has got badly bitten in buying claims of sailors to prize money. After paying out about $50,000 for claims worth ten times that amount, he has discovered that there is a law to prevent the paying of the money to any but the sailors themselves.

Mrs. Mary Jackson, aged 60 years, and a respectable woman, has been convicted in Richmond of participating in the bread riot last April, and sentenced to the Penitentiary for five years.

FRANK'S HOTEL,
Cor. Main and 3d sts.,
Walla Walla, W. T.
FRANK CARPENT, PROPRIETOR.
THE proprietor takes pleasure in announcing to his friends and the public in general, that he has taken the house lately known as Buckley's Hotel, on the corner of Main and Third streets, and has thoroughly refitted and newly furnished it, and it is now opened to the public as a First Class Hotel and Restaurant, With an Entire New Suite of Rooms,
FURNISHED WITH CLEAN BEDS.
THE BAR
will be supplied with the best LIQUORS AND GI-NARS the country can afford.
The proprietor hopes, through his long experience in the business, and an attentive acquaintance to them, to receive a liberal share of the public patronage.
Stages will arrive at, and depart from the above house, at the following times:
