Preparing for the Earth's Destruc-tions-The Crusade and the South Sea Bubble--Speculative Craze.

SOMETHING ABOUT 1890.—In the year 1890 there will be three eclipses of the sun, all of which will be invisible in the United States. Lent will begin early, Ash Wednesday occurring on February 19th an. Easter falling on April 6th. The year 1890 is the latter part of 5650 and the beginning of 5651 according to the Jewish calendar. The year 5650 of the Jewish era begins at sunset of September 14, being the 8th year of the 298th cycle of 19 years. The year 1890 answers to the 6603d of the Julian period, to the 2643d from the foundation of Rome, to the 2668th year of the Olympiads and to the 7398th-9th of the Byzantine era. The year, 1308 of the Mohammedan era commences August 17, 1890, and Ramadan (month of History tells of numerous instances in which countries have apparently gone mad, and, although the fits of insanity have invariably caused suffering and death, many incidents in connection with them were ludicrous in the extreme. From time to time a scare has spread through England in consequence of prophecies naming the date of the earth's destruction. mences on April 21, 1890. The year 5050 of the Jewish era is an ordinary common year of 354 days. The year 5651 is an embolismic imperfect year of 382 days. The Christian era is reckoned from the birth of Christ, which, according to the Hobrew text of the Old Testament, took place A. M. in the year of the world 4004; according to the Samaritan text, A. M. 4700, and according to the Septuagint, A. M. 5872. The birth of Christ is supposed to have taken place four years earlier than the period assigned to it in the vulgar era. Until the sixth century the Roman, to Julian year was followed, which occasioned a deviation of ten days from the true time. In 1582 Pope Gregory effected a reform in the calendar, called the New Style, was immediately adopted in all the Catholic countries. The Julian year, however, was followed in England until 1752, when eleven days were omitted in September, the nearest days for each the nearest days for each the nearest days for the tenth of the September, was followed in England until 1752, when eleven days were omitted in September, the nearest days of the second days of the tenth heirs each. naming the date of the earth's destruc-tion. The last of these is of quite recent date, having occurred as recently as 1881. Mother Shipton's prophecy, in execrable verse, that during the year named "the world unto an end should come," was accepted as gospel by thousands of resi-dents in the agricultural districts, while not a few more civilized townspeople set their houses in order and prepared for the grim event, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

During the years 1879 and 1880 there During the years 1879 and 1880 there was a distinct religious revival, the little country chapels were crowded to excess, the penitent form was in constant use, and psalm singing became the regular evening recreation. Several women died of over-axcitement, but otherwise the scare had a good effect, especially on the morals of the people influenced by it. Lord Chief Justice Coleridge tried a breach of promise caus at Bristol in 1880 Lord Chief Justice Coleridge tried a breach of promise case at Bristol in 1880 which showed how completely the prophecy influenced the livee of those who believed in it. The plaintiff in the case was attractive and pretty. She described the courtship and promise in the usual manner, and then proceeded to electrify the judge by her description of the breaking off of the engagement. The defendant had explained to her that as the world was coming to an end in 1881 it would be madness to get married in 1889. In vain of the month we have undertaken the job of doing our own collecting, and experience in that line has fully convinced us that many men are not what they seem to be. We also discovered that creditors have a better memory than debtors, and that men who are the best collectors, are frequently the process that madness to get married in 1880. Costumes That Were Fashionable One Hundred One hundred years ago the leading men of the United States read in their Bibles that the body is more than raiment, but they dressed according to the device of the worldly-wise Polonius:—

"Coutly thy habit as thy purse can buy, For the sparsed of preclaims the man."

The Youth's Companion says that when Governer Bowdoin, a tall, dignified man, reviewed the troops assembled at Cambridge, in 1785, he was dressed in a grey wig, cocked hat, a white broadcloth coat and waistcoat, red small clothes and

There was never a sound principle in the scheme, which euriched a few and ruined thousands; but for months men and women fought for the privilege of contributing toward it. Public credit was in a bad way early in the eighteenth century, and Harley's idea was to restore it by means of the South Sea Company. This company assumed the debt of £10,000,000, and was guaranteed interest at six per cent, and also a monopoly of the trade with the south seas. Wild stories were floated as to the wealth of the gold and silver mines of Peru, Brazil and Mexico, and people, who had no idea where Peru was believed every word that was said. The south sea bubble will ever be re

In 1720 the company made an offer to take up the entire national debt, and the Bank of England made a competitive proposition. Each concern tried to outbid the other, but finally the shadow was preferred to the reality, and the South Sea company's offer was closed with. The judge expressed his antonishment at the credulity of an apparently intelligent man like the defendant, and charged the jury that it was merely a question of damages. For hours the jury were locked up, and finally the foreman explained that they could not agree, as opinions differed as to the reliability of Mother Shipton as a prophetess. When his friends went to pick him up, he said he thought he would die easier lying down. He had lost all recollection of having any lungs, but the young woman consoled him by admitting that she did not hit him as hard as she might have done, because she rather might have done, because she rather liked him. THE MONEY MARKET.

Regarding the stringency of the money market, Russel Sage of New York has the ollowing to say among other things:

A great deal has been said about tight money recently. Within the week money has been quoted as high as 40 percent, on the New York Stock Exchange. se such a rate could only be to or course such a rate count of the porary.
