THE SILVER QUESTION

The pressure brought upon congress by the bonanza kings, to ensure a higher price for their product, will presumably, cause that body to pass some measure for the relief of the silver market.

The decline in the price of silver is mostly attributable to the immense deposits discovered in Nevada and Colorado and to the improved methods invented for extracting the precious metal from the mother lode.

These lodes have made a few persons many times millionaires, who are now urging our government to adopt a free coinage.

The present silver dollar contains from seventy-two to seventy-five cents of silver. Under free coinage the silver kings expect to raise the price of their goods from seventy-two to one hundred cents; and ask the people to assist them in obtaining this other twenty-eight cents.

Silver has been brought very near to us. Many cheap and useful articles are made from it; silverware is found on almost every table, and in every laboring man's pocket a silver hunting case watch.

Why must a mechanic pay $30 for a hunting case silver watch that he can now purchase for $22, or our wives pay $6 for a silver tureen, purchasable now $6; the poor sewing girl pay $2.75 for a thimble she can now purchase for $2?

The effect of the success of the plans of the bonanza kings on our monetary system, we are not now discussing; but we have above shown the result as to the common people.

We simply take the statements of the advocates of free coinage as to the effect that may result; and the above is a fair illustration of what will follow.

SIXTY DAYS

Citizen Train and Kodak Wall are probably ere this far "on the bounding bilwax," doing the world in sixty days, and calling for -New York.

Princess Angeline of Seattle would not demean the dignity of her ancestors by associating with a "globe-trotter" or a disciple of Gutenberg.

Seattle royalty must have everything or nothing. We prefer, however, the City of Destiny, with a live energetic Train, and capable, affable Wall, to a village obliged to hang upon the defunct royalty of an aged blockhead, clad in greasy blanket and bedraggled calico.

The scheme of the Tacoma Ledger is a laudable one and is being carried out in a business like manner. If George Francis Train and his companion S. V. Wall succeed in circumnavigating the world in sixty days, or even in breaking Nellie Bly's record, the effect upon Puget Sound ports as shipping points, to and from this continent, will be immense; and the advantages incalculable. Every inhabitant of the state is interested in the success of the venture.

Talk about its being a booming scheme for Tacoma! If successful it is the biggest "boom card" for the state of Washington possible to play. The very fact that two voyagers by ordinary and customary lines of travel can leave one of our ports and traveling always west, reach the place of departure in sixty days or less, will do more to awaken the commercial world to the importance of Puget Sound as a shipping point than anything else could possibly do.

As a state we are interested in the success of the trip. It means money and business to us all.

On the return of the travelers they should be met with a continual ovation from the state line to their landing at Tacoma. No "dog in the manger" policy should be permitted; but all unite in welcoming those who will have done so much to benefit and assist us all, without regard to section or municipal lines.

A SHABBY SPECIMEN HE IS

The fact of the matter is, the broad-gauge members of the republican party are now heartily ashamed of the sorry specimens of manhood they have sent to represent this great young state in the lower house of congress. It was a west-side republican who remarked the other day that eastern people will be loth to believe the stories told them of our big trees when they have seen what sorry timber this state has sent to the house of representatives.

If this Mr. J. Lightweight Wilson is a big man among his fellow-citizens, what the ordinary men of the state must be is surely a matter of curious interest. But the truth is, and it should be proclaimed abroad in self defense, that J. L. Wilson is no sense a representative of the men of this state. It is safe to say that no community in Washington would find any difficulty in picking out many men better suited to represent the state in congress than Wilson. The republicans have a majority and it is perhaps for them to select the congressional representative; but it is not fair that the people of this state should have their pride wounded by being represented at Washington by a man who must certainly be an object of ridicule and contempt among men of dignity and intelligence. There is absolutely nothing to this man Wilson but a smattering of borrowed ideas and a rattling tongue.

A CATTLEMAN'S FREAKS.

A Montana Owner of Paghorns Whose Riches Grew Burdensome.

The Way This Croesus and His Wife Enjoyed Life in California. An Interesting Recital.

During the seventies a man of the name of Ed Hawkins arrived at Los Angeles, Cal., for the purpose of settling down on a farm and enjoying life in the land of "sunshine and the tomato."

He was so free with his money that many extravagant stories were afloat regarding the extent of his riches. Some said he had money in banks in every city from Helena, Mont., to Los Angeles, while others told exaggerated stories of his income from his Montana herds.

There were no improvements on the tract he bought, and he began operations by fencing it. Every title man in the neighborhood was hired and the transformation began.

He bought an invoice of statuary at Los Angeles and distributed the figures around his park. One day he came home with more drink than usual, and as it had been raining he concluded that the nude figures needed some kind of covering.

He built a cozy cottage in his park, and during his many drunken escapades made things interesting for his neighbors. The writer of this resided about half a mile from the Hawkins farm and has positive knowledge of the incidents narrated.

By this time the clerk was out in the fresh air trying to get his breath. Hawkins had a mania when on the road of trying to run over people, and had succeeded in injuring several. One man who had his leg broken by being knocked from his horse, recovered $6,000 damages.

shoot him if he undertook it. Hawkins plunged in, when hang went Mrs. Hawkins Winchester. He hid behind the tank-house, and every time he showed his head a bullet whizzed past.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE SHOT.

An Old Soldier Tells His Experience With a Confederate Ball.

A Rhode Island soldier, Lieutenant George B. Pack, Jr., in his story of a "Recruit Before Petersburg," describes his experiences and observations when first under fire.

I had reached the foot of the hill when I felt a dull blow in the neighborhood of my left hip. I realized that I was shot, and was at once curious as to the amount of damage.

"You're never hit until you run," was my first reflection, and my second: "Three weeks looking out day, and in the hospital! Such is glory!"

Do you want to know how it feels to be shot? Ask your brother to step into the yard some bright February day when the water is running freely in the streets.

I got across the creek and after trudging on a spell, using my sword for a cane, I found myself directly in front of Captain Allen's battery.

"Let me assist you," they said. "No I can walk."

"But let one of us take your arm." I consented and started; but the two men had to hold me up for the rest of the way.

"Where are you wounded?" he asked. I showed him.

"Let me examine it." "What for?"

"To see if a bone is broken." "Well, let some one hold my hands."

An attendant held them, and the surgeon explored the wound with his fingers—at least he said he did; I felt nothing.

"Lieutenant you have had a very narrow escape." "I am perfectly aware of it."

He took my silk handkerchief, rinsed it thoroughly in cold water, and laid it on the wound. That was all the dressing it received for three days.

The next thing I knew I didn't know much of anything. I was winking and trying to open my eyes. Soon I discovered three branches and seven wearing caps. I opened my eyes a little wider; hearing returned to my ears, and the cannon's roar restored me to myself.

Thus it was I scraped acquaintance with the dogs of war.

But the Record for Heavens.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN AT YAKIMA.—George Francis Train passed through Yakima, as announced, on Thursday of last week. He enquired for THE HERALD man and when he found that worthy he commenced energetically to sing his little song which was listened to by a constantly increasing crowd who gathered with the circulation of the report that the great crank had arrived and was turning himself loose. Train in his disjointed way flew from one subject to another. He commenced with a dissertation on cranks and likened himself to Galileo and other ancients. He spoke of his connection with the Union Pacific, the credit financier, the building of Tacoma, and his trip around the world. He claimed to be the original of Jules Verne's Phinias Fogg and told the story of the building of Cossens' hotel at Omaha. The latter, while somewhat old, is always interesting. During the building of the Union Pacific Train stopped off at Omaha and going to a hotel for his breakfast had an altercation with the landlord. Train claims that the hotel man refused him his matrimonial meal and ordered him from the house. Be that as it may, George Francis went off in high dudgeon with the threat that he would put up a hotel of his own. Before he broke his fast he had men excavating. By the close of the day 100 mechanics and laborers were at work and within twenty days the Cossens' hotel of 120 rooms was completed, and the newer and finer hostelry captured the trade that had formerly been held by the landlord with whom Train quarreled. Jumping aboard the car, as it was moving off, Train shouted back: "Look out for me. I'll be through Yakima again in eight weeks."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—On Wednesday afternoon the east bound passenger train brought in a delegation of Knights of Pythias from Ellensburg and Roelny, accompanied by the brass band from our sister city. The Knights came down for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the lodge recently started here. The Knights, as well as the band boys, were resplendent with handsome uniforms and regalia. They were received by the entire delegation of Yakima's aspirants for Pythian honors, and in grand and imposing review paraded the streets to the hall of the order, corner Yakima avenue and Second street. The initiation of candidates was at once begun, and until 12 o'clock Wednesday night the ceremonies were unabated, when an intermission was taken for refreshments. The crowd then assembled at the Hotel Yakima, where the large dining hall was tastefully decorated and the tables extending in a hollow square, entirely around the room were groaning under their weight of tempting edibles. Ample justice was done the excellent repast by considerably over a hundred Knights and invited guests. Wm. Ker presented the banquet with some of the famous brands of Moxee cigars, after enjoying which the lodge again assembled. The initiatory ceremonies were completed this evening. This is inaugurated another organization which will prove of inestimable value to our thriving city in a social and benevolent way. The lodge starts out under the most promising auspices, the membership representing some of the most substantial citizens.

YAKIMA MILITIA CO. MUSTERED IN.—On Monday of this week Captain C. B. Johnson of Cavalry troop A of Sprague, mustered into the militia of the state the military company of this city with forty-five names on the roll. This company has been ready to be mustered into the state service for some time, but has been unable to get a place in either of the regiments till now. By the disbandment of Co. A of Walla Walla place is given to our boys, and hereafter they will be known as Company A of 2nd Regiment, National Guards of Washington. The officers of the company are: J. C. MacCrimmon, Captain; Dudley Eshelman, 1st Lieut.; Matt Bartholet, 2d Lieut.; F. B. Lippincott, 1st Sergeant. A requisition has been made for arms, uniforms, etc., which will be provided by the state. After the enrollment was completed the company assembled at the court house and after an hour's drill, marched to the depot as escort to their mustering officer. For new recruits the company present a fine appearance and Captain Johnson was much pleased with them.

YAKIMA TO HAVE A CITY DIRECTORY.—R. L. Folk & Co., the largest and most reliable directory firms on the coast, are about to issue a city directory of North Yakima and Ellensburg, giving names, place of business, or employment and locating the residence of everyone. The directory will also include names of all taxpayers not residing in the city limits of North Yakima and Ellensburg, in Yakima and Kittitas counties; show assessed valuation of property taken from the last assessment. A directory of this character will be a great time-saver to our business men. This firm publishes directories for every state in the union and over 500 cities. Our directory will be on file in all their offices. As their works are always reliable and sure of a large circulation it should prove a valuable advertising medium. THE HERALD cordially recommends it.

GOVERNMENT POSITION FOR THE AERIAL. The government wants some one at this point to make meteorological observations. There is no pay in the position, but Uncle Sam will furnish the necessary instruments to record temperature and rainfall. Postmaster R. Dunn now has blanks applications for any one public spirited or interested enough in climatological matters to take upon himself these duties. Mr. David Guiland has made observations of temperature, if not of precipitation, for a year or more past and he might be induced to take charge of these matters for the government. Meteorological reports in all agricultural countries are closely watched by many and are often of great benefit.

YAKIMA'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

"There is a Tide in the Affairs of Men Which Taken at the Flood Leads on to Fortune."
T. J. Levitt, of Spokane Falls, is in the city looking over the city with the view of locating a foundry and machine shop here. Mr. Levitt is the party who made the proposition some time ago and is now ready to consummate the trade if North Yakima does her share as agreed. He is a practical machinist, having been employed for years with such firms as P. Allis & Co., of Milwaukee, Wis., and more recently a master mechanic of the National Iron Works at Spokane Falls. He agrees to build immediately, and will have a plant in operation by midsummer, employing not less than thirty men, if the necessary aid is extended him. There is no question as to the practical benefits an institution of this kind will be, and it stands everybody who is interested in the welfare of North Yakima in hand to see to it that Mr. Levitt locates here.
It has been conceded for years that North Yakima is centrally and favorably located for a manufacturing point, but if we ever make one, the citizens must put their shoulders to the wheel, and work and pull together.
The bonus which Mr. Levitt asks can and will be easily raised if everybody will take hold and do his part. The amount is $5,000 and five acres of ground. Let us not miss this opportunity to make a start in manufacturing, as this plant is certain to be the nucleus around which will gather others, and sooner than we anticipate our ambition to become producers in this line gratified.
The plans for the plant can be seen at the office of F. R. Reed & Co., and any and all information regarding it will be cheerfully extended.
LUCKY ESCAPE FROM A NERVOUS FIRE.—This city had a very close call to a fire Saturday night. At about 10 o'clock the smell of smoke attracted the attention of the inmates of the postoffice block and on investigation they discovered the store room of Eshelman Bros. filled with smoke, and immediately gave the alarm. Mr. E. S. Robertson, who was one of the first to arrive promptly broke open the front door and made his way through the dense smoke back to the postoffice, where it was found the fire had started under the stove, and had already burned a hole through the floor nearly large enough to let the stove through, and the flames had just started in a pile of waste paper. By energetic action in the matter and the use of a bucket of water which happened to be at hand, the fire was checked. A few minutes later the whole postoffice would have been in flames. Great credit is due to the promptness and efficiency of the fire department, and our citizens should feel proud of them. It was only five minutes from the moment of the first alarm till they were at the nearest cistern to the fire with sixty-one pounds of steam on and ready for action.
LABORING FOR YAKIMA'S WELFARE.—There is a local rumor afloat that Mayor Fred R. Reed has located and engaged in business at Gray's Harbor. This probably had its foundation in the fact of Mr. Reed's frequent absence from the city, but beyond this there is no truth in it. This is Mr. Reed's home, his interests are mainly centered here and while away on the Sound he is constantly and earnestly talking and working for the good of Yakima. It is betraying no confidence, although the details cannot be made public, to say that Mr. Reed is laboring on a big scheme, which, if it materializes, and the prospects are most encouraging, will redound in incalculable benefit to this country. Large capitalists have had their eyes directed towards Yakima and not only see in it a favorable field for investment but if their promises are not like pie crust, are really going to get in here and make things hum this coming season.
Fawcett Bros. have just received a full supply of all kinds of garden and field seeds of all descriptions. It will be to the interest of all parties who are in need of seeds to give them a call before purchasing. Apply to them for catalogue. If you are in need of a plow, harrow, cultivator or any kind of farming implements it will pay you to call on Fawcett Bros. before purchasing. They have just received a large consignment of buggies, carriages, phaetons, road wagons, etc., which they are selling below any house in the northwest, quality of goods considered.
—Immigrants are coming into the city and country in such numbers, looking for homes, that the citizens have found it necessary to build a large and commodious house for their accommodation, on account of the scarcity of tenement houses, till they have opportunity to find locations. A subscription paper for this purpose was started Tuesday and numerously signed. The house will be built at once.
Having bought the Vining block and hardware, tinware, tinners tools agricultural implements etc., the undersigned are here to stay. We shall aim to keep a full stock in our line, and put figures as low as the lowest. A share of the city and country trade is respectfully solicited.

THE WAR-TIME HANDBILLS.

How They Tell The Story of The Conflict.

Then Came the Bounty, and Last of All the Draft—An Old Story.

Anybody can have handbills printed, and anybody who can subsidize a paste-pot fender is at liberty to thrust his sentiments into the public eyes from dead walls and staring signs of buildings.

One phase of northern life in the war period was the constant effort to recruit the army. Men, men, men were needed. There was never enough. They crowded the roads from every country town; they filled the trains from every rendezvous.

Recruits wanted for the heavy artillery! Come on boys, now—all is right. A few more men only are wanted for this popular regiment, and you can now enlist and have a sure thing.

Another, bearing date a little later in 1862, runs as follows: Ho for the cavalry! Who wants to ride? Room for one more company in the—regiment of horse.

Our boys are freezing! Come to the air, and bring such articles of comfort and luxury as you can to strengthen and cheer the soldiers. Let—send Christmas greeting to her sons in the South.

But despite the grim fate told in that poster another bearing the same imprint, and only a month later, offers a glittering inducement to the men in the following: Come forward, Buckeyes! Rally for the Union!

Lynn, Mass., which has just suffered such a baptism of fire, was strong in the struggle there, and reflects the thought of the early war in the flaming quarter sheet: On to Richmond! Citizens to the rescue!

Then begins the commercial period. Glory was a harp of one string, and all the changes possible had been rung upon it.

One more rally! Ward 6 in advance! Recruiting in Little Arcade. The following bounties are paid: State, $25; city, $15; ward, $17.50, making cash in hand on being mustered into the United States service $62.50.

Be true to home! Don't go away to enlist. Make your friends so—Bounties are generous. Government, state, county and township bounties amount to $200.

Further! Adam Ward agrees to give twenty bushels of wheat, twenty bushels of corn, one cow five cords of wood to the family of every married man who enlists from this town.

Adam Ward must have been a rich man, too old for service and willing to spend his property for his country's good or he may have been of dutiable age and zealous only to escape the impending drafts.

Home on furlough. See Sergeant Harold at the opera-house to-night. He will tell of battles and army life.

But time and the war went on, and neither the twanging of the one-stringed harp of glory nor the "jingle of the guinea" of a latter period could fill the gaps which wounds, death and captivity made.

Rally! A meeting will be held in Volunteer hall at 8 o'clock, Monday evening, August 22, 1863, to take action toward raising more money.

The tenor of the printing is all gloomy. No motive save compulsion can move them. They invoke only the inevitable. Here is another from Lynn, Mass.:

Come and protect yourselves. Every man is expected to be present at the meeting this evening to organize the Mutual Draft Preventing Association.

Our boys are freezing! Come to the air, and bring such articles of comfort and luxury as you can to strengthen and cheer the soldiers.
