

POLITICAL UNCERTAINTIES.

There is nothing sure in the political situation of the future state of Washington. In the eyes of the unthinking, the republicans are moving forward with a placid certainty of organizing the new state and getting all the offices. There is a self-satisfying memory in the average republican mind of a large majority achieved by reason of the clear character and good work of John B. Allen. It does not seem to occur to these hopeful many, who sleep fondly in their supposed security, that the responsibility of advising appointments is not nearly so good a thing for a man who must go before the people for the second time in a year as it is for one who has a full term of actual congressional work in which to even up all his favors, and with a little political paragon to mollify the sleeplessness of snubbed constituents. These hopeful ones think of the big Allen majority, the election of Harrison, the territory full of his selections for appointment, and that consequent certainty of a walk-over which furnishes comfort for their political days and nights.

It is quite possible that there will be a day of astonishment when the heretofore satisfied ones will bewail their shortsightedness in being so cock-sure of the earth and the fatness thereof. They will look over the field of defeat and see that the same old political friends and enemies are arranged in little groups, standing bravely together in a way to do no good to themselves nor any one else, and apparently with no more political sense than they had several years ago. Party friends will be sacrificed to get even with party enemies, and the other party will be in pique. The man with ability to hate will feel as uncomfortably comfortable in his bitterness as a mutilated dog in a drawn battle, while the "sick" worker given to duplicity will find too late that it would have been such better to have stayed with some one who could have won. The only man who can get out of this sort of an over-confident republican squabble and lose nothing is the self-considered manager, who is so prone to vaudeville ways that he has nothing to lose. He gets his work in on the weak one, who always wait to be told in a dark corner to side with, and can round out of defeat with enough of other people's political secrets to beat the others for some tinkering federal appointment.

The possibility of democratic success against such a middle of splits and blunders depends upon whether or not the democrats put up their good men or their ambitious nobodies. It is reasonably safe to count upon some democratic blunders as well.

In any event, it will be a great year for political trifling and undercurrenting.

HON. L. B. NASH.

Judge Nash closed his last term here on Tuesday. It was the intention of the bar to give him a farewell dinner and to tender him their spontaneous expression of high regard for his distinguished ability and high character as a judge. But the early adjournment of court and business elsewhere compelled him to decline the compliment. Judge Nash leaves the bench with the universal respect of the bar and the people. He is a gentleman of marked mental vigor, an able lawyer, and has been a conscientious judge. And withal he has a genial, kindly temperament that makes him a favorite in all circles.

He is the very soul of honor and despises a mean action. His name is mentioned with favor by lawyers who know him best as one peculiarly fitted for a seat on the supreme bench of the new state. It is hoped that ability and character alone may be considered in the selection of our state judiciary, and if this rule for election be adopted there is good reason to predict that the people will call Judge Nash higher up when our new state is formed.

A MEMBER, who ought to know the wherof he speaks, says the consumption of cigarettes has fallen off greatly during the last year. He says many of the cigarette consumers have gone to something more substantial, and an increase in the cigar trade has been due to a falling off in the consumption of the deadly substitute. The drummer does not know how to account for this state of things unless it has been brought about by the war on cigarette smoking, begun by the press and carried on by physicians and others who were alarmed at its blighting influences. The odor of the cigarette is of that the most conclusive condemnation of it that can be imagined, but the medical authorities unite in denouncing it as physically injurious in many ways. It scores many victims—more than ever are heard of in the newspapers. The testimony of the tobacco drummer is very acceptable, as common observation points to a general use that has not seemed to diminish.

BEAVER is having a moral spasm. Chief of the Police Mitchell has been impudently fired; the gamblers have closed their games and are seeking more possible quarters, and even the scarlet women—whose way has been as placid as a summer's day—has been raided and brought before the bar of justice charged with being "no better than the caught."

Truly there has been room for improvement, and Acting Chief Willard is making the most of his opportunities and getting things with both pedal extremities. If he keeps going as he has started he will surely have Seattle in its condition for the coming of the millennium.

THE MARCH OF YAKIMA.

Half a Million Cigars to be Made at Once.

Signs of Activity and of Progress in the Valley and Metropolis over the Mountains.

Tacoma News: A great deal of Tacoma capitalists sought investment in Yakima lately. That the hustling little city of the great Yakima country has a bright future before it no one will refuse to concede upon a visit of inspection. The town presents a scene of activity and a spirit of enterprise from one end of it to the other. We know it has the backing in its wonderful surrounding resources, and houses and business blocks are being erected rapidly and occupied by its increasing population as fast as they are completed. James Ashton and Dr. Wintermute are late Yakima investors. They invested $12,000.

Yakima will soon start one of its chiefly distinguishing industries. William Ker, of the Mozece company, told Allen C. Mason, when the latter was at Yakima last week, that inside of two weeks they would start up their large cigar factory. The fame of Yakima tobacco is widespread. Its superior quality and flavor is fast becoming acknowledged. There is said to be more profit in raising tobacco in the Yakima valley than in cultivating hops, that other great industry of Washington territory.

The Yakima cigar factory will at once begin the manufacture of 500,000 cigars and will place them on the market as fast as manufactured. The raising of tobacco and its manufacture into consumable shapes will become one of Yakima's greatest industries. The smokers of Tacoma and of the east will soon have an opportunity of sampling this fine tobacco to their heart's content. The cigars will be called "The Mozece" and "The Yakima."

Manager Ker, of the Mozece company, concluded the purchase of an additional number of acres last Saturday, and the great experimental farm, five miles from the city, now consist of 7000 acres. There are forty men on the farm, every patent farm implement that is of any use, several thousand head of cattle, blooded horses and rare registered pigs. Alfalfa, barley, tobacco, corn, garden truck and grapes are under cultivation. Three acres of the vine have been planted, 200 cuttings of the celebrated Jonanish-Berger-Reiding recently arrived, and 500 of the Old Mission grape cuttings are on the way from California. But it is the raising of tobacco that Manager Ker has turned his attention to more than anything else, for there is more money in it. One thousand pounds to an acre can be readily raised on the Mozece ranch and the price they get per pound net manufactured is $1. Ten acres of tobacco were raised last year, all of which is ready to be made into cigars in a few weeks. The manufacturers are already on the ground, the buildings have been erected, the boxes, labels, etc., have been ordered, and we shall soon be smoking Washington territory cigars known as the "Flor de Yakima."

Charles Reeves and W. I. Mead have let contracts for several houses to be built in Yakima.

Allen C. Mason has also let contracts for several residences and a contract for repairs and addition to a large lodging house that will require an outlay of $200.

The cultivation of fruit, which was always one of the most promising industries of the famous valley, has never been so promising as it is this spring. The scene in the orchards is beautiful. The people, almost without exception, have doubled their acreage in fruit.

Alfalfa, one of the finest staple productions of the valley, will be reaped in abundance this season. The acreage is being extended and once the hay gets good start it grows on forever, and refuses to be uprooted by anything weaker than a team of mules.

Allen C. Mason has invested $10,000 in Yakima bank stock.

E. B. Engineers in the Cascades.

The Cascades are full of railroad engineers. There are two parties in the Tietan basin and the Natchees pass, and Engineer T. H. Ogilbe and party, of the Portland, Yakima & Spokane Falls road, left Yakima on Saturday last with saddle and pack horses, guides and cooks, to run lines over the Cascades by the Lewis and Condit passes. Reticence has been a general trait of these engineers, but in various ways something is learned of their identity and associations. In payment for horses and other portions of Mr. Ogilbe's outfit, it is reported that he has given checks, on which are printed S. P. Construction Co., which is understood to mean Southern Pacific. These checks are cashed without question at one of our local banks, which indicates that business is meant, and that if the route is feasible, it is not doubted in the least by those who know the country, the road to be built. The country which would be tapped by this proposed road is the richest in the territory, and would make tributary to the line immense deposits of coal, an almost unlimited quantity of fine timber, rich mines of gold, silver, copper and iron, the fruits, vegetables, hops, tobacco and cattle of Yakima, and the wealth of the Big Bend grain fields.

While Mr. Ogilbe and party are engaged in reconnoitering work the engineers in the Natchees pass and Tietan basin are actually driving stakes and from the number composing the parties who carry tripods and transits there is no doubt but what they have come to stay and that the Natchees—without question the best pass in the Cascades—will at no very distant day be spanned by bars of steel.

—Everybody is treated alike at Redfield's jewelry store. The poor man's money will buy as much as the rich. If you don't believe it, call ground and investigate.

THE BIOCHEMIC TISSUE REMEDY CO.

of New York, will have the above medicines in the market at 15 cents per bottle, enabling all people to avail themselves of it.

Look out for the label, which will read: "The Biochemic Tissue Remedy Co." The medicines will run from No. 1 to 12.

Hugo Sigmund has received one of the finest lines of spring and summer goods in the city for gents' suits. He has also secured one of the best journeyman tailors, who makes up the garments at home, and is much more beneficial to the community than peddler tailors.

—Having sold out my business, all parties knowing themselves indebted to me are hereby notified that I must have immediate settlement. All my accounts are now in the hands of J. C. MacCrimmon for collection. CHAS. McCLEAN.

—Oh, say! I'm not a-going east to buy goods; but I can save you 25 per cent on our daddy's dollar if you will call at Armstrong's, cor. First street and Yakima avenue. J. J. ARMSTRONG.

—Bartholet Bros. will not be undersold in anything—dry goods, clothing, furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, crockery, groceries, and in fact everything kept in a first-class store.

—Good bye, old friend, good bye! Where are you going? Oh, to Armstrong's, to buy my goods hereafter, corner of First street and Yakima avenue.

—Go and examine those elegant gold watches at Redfield's. They are dainties, and so cheap! Remember, they are warranted as represented or no trace.

—The HERALD is now prepared to do all kinds of job printing, from a visiting card to a full sized poster, and in the best style of art, too.

—John, when you go to town, just step in at Bartholet's and get me some of that elegant salt pork. It is delicious.

—Every garment made by Hugo Sigmund is warranted a good fit, good workmanship and to give satisfaction.

—The stock of watches and jewelry at Kuechler's, the new jeweler, is all new, prices are low.

—Oats and chop barley for sale at the Yakima Roller Mills. 11-31

—A watch repaired by Kuechler is a reliable time-piece.

TO THE PUBLIC:

A few Dollars why North Yakima, Washington Territory is being recognized as the most promising city in Central Washington:

First—Because it has eight of the finest, largest and most fertile valleys in Washington Territory immediately tributary to it. Second—The seasons are from four to eight weeks earlier than any other part of the north-west coast. Third—Because we have the finest and most delightful climate in the Pacific northwest. Fourth—We are destined to become the great truck garden of the coast, with a cash market for our products on Puget Sound. Fifth—Being centrally located, we are recognized as the desirable place for the capital of the great state of Washington. Sixth—Because men who are well known as successful, shrewd and long-headed, are making large investments in North Yakima and Yakima county. Believing we are located in the most favored portion of Washington Territory for gardening, fruit growing and general agricultural purposes we invite all those who are looking for homes, business locations and manufacturing opportunities, to call on us at North Yakima, and, by seeing for themselves, be convinced.

Now is the Accepted Time to Invest!

We have now listed for sale, in addition to the Northern Pacific lands, which we are the local agents, some of the most desirable real estate and business lots in North Yakima, to be sold together with farm property and garden tracts.

Well Known Fact

That while all who have "dabbled in Yakima dirt" have had handsome returns on their investments, those who have availed themselves of the winter months for purchasing have fared the best and coined the most money. Let not the opportunity slip, but get in as early as possible.

HAVER.
Like a meteor large and bright
Fell a golden seed of light
On the field the Christmas night
That the Babe was born.
Then 'twas sprinkled in the gloom,
Shine above His holy tomb
Pleasant the sparkling bloom—
'Twas the Easter morn!

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE FURNISHED.—In another column will be found a notice of the W. C. T. U. convention, which meets here on Wednesday next. Our citizens should feel honored that this place has been selected for the convention. But it involves a duty, especially on the part of the ladies of this place, to see that the delegates, probably about seventy-five in number, are properly entertained during their stay here. Every one knows that our hotel accommodations are totally inadequate, and every lady resident of North Yakima, whether belonging to the W. C. T. U. or not, who is willing to entertain one or more of the visiting delegates, is requested to send her name to Mrs. Lucy A. Flint at an early date, so that proper arrangements can be made for their reception.

ANNIVERSARY OF OLD FELLOWS.—On the 20th of this month the 70th anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be celebrated in this city by the carrying out of the following program: Meeting of the members of the order at the hall at 4 o'clock a. m. for council. At 2 o'clock p. m. a procession of the lodges, headed by the Yakima brass band, will move through the principal streets. On return to the hall there will be music; reading tract of the society; music; address on Old Fellowship, by Hon. J. B. Reavis; music; dialogue on the secrecy of the order.

JUDGE NASH'S SUCCESSION.—The president has appointed William H. Calkins, formerly of Indiana, but lately located in Tacoma, associate justice of the supreme court of the territory to succeed Judge L. E. Nash, resigned. Mr. Calkins was an able representative in congress eight years from Indiana, and the republican candidate for governor in that state five years ago. He is a gentleman of fine character and address and will have no difficulty in transferring to this territory the general popularity which he enjoyed at home.

A LUCKY YAKIMA PRINTER.—D. W. Nulty, a printer on the Yakima Republic, received a telegram Tuesday from C. H. Maxon, secretary and "treasurer" of the Montana lottery, in which the chief prize was the Arborn house, of Des Moines, Iowa, amounting to ticket 9787, of which Nulty purchased a fifth interest, was the lucky one, and that Nulty was entitled to $27,750, and asking for instructions. If there is no mistake in this, Nulty can now leave the case and go into the banking business.

BO ENTERPRISE FOR YAKIMA.—Among the recent purchases of Messrs. Rodgers & Eshelman, for the syndicate spoken of last week, were seventy lots, the property of M. V. B. Stacy, for which $30,000 was paid. Mr. Stacy still has large interests here and is now in the "best negotiating" for 450 miles of steel rails and rolling stock with which to build a system of narrow gauge roads centering at North Yakima and extending through the various fertile valleys which go to form the great Yakima country.

INAUGURATION DAY.—The president and our governor have, by proclamation, appointed the 30th of April a holiday, and have recommended that divine services shall be held in all the churches appropriate to the day. It the centennial of the inauguration of George Washington. A special service for the day has been set forth by Bishop Faddock, and a service accordingly will be held in St. Michael's church on that day at 11 a. m.

MARRIED.—At the Presbyterian parsonage, on Thursday morning, April 11, Willis B. Young to Martha H. Thorp, both of Natchez, Yakima county.

FRUIT IN PLANTY.
Notwithstanding a heavy frost Yakima will have the greatest fruit crop in her history.

For some little time past there have been fears of a frost that would sweep away the fastening promises for a fruit crop. The frequent rains of late, with colder weather succeeding, had given cause for these fears, but the winds kept the frost back until Sunday morning, when the breeze died down and the dreaded mantle of white descended. That day anxiety and regret were pictured on all faces, and there were grave forebodings of a total destruction of the fruit crop. That afternoon and the next day there were anxious inquiries after the different sections, and with each succeeding inquiry and answer a portion of the gloom was chased away, and now that full returns are in the hands can conscientiously say that every indication gives reason for the belief that Yakima will have by all odds the greatest fruit crop in her history.

In the Koonewick district no damage was done except in the way of slipping the early strawberry growers. The fruit on all of the bunch land is uninjured, and all over the pear, plum, prune and apple trees are all right and loaded down with healthy buds. In the city and in orchards along the streams a portion of the peach buds have been killed by a well directed squall, which there being no thinning out of the buds the trees could not have supported the fruit.

The frost was general throughout the country, judging from all reports, and extended from the Sound clear across Washington territory and over Oregon.

HOW YAKIMA GROWS!

That is the expression heard on all sides but her growth in the past year has been a circumstance so that of the immediate future.

Four years and four months ago where Yakima now stands was a barren waste. There was not a house; not a tree. Here the slinking coyotes howled in discordant union and the sly jackrabbit played leap-frog over the sagebrush in sportive glee. What a marvelous change in such a short time. Instead of this barren, unshiny waste there springs up, as if by magic, a city—and a city of broad, well laid out avenues, handsome and stately business houses, and comfortable and attractive residences. Here where denotation reigned so short a time ago will be found upwards 2300 thrifty people—eighteen miles of irrigating canals giving moisture to about twelve thousand of silver poplar, balsam, locust and maple trees—miles of sidewalks and more building—a brick public school house costing close on to $15,000 and another one equally as good projected—an opera house with a seating capacity of 1300—six churches, including one of stone, and the seventh, a brick structure to cost $5000, under contract—two banks with capital and deposits aggregating about $400,000—a sectarian boarding school, built of brick and three stories high, which has attendants from all sections of the territory—four good hotels, including one of brick, costing in the neighborhood of $30,000—seventy-two business houses—a large export trade of hops, fruit, vegetables, tobacco, hay, grain, flour, horses and cattle—residences which cost five and six thousand dollars, and store buildings costing $25,000—a roller flouring mill, with capacity of 75 barrels per day, and many other points too numerous to mention showing the remarkable progress of North Yakima.

The past to those not conversant with the conditions would seem largely of the unreal order, but all knowing the situation of North Yakima, the topography of the surrounding country with a view to making Yakima a railroad center, the rich, productive soil, and the mild, even temperature, evince no astonishment whatever. A Yakiman will swear by Yakima through thick and thin, because he is conversant with soil and climate, the mineral wealth tributary, and with the people. It is only those who are not posted on these points who ever show surprise at Yakima's growth. This is the banner spot of central Washington, and within ten years twenty-five thousand people will be thriving in Yakima, supported by a country which has no superior anywhere.

IMPROVEMENT NOTES.

Arrangements have been made for building a two-story brick with a frontage of seventy-five feet, on the northwest corner of block 50. Messrs. Whitson, Eshelman and others are the enterprising citizens who will father the new structure, which is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Goodwin & Strobach, Charles McEwen and R. T. Vining have under lively consideration the building of a block of three brick stores on block 30, with frontage on Yakima avenue.

The combined frontage of the brick buildings under construction and those projected in this city figures up an aggregate of 975 feet.

A Tacoma business man endeavored to buy a business lot on Yakima avenue for the purpose of putting up a brick building. He approached Charles McEwen with a proposition to buy his lot. Mr. McEwen refused to sell, because he himself was going to build. Mr. Ward was next seen and declined to sell for a like reason, but the gentleman was told to see Dr. Taft, and he did so, only to get the same reply. If all the buildings projected materialize, Yakima will do more building this year than any two cities in Washington territory outside of Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle.

SUPERSTITIONS OF TO-DAY.

Some of the Popular Beliefs of the Present Day.

How to Avoid Death, Levers' Quarrels, and Catbaw's Quack and How Brought On.

Men who swear there is neither God nor future will yet betray a strange weakness toward some pet superstition that they will openly laugh at, but secretly believe. We all have them—not only ignorant people, but the best of us. Few people would have the hardihood to sit down at a table with thirteen as the total number. Few people will count the backs in a funeral procession. Few girls will read the marriage service entirely through in the face of the awful and mysterious superstition that this indulgence destroys hope of marriage. We don't call the fortune-teller the priest of Apollo, the wart charmer a witch. There is a change of name—the fact lingers. We are still superstitious.

All the generations that have passed have accumulated and handed down to us a vast number of superstitions. Each country has furnished its share, and probably the most of them date from the time when the human race was still in its Asiatic cradle.

Birth, marriage and death are the three most important events in every life. Hence the origin of these three events have been most eagerly sought and most carefully remembered. Death, being the most dreadful, comes in for the largest share. One of the best ways given us of avoiding it when mortal sickness is upon us is to allow the report to be circulated that you are already dead. The chances are strongly in favor of getting well. Especially is this so if friends begin to arrange for the funeral. A sure sign of early death is for a person to scatter the leaves of a red rose upon the ground. It is extremely hazardous to an infant's life to pare its nails before it is a year old. They should be bitten off, or the grandams will not answer for the consequences.

So numerous are the dangerous superstitions about marriage that one could scarcely avoid breaking some of them. In this observation the philosopher may find the solution of the question, "Why is marriage a failure?" For instance, the bride must not try on her wedding gown, or ill-luck will follow. She must not look in the glass after she is fully dressed and ready for the ceremony. She must not enter her new home by stepping over the threshold, but must be carried over it by one of her relatives. A piece of the bride's cake must be broken over her head as soon as she is safely on the other side. It is very unlucky for her to be in a happy state on her wedding day. She must be as dolorous as possible, violent fits of weeping being especially beneficial.

It is a good idea for the bridesmaids to throw away as many pins as possible on the wedding day, as this will hasten marriage. The bride should throw away her slipper in leaving the wedding feast, and she who catches it will be the first married. The month of May is generally considered to be the most unfortunate for marriages. The lucky months are January, April, August, October and November. January is especially lucky.

Lovers should carefully avoid passing a sharp or pointed instrument from one to the other. Such things tend to cause quarrels. The wedding should be put off by all means if a cat sneezes on the eve of the wedding day. It should never take place if the cat is black. To sweep dust over a girl's feet or legs will be certain to make an old maid of her.

Should the younger sister of a family marry first, the older sisters will be condemned to laster celibacy unless they dance at her wedding in their stocking feet.

The wedding ring of the mother is an infallible cure for eruptions on the skin of the child. The ring must be rubbed three times around each sore. Cure is certain.

The virtue of the dew that glistens and sparkles in every leaf and flower of a May morning has been recognized from the earliest times. If a young girl wishes to obtain and preserve a glowing complexion she should venture out of a May morning and wash her face in this dew.

It has peculiar power in infant cases of weak back. A child thus affected can be cured by drawing it three times through the wet grass on the first, second and third mornings of May. It will cure, however, more difficult. If the sufferer be a male he must wash his neck in the dew that glistens on the grass of the last day of the last young unmarried man must be sought.

To spit in the hand before undertaking anything, whether in love, war or business, will not fail to bring luck. If you are out fishing, do not step over your rod, or you will catch no more fish than did simple Simon in his mother's pail.

Of births, it may be said in general that a crying child will grow up to be a great and useful man. This often is not very clearly settled, however, and is often given the other way. Some see far back in the ages discovered the following:

Born on Monday, Fair in the face.
Born on Tuesday, Full of God's grace.
Born on Wednesday, Stout and sad.
Born on Thursday, Merry and glad.
Born on Friday, Worthily given.
Born on Saturday, Work for your living.
Born on Sunday, You will never know want.

To recall a person after they have left the house is bad luck. To go back for something forgotten is also bad luck, unless you sit down before going out again.

STAR OF THE WEST.

Washington Territory and Its Great Resources.

Room for Millions Here—Precious Metals, Lumber and Fertile Lands.

Washington, the new state, the far removed northwest corner of the nation, is to-day attracting more attention than any other territory in the Union. Her advantages have been heralded abroad; her resources have become too much magnified to be kept secret; tales of her wonderful richness have reached the ears of the mortgagee-bound, drought-stricken, tax-oppressed eastern farmers. They eagerly grasp these stories of riches, and are with one accord turning their faces toward the great northwest.

Of late years the eastern farmer has been harassed on every hand by uncertain crops, crop-destroying insects, cyclones and tornadoes in the summer season, and the dreaded blizzards in winter, destroying life and property, fatal stock epidemics, burdensome taxes and a thousand other things that are calculated to discourage him. Blank ruin is staring thousands of them in the face, and they are selling off their stock and what property they may have free from incumbrances to seek refuge in the northwestern states and territories. Some may say, "We do not want a class of people to come who have no means." There you are mistaken. We want no drones, and as a rule that class is generally without means; but we want industrious men, farmers, men with families, men who are willing to work, means or no means. In this

FAVORED LAND OF OURS
The industrious can soon provide themselves with means. Let them come to the land of plenty. We have here over 300,000 happy, industrious people, and room for several millions more, with whom we are willing to divide advantages that the eastern farmer never dreamed of. Here the terrible cyclone is unknown; the hot winds that sweep across the plains states, destroying everything before its blighting breath, is something unheard of; a failure of crops is not recorded in the memory of the oldest inhabitant; the best and purest of water springs from every ravine; the hills are covered with the very best of lumber-producing timber; her valleys of rich, productive soil are ready to produce in incredible quantities at the hand of the husbandman. Every variety of fish and game is found on her rivers and lakes. Her bays and harbors are unsurpassed in the world.

HER TOWNS AND CITIES
Are growing with wonderful rapidity. Her transportation facilities and connection with the east and south is good, and her people happy and industrious. What more can be asked? We are just budding into statehood and prospects could not be brighter. Ours is a great commonwealth, and it is not to be wondered at that thousands are coming to cast their lot with us. Every through train on our two connecting lines to the east, is composed of from twelve to eighteen passenger coaches, all crowded with immigrants bound for Washington.

A large number of these people have means and purchase improved land on arriving here, while others push on to where government lands can be found. All find homes. We are advised from the east that during the summer, towns and counties will be almost depopulated in the rush for homes in the northwest. Again we say, let them come. We have room for all.—Tribune Globe.

NEW-ANGLED POKER.

How the "Atherton" Was Established—Quack Serfs of Poker.

A story is going the rounds of the press, and is quoted by the New York Sun, of a new poker hand, a sort of a consolation hand for the people who are always complaining that they have had luck. The hand is called the "Atherton." It consists of ace high, deuce low, and no pair. It is considered such and extremely difficult hand to fill that it is ranked next to a straight. The story goes that Hon. J. M. Atherton, of Louisville, Ky., was playing one evening in a card room, when he threw down the hand in disgust, saying that it was the very lowest hand that could be dealt. The party concluded that as it was the lowest hand it was worthy of some place in the game. So they named it the Atherton, and now it is widely used in the south and west, and is gradually coming into favor in the east. Speaking of this, a veteran player said:

"Of course, new-angled notions get into all games. Poker has been especially subject to variations, and it is a very common thing for parties who play much together to come to an understanding as to certain rules. Some parties never play what are called straight hands. Some run straight up and down; that is, both ways from the ace. I have known of parties who played poker with a joker, permitting the fortunate player to call the joker what he pleased, so that he might hold five aces or five of any kind. Of course, this makes enormous hands and allowance must be made for the possibility of such hands being held. But the fact is the ordinary man gives plenty of good hands, and the great beauty of it is that you can never know for sure that your opponent has not as good a hand as yours or better. If you hold what one holds once in a century, and perhaps never, a royal flush, you do not know for sure that three of the other players have not hands equally as good."

"But the beauty of the game, after all, is that you play it with no good hands at all, but only bluff, nerve, grit, sand, and the sugar to back it. What a sublime spectacle of courage it is to see a man calmly raise the ante a cool thousand without a pair in his hand, and stand "pat" and raised it another thousand without betraying an emotion of fear. The great poker player really plays less with his cards than with his nerve and courage. Before his stalwart courage stout hearts tremble. Defeat does not make him weaken. Success will not betray him into exposing his hand unnecessarily."

"The resources of poker are so many that there is no need of the new-angled notions to make it interesting. You can attack the enemy from all points. You can attack the enemy from all points. You can chase and irritate him with atrocious jokes, and it is all fair. You can study his nature so as to back out at the right time, or to lead him on to destruction with the well-timed banter. You may play your new-angled hands if you like, but the good, old-fashioned draw-poker, with a stiff ante, is quite exciting enough for me, whether I win or lose."

A Kansas Opinion of Washington.

We are indebted to John W. Golden for a copy of the Yakima Herald, published at North Yakima, Wash. territory. It is a live paper, and worth I indicate that the great northwest is destined to become one of the most wealthy and powerful sections of the United States at no distant day.—Augusta (Kansas) Journal.

Railroad Construction.

The Railway Age says: Notwithstanding the adverse legislation of many states, the railroads are losing money, and the further fact remains that leading lines have agreed not to extend tracks already projected. Since January 1 of this year 666 new lines, with an aggregate mileage of 53,436, have been projected, of which 14,818 are already under construction or contract. The lines in contemplation in twelve New England and eastern states have an anticipated mileage of 5094; ten southern states, 12,855; five central and northern, 5283; seven northwestern, 12,992; five southwestern, 11,562; seven Pacific states and territories, 3845. Projected construction in Wyoming, 914; Montana, 992; Nevada, 150; California, 1235; New Mexico, 1016; Idaho, 104; Utah, 997; Oregon, 840; Washington territory, 1513; Colorado, 1115.

Biggest City in the World.

The largest city in the world is generally believed to be London, although some suppose that Hankow, in China, has more inhabitants. But there is a town in North Carolina which far surpasses either in extent, being two thousand miles longer than London. Its name is Henderson. When the city was incorporated it was intended to extend the limits one thousand yards in each direction from the depot, but the printer made the bill read one thousand miles, and it passed the legislature without the error being corrected.

A Kansas Opinion of Washington.

We are indebted to John W. Golden for a copy of the Yakima Herald, published at North Yakima, Wash. territory. It is a live paper, and worth I indicate that the great northwest is destined to become one of the most wealthy and powerful sections of the United States at no distant day.—Augusta (Kansas) Journal.

An Important Feature—Politician—What sort of a watch is that? Jeweller—It is a repeater, sir. Politician—I'll take it. While counting his money the customer starts, stops short, turns pale and anxiously inquires: "Say, mister, is she republican or democrat?"—Jeweller's Weekly.

WELL DIGGING.

Where were you born, my son? Boy—Dunno, sir. "Ah, you don't know. What are you going to do when you become a man?" "Rob trains." "Ah (musingly) the little fellow was born in Missouri."—Arkansas Traveler.

AN AGE OF WONDERS.

After Centuries of Bigoted Darkness, Light! The ammunition of calumny has been exploded. The deadly projectiles hurled and arrows lie broken at the feet of victory. And when Aurora's rays shall have pierced the smoke of the battlefield, the name of the histogenetic system of medicine will glitter a bright and imperishable star in the diadem of science, when those who tried to wind their ally coils around the snowy throat have mouldered in oblivion and their epitaphs have vanished from the face of the earth.

Seattle, Washington.
My little boy, when four years old, was taken sick with scarlet rash. We had competent medical aid but he never fully recovered. For three years he was sick, sometimes would vomit ceaselessly for a week, not retaining even water. He dwindled away to but a shadow of his former self. At last his mind gave way. For two weeks he clung to me begging me not to bury him in the ground. He recognized nobody, not even me. We all concluded that death would be a relief to him? There was no use trying the old school doctors, of that we had had enough experience. Their medicines failed to kill me when every one of them gave me up with consumption, saying that I could not live a week. That was three years ago. They would have had their say, too, if I had not called in Dr. J. Eugene Jordan. I had then been bedfast for over a year, could not turn over, suffered with excruciating pain and spat bloody pus. As by the aid of the god-sent Histogenetic Medicines I recovered from the verge of the grave and was able to do considerable of my housework in ninety days. Well, we got Dr. Jordan's medicine for our little boy and his reason returned and so did his health, and in two months from first taking his medicine he went to school. We are convinced, as is everyone who has used the unprecedented Histogenetic Medicines, that it accomplishes the apparently impossible, and that to compare them to all the other medicines is like comparing bright sunlight to Egyptian darkness.

Edmund, Washington.
I have been sick for the last 15 years with a complication of diseases. Rheumatism and kidney troubles were very bad, but heart disease was the worst of all. Many times I thought I would not survive it. The sharp, agonizing pain in my heart would take my breath and make me dizzy. I had to catch at things to keep from falling. In fact, it was an utter wreck. I tried doctors in Terra Haute, Indiana, Bloomington, Ottumwa, Charleston and Burlington—allopathic, homoeopathic, and every other kind of doctor. They used batteries, baths, and all manner and kinds of nasty tasting drugs, but I received no benefit at all. I gave it up in disgust. Every doctor told me another tale as to what he thought was the matter with me, but that did not cure me. Going to Seattle, I heard of nothing but the new Histogenetic System and of Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, its author. Having tried all the old, I concluded to try the new, and after a few weeks' use of the above medicine I completely recovered. This was last October, and I have been able to attend to my duties ever since. I make this statement from gratitude to Dr. Jordan and the Histogenetic system, and also from a spirit of sympathy for kindred humanity.

JOSEPH PENNINGTON.
Slaughter, Washington.
My boy, ten years old, was broken down with rheumatism. His limbs were all distorted out of shape from the baneful effect; he suffered great agony, and could not turn in bed. The worst of all his heart was greatly effected from it and it almost stopped his breath. We gave him up, also did our neighbors. As a last resort I went to Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, whose medicine performed apparently impossible cures in our neighbors. After giving my boy those medicines for three weeks he entirely recovered, his limbs all straightened out again, and he is perfectly well in every way. That was ten months ago. As for myself I had an injury to my finger which turned into caris of the bone. Several doctors were employed, but the result was that the bone kept on eating away. At last they concluded that in order to save the hand the finger had to be amputated. I thought myself to Dr. Jordan, obtained his medicine, and in two weeks' time it cured the bone disease and I retained my finger. How much suffering and expense we might have saved had we known of the Histogenetic Medicine and Dr. J. Eugene Jordan.

N. KRALAUNE.
My daughter, Mrs. E. Richard, Sterling, Washington, was pretty bad with consumption, bleeding from the lungs, and cough generally characteristic of the dread malady. The disease was of four years' standing. I came to Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, my daughter being too feeble to come. She took the medicine a week and she began to feel better, and in about two months time from first taking the medicine she had entirely recovered.

J. E. SHERRIN.
CAUTION.—The Histogenetic medicines are sold in but one agency in each town. The label around the bottle bears the following inscription: "Dr. J. Eugene Jordan's Histogenetic Medicine." Every other device is a fraud.
