

THE YAKIMA HERALD.

Official Paper of Yakima County. THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1890.

THE STRANGE STORY OF DICK SEE.—The story of the arrest of Richard See, who was recently taken from Ellensburg to California, on a requisition charging him with murder, is an interesting one.

SULLIVAN KNOCKED OUT.—The city had a legal tussle last Saturday with Dan Sullivan. Sullivan is not the noted pugilist but he claims some skill in that line and had just been released from jail where he had been incarcerated for playfully seeing how far he could knock a Chinaman.

WATER FROM THE NATCHEES.—A local company is being organized for the purpose of taking water from the Natchee river and irrigating the bench land south to Wide Hollow.

JUSTICE COURT.—George W. Thayer and Mr. Lampton of Goldendale were arrested last week on a charge of throwing rocks from the bluffs of Union gap down upon the public highway.

MAKING TARGETS OF INDIANS.—Some bad whites have been in the habit of raiding the Indians' fish trap on the reservation below the gap.

MEDICAL COLLEGE FOR NORTH YAKIMA.—The Washington Biochemic Medical college was incorporated at North Yakima May 22d, by Dr. Wm. Chapman, of Columbus, Frank L. Tappan, of Seattle, B. A. Grover, of Colfax, and G. W. Beck, C. L. Gano, J. B. Chapman, J. W. Beck, A. V. Gano and G. W. Goodwin, of North Yakima.

THE HORSE HEAVEN, ARTEMIS WELLS.—Thomas Corbett, who was awarded the contract for boring the artesian well in the Horse Heaven country, has replied to a letter from District Attorney Salvey to the effect that ill-luck in boring at Vancouver has caused the delay, but the difficulty is now overcome and he will shortly start work on the Yakima well.

BOYS.—At North Yakima, May 26, to the wife of Chas. Campbell, a son.

BOYS.—Wenas Valley, Yakima county, Friday, May 24th, to the wife of E. E. Butler, a daughter.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Memorial Day. —Keep us coming, Monday, June 3. It —Sells Bros.' circus will appear in Yakima next month.

—Hugo Sigmond is building a residence in Eastern addition which will cost $1600. —Robert Scott has planted 300 sweet-potato plants on his ten acres of the Yolo tract.

—The council adjourned sine die Monday evening. The new council will convene next Monday. —L. C. Read, of Ellensburg, is making preparations to have several cottages built on his Yakima lots.

—Ellensburg is thronged with rough characters and a special force of police is required to maintain order. —The G. A. B. memorial services last Sunday were very impressive, the address of Rev. Gascoigne being a most excellent one.

—Read Carpenter Bros. & Atherton's announcement which is presented in the HERALD, and then call and examine the goods. —Mrs. Bethena Spahn, aged 50 years, died on Saturday last from the effects of a fall in which her thigh bone was fractured.

—Fred R. Reed has contracted for the building of a dwelling to cost $1000 in the Capital addition. The plans were drawn by C. W. Henry. —Prof. Keen, the horse trainer, will exhibit his skill at Yakima, June 3 and the succeeding days. He comes highly recommended.

—Mrs. James Redmond, after a long illness, died Wednesday morning from consumption. The remains are being taken east for interment. —George William Westbrook, who formerly conducted a barber shop in Yakima, has left Spokane Falls and a whole parcel of mourning creditors.

—The Royce & Lansing troupe gave a most excellent entertainment Saturday evening. The general verdict was that Royce was a show in himself. —Attention is called to the new advertisement of Vance & Mulford, proprietors of the New York store and dealers in clothing, gent's furnishings, hats and caps, which appears in this issue of the HERALD.

—The Wallula Herald is indignant at the lack of support the paper is receiving from that town, and the editor plaintively remarks: "We can live on gopher-tail soup and wind pudding for awhile, but not for always." —Mrs. Martin, mother of Mrs. H. J. Snively, suddenly became dizzy while attending to her household duties, last Friday, and fell, striking her head against the sharp edge of a piece of furniture and receiving a serious scalp wound.

—Probably the largest watermelon patch in the territory is located near Yakima, and is cultivated by S. J. Lowe and Henry Kampeter. It contains twenty-two acres, and is planted to the most approved varieties of this succulent fruit. —The man Hanson, who was arrested at Ellensburg, for the attempted rape of a little girl of the same name, was discharged, the evidence not substantiating the charge. He was drunk at the time and claimed to have been in a playful mood.

—J. W. Shearer's horses became frightened at a passing locomotive, last Saturday, and upset the buggy on top of that gentleman, who, not relishing that situation, finally crawled out only the worse for the accident by a few slight cuts and bruises. —A cabinet is to be placed in the U. S. land office, and the request is made that specimens of minerals and other products of this region be contributed, with a view to forming a permanent collection for the benefit of settlers and those who propose to become such.

—An Ellensburg darkey, who could boast of but one leg, attempted to commit suicide the other day by stretching his form across the railroad track. He was arrested after a struggle and is confined in the Kittitas county jail, but the authorities now don't know what to do with this son of Ham unless they make sandwiches of him.

—The Okanogan and Conconully country is being kept back this year by an outbreak of smallpox. The greatest development is being made on Allen C. Mason's mine, the Lone Star, on which 1000 feet of work has been done and $20,000 expended. Fifteen to twenty-five men are constantly employed and the monthly pay roll runs from $15,000 to $25,000.

—The annual picnic of the Northern Pacific railroad employees will be held at Media on June 22. The following gentlemen have been elected a committee of management: E. Beardon, A. Shultz, L. M. Hamilton, C. Egan, F. Bodefelt, J. B. Moss, M. McCarthy, S. Stewart, Hugh Vansyck, with Charles A. McKee chairman, Fred Weymouth treasurer and T. N. Morris secretary.

—An Ellensburg real estate firm recently cut some farming property up into lots, under the name of the Capital Park addition, and by trading these lots off to various papers throughout the territory have been getting some very cheap advertising. If any of the territorial newspaper men want their eye teeth cut all they have to do is to come in contact with an Ellensburg dealer in realty.

—The people of Ellensburg are very much interested in a horse tamer named Keen. We copy the following from the Localizer: "Keep the horse educator is drawing large crowds of horsemen and farmers every afternoon and evening at his tent. He has a large number of scholars and they are all well satisfied and say his system is the best they have ever seen and worth a great deal to them."

PERSONAL.

Mike Harris is up from Portland. John A. Stone is back from the Sound. J. K. Ashlev, of Spokane Falls, is in the city.

Will Hubbard returned Sunday from San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. George Donald returned Wednesday from Tacoma. A. G. Chalmers, of New York was registered at Steiner's this week.

Special Agent C. M. Munday, of the interior department, is in the city. B. A. Cunningham, of the Moxee, returned from Eastern Oregon Monday. Mrs. S. Kreidel and her mother, Mrs. Harris, were down from Ellensburg Monday.

Howard Carr has taken a ranch in the Big Bend country and will move his family there. George Dorffel, a Seattle real estate dealer, was in the city last week making investments.

J. T. and Dudley Eshelman, with their families, returned Wednesday from a two weeks' visit to Goldendale. Mrs. C. M. Holton and daughter, Miss Mertie, returned Wednesday from Iowa where they have been for the past year.

Paul Schuize, of the Northern Pacific land department, is on his way home. He will pass through Yakima next week. H. Harris, who has been in the east purchasing machinery for the Cle-Elum Ice Company, is expected home Saturday.

Melville D. Landon, "Eli Perkins," accompanied by his wife, arrived in the city Wednesday night, from the east. He will lecture this evening at the Opera House. Maud and Joe Steiner, children of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Steiner, are back from Prineville where they have been visiting relatives.

Miss Minnie Catlin, of Tacoma, is visiting Miss Dora Allen. These two young ladies were schoolmates in the Annie Wright seminary. Hon. Thad Huston, who is here from Tacoma, is prominently mentioned for the U. S. attorney-generalship, to succeed W. H. White, of Seattle.

Wm. Ker, president of the Moxee Co., is on his way home from St. Paul, whither he has been to contract for cigar boxes for the Moxee cigars. Miss Louise Monroe returned on Saturday last from Seattle. She has been attending the University of Washington and recently graduated from the normal department.

C. A. Congden, of the Ontario Land company, has placed the Capital addition on the market and the sales have been very rapid this week. Mr. Congden left for the east Monday. A. W. Engle, of Seattle, was in the city last week arranging for the commencement of the Lewis & Engle three story brick building on the corner of Yakima avenue and Second street.

J. T. McDonald, of Ellensburg, the democratic delegate-elect to the constitutional convention from the 10th district was in the city last Friday. He reports that he has sold his saloon property known as the "Old Corner." T. B. Lawhead and B. A. Staggs, of Frankfort, Ohio, who arrived in Yakima a few months ago, returned home Friday. During their stay here they invested in considerable property, and like all others who pursued this course they filled their pockets with golden shekels. They made more money in the short time they were here than they could in years in Ohio.

Messrs. Lawhead and Staggs will remain in Ohio long enough to close out their interests there and then return to remain. Capt. F. B. Johnson and wife, of Walla Walla, spent several days in Yakima, this week looking over town and country. Captain Johnson is editor of the Walla Walla Union and his first visit to this country was in 1867. He was then an officer in the U. S. army and with a detachment of men passed through Yakima under the guidance of Abe Lincoln, an Indian, bound for the Sound. He speaks of meeting at that time the Splawnas, Thorps, Nelsons and some others.

AN ENDOGENOUS RESOURCES CONNECTION.—A report has been in circulation that no brick could be had here unless by the letting of the contract for building to Messrs. Renfro, Kremer & Co. This is erroneous and undoubtedly grew out of the admission of L. K. Arnold into this firm. Mr. Renfro informs the HERALD that Mr. Arnold was taken into the copartnership in order to secure the services of a good architect, contractor and carpenter and thus be able to figure closer on work of all kinds. Renfro, Kremer & Co. have now 400,000 bricks on hand and are ready to sell to any one. As an evidence of this they have just disposed of 100,000 bricks to T. E. Vining for his new building adjoining the Hotel Yakima.

SEE FOR YOURSELF.—Yakima is favored in having a first class furniture and carpet house. Messrs. A. H. Reynolds & Co., opposite the opera house, carry a superior line of goods. They have handsome parlor sets, fine lounges, easy chairs, bed room sets of all grades, carpets of attractive patterns and serviceable weaves, and in fact everything that is found in stock in the leading furniture houses of the larger cities.

A GOOD AND CHEAP FENCE.—J. M. Stout has his economical fence making machine on daily working exhibition on the lot adjoining Keeling's blacksmith shop on Front street. Parties from town or country who propose to build a good fence and at the same time expend the least money should examine this fence and enquire into the cost.

—Go to Redfield's and examine those steel glasses with gold nose-pieces—a new patent. They never rust nor wear out.

MEMORIAL DAY.—This is memorial day, and the decorations, the closing of business houses, and the general observance of the occasion denotes that it is of national import. The HERALD goes to press too early for a report of the exercises, but an excellent program has been arranged, with Hon. Thad Huston, of Tacoma, as orator.

OPENING LIME QUARRIES.—The Wenatche limestone lands are to be developed by eastern capitalists, who have invested $10,000 in a plant and expect to turn out 20-0 barrels of lime per week. Steel cable and ore cars have been ordered for a gravity road, and the latest patent draw kilns will be used. The lime will be shipped down the Columbia.

THE S. S. CONVENTION.—The Sunday school convention met on Tuesday and were in session during the following day. A large number of delegates were present from abroad and an interesting and profitable discussion of the work was held. The visiting delegates expressed themselves as highly pleased with Yakima and their entertainment here.

WILL TEMPORARILY DELAY WORK.—It was the intention to start work at once on the new brick church to be built by the Methodists, but the plans, received from the east, cover four feet more ground than is possessed by the church organization, and they have been returned for modification. Work, however, will be commenced on the parsonage Monday.

SAMPLES OF CORN FOR DISTRIBUTION.—THE HERALD is in receipt of a package of sweet corn, with the request that it be distributed among reliable farmers who will report the results to W. P. Mowell, San Francisco. Mr. Mowell represents an eastern house that is desirous of establishing a plant for the canning of this corn here if the growing results will warrant. Farmers should call and get samples.

MORE STORE ROOM WANTED.—The demand for business houses far exceeds the supply. There is not a vacant store room in the city and there are many applications for the lease of every business block under construction or that is proposed. In a number of instances leases have been closed before work on the foundation was commenced. Mr. Vining states that he has had fifteen applications for the lease of one of the store rooms in his new building and that three of the applicants were hardware dealers who wanted to start in business here.

FIRST CIRCUS OF THE SEASON.—Farini & McMahon's united circuses, which are advertised to appear in this city, Saturday afternoon and evening, have travelled extensively throughout the country and from all the HERALD can glean from press comments have given general satisfaction wherever exhibited. The performance includes many new feats presented in no other circus and as the proprietors have devoted their entire attention to the ring and engaged only the best artists, the entertainment will no doubt be all that is claimed for it.

LOOK OUT FOR FAIRIES.—A couple of medicine fakirs were on the street, for several days this week, drawing a crowd with villainously bad songs and imperious vibrations, and raking in the dollars of the gudgeon by the sale of some worthless compound. Suckers never fail to bite when these itinerants come along, and notwithstanding all that has been said, and the experience of many, the usual harvest will probably be reaped by the circus hangers-on this coming Saturday. The HERALD has no sympathy for those who run up against "a dead sure same" after being properly warned.

SENATOR CHARGES.—There are three rape cases for the coming term of the district court at Ellensburg. Two of them are against a prominent farmer named Garretson and his son, for the outraging of two sisters, both of whom are said to be under 16 years, the legal age of consent. The third case is against George H. Jennings charged with assaulting Mrs. L. W. Nestelle. The circumstances of this case as told to the HERALD representative are most revolting. Jennings who was a real estate dealer and man of property, was boarding with Mrs. Nestelle, whose husband was on a visit to California. At this time Jennings was suffering from a loathsome disease, which had affected one of his eyes and partially made him blind. Mrs. Nestelle occasionally dressed the eye for him and performed other little services. One day last spring Jennings asked her to address a letter for him. She went to her room to get writing materials and he followed, locking the bed-room door after him, and in spite of her struggles and outcries, administered chloroform and accomplished his purpose. He shortly after left for Tacoma. When Mr. Nestelle returned home his wife unbosomed her wrongs to him. He followed Jennings to the City of Destiny, enlisted the services of the police and Jennings was arrested, only to make his escape to New York, leaving behind him his baggage and other effects. In his valise was found a bottle of chloroform, corroborative of Mrs. Nestelle's story. Telegrams were sent to the police in all directions, and recently Jennings was arrested in New York by Inspector Byrnes. A requisition has gone forward, and it is expected that Jennings will soon be brought back to face the charge.

A Bargain.—I have two desirable lots on the southeast corner of block 25, facing Second street which I will offer for one week for $700. Second street property is increasing in value more rapidly than that of any other section and these two lots are a bargain. E. M. Rump, May 29, 1890, "Herald" Office.

Shiloh's Vitalizer is what you need for constipation, loss of appetite, dizziness, and all symptoms of dyspepsia. Price 50 and 75 cents per bottle at C. B. Bushnell's drug store.

Savages expect to imitate bravery by drinking the blood of their brave enemies. A more enlightened method of vitalizing the blood is by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It braces up the nerves and gives strength and fortitude to endure the trials of life.

To the Farmers of Yakima County and Vicinity.

They are agents for the celebrated Moline wagons and hacks, purchased direct from the manufacturer, Morrison walking, sulky and gang plows, and the Climax disc harrow, the world renowned Tiger mower and steel wheel self-dump Standard hay rake. "AN ADDRESS" (continued from First Page of Supplement.

The question is sometimes asked if the blood contains these twelve basic cell salts, why should the system ever become deranged? In answering this I will again quote Liebig:

"It happens that a tissue in disease reaches such a degree of density, becomes so clogged that the salt solutions of the blood can not enter to feed and nourish; but if for therapeutic purposes a solution of salt be so triturated and given so diluted that all its molecules are set free, it is reasonable that no hindrance will be in the way of these molecules to enter the abnormally condensed part of tissue."

Prof Virchow said that "disease is an altered state of cell." When the cells, of which the surrounding walls of the capillaries consist, are altered (i. e. diseased), in consequence of a diminution of their contents of phosphate of lime, only minimum doses of this salt can be of use in such small cells containing so small a portion of phosphate of lime?

When the merchant finds the combination of his sale off, he does not use violence, does not pound the safe with a hammer or cut it open with an ax; but carefully adjusts the delicate complex mechanism of the lock until the proper combination drops in place. Thus Biochemistry changes the condition of altered cells by the use of cell salts. A pain is only a cry sent up from the part affected to the brain—the intelligence, the ego, the great white throne of understanding and reason—conveying the intelligence that a gland, an organ, a group of tissue, a bone muscle or tendon is hungry. Yes, hungry! because the material for its life was either not present in sufficient quantities or because of its environments, heat, cold or from other causes, this material could not enter on account of the density of the part diseased. This cry is simply a telegraph dispatch sent along the nerves from an outpost to headquarters, calling for reinforcements, for provisions. And when the call is so loud for bread shall we give a stone? or for fish shall we give a serpent? How literally are the scriptures fulfilled! Alcohol is everywhere called the "Serpent of the Still"—yet the medical world use it almost universally in disease, and when the tissue calls for the meat of the inorganic tissue builders the physician prescribes the serpent, alcohol.

The intelligent farmer does not use for a fertilizing compound that which the chemical analysis does not discover in the grain, vegetable or fruit. The human system contains no alcohol, quinine, mercury, opium, morphine, or belladonna, and it is just as reasonable to try to relieve the hunger of a man who has gone without food for three days, and consequently has a pain in his stomach, with something powerful—something that does not assimilate with the system, that is found in the blood, bone, muscle or tissue—as to give these same foreign substances when certain groups of tissues only are affected. In one case food for the whole man is needed, and there is no controversy as to kind; all agree—allopathy, homoeopathy, eclectic, watercure and all—that good bread and milk, fresh beef, potatoes, vegetables and fruits, will cure the hungry man, because they are used by the human organism, are constituent parts of the human body; for they come from the earth, and contain for their base the twelve inorganic salts. But when a particular group of cells or tissue, or a certain membrane, or muscle, or gland becomes affected—hungry for want of its molecules of these salts—and sets up a cry, sends a dispatch to the understanding asking for a crumb of its particular food, the wise men and eyes are sent for to translate the message and they become confused, like the tongues at the Tower of Babel, and one says the dispatch calls for quinine, another alcohol, another morphine, etc. But Schuster, and Virchow, and Liebig, and Huxley have read the dispatches—the cries that have come up out of the mysterious deep of the human organism and their translation means that the scepter of unreason, and superstition, and prejudice is passing away before the rising sun of true science. Biochemistry came from that same germ of intellect that caused the Briton to throw off the yoke of feudal bondage and start civilization out on its endless march; that caused Columbus to set his face toward the farthest west; that caused Shakespeare to strike the camp of knowledge a hundred years ahead of his time, and ration it with food for intellects of all ages yet to be. How many states men and philosophers have strained their prophetic eyes to catch a glimpse of the possibilities with which we are surrounded. Until within the past few years our growth failed to keep pace with that of the Mississippi valley, but we were fettered even as the northwest was fettered before the discoveries of Flak, Fulton and Stephenson revolutionized the world. Now that cheap money and rapid communication with the Atlantic states, and the development of home industries, have struck the fetters from our limbs, we may hope to exhibit to the world a marvel of growth and progress. Already we sit by the sea and are preparing to wrest from London the commerce of India and China. The plains and hills of Walla Walla, of Yakima and Palouse laugh with harvest so joyous that even the wheat-fields of Illinois seem sullen wrinkles on the face of nature. Here is found the perfection of physical life. The vaunted air of Italy is dim in comparison with our clear, pure, life-giving atmosphere. Sea-bathing is luxury on our coast while Cape May is fringed with ice; and roses blossom on our lawns while the Connecticut and the Hudson lie clasped in crystal bracelets. From the heather-bloom of the desert—which may be made into paper; past alkaline lakes, whose waves can be crystallized into soda; through an atmosphere better for the manufacture of cloth than any artificially regulated; by the side of boiling springs exhaling vast quantities of steam, fit, if it could be collected, for motive power—down to the red rocks of the the bay that can be ground into paint, and the eternal forests of fir sufficient to supply a world, there is nothing of air, water, fire, wood or earth that is not tributary to the empire of material greatness which is coming in every shriek of the locomotive that disturbs the echoes of our hills; coming in every train, alive with eager immigrants; coming with the clatter of every new factory-wheel, in the ring of every new anvil, and the gleam of every new harvest-field.

Unprospected and treasure-veined hills await the miner; fertile fields, new markets and new products woo the farmer; home markets and unused powers invite mechanic and manufacturer; the Indies northern seas and growing railway enterprises open untried ventures to the merchant; the adaptation of ancient principles to new conditions, and of new remedies to old diseases, challenge the lawyer, and the physician; strange phenomena invoke the service of geologist and naturalist; new combinations of metals call for the assayer's crucible; curious social combinations confound the student; Rainier defies the artist pencil; our sunsets were the poet's lyre; the ruins of empire puzzle the antiquarian's research and the promise of empire fires the statesman's thought.

In this Pacific land, wrested by our noble pioneers from the slothful sleep of centuries, shall be developed the coming glory of the republic. The race that shall people with millions this golden land, that shall behold the Western Star such and glow brightly for centuries upon the confines of the American continent before it sets in eternal night, will prove that "Time's noblest empire is its last". Here where eastern lore shall adorn western enterprise, "here the philosophers of the Orient shall be jostled by the materialism of the Occident, there may be eliminated from the slowly crystallizing carbon of dead and dying isms, the diamond of a new faith sparkling with the truths of medicine, law, science, and philosophy with man and woman standing in perfect equality before the law. Hail to the future which sends its rainbow of promise shining above our pathway; hail and welcome to the living present which encompasses us; hail and all hail to the banded spirits whose assistance we crave. Across the world of space, even to spheres of nightless glory where they dwell, we send the pledge of love and gratitude that shall not fall until the "sea gives up its dead". Washington! "The past has been tortured with fears."

But what may we not hope for the invading years. For the arm of the desert is broken and soon our twilight shall dash with the spray of the moon. For the pillars of Casades now reared to the roof of a steed that stays not for their storm-haunted roof. Oh! the wideness dappled with harvest shall seem. With a feteness outwining the immigrant's dream. And rich with the drist of Paetolian and her beasty barbaric and glitter of gold silver smelted as the Silesia of olden! The West has gone out and is wed to the East. While the songs of two oceans are blent at the feast. From the crystalline tongues of the lakes that repose. In their woeen embraces mid lingering snows. From the odorons lips of the Mexican Queen. As she dimples in Summer's perennial sheen: From the silver trail of the rivers that fall By the southern Palms and fir guarded wall. Sweeps the wind-worried fan of victory won—Lo! The desert is slain! It is done, it is done!

Errors in Trial Balances.

An old, experienced bookkeeper and accountant gives the following rules for detecting errors in trial balances:

1. Go over the additions of the trial balances, assuring yourself that they are correct.
2. Ascertain the exact difference and look casually through the books of original entry for all amounts similar to the amount of error, seeing that they have been posted on both debit and credit side of the ledger.
3. Examining the journal entries to see that each entry balance is made.
4. Examine the addition of the outside column in the salesbook, observing that the footing has been posted on the credit side of the merchandise account in the ledger.
5. See if you have transferred the amounts correctly from the ledger to the trial balance, going carefully over the footing of each account in the ledger and taking the difference.
6. Check the posting; that is, see if the amounts have all been transferred correctly from each of the books of original entry into the ledger.
7. Go over the ledger accounts again and see if each amount on both debit and credit side has been checked. Those not checked have been posted erroneously, and will doubtless prove to be the amount of difference in your trial balance.
8. If the error is not found after going over the seven rules, begin with rule one and go over them again until you have found it.

AN AMERICAN QUEEN.

A Suggestion that One May Some Time Reign in England.

The London correspondent of the New York Tribune writes: Two subjects are said to occupy the queen's mind—a financial settlement for the eldest son of the Prince of Wales, Prince Albert Victor, commonly called Prince Eddie, and his marriage. The prince is now twenty-five years old, and has no separate establishment, no income of his own, no wife and no immediate prospect of marrying. No minister has yet ventured to ask parliament for an allowance. There would be opposition and rather than face the discussion which is sure to be raised, the Prince of Wales is himself opposed to an application until his son marries. As he must marry a Protestant, his choice among the European daughters of royalty is strictly limited. None of them seems to be a favorite.

In these circumstances Sir Edward Sullivan has conceived the notion that the prince should marry an American. Why should he not? asks Sir Edward; and he proceeds to argue the subject at length. Such an alliance, he thinks, would bring about a closer intimacy between the two nations. Americans, in his opinion, would like to see one of Columbia's daughters sharing the throne of England (he had better have said the prospect of the throne) and thirty-four millions in England would welcome with delight a queen of their own blood, breed and speech. Sir Edward, like most Englishmen, admires the American girl and the American people generally. He believes the two great English-speaking people destined to rule the world, and advocates such a marriage on international as well as political grounds. This suggestion has been heard before, but perhaps nobody has seriously urged it except Sir Edward Sullivan. So strong is the feeling in England against more Anglo-German marriages that an Anglo-American alliance might well enough be popular for that, as for many other reasons.

An Accommodating Train.

"I want to go to bed," said the drummer, "so give me a room as soon as you can. I ought to have reached the city early this afternoon, and here it is eleven o'clock."

"What made you so late?" asked the hotel clerk, as he threw down a key to which was attached a rough-edged brass tag about the size of a buckwheat cake.

"Oh, slow trains! Slow trains! They seemed to stop everywhere and at all the little crossroads."

"That's queer."

"I should say it was. Why, at one place they stopped about seven minutes, while half a dozen people came out of the only house to be seen in the neighborhood and boarded the train. Did you ever hear of anything like it?"

"Never."

"I have," said a little old man with long, shaggy hair, who had overheard the conversation.

"You have?"

"Yes; you may not believe it, but it's a fact. Some years ago I used to travel a good deal up in Massachusetts. There was a place called West Sheaf Lane, where the train stopped nearly every day for an old woman, who was always there to send some eggs into town. Now, would you believe it? One day the train stopped as usual for Aunt Betsy, who was there with her eggs, but she only had eleven. She said that an old hen was still on her nest, and she wanted the train to wait until she could make up the dozen."

"Yes."

"Well, I'll be darned if that train didn't wait until the hen laid the extra egg."

The late arrival said he guessed he would go to bed, the be-diamonded hotel clerk swooned, and the little old man walked down the corridor and dropped wearily into a chair.

Constipation

Demand prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable Liver and Bile-dissolver, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

"Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."—Dr. L. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Hens, Leithersville, Pa.

"For several years Ayer's Pills have been used in my family. We had them on hand."

Effective Remedy for constipation and indigestion, and are never without them in the house. —Moses Grenier, Lowell, Mass.

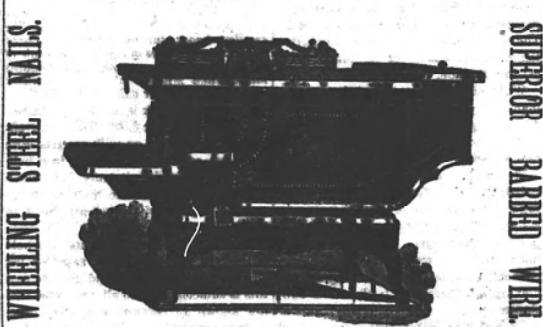

"I have used Ayer's Pills for liver troubles and indigestion, during many years, and have always found them prompt and efficient in their action."—L. N. Smith, Utica, N. Y.

"I suffered from constipation which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills effected a complete cure."—D. Burke, Saco, Me.

"I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and here always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia."—James Quinn, 10 Middle st., Hartford, Conn.

"Having been troubled with constipation, which seems inevitable with persons of sedentary habits, I have tried Ayer's Pills, hoping for relief. I am glad to say that they have served me better than any other medicine. I arrive at this conclusion only after a faithful trial of their merits."—Samuel T. Jones, Oak st., Boston, Mass.
