Official Paper of North Yakima.

GENERAL STEVENSON denies point blank the statement of his having any connection with the Knights of the Golden Circle, and asks the slanderers to confront him. One by one the political lies are being run down.

It is suggested that the two legislative candidates of this county meet on the rostrum for joint debate on the principles advocated by the parties. Mr. Vance will be ready at any time to discuss public questions with Mr. Weed. Will the latter meet him?

JOHN H. MCGRAW for governor; let's see: is there not something in the supreme court reports whereby the ex-sheriff of King appears in a very unfavorable light and is severely censured? The Herald believes that there is and will investigate.

The only claim that the republicans make for McGraw is that he is rich and a great political organizer. These are two very essential qualifications for a governor or a senator. Loughton only possessed one of them in the start. His poverty disappeared with his office.

Now that John L. Wilson is again on the republican ticket for congress full notification should be given to the country at large to send their best men, for if elected Washington's bantam representative promises to have the ropes stretched and do his usual excellent ring work.

The great national game seems to have fallen into disfavor in the northwest, for the league, comprising the Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle and Portland clubs, has disbanded. The patrons of the clubs found the drain on their purses too heavy and refused to respond. The Seattle club was in the lead at the time of the collapse.

ENGLAND imported from Germany of 1891's hop crop 100,000 bales, the United States imported from Germany of 1891's crop 6,843 bales. Will Germany be able to spare 100,848 bales this season? The United States exported to England 100,000 bales of 1891's crop, and as we expect to grow only 190,000 bales, and we consume from 150,000 to 180,000 bales, we will have but 10,000 bales to spare. It does seem as though the world will not produce enough hops to supply the brewers wants for the seasons of 1892 and 1893 until the new crop of '93 comes in.

The republicans are making much political capital over the war records of their presidential candidates. Harrison was only a soldier so far as his family name gave him a generalship. No one ever heard of his carrying a musket or leading an attacking column. His place was always in the rear where that brave soldier, Whitelaw Reid, listened to Harrison's tale of what he knew about fighting and telegraphed it to the paper that employed him at so much a week. These soldier heroes that the republican press is trying to mold, look very much like common clay when the facts are investigated.

Mr. BURLEIGH, the speaker of the Seattle delegation at the republican convention declared that "we defeated the enemies and then gave them what they wanted." This remark was made in reference to the balance of the republican state delegates outside of King. Is this true? Did the republican delegates to the Olympia convention clamor for McGraw? Did Pierce county become so insistent that McGraw had to be chosen? Did Spokane proclaim from the hills of Olympia that no one but McGraw would be accepted? Has the country at large been sending up a loud and imperative howl for McGraw? It may be but central Washington knows nothing about it, and prior to the idea of November the voters will indicate at the polls that they accepted one gubernatorial candidate at the last general election, whose acts compromised the good name of the state and added a burden on the taxpayers, and that their lesson has been so well learned that a candidate for the office of chief executive of this state must come forward with clean hands and a clear record or he will not receive their suffrage.

The hop growers of central New York held their annual convention a few days ago, and Fred Uhlman, one of the members made a speech in which he said: "The '91 crop of England was estimated at 240,000 of our bales; the crop of Germany and the continent was 350,000 bales. The crop of New York was 215,000 bales of about 225 pounds each. It was stated then that Germany would supply England, and that we had a surplus of 60,000 bales. The statement is true here, but not there, for we exported 60,000 bales. Never before have there been so few hops in hand as now. This means better prices. Hop growers are induced to underestimate their crops so that the dealer may be stimulated to tell the brewer and the latter be induced to buy early and get a better price. It is a bad practice, for the dealer sees for himself and makes his own report. The crop of New York will be about 15 per cent less than the crop of last year. If the present weather continues it will be 10 per cent less. The Pacific coast crop promised more than last year, but owing to floods in the Sacramento valley and vermin in the north, it will be less than last year's. There being few old hops prices must now be higher, because the same state exists in all countries."

PIERCE COUNTY'S DIET.

Tacoma Ledger: Soup is nutritious, and, if it be good soup, is reasonably palatable. It does not produce as much muscle as some other kinds of food, but whole communities manage to subsist on it with but little else. Pierce county knows how it is.

STATISTICS ON GROWTH.

British Medical Monthly: The year of greatest growth in boys is the 17th; in the girls, the 14th. While girls reach full height in their 15th year they acquire full weight at the age of 20. Boys are stronger than girls from birth to the 11th year; the girls become superior physically to the 17th year, when the tables are again turned and remain so. From November to April children grow very little and gain no weight; from April to July they gain in height, but lose in weight, and from July to November they increase greatly in weight, but not in height.

RETIRE, MR. MCGRAW.

OLYMPIA Tribune, March 9, '92: To J. H. McGraw and Henchmen: We are talking to you. Listen! You organized the defeat of the republicans of Seattle, yesterday. You had not sense enough to see that the people of Seattle, as well as the state, are sick of the political methods you and your friend Metcalf inaugurated in the lobby of the Olympia hotel a year ago. You carried those ring methods into the Seattle republican city convention, you alienated men who had fought and bled for the republican party, you brought a disreputable "bummer" element prominently into the party, forgetting that the voter was alone with his lead pencil when he exercised the right to reject the ring candidates you had foisted upon him. It was not strictly a democratic victory yesterday. Seattle is a staunch republican city. Hundreds of republicans voted the opposition ticket because they are sick and tired of "boss" rule in the councils of the party. Retire, Mr. McGraw, as a councillor of the republican party. You have done damage enough.

DEPOPULATION OF FRANCE.

The subject of decreasing population has again been brought conspicuously to French attention by the completed statistics of 1891. That year showed a number of deaths exceeding the number of births, and a loss of population to the extent of 38,446 individuals. Never in previous history did France place on record such a deficit as this in time of peace; and that, too, while the hated German race is growing with a comparative rapidity that bodes ill to French ambition for preponderance in Europe. The Anglo-Saxon race also increases in a formidable manner; but it distributes itself over the world, and is not a danger to France in the same sense that the German speaking race is a danger. Consequently the question of population is becoming of the first importance to France. The rivalry of parties, the war between church and state, are trifles compared with it. Excellent and well meaning gentlemen, who are not themselves troubled with large families, but who sit in armchairs in their comfortable studies surrounded by books, are coming to the conclusion that there is much vanity in trying to make the petty tradesmen, the threadbare clerk and the peasant proprietor who lives as frugally as an Arab, in order to preserve his independence, understand that they are not patriotic unless they rear large families. It is made more evident, with every new table of vital statistics, that the French people have about made up their minds not to sacrifice present ease for the sake of posterity.

A committee of the chamber of deputies, appointed to study this remarkable question, has just presented a report. Among other remedies suggested is a reform of the civil code, in order to render marriage easier. It is proposed to modify the provisions of law which require that "the property of parents shall be equally divided among the children. It is also proposed that a man's taxes shall be lightened as the number of mouths he has to provide for increases, and that obstinate bachelors shall have a longer military service. When others of their age are no longer to be called, however corpulent they may have grown the bachelors will be required to shoulder a rifle and face death on the battlefield, with no one to lament their demise.

The world has heard a good deal of the Malthusian theory, but the peril which menaces the continued prosperity of the French people is not a theory, but a condition. One of the greatest and proudest of nations is brought to confront the fact that as a nation it is on the decline. The remedies suggested are not encouraging. To compel a man to marry by fear of military service at a period of life when others are free from that obligation is hardly the way to make him a good husband or a devoted father. The French are a bright, intellectual race, and they ought to be able to devise some better inducement than a choice between matrimony and the cannon's mouth.

BISMARCK is reported to have declared in a recent address that he should devote his efforts in the future to strengthening the parliament and increasing the power of the press in the German empire. In the days of his mastery the Iron Chancellor made no concealment of his contempt both for the press and the national law-making body. It is a striking spectacle to see Europe's greatest statesman in his old age publicly acknowledging that in his desire to make Germany mighty he made the mistake of underestimating the importance of the people's representatives and the organs of public opinion. It proves that, aged though he is, the builder of German unity is not too old to learn, nor too proud to confess his errors of judgment in the past.

H. J. SHIVELY FOR GOVERNOR.

Yakima is Genuinely Honored—A Favored Son Placed at the Head of the Ticket.

Yakima is strictly in it this year—at least from a democratic standpoint. J. T. Eshelman was nominated for temporary chairman of the state convention at Olympia, and could have had the permanent chairmanship had he allowed his name to be used. Dispatches received Thursday afternoon indicated that J. Hamilton Lewis' chances were fading, owing to his refusal to accept the nomination while the platform condemned the Seattle dirt scheme. The report was current here that Dr. Black had been nominated, but at 5 o'clock Thursday Tux Herald's dispatches stated that Lewis would withdraw and that King, Spokane, Pierce and enough other counties to nominate were insistent upon H. J. Shively accepting the nomination. Mr. Shively refused, but such a force was brought to bear on him that previous to midnight he consented to allow the use of his name, and was nominated on the first ballot. Lewis, of Seattle, and Mayor Drumheller, of Spokane, were two of his leading champions. The nomination was received with great enthusiasm, and is satisfactory to all factions. Yakima has great cause for self-congratulation in the lobby of the Olympia hotel a year ago. You carried those ring methods into the Seattle republican city convention, you alienated men who had fought and bled for the republican party, you brought a disreputable "bummer" element prominently into the party, forgetting that the voter was alone with his lead pencil when he exercised the right to reject the ring candidates you had foisted upon him. It was not strictly a democratic victory yesterday. Seattle is a staunch republican city. Hundreds of republicans voted the opposition ticket because they are sick and tired of "boss" rule in the councils of the party. Retire, Mr. McGraw, as a councillor of the republican party. You have done damage enough.

The "Republican's" Course Condemned.

EDITOR HERALD: Last week's Republic contained the request that some of the calamity howlers of the people's party tell them why they don't shed crocodile tears over the fact that their "Only Jimmy," as the Republic terms him, passed through North Yakima riding in a Pullman palace car. The Republic speaks of it as one of his aristocratic proclivities. They seem to be averted at the proposterous suggestion. They say $2.50 a night for a sleeper and 75 cents for a meal in the diner. Well, I suppose that does look pretty large to the gentlemen who subsist on the meagre receipts of the Republic, as his income is such that he probably travels in a box car. We would say in few words that our coming president don't have to ride that way. When we see the argument of the Republic, we would not have our representative ride that way, even if he would. Farther on in its denunciation of the people's party the Republic tried to slander the character of President Weaver by making the statement that Mr. Weaver and Mrs. Leese passed through town together, and that Mr. Leese was not alone. It did mention the fact that Mrs. Weaver was alone, apparently wanting to say something mean without any foundation. The editor's morals seem to be so low that he cannot see how a lady can travel in company with a man and wife without bad intent. Shame on such a vituperator! He is too low to think about it. P. P.

A KICK ON THE GAIL.

The Hair of the House Remembered and Repented His Dad's Remarks.

Detroit Tribune: They sat with bowed heads about the table while the minister invoked the divine blessing.

"More light, O Lord," arose the prayer. "Send more light to guide our halting footsteps."

The small boy at the foot of the table moved uneasily.

"Amen."

It was the mother of the household who made fervent response to the preacher's petition.

"Ma, do—"

She managed to subdue the small boy until grace had been said.

"What is it, Willie?"

She spoke with excessive indulgence as mothers are wont to do in the presence of company.

"Do you mean it?"

"Mean what, my child?"

"That you want more light."

The minister beamed cordially upon the youthful face. It pleased him to note signs of a religious awakening in the boy's mind.

"Certainly, my dear," the mother declared.

"We all need more light," the man of God smilingly insisted.

The lad pondered for a moment.

"Well," he observed at last, positively "all that I can say is that you'd better look out."

"Why, Willie?"

"It'll go hard with you if you get more light, 'cause pa said if the gas bill got any bigger somebody would get scalped."

For several moments afterward conversation flagged.

YAKIMA'S PRODUCERS ARE—HOW IS IT.

Rates on Fruits and Vegetables Reduced Forty Per Cent to all Points on the Coast.

Taking effect August 20, the Northern Pacific Express company made a reduction of 40 per cent per hundred pounds on fruits and vegetables to all coast points. The new rates are as follows: To Tacoma, Seattle and intermediate points, 85 cents; to Tenino, Chehalis, Centralia, Olympia and Gate City, $1; to Montesano, Winlock, Kalama and Portland, $1.10; to Cosmopolis and South Aberdeen, $1.20.

This is pleasant news for the Yakima fruit growers, and will enable them to meet the competition of California produce, which has heretofore had a much lower rate than Yakima. Credit is due Agent Humphrey for this reduction, as he has faithfully labored for the past year to secure a rate that would be satisfactory to all concerned.

A Hair-raising Sensation.

Astorian: A profound sensation has been caused here by the appearance in the Wednesday issue of the Pacific Journal of the following:

Postmaster Hare, of Astoria, accompanied by his brother from Yakima, passed through town this morning on a visit to Long Beach.

People on the beach will do well to look out for these scoundrels and turn them over to the constable if they attempt to rob anyone.

Our liveco contemporary should explain this onslaught. Is the printer's devil responsible for it, or is it a huge typographical error? Or has a piece of one article been hitched on to another? Some explanation is due Astoria, for we are all proud of our efficient postmaster.

Assessment and Taxation.

NORTH YAKIMA, Aug. 2, 1892.

To the Committee—Gentlemen: Referring to the pending street poll tax ordinance and its relation to the enforced collection of a road poll tax from the citizens of North Yakima, I am of the opinion,

First. That under Sec. 12, Art. XI., of the state constitution, the county has no power to enforce the collection of a road poll tax from the citizens of this city; and,

Second. That the legislature, by general laws, has vested in the corporate authorities of North Yakima the power to assess and collect taxes for such purposes, viz., the repair and improvement of highways; and the proposed ordinance is not in conflict with the organic or other acts of the state, but in conformity therewith.

Respectfully,

JOHN G. BOYLE, City Attorney.

If you are going to the mountains this summer you should first go to Lombard & Horley's and see the gold medal folding camp furniture. It is inexpensive and adds words fully to the comfort and pleasure of an outing.

The Northern Pacific dining car officials have made contracts with Yakima orchardists to supply that service with table fruit during this season. One of the conditions of the contract is that they shall appear on the menu as the products of Yakima.

Peter Belles is getting rather tired of having his friends give him the ha-ha over the failure of Sleepy Tom to beat W. H. Kershaw's new equine acquisition, Richard, and is willing to have another turf contest for dollars or marbles. Now is the time for Mr. Kershaw to show his sand and the speed of his horse.

Peter Herke, after a very successful season at Sola Springs, where he won renown, not only as a sutler, a caterer and an official of the provisional government, has returned to North Yakima and will hereafter be found at his old number, where Mr. Gammon has not only retained the old friends of the firm but added many new ones.

Judge C. H. Hanford, of Seattle, and James H. Price, of Tacoma, the republican nominee for secretary of state, paid Yakima a visit on Monday. While Mr. Price was interviewing the politicians, Judge Hanford put in his time to better advantage by visiting the orchard of D. E. Lesh, over which he expressed no little pleasure but amusement.

"Is that California fruit?" asked a stranger as he pointed to a box of handsome peaches and handed some silver to the store clerk. "No, sir," was the answer; "they were grown in Yakima."

"Indeed!" he exclaimed; "I'm a Californian, and have seldom seen their equal there, but never before outside of the state. I guess there must be some ground for the good words I hear spoken of Yakima everywhere I go, and certainly the town looks as lively and flourishing as the best of them."

The democrat of Kittitas county, on Saturday of last week, nominated the following excellent ticket: A. A. Meade, the present incumbent, for sheriff; auditor, Elmer Salady; prosecuting attorney, E. E. Waaser; treasurer, John F. Travers; clerk, Alonzo L. Saum, of E. E. Waaser; assessor, Perry Clemens; school superintendent, F. O. Benton; commissioners—first district, George J. Miller; second district, Peter McCallum; third district, Adam Stevens; surveyor, Andrew Fildine; coroner, Dr. Hoxie, of Wenatchee; representatives, S. T. Packwood, of Ellensburg, and George W. Cline, of Wenatchee.

William L. LaFollette, superintendent of the World's fair agricultural exhibit for this state, is arranging for a complete model farm in miniature for the Washington exhibit. He will have a farmhouse, barns, fences and fields of growing grain. There will be fields of summer fallow, with tiny gang plows and other farm machinery will be shown in miniature as they appear when in use in the west. Mr. LaFollette will also erect a large cold storage safe with glass sides and neatly arranged shelving. The fruits of Washington will be shown in this during their season, and collectors throughout the state will renew the supply by sending fresh fruit daily by express. First, the safe will be filled with luscious strawberries, and from that on during the succeeding seasons, as the fruit ripens, the cold storage fruit display will be kept replenished with all the varieties of ripening fruit from May 1 to October 30, 1903, or during the entire time that the exposition is open.

Louis Lachmund, of Puyallup, and A. E. Pool, of Enumclaw, two well-known hop buyers, have been in the city for several days during the past week looking over the situation. They both maintain that the state will produce as many bales as last year, although Mr. Pool had the output would not be over 35,000 bales. Mr. Pool claims that the Yakima hops do not contain as much lupine as those grown on the Sound, and that the quality is not as good. Mr. Lachmund, however, combats this, and as he has been a frequent visitor here and handled Yakima hops he is probably better qualified to pass upon this question. Both maintain that according to the market 20 cents is the top price that can now be paid, and scold at the statement that a bona fide offer of 30 cents has been made. They say that growers here and on the Sound have got their ideas entirely too high.

John A. Brooks, who was the prohibition candidate for vice president in the contest of 1892, delivered an address at the opera-house Monday evening. Mr. Brooks was heralded as a silver-tongued orator, but he did not come up to the expectations of most of his audience, and some of his remarks were broader than those generally made by the orators of the leading and more "corrupt" parties. In fact, as one young man remarked, "I would have been sorry to have had my best girl there."

Dr. W. H. Hare returned from Olympia, Portland and the coast on Tuesday. The doctor's political skill was evidenced on the state ticket, and he comes back thoroughly enthused over the attractions of Clatsop, North Beach and Ilwaco. He tells a good story of an English duke who spent a couple of weeks at the former place, and when asked by a friend if he had been in sea bathing, answered he had not. "The blasted tub always being occupied, you know."

There will be a grand opening at the Hotel De Schanno, at Yakima City, Saturday, August 27, over which much pleasure is anticipated and which promises to be a great success. The program embraces a picnic on the hotel campus in the afternoon, a dinner from 5 to 7 o'clock, a dance in the evening with a supper at midnight. Everyone will find Mr. and Mrs. Ott very hospitable hosts, and anxious to do everything within reason for the entertainment of their friends.

Mrs. Ward Enigh, daughter of G. H. Mostler, who came down from Ellensburg to remain during Mr. Enigh's absence as a representative of the railroad benevolent association at St. Paul, returned home last Monday—sooner than she intended to—in consequence of the sudden illness of her babe. Mrs. Enigh observed many attractive changes in North Yakima, and protested that her love for her former home never grows cold.

J. M. Howe, of the Prosser irrigation ditch, was brought to this city Monday suffering from a broken shoulder blade and other injuries, which he sustained through falling from a trestle, on which he was employed as carpenter. He was taken to the Sisters' hospital for medical attention and nursing. Knights of Pythias learning that he was a member of that order, are showing him every brotherly attention and kindness.

Ezra Meeker, the Puyallup hop king, recently purchased 640 acres in the Sunnyside country, where no doubt he will soon begin the growing of hops on an extended scale. Every indication points to Yakima's becoming the center of this industry for the Pacific coast within the next two years. Eighteen hundred and ninety-three will see at least 3,500 acres of Yakima land in hops.

Services will be held in the Baptist church next Sunday, where all will be welcomed to the exercises. The subject for discourse at 11 a. m. is "The Protection Which is Real Security." The discussion for the evening will be on the subject, "One's Thoughts are Manifested in Life Service."

Samuel Storow brought in a handsome sample of his hops, Monday, which he says will go 900 lbs. to the acre. The man who has charge of the place, however, places the yield 100 pounds higher. This is a big showing for a crop planted this spring.

Daniel Gaby, who is well known in this and Kittitas county, has been nominated on the people's party ticket for prosecuting attorney of Olympia and also for Thurston county. Gaby was at one time the democrat nominee for the legislature from this district.

John Bartholot and family, Henry Schott and wife and Phil Fitterer and wife left Tuesday morning for the reservation soda springs.

Miss Williams, who has been visiting her brother, W. B. Williams, for some time past, left for her home at Portland, Tuesday.

Walla's Atherton and family returned from Soda Springs Sunday.

J. H. Lowell, of Zillah, was in town Wednesday.

Will Crook is spending a few days at Hot Springs.

Walter N. Granger returned Wednesday from the east.

Born, Tuesday, Aug. 23, to the wife of T. B. Fisher, a son.

Rev. Robert Warner left Monday to attend the Methodist conference at Walla Walla.

P. J. Herke left Wednesday for The Dalles, to make final proof on his claim near that city.

Harry H. Sharp, an attorney and justice of Tacoma, spent a couple of days in Yakima during the past week.

The Sons of Veterans will give a social at the residence of John O'Neal, Nob Hill, on Friday evening of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman left Monday for the mountains. They will be joined on the trip by Dr. Chapman, of Columbus.

Ben Snipes, Jr., son of the beef baron, banker and general good fellow, is in the city winning his way among the young ladies.

The families of D. E. Lesh, Albert Saylor and Chris Snow returned Wednesday from Stampede tunnel, where they have been rusticated during the bested term.

The ladies of Wide Hollow will give a social at the Bonds grove on Tuesday evening of next week, for the benefit of the Christian church. All are cordially invited.

The Yakima delegation at Olympia consisted of J. B. Reavis, H. J. Seively, J. M. Baxter, O. A. Fehder, Dr. B. M. Savage, M. G. Wells, J. T. Ebelman and Samuel Vinson.

John A. Stone has made a visit to the hop field of A. B. Weed, and is greatly "enthused" over what he saw. He says it is the finest yearling yard he ever put his eyes on, and believes that it will yield 1,500 pounds to the acre.

F. Bisson and John Holden, of South Prairie, were guests of the Hotel Yakima over Sunday. Their observations of this fruitful section instilled a desire in their breasts to take advantage of the opportunities offered here, and we will probably see more of them in the future.

The engagement of Thomas C. Griffith, of Spokane, to Miss Ada Mordant, is announced by the Spokane Review. Mr. Griffith was the nominee in 1898 for delegate to congress, and it was only last week that his former marriage was vacated by divorce, on petition of his wife.

Raid a well known hop factor to a Herald reporter: "Buyers may try to run down Yakima hops, but the fact is they compare favorably with those grown in any part of the world, and were they cured and packed with the same care and degree of skill they would rank with the finest Bohemians."

There is danger of a tragedy in these parts. A carpenter named Woodruff has been altogether too tallant to the wife of a Mr. McIntyre and the latter has given the wood worker until the close of this day to get out of the country under pain of facing the shot gun. Woodruff is greatly perturbed in mind and hardly knows which way to turn to escape the wrath of the wronged husband.

C. H. Schmidt, representing the large dairy farm of G. G. Wickson & Co., of San Francisco and Portland, is here with a view to establishing an immense creamery at North Yakima. It will require the milk of 1,000 cows to successfully operate the plant, and Mr. Schmidt is now canvassing among the farmers to secure the required amount of milk. This enterprise should be given earnest support, as it is the purpose of the company to put in machinery at a cost of 100,000 for the manufacture of butter and cheese. No bonus is asked; all they want is material to work with, which the farmers should be able to furnish.

There is little doubt but that offers of 25 cents have been made for Yakima hops, although dealers deny it. The summary of the situation is this: The German hop crop is about the same as last year, but the stock of olds has been exhausted. The English hop is below the average both in the point of quality and quantity. New York will not give over a two-thirds crop, but the quality will be excellent, the ravages of vermin being very light this year. The California's crop will drop off a quarter, and reports from the Sound districts show a decreased crop and poorer quality. The Yakima hops are of good quality, but the yield to the acre will fall off a trifle, which will be overcome and the balance left largely in our favor by an increased acreage and wonderful yields of young yards.

The Northern Pacific and the city officials are to-day having a monkey and parrot time over the sewerage question. Superintendent Frowell some days ago submitted a proposition granting the right-of-way for the sewer under the railroad track, on condition that the same should be taken up on a six months' notification from the railroad company, or at the expiration of ten years. Of course the city officials refused to sign this which could mean nothing but a sword suspended over the corporation head, and on the advice of City Attorney Boyle started forward with the work. The city could have condemned the right-of-way, but the time necessary for legal proceedings would have delayed the work, so under the attorney's advice work was ordered pushed forward. This morning Division Superintendent Frowell and Attorney Cary came down and with the assistance of railroad employes assaulted the laborers by turning the steam from the engine on to them and attempting to fill up the trench. Three of the railroad men were arrested and jailed, but were afterwards allowed their freedom, and this afternoon Mayor Weed and Superintendent Frowell are having a conference.

School Notes.

The next term of the city schools will open in all departments except the high school, Tuesday, September 6.

The high school will begin its sessions on Wednesday, September 7. Each pupil who was promoted to the high school last year will come provided with an algebra, physical geography, civil government and composition, that studies may begin at once.

The superintendent will be in the high school room at the Columbia building on Wednesday and Thursday, August 31 and September 1, to examine all who may wish to enter this department, and to assign any others to their proper grade and room.

The boundaries of the two schools have not been changed since last year, and all pupils of the high school and eighth grades will attend the Columbia school. In all grades below the eighth, pupils on the west side of the railroad track, together with those of the third and fourth grades east of C street, will be received at the Columbia school; all others will be received at the Central school.

All children who will be six years of age by the last of December will be received in the primary rooms. It is very desirable that all primary pupils enter at the beginning of the term, as only one new class will be formed during the fall term.

It will be necessary for all pupils who were promoted to enter the respective grades to which they were advanced at the opening of the school, or very soon thereafter; otherwise they will only be admitted at the discretion of the superintendent.

Non-resident pupils will present the receipt of the clerk for three months' tuition in advance, or come prepared to pay the same to the superintendent before they can be admitted to classes.

A meeting of the teachers will be held at the Columbia school at 2 p. m., Monday, September 5.

The Pythian anniversary occurs on the 30th of the month, and the Yakima lodge has determined upon a grand ball on that date. This city has been favored by being named as the meeting place of the grand lodge in May next, and as a large concourse of people will be here—probably double the number of our present population—great effort must be made for their accommodation and entertainment, and funds will be required for this purpose. Instead of applying directly to the individual Pythians have proposed this ball, hoping that the pleasures of the evening will more than compensate for the outlay, and that at the same time a good cause will be advanced. Let every public-spirited citizen and every one desiring an evening of enjoyment endeavor to be present.

The horse attached to the Electric Light & Water Co.'s wagon ran away Thursday morning but was not speedy enough to do much damage.

Died, on Wednesday, Aug. 24, Benjamin J. Leavitt, aged 66 years. The funeral was conducted by Meade Post, G. A. R., on Thursday.

Billiardists, give attention; the billiard table at Sharrow & McDaniel's has been completely overhauled and is now as good as when it came from the factory, for it not only has been newly covered but a splendid set of genuine ivory balls have been purchased. A game of billiards and a glass of Fabot Milwaukee beer is a pleasant way to spend an evening and these are inducements which Messrs Sharrow & McDaniel have to offer. 11-tf

KNIGHTS, ATTENTION!

GOOD LUCK.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is often called the Good-Luck Baking Powder.

Owing to the fact that good luck always attends the use of Dr. Price's, it is not essential to use it the moment it is mixed nor is it required to have the oven always just so, as in the case with ammonia or alum powders. It is not luck after all, but the exact accuracy and care exercised in the preparation and combination of all the ingredients of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. Competent chemists are employed to test the strength and purity of each ingredient. Nothing is trusted to chance. Hence; it is always uniform in its work.

House wives never fail to have "good luck" in making most delicious bread, biscuit, pastry and cakes that remain moist and sweet. Only Baking Powder that contains the white of eggs.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

THE Northern Pacific, Yakima & Kittitas Irrigation Company in its great work of reclaiming 200,000 acres of arid land by building immense canals and irrigating the same has placed Yakima County in the front rank as the great Hop, Fruit, Vegetable and Hay producing section of Washington. In the center of this magnificent agricultural and horticultural country the Northern Pacific, Yakima & Kittitas Irrigation Company has plated and laid out the TOWN OF ZILLAH and on Monday, June 27th, 1892, the town will be placed on the market. Zillah is 25 miles south of North Yakima on the river of that name and is the official terminus of the Motor Railroad to be built to North Yakima. Zillah is the headquarters of the company and handsome quarters are being erected to be occupied by the officials as soon as completed. Situated as this town is there are legitimate reasons why it should be prosperous, progressive and healthy. Investigate Zillah.

HOW WORDS CHANGE.

Instances of the Curious Derivation and Transformation of Many Familiar Expressions.

Chambers' Journal: Long ago, when a certain article made of sturgeon's bladder came into use in England, it was known by its Dutch name "huitzenblas," that is, "sturgeon-bladder." The term was a meaningless one to English ears, and by some means or other was transformed into the word which we all know, "leagues." The change was precisely like that which in some quarters has turned asparagus into "parrow grass." In the same manner the old word "berry," which meant simply a watch tower, was transformed into "belly." It became the custom to hang bells in such towers, and by common consent a change of spelling followed.

What is the derivation of the word "steelyard"? Most readers would reply without hesitation that it must have been invented as the name of a certain familiar instrument for weighing, an instrument made of steel, and about three feet in length.

In point of fact, however, the word meant in the beginning nothing but the yard, or court in London, where the continental traders sold their steel. In this yard, of course, there was some kind of balance for weighing the metal—a steel yard balance.

Language is full of such cases. "Blindfold" has nothing to do with the act of folding something over the eyes, but is "blindedfold" or struck blind. "Buttery" has no connection with butter, but is, or was, a "buttery," a place for bottles.

A "blunderbuss" was not an awkward or inefficient weapon, but on the contrary was so terrible as to be called a "blunderbuss," that is to say a "thunderbox" or "thunder barrel." The advance in the art of war is happily—or unhappily—typified by the fact that a weapon once so terrible has become an object of ridicule. Will the world ever find our present ironclads and mortars nothing but things to laugh at?

THE FIRST STEAMBOAT.

It Was Designed by John Fitch and Launched Several Years Before Fulton's Boat.

Providence Journal: John Fitch was in the field several years before the building of Fulton's boat, which convinced capitalists that there was no longer any doubt as to the efficiency of the marine engine. Fitch was unfortunate in that he had very little assistance from men of wealth. That he had good ideas was proved by the performance of his boat on the Delaware in 1787. With a twelve inch cylinder the speed was slow, but the builder was satisfied that all that was needed was to use a larger engine. Although the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware, to which Fitch had applied for pecuniary aid, refused to advance money, they granted him the exclusive right to run steamboats, and after this concession a boat with an 18-inch cylinder was launched in 1789. Its machinery was not perfect, but when a number of changes had been made a speed of seven and one-half miles an hour was recorded, and during the season this boat carried passengers about 2,000 miles.
In 1796 he built a boat that was propelled by a submerged wheel at the stern, which, while different from the four-bladed wheel of the modern steamer, acted on the same principle—being in the form of a wormwheel or screw. This was his last effort in eastern waters. The propeller, which was driven by a 12-gallon pot for a boiler, was propelled with favor. Fitch's attempts at steamboating finally failed through want of capital.

Mad Doble Drives the Little Mare a Mile in 2:07 1-4 at Chicago.

Mad S is no longer queen of the trotting turf. The proud position which she held so long was wrested from her, and Nancy Hanks reigns supreme. At Washington park, Chicago, August 17, in the presence of 10,000 spectators, Mad Doble drove the beautiful mare to beat her record of 2:19. She not only beat her own record, but lowered the world's trotting record from 2:08 3/4, Mad S's time, to 2:07 1/4.
The mare weighed 870 pounds at the time, and pulled Doble, who weighed 160 pounds, and a sulky of 63 1/2 pounds.

The Canny Scot.

A North county Scotch boy had dislocated his leg and was taken by his mother to a "bone setter," in whom she placed great faith. The leg was duly examined, and it was found necessary to haul it very severely in order, as the bone setter said, "to get the bone in." The lad was liberal with his screams while this was going on, but eventually the bone was "got in," and the patient was told that he would be all right in a few days. "Didn't Davie do the thing well?" said the joyous mother. "Aye, he did, nither," answered the lad, "but I wassa sic a fule as to gie him ma sair leg."
