

NORTH YAKIMA THE HUB.

The Spangle Record takes the Seattle Post-Intelligencer to task for pulling Pasco for the state capital and for stating that it is nearer the whole of eastern Washington than North Yakima.

LACK OF DISCRETION.

Of late there has been some trouble between the police and a number of young men from the surrounding country. While the Herald is strongly in favor of upholding the law on all occasions...

WALLA WALLA DISPATCH.

The delegates are adorned with badges of all sorts. The most prominent are "Whatcom County Good for a Majority," "Pierce County Delegation," "Yakima Will Be the Next Capital of the State," "Ferry for Governor," "Harrison Legion," and many others.

WALLA WALLA DISPATCH.

The national G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee attracted there 100,000 strangers. The report of the adjutant general showed forty-two permanent departments with a good standing membership of 482,549, being a net gain of two departments, 331 posts and 21,431 comrades during the past year.

AN ELLENBURGH CORRESPONDENT.

The capital contest has narrowed down to Ellensburg and Olympia, and then the Ellensburg Register reproduces it with the introduction that a Portland paper says so and so.

FROM C. WALLACE.

The democratic nabob of Pierce county and the scalp of ex-Governor Enos Semple dangles conspicuously at his belt. At the primaries Semple and his trusted lieutenant, Gwin H. K., fought desperately, but the young and vigorous Missionary was too much for them and routed them foot and horse.

WATERVILLE Immigrant: The towns burned up this summer are all said to be displaying marked energy in rebuilding. If some of this energy had been spent in providing plenty of water at convenient points, all this devastation could have been saved for a war with England or for putting the railroad companies under the jurisdiction of law...

WALLA WALLA SPEAKS: Cities aspiring to be the state capital are represented with much earnestness. Most prominent are Olympia, Ellensburg and North Yakima. The latter city has established handsome headquarters and is entertaining with great hospitality...

THE ELLENBURGH REGISTER: The Register is commenting on the nomination of John Clemon for the legislature and says that "he has made a splendid record as chairman of the board of county commissioners."

THE REPUBLICIAN: The Republican in commenting on the nomination of John Clemon for the legislature says that "he has made a splendid record as chairman of the board of county commissioners."

COL. HAINES: Col. Haines declared at Walla Walla that if Ferry was nominated for governor there would be a big bolt among King county republicans, and the democrats would carry the county by 2000 majority.

THE WATERVILLE REGISTER: There is a wonderful new contrivance being introduced, known as the Family Ice Machine. Water or other liquid is poured into a small reservoir, and by simply turning a crank the fluid passes from the machine frozen like chipped ice.

IN THE CENTER OF NORTH YAKIMA.

In selecting a capital more consideration should be given the business center of the state, than the geographic center. In these days of railroads and telegraphs, the latter counts for but little.

AGREE ON NORTH YAKIMA.

EDITOR HERALD: The writer, in common with many people of King county, is pleased with the frank, fair manner the HERALD deals with the capital question.

Those who have had opportunity to observe, agree that North Yakima holds the key to the mountain passes, and that all important routes must pay tribute to your enterprising city.

The national G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee attracted there 100,000 strangers. The report of the adjutant general showed forty-two permanent departments with a good standing membership of 482,549, being a net gain of two departments, 331 posts and 21,431 comrades during the past year.

WHITE HORSE.

White Horse, chief of the Crow Indians, was recently murdered and his body thrown into the Yellowstone river. While Horse was the chief who entered a church at Buffalo, several years ago during communion service and partaking of the holy bread and wine in such quantities that the minister found himself quite short when he administered to the wants of the remainder of his congregation.

A United States surveying party numbering thirteen, under charge of U. S. engineer J. C. Ensign, is making a survey of the upper Columbia at Grand Rapids, from which point they will work to Foster creek.

At Chicago, on the 28th of August, the horse G. W. Cook, with 110 pounds on her seven-eighths of a mile in 1:26 1/2, thus beating the record for that distance by three-fourths of a second.

THE MAJORITY FAVOR NORTH YAKIMA.

Insider: Dayton not being an aspirant, the people of this vicinity have not been very active in deciding the capital seat question. We believe, however, that the majority favor North Yakima as against other active aspirants.

THE VOTE IN 1878.

Estimates are already being made on the vote of the constitution, as compared with the vote on the constitution framed at Walla Walla in 1878. That was adopted two to one. Woman suffrage was defeated by about three to one, and a good sized majority was recorded against local option as the subjoined table will show. There were only 14 counties. Now there are 34:

Table with columns: COUNTY, MAJORITY FOR LOCAL OPTION, MAJORITY FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE, MAJORITY FOR CONSTITUTION. Lists 34 counties including Chubbuck, Clarke, Columbia, etc.

The total vote in 1878 was 96,533, and in October the vote is expected to be in excess of 65,000. Instead of local option the vote will be on prohibition this time, the three separate strikes being woman suffrage, prohibition and the location of the capital.

Don't Fail to See: Miss Jessie Bailey, as "Nan," Miss Lou Leaming, as "Katharina Stein," Miss Annie Sheffield, as "Mrs. Dusenberry," Mrs. Blanche Merwin, as "Mrs. McGinnis," All in "Cupid's Capers," at Mason's Opera house, Sept. 6th.

A MAGNIFICENT DOWRY.

The Wealth to Which the Young State of Washington Will Fall Heir.

Goldendale Sentinel: The liberality with which congress has acted toward the proposed new states in the matter of grants of land to aid in putting their state governments in running order and maintaining them afterwards, will no doubt render the expense to the states comparatively light.

Then again we have 32,000 acres given us for the purpose of erecting public buildings at the capital of the state. And again 5 per cent of the proceeds of the sale of the government land by the U. S. land department after the state is formally admitted, is to be paid into the state treasury for the benefit of the common schools.

For scientific school, 100,000 acres. For state normal school, 100,000 acres. For public buildings at the state capital in addition to former grant, 1,000 acres. For state, charitable, educational, penal and reform institutions, 2,000 acres.

This estimate allows for 453,120 acres to be taken up by Indian reservations, etc., and land covered by water and is all based upon the estimate that the state contains 99,000 square miles.

It has generally been expected that under a state government our taxes would be greatly increased, but by the time the state is able to secure some income from this vast area of land, it would seem that a heavy load would be taken off our shoulders. No more appropriations for state universities, for penitentiaries, for insane asylums, and little, if any, for school purposes.

The public will please bear in mind that coal and wood is cash on delivery. John Reed, Agent.

John Reed will have his headquarters at M. H. Ellis', First street, near opera house.

HOW ABOUT YAKIMA?

Listen to the Story as it is Told by Careful Observers from Abroad.

(San Francisco Examiner.) The new State Capital will probably be at North Yakima.

(Spokane Falls Review.) The best and most extensive agricultural region in the Yakima Land District, and in the Territory, lies about the City of North Yakima and is known as the Yakima Valley.

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer.) To-day, where four years ago were uncultivated prairies, the home of great herds of unrestrained wild cattle and various bands of cayuse ponies who knew no halter, now stands the City of North Yakima, the Queen of Eastern Washington.

(Northwest Magazine.) The knot of valleys which meet at the new town of North Yakima seems a bit of Southern California here in the north. Public opinion in all parts of Washington has settled upon this place as the Capital of the new State.

(Portland Oregonian.) There is no just reason why this city and county, when they shall have reached their maximum in population, should not have in the city from 15,000 to 25,000, and the county 40,000 to 50,000. Neither is there any good reason why they should not be eventually among the very wealthiest towns and counties in Washington Territory.

(Tacoma Ledger.) The valley in which the city of North Yakima is situated in the center of a series of very fertile valleys which open into it and have grown famous for their products. With a splendid agricultural country surrounding it and the peculiar advantages of its location for railroad approaches North Yakima cannot but figure in the future brilliantly.

(Spokane Falls Review.) Although less than forty miles apart the difference in climate between Yakima in Yakima county and Ellensburg in Kittitas county is almost as great as that between a northern and southern latitude. The valley surrounding Ellensburg is excellent for producing grain, while in the valleys near Yakima the farmers are devoting more attention to fruits, vegetables, hops, tobacco and similar crops, which can only be grown in a warm climate.

Interview with Judge J. R. Lewis on return from attending the Mechanics Fair in California, Published in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

It was a great exhibition of the wealth of California, but I found no better specimens of vegetables and many varieties of fruit than Washington Territory produces. I can go over into the Yakima country and in two days collect finer products in three lines than I saw in California. The Yakima peaches are of better quality and flavor than any raised in California, the apples are superior and the prunes are away ahead of anything I ever saw. Then, too, they raise finer melons, squashes and all kinds of vegetables in the Yakima country than any produced in California.

Have listed with them desirable land of all kinds including farms, garden tracts, orchard lands, residence and business lots. While the opportunity is presented while the lamp still holds out to burn—the wise will take advantage of the low prices which still prevail and invest in Yakima property.

"Seeing that the action of the Biochemic Remedies are so certain to cure, surely every medical man who desires the good of his patients will select from these for the scientific and rapid cure of the sick; and all patients will be anxious to be treated and restored to health in the new way, with safe and truly rational remedies."

Prof. Huxley, before the International Medical College at London in 1883.

"Biochemic Remedies, which act in perfect harmony with Nature's laws, have achieved such notable cures that thousands of thinking minds have already accepted this method by which health is so certain to be restored, even in almost hopeless cases, if Providence be pleased to grant ever so small an amount of vitality or powers to further the continuance of life."

Dr. Walker, Dundee, Scotland.

"The question whether this or that disease is or is not dependent on the existence of foreign germs or bacilli, is of no importance in Biochemic treatment. If the remedies are applied correctly the great aim of medical science—that of curing disease—will be gained in the only true scientific way."

W. H. Schussler, M. D., Oldenberg, Germany.

"I have made Biochemic a careful study, and like it better and better through the light of actual practice."

Wm. Chapman, M. D., Columbus, W. T.

"Long standing chronic diseases, which have been brought on by excessive dosing with drugs that form no part of the human organism, such as quinine, salicin, opium, alcohol, etc., can be cured by small doses of the Inorganic Cell Salts."

Prof. Leibig.

"I use the Biochemic Remedies exclusively in my practice, with the most wonderful results. A careful study has convinced me that no so-called medicine can be a remedy that is not a constituent part of the human organism. These remedies are only found in the twelve Inorganic Cell Salts."

FERRY AND WILSON

Are the Names That Will Head the Republican State Ticket.

The first republican state convention was called to order Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Emery C. Ferguson of Snohomish, was made temporary chairman, and Ivan Chase, of Colfax, temporary secretary. T. C. Stiles, of Tacoma, was elected permanent chairman.

When it came to the nominations that erratic orator Patrick Henry Winston, of Spokane Falls, placed in nomination John L. Wilson, of Spokane Falls for member of congress. R. O. Dunbar, of Goldendale, was nominated by P. W. Biers, of Clarke county, and Allen Weir by J. E. Clarke, of Port Townsend.

There was little contest over the office of governor. The nomination of Wilson practically decided it in favor of ex-Governor E. P. Ferry, of Seattle, who was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 136 votes to 133 for Kinnear and 12 for Howlett.

DOUBLE WEDDING.—A very enjoyable evening was that of Saturday, August 31, for those who were present at the double wedding which occurred at the residence of Mrs. E. A. Stamata. When Jasper Mikleson and Mrs. Stamata stood up to be united in marriage it was no surprise to the friends present, but when the officiating clergyman, Rev. Mr. Hoed, arose and proceeded to read the service that united not only the mother but her daughter, Miss L. Blanche Stamata, the surprise was complete.

ALL WAS NOT HARMONY.—The republican county convention which was held at the court house on Thursday afternoon of last week, resulted in the choice of John Clemons for representative, R. Strobach for county clerk and L. S. Howlett, Edward Whitson, W. L. Stabler, D. E. Leab, Elijah Denton and J. M. Brown for delegates to the state convention at Walla Walla.

THE CARWELL-LLOYD BUILDINGS.—Three hundred thousand bricks were fired in the yard of Kreamer, Renfro & Co., on Saturday last. They are for the Cadwell-Lloyd buildings, work on which is to be commenced by Tuesday next. Every preparation has been made, including having the lumber on the grounds and as soon as the bricks have had time to cool the work will be pushed rapidly through to completion.

—The members of the Episcopal Guild will entertain the public at the opera house some evening towards the latter part of the month with "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works." Rehearsals are now being held.

—Master Ted Gordon, who is learning the "art preservative" in the Republic office had the index finger of his right hand caught in the job press last Friday and badly smashed. Fortunately no bones were broken.

—On a telegraphic order from General Manser Kimberly of the Northern Pacific, two boxes of choice Yakima fruits were sent to St. Paul to-day, for Mr. Kimberly's special car. The fame of the Yakima fruits is daily spreading.

—J. C. Berry is now canvassing for advertising cards for a handsome double-front desk, which is being built in Portland, for the Hotel Yakima office. The value of business announcements is such a conspicuous place will be readily recognized.

—The commissioner of the general land office and the secretary of the interior on appeal of Richard Strobach have affirmed the ruling of the local land officers that desert lands within the limits of the railroad grant must be paid for at the rate of $2.50 per acre.

—Yakima is shipping more local products, outside of grain and lumber, than any town on the line of the Northern Pacific. Five car loads of miscellaneous products were shipped from here to-day to various points, and the average shipments are from four to six car loads.

—The business of the Western Union in this city has increased so rapidly that arrangements are being made to establish an up-town office for the accommodation of the general public. The business for the month of August, 1889, was more than double that of the corresponding month in 1888.

—The tax levy of Kittitas county for all purposes is 19 7/10 mills, while for Yakima county it is but 14 7/10. The tax levy of Yakima county is lower than that of any county along the line of the Northern Pacific from St. Paul to Tacoma and along the coast from the British line to San Francisco.

—The hop market appears a little "offish" at present. The reports from New York are to the effect that hops there in nearly all the yards are of good quality and color, and the yield is heavier than anticipated. It is said that New York dealers have sold '89s short for October delivery at 12 cents.

—W. W. Journal: The two most prominent candidates for the capital are no doubt North Yakima and Ellensburg. Of course there are many others, some running and keeping their names before the public just for the fun of the thing; but either of the above cities will undoubtedly take the cake.

—Capt. Thea. Priestley was in from the reservation Wednesday, and said that the report that he had recommended the removal of the white men who occupied the reservation by virtue of Indian wives, was an error. His report, however, advised the naming of a date after which the marriage of an Indian woman would not entitle the white men to the privileges of the reservation.

A VAST IRRIGATION SCHEME.

All the Vacant Lands of the Great Yakima Country to be Watered.

Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars to be Expended and Millions of Acres of Land to be Opened to Settlement and Cultivation.

J. D. McIntyre, the chief engineer of the most extensive system of irrigation canals and storage reservoirs ever undertaken in the northwest, arrived in the city on Monday last and at once placed two full corps of engineers in the field to run lines. The company which will prosecute this work was organized in August and consists of a number of members of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railroad, Chas. A. Gregory, Wm. J. Bryson and G. A. Young, of Chicago and Walter N. Granger, J. D. McIntyre and Albert Kleinschmidt, of Helena. They have entered into a contract and purchased over a million acres of N. P. R. land in Washington and Montana and have placed several parties of engineers in the field to lay out the lines of the canals ready for construction. The plans were originated by Chief Engineer J. D. McIntyre, irrigation engineer of Montana who is also chief engineer of the present company.

The most active field of operation at present will be Yakima in Washington territory and between the West Gallatin and Madison rivers in Montana. In each of these localities the company has bought all the railroad land for a radius of many miles, and will build at once a hundred miles of canals in each place. It is understood that the water and land both will be thrown open to purchase by settlers at low prices as soon as the canals are built. In Yakima country it is proposed to irrigate all of the lands from the Yakima river at North Yakima to the Columbia, and Engineer McIntyre says that employment will be given to hundreds of men and teams. In addition to the work on the east and north sides of the Yakima, it is proposed to build a canal from the headwaters of the Natchees to cover the vast stretch of bench lands to the west of North Yakima. The proprietors of this great enterprise thoroughly understand the situation and needs of this country, and Engineer McIntyre and assistants have been here three times within the past year and during the latter part of July a number of the directors and heaviest stockholders were here and personally viewed the field.

The lines of canals will be staked out as speedily as possible, and the work of construction will be commenced this fall and prosecuted with vigor until the winter interferences.

As an indication of the magnitude of the scheme, it is only necessary to say that the company has purchased all of the railroad company's lands between North Yakima and the Columbia river. The benefits which will accrue to North Yakima and the Yakima country are estimated to be greater than would be gained by the building of a railroad, as several hundred thousand acres of land will be opened for cultivation and be directly tributary. During the progress of construction in this country North Yakima will be made the headquarters and supply point. The officers of the N. P. railroad company have for a long time been endeavoring to secure a company with capital sufficient to undertake this huge enterprise, as on its completion they expect to realize a large increase of traffic and the immediate settlement of a large domain which without these canals, would be impossible of settlement owing to their arid character. It is estimated that one of the results of these canals will be more than double the population of Yakima county within the next year and to give to North Yakima the undisputed title of the metropolis of central Washington.

North Yakima Has the Inside Track.

Spokane Falls Review: The Walla Walla Herald, seeing that North Yakima has the inside track and a good lead over all competitors for the state capital, urges Pasco and other little towns to draw off and avoid dividing the vote. On this subject it very pertinently says: "If every little town and hamlet in the territory that is enjoying a little prosperity enters into the contest, the consequences will be that the capital question will be deferred for some time to come. Could the question be settled this fall the expense of erecting temporary buildings at Olympia would be saved."

THE YAKIMA HERALD.

SUPPLEMENT.

THE CONSTITUTION.

A Synopsis of the Great Document Which the Delegates Framed.

Not Perfect One Constitution Will Be Up to the Average of American Constitutions.

The constitutional convention adjourned August 23. As a whole it is generally held that the document to be submitted and voted upon by the people on the first Tuesday of October will contain as many progressive features as any similar instrument ever formulated in the United States. The Herald has only room for a synopsis of the important features and those in which the public are most interested. The delegates feared that if the woman suffrage clause was inserted in the body of the document it would endanger its acceptance by the people, which decided them in favor of submitting a separate article outside of the regular document, to be voted upon by the qualified male electors at the time of the vote upon the constitution. The prohibition article shared the same fate.

The article in regard to which there was the greatest difference of opinion was that regulating the title lands, and this subject was disposed of at the last moment in the 18th article, in which the state asserts its ownership to the beds and shores of all navigable waters in the state up to and including the line of ordinary high tide, in waters where the tide ebbs and flows, providing that this assertion shall not deprive any person from asserting his claim to vested rights in the state courts. The state disclaims all title to tide, swamp and overflowed lands patented by the United States, unless such title may be impeached by fraud.

In regard to school and granted lands, article 87 prohibits the sale of any such lands for less than their full market value or below the minimum price fixed in the enabling act; school lands shall only be sold at auction to the highest bidder, after appraisal by a board of appraisers, and no sale shall be valid unless the full appraised value be bid for said land, the value of improvements thereon being excluded from the appraisal. Previous sales of school and university lands made in good faith by county commissioners may be confirmed by the legislature. [This last clause was inserted to cover the giveaway by King county of the university lands years ago.] Not more than one-fourth of the state school lands shall be sold prior to January 1, 1905, and not more than one-half prior to January 1, 1910, but the state is not prohibited from selling the timber or stone from such lands.

The legislature may provide for a jury of any number less than twelve in courts not of record, and for a verdict by nine or more jurors in civil cases in any court of record, or for the waiving of a jury in civil cases on the consent of the parties interested. No grand jury shall be drawn or summoned in any county, except the superior judge thereof shall so order. The first legislature shall be comprised of seventy members of the house of representatives and thirty-five senators, and it is provided that the house shall be composed of not less than sixty-three or more than ninety-nine members, and the senators shall number not more than one-half nor less than one-third of the members of the house. The first election of members of the house of representatives shall be held on Tuesday, the 1st day of October, 1889, for the term of one year, the next election to be held on the 4th of November, 1890, and thereafter members of the house shall be elected biennially, and their term of office shall be two years. The thirty-five senators are to be elected from twenty-four senatorial districts.

These senators are to be elected for a term of four years after the first election, one-half their number returning every four years. The first legislature shall meet on Wednesday, November 6, 1889, and subsequent legislatures on the first Monday in January of every second year. After the first legislature the sessions shall be limited to sixty days. Salaries of legislators shall be $5 a day, and 10 cents a mile for mileage. The state officers shall be a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor, attorney-general, superintendent of public instruction, and commissioner of public lands, who shall hold their offices for the term of four years, the governor to receive an annual salary of $4000 to $6000; lieutenant governor, $3000 to $4000; secretary of state, $2500 to $3500; treasurer, $2000 to $4000; auditor, $2000 to $4000; attorney-general, $3000 to $4000; superintendent of public instruction, $2500 to $4000; and commissioner of public lands such compensation as the legislature may direct.

The supreme court shall consist of five elective judges, elected by the state at large for the term of six years each, except at the first election in 1890, the terms of these judges shall be so classified by lot that two of them shall hold their office for the term of three years, two for the term of five years, and one for the term of seven years. According to this schedule the second election of judges would be held in November, 1892, when two will be elected. The salary of the supreme judges shall be $4000 each per year. The jurisdiction of the supreme court, aside from habeas corpus, quo warranto and mandamus as to all state offices, is to be appellate.

Each county is to have a superior court, the judges to be elected for a term of four years and receive a yearly salary of $3000. The superior court will be the trial court, similar to the present district court, and with the same general jurisdiction in current matters and in civil cases in all controversies where the value of property amounts to $100 or over. This court is in addition vested with the determination of all probate matters, divorce cases, and powers of naturalization, with all other proceedings not otherwise provided for. It is to have appellate jurisdiction in cases arising in justices and other inferior courts. They shall always be open except on non-judicial days and their process will extend to any part of the state. The judges of a superior court in any county may hold court in any other county at the request of the judge of said county, and upon the request of the governor it shall be his duty to do so. In all twelve superior judges are to be chosen at the next October election by the various counties. The first superior judges elected shall hold their offices for terms of three years respectively.

A census shall be taken in the year 1895 and every ten years thereafter. There shall be established in the office of secretary of state, a bureau of statistics, agriculture and immigration. The governor, in addition to the usual veto power, may veto any section of any bill to which he may object, giving his reasons therefor. A vote of two-thirds of the members present in both houses shall be necessary to pass a bill over a veto. Elective justices of the peace are to be provided for, and in cities and incorporated towns of more than 5000 inhabitants. Justices of the peace shall receive such salary as may be provided by law, but no fees. In fact, the fee system is entirely prohibited for all state and county officers, except in the cases of unsalaried justices of the peace and county commissioners.

All the present incumbents of county, district and precinct offices are continued in office until the second Monday in January, 1891, and the first election of such officers shall be held on the 4th day of November, 1890, and thereafter biennially.

The legislature may provide that there shall be no denial of the elective franchise at any school election on account of sex.

The legislature shall enact an election registration law to be observed by all cities or towns having a population of over 500 inhabitants, and it may or may not require registration in towns or precincts of a smaller population.

All property in the state not exempted under the United States or under this constitution shall be taxed according to its value, to be ascertained as provided by law.

No county, city, town or other municipal corporation or the state shall give any money, or property, or loan its money or credit, to or in aid of any individual, association, company or corporation, or become directly or indirectly the owner of stock in or bonds of any association, company or corporation.

The state indebtedness shall at no time exceed the sum of $400,000, except war debts. Any other debt authorized by law for some single work or object shall be submitted to the popular vote at a general election and shall receive a majority of all the votes cast for or against it before it shall be legalized.

The public school system shall include common schools, and such high schools, normal schools and technical schools as may hereafter be established. The principal of the common school fund shall remain permanent and irrevocable, and the sources of this fund are fully defined. All schools maintained or supported wholly or in part by the public funds shall be forever free from sectarian control or influence.

All able-bodied male citizens between 15 and 40 years of age, except legal exemptions are liable to military duty, the legislature being authorized to make laws regulating the militia system. No new county shall be established which shall reduce any county to a population less than 4,000, nor shall a new county be formed with a less population than 2,000. There shall be no territory stricken from any county unless a majority of the voters living in such territory shall petition therefor.

Special legislative acts creating municipal and other corporations are prohibited, but any city containing a population of 20,000 or more may frame a charter for its own government, the formula for which shall be prescribed by the legislature.

Railroads and other transportation companies are declared to be under legislative control, and rights of connection between all roads are to be enforced. All roads are required to receive and transport each others' passengers and cars without delay or discrimination, and discrimination in passenger fares and freight charges is prohibited as is the consolidation of competing lines. All rolling stock and other movable railroad property is subject to taxation. The legislature shall establish reasonable maximum rates of passenger fares and freight charges and may establish a railroad and transportation commission.

Telegraph and telephone lines may be established and maintained, and all of such lines shall transmit each others' messages without delay or discrimination. Telegraph and telephone lines may use railroad rights of way, the rights of eminent domain being extended to such lines under legislative regulation.

Educational reformatory and penal institutions, those for the benefit of the blind, deaf, dumb, or otherwise defective youth, for the insane or idiotic, and such other institutions as the public good may require, shall be fostered and supported by the state.

The question of the permanent location of the seat of government shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the territory at the general election in October of this year. If a majority of all the votes cast shall not be given for any location, the question shall be re-submitted at the next general election, the vote of which shall be confined to a choice between the three places for which the highest number of votes were cast at the first election. If no place shall receive a majority at the second election it shall be again submitted, the choice being between the two highest candidates. Pending the location the capital shall remain at Olympia.

The legislature shall protect by law from forced sale a portion of the homestead and other property of all heads of families.

The form of ballot to be used in voting for or against the separate articles, or for the permanent location of the state capital shall be:

First—For the constitution; against the constitution.

Second—For woman suffrage article; against woman suffrage article.

Third—For prohibition article; against prohibition article.

Fourth—For the permanent location of the seat of government.

The great seal of the state is to be simply the face of General George Washington, with the words, "The Seal of the State of Washington—1889."

A STARTLING PROBLEM.

Our Population a Century Hence—What is to Be Done About It?

Washington Star: Mr. S. L. Loomis predicted the result of the census of 1890 within 18.00 of the actual figures. He estimates that the population of the country in 1900 will reach 67,500,000, an increase during the past decade of more than 30 per cent. To allow a reasonable margin for possible error we may place the total at 67,000,000, and the decennial increase at 33 per cent. Should this ratio of increase continue, our population at the end of each decade during the next 100 years will be represented by the following figures, the progressive immensity of which will surprise most people and perhaps cause them to wonder:

Year	Population
1900	67,000,000
1910	89,000,000
1920	118,000,000
1930	157,000,000
1940	211,000,000
1950	283,000,000
1960	378,000,000
1970	508,000,000
1980	688,000,000

People of a speculative turn of mind may well ask themselves what it is to be done with so enormous a population, how are they to be supported, and many other questions that, though purely speculative now, may assume a vital importance before the close of the next century. The total area of the United States, including Alaska, is 3,650,242 square miles, or 2,291,344,881 acres. This area necessarily includes the lakes, rivers and uninhabitable mountains and deserts, yet we find that there will be an average of more than two and one-half persons to each acre of our total area when the enumerators enter upon their duties one hundred years hence. The exact figures are 2,504.

According to Mr. Loomis, the ratio of increase of population by births over deaths, although much less than it was a century since, is at present 2.03 per cent per annum, or 20.1 each ten years. Accepting, for convenience, the ratio of decennial increase as 20 per cent, and casting aside all emigration from immigration, we find that in the year 1900 our total population will be more than 610,000,000.

Whether these figures are accepted as gross exaggeration, the fact remains that the natural and inevitable increase of the population, not alone of our own country, but of the whole world, presents a problem that may well engage the thoughtful mind.

A YEAR OF GREAT DISASTERS.

Fifteen Thousand Lives Lost and $70,000,000 Worth of Property Destroyed.

Judged by the record of its first six months, the year 1890 bids fair to be remembered as the year of disaster all over the world. During the month of January there were no serious railroad wrecks except the collision on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio railroad, in which eight persons were killed and many more seriously injured, but there were fifteen marine disasters, involving a loss of 163 lives, including among them the steamboat Paris C. Brown, which went down in the Mississippi river, causing the loss of eleven lives. February and March also were singularly free from railroad disasters, but the marine losses in February were 294, an increase of 119 over January. During the same month twenty persons lost their lives by a railroad disaster in Belgium, ten by a wind storm in Nebraska, twenty-three by the terrible hotel fire in Hartford, Conn., 20 by an earthquake in Costa Rica, thirteen by a cyclone in Georgia, and eleven by a powder explosion in Wilkesbarre, Penn. In March the marine losses further increased to 151, the number being swelled by the 146 sailors of the American and German war vessels who were drowned during the hurricane at the Samoan Islands.

In May the floods began their work of death and devastation. The first intelligence came from Austria and Bohemia, where 135 lives were lost. The conflagration was in the Coenagh valley, on the last day of the month, when nearly 5000 persons perished and $10,000,000 worth of property was destroyed. The month was characterized by a frightful series of disasters. Thirty persons were killed by an accident on the Pennsylvania at Latsch, seventy by a railroad disaster at Armagh, Ireland; 1200 by a fire in China, forty by a falling market building in Mexico, seventy by a mine disaster in Austria, and seventy by a cyclone in Cuba. July well keeps up the record with railroad, mine and storm disaster. Altogether, during the first six months of the year nearly 15,000 lives were lost in disasters of all kinds. Besides the loss of property involved in these disasters, fire has swept away property amounting to over $70,000,000 in value in the United States. It adds to the mournful record of the six months that suicides, murders, hangings, lynchings and crimes of all kinds have also shown a marked increase over the corresponding period for many years past.

IT WORKS WONDERS.

Astonishing Effects of Dr. Brown-Sequard's Elixir.

How It Operates on Different Persons—Wonderful Changes in a Few Short Hours.

CHATTANOOGEE, Miss., Aug. 24.—Dr. P. D. Squills, of this place, yesterday injected into a bed-ridden negro, aged 70 years, one dram of elixir taken from a healthy goat. The old man is amusing himself to-day by dancing horn-pipes, butting down fences and chewing tin cans.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., Aug. 24.—Dr. Bung Vedot this morning treated a man and paralytic Ke-lah Drizgi with a hypodermic extract of a slaughtered monkey. Six hours afterward Ke-lah struck an attendant in the hospital and then climbed the lightning-rod of the church of the Holy Trinity, where he has since remained astride the weathercock.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—It was learned confidentially to-day at Scotland Yard that the police are working on a new theory in the Jack the Ripper murder mystery. They now believe that the murderer is an escaped patient of Dr. Brown-Sequard, who has been making periodical visits from Paris.

RICHMOND, Miss., Aug. 24.—An error remarkable in its effects was made here on Thursday by Dr. Koon, who is an ardent disciple of the Brown-Sequard Life Elixir. The doctor entrusted the slaughter of a lamb to an ignorant negro, who, through ignorance or maliciousness, killed the bell wren of the flock. The vital organs of the animal after being macerated and liquefied, were used as an injection on the experimenter himself, who is about 35 years of age. One hour after taking the liquid into his own veins Dr. Koon's hair fell out, his gums became bare, and with a hoarse "Bah!" he leaped nimbly over a fence into a stubble field and began nibbling voraciously. The unfortunate gentleman belongs to one of the first families in Mississippi. The ignorant negro will surely be lynched.

MONT HAVEN, Aug. 24.—The elixir of life as formulated by Dr. Brown-Sequard was to-day injected into the veins of Wm. Vedot, aged 60, the fluid having been obtained through the slaughter of a Harlem goat of excellent physique. The result was surprising. Mr. Vedot developed a wonderful appetite for cast-off newspapers and made one of the heartiest meals on record from a pile of papers sent out from the offices of the World's contemporaries. His digestion is apparently unimpeded.

SEAGOVILLE, N. J., Aug. 24.—For thirty years Josiah Roberts has been unable to leave his bed. Dr. Peters, of Brooklyn, injected an ounce and a half of the famous extract taken from a Hackensack mosquito. Notwithstanding Mr. Roberts' 70 years, he immediately left his room, clubbed his 92-year-old mother to death with the family bible, offered to fight any man, woman or child for fun or dollars and mowed 14 acres of hay. Mr. Roberts' useful days are before him.

HONOLULU, H. I., July 29.—Robert Louis Stevenson to-day mailed a letter to Dr. Brown Sequard, of Paris, saying: "Your idea knocks out my Jekyll-Hyde fake. I congratulate you. Try the story business."

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Veterinary Surgeon Grayley injected three fluid grains of ostrich into a turkey gobbler. The result was marvelous. The gobbler's feathers in half an hour assumed the texture and beauty of those of an ostrich. The gobbler made a meal of a wheelbarrow of cobblestones, broke the leg of the surgeon with a single kick, and, on being chased, outran the fastest horse. He was only captured after having hidden his head in a mound of sand. Experts pronounce the feathers genuine ostrich. An English syndicate has called $50,000,000 to form a stock company. The price of turkeys has jumped to $3 each. The discovery caused Robinson, McClintock & Co., leading feather importers, to assign; $1,000,000.

NINETEENTH PRECINCT STATION HOUSE, Aug. 29.—Midnight.—Sydney Barendsen, who lives at the Pavilion hotel, Staten Island, and says he is the friend of the vice-president of the Standard Oil company, was annoyed last night as he rode down town on a Sixth avenue elevated train by a crowd of young men. They got off at Thirty-third street, and the trouble was renewed, when Policemen Reagan stepped up and ordered them all to move on. Chickard stopped at the corner to buy some elixir from an Italian fruit vendor, when the police ordered him to leave, but he would not do so, and was locked up for the night.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The first and only failure of the Brown-Sequard method of rejuvenation thus far known has taken place in this city. Mile. Ketchum, aged ninety-four, submitted her arm on Wednesday to an injection of a mixture from the heart of a fresh killed lamb. Not the slightest effect was visible. The experiment was repeated on Thursday, and there was no perceptible result. Friday eight lambs were slaughtered and the vital organs carefully prepared and injected into Mile. Ketchum's arm. The patient was not affected in the least. Today the final experiment was made, with the same disheartening result. Mile. Ketchum is the youngest member of the Ladies' Guild's Trust recently formed in this city. The elixir doesn't work on the Chicago baiter.

HER TEMPER HER CURSE.

The Early Life of the Notorious Sarah Althea Terry.—An Infamous Girl.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Special: Sarah Althea Hill, whose stormy career in California has given her national notoriety, was born in this town thirty-nine years ago. She comes of good stock, her father being Samuel Hill, a prominent attorney, and her mother Julia Sloan, the daughter of a wealthy lumber dealer. She has one brother, Hiram Moryan Hill. Her parents died in 1844, leaving the two orphans an estate of $40,000. Sarah is related to some of the best families in the country.

She attended school at Danville, Ky., and finally graduated from St. Vincent's convent, this town. She had a governess in the person of Mrs. Barrall, a sister of ex-Congressman Hatcher. Her grandfather, Hiram Sloan, who was her guardian, appears to have held a very slack rein.

The young woman developed a spirited temper, and soon after reaching legal age made her money fly. She grew up to womanhood in much her own way, and was noted for her beauty and temper. She was a 'schemer' above all things, and this made her unpopular among her friends and companions. It was said of her, too, that though she was a spendthrift she worshipped money and gave her attention mostly to those who possessed it. She was remembered by her friends here as something of a flirt, and at one time is said to have had three engagements to marry on her hands. One of the parties is now a prominent politician in southeastern Missouri, and another resides in St. Louis.

Her conquests were numerous during the time she held sway. "She was fast, but her name was never tarnished with scandal. In love affairs Sarah was tyrannical, and more than one of her lovers had to suffer her iron rule and eccentric whims.

It is said she really loved one young fellow named Will Shaw. They were engaged to be married, but as a result of a stiff the young man determined to break off the engagement. Sarah heard of this, and when next he called she was so charming that he pressed his suit with more ardor than ever, when she had her revenge by snubbing him.

The story goes that she really wanted and expected him to return, but he did not, and in September, 1870, disgusted and broken-hearted, with nothing but the shadow of her fortune, she started for California.

A young uncle named William Sloan accompanied her to the coast. He was wealthy, and took his niece to his mother's home. Sarah and the old lady did not live in harmony, and Sloan gave the girl a fine suit of rooms in a hotel. It was there that she met Senator Sharon.

Her brother Hiram is also now on the coast.

PICTURES BY LIGHTNING.

A Wonderful Invention Which May Revolutionize the Newspaper Art.

"This is the machine that is to revolutionize newspaper pictorial art," explained Mr. Ginochio. "It is filled with clock work and operated with a strong electric battery. Its mate is at the other end of the line. Now, you can write a signature or a letter and it will transmit either with the identical characters formed with your pen. But that would be nothing new. Autotelegraphy has been known fully ten years; but this will carry out the autotelegraphic idea to the fullest extent. You can write as much as you please—thousands of words, if you like, as newspaper men and others frequently have to do—and this machine will chew it up—that is, transmit it—as fast as you can write. Indeed, the writing can be done on a continuous roll, and when a score of lines are written the top of the roll can be fed to the machine while the writer continues filling up the rest, and without tearing the roll. It can be regulated so as to keep pace exactly with the speed of the writer, and by the time he has finished the machine will be on the last lap and will end its task almost immediately. The newspaper or other office receiving the matter will thus have it in the writer's own handwriting, and within a few moments after it has passed out of his hands."

"But how is it proposed to transmit pictures?"

"By the same method. The paper to be used will be washed with a weak solution of chloride of calcium, which will make it a conductor. The ink will be the non-conductor or insulator. The pictures will have to be reproduced with pen and ink at the point of sending, and with this as the only delay they can be transmitted without difficulty, every line and shadow being reproduced with extreme fidelity."

"Have you tested the machine?"

"I have, and found it to work like a charm. So long as the clock-work keeps running it cannot get out of order. The machine is designed especially for the use of daily press, and will enable our newspapers to produce accurate and excellent pictures of events in the issue immediately following, instead of, as now, waiting a day or two for the artist. You can readily understand how such an instrument could be applied on a leased wire, where voluminous reports have to be sent daily and nightly. Every reporter could then be given his own operator."—Philadelphia Press.

Highland, Ore., March 20. I have suffered with a disease of the kidneys for six or seven years and for the last two months have been laid up with the pain in my back. "Five years ago I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and had been given up by my physicians. I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after using two bottles of this medicine was completely cured."—Angus A. Lewis, Ricard, N. Y.

North Yakima the Fovellit.

Vancouver Independent: The constitution to be submitted to the people at the coming election as provided for the popular vote, namely: Woman suffrage, prohibition and the permanent location of the seat of government. The location of the capital is one of vital importance to the people of the state. It appears that there will be three leading candidates, Olympia, North Yakima and Ellensburg. Olympia has had the seat of government for a good many years, and is somewhat isolated and remote from the lines of transportation prospective, and this to a considerable extent is true of Ellensburg. North Yakima is centrally located and is as accessible as any town in the territory, and it has the prospect of railroad connections which renders it extremely desirable as the seat of government. The Vancouver, Kitchikan and Yakima railroad, when completed, will give Vancouver direct connection with North Yakima, and no section of the territory is so pre-eminently interested in the building of that road as Clarke county. We may anticipate a lively campaign for capital honors, and we fully believe that the interest of the river counties lies with North Yakima.
