Valent Chas. Voorhees.

He Arraigns the Republican Administration of This State.

By Far the Largest Torch Light Procession of the Campaign—Rats Could Not Stampen the Enthusiasm.

Saturday last was a Red Letter day for the democracy of Yakima. Early in the morning the Roslyn band arrived and soon the badges of the H. J. Snively democratic club were seen on the lapels of hundreds of coats. This was not all, for many republicans and members of the people's party, who did not intend to vote the democratic ticket straight, boldly and proudly wore the badges with the inscription "For Governor, H. J. Snively, of Yakima."

"Where do the democrats all come from?" was a general expression, and the wonderment increased as the farmers kept coming in from the country and donned the party colors. With the arrival of the west bound train came Hon. Chas. S. Voorhees, the speaker of the evening, and he was greeted by a great crowd of enthusiastic friends and the two bands, who accompanied him to the Hotel Yakima where an informal reception was held and Mr. Voorhees was made acquainted with many admirers.

The lowering skies of the latter part of the afternoon and early evening made some of the democrats fear for the success of the street demonstration, but even the rain which commenced falling about 7 o'clock could not dampen the ardor of the enthusiastic followers of Jackson and Jefferson and the procession that formed was without question the greatest that ever paraded the streets of Yakima. Over three hundred torches were in line and many were not those equipped. The Roslyn and Yakima bands furnished excellent music for the occasion. One of the most striking features of the parade was the splendid company of cavalry under command of Capt. John A. Stone. There were eighty horsemen all told and they swung out in a line that cast a mournful shadow over the faces of those who are engineering the republican campaign. It was a gorgeous and imposing pageant, which none can deny, and the almost continuous cheering during the march showed the enthusiasm of those taking part and their confidence in the success of the party standard bearer.

Before the brigade could disband the opera house was filled with men and women, and the result was that a great many democrats, as well as those of other political affiliations who arrived late, could not obtain seats or even entrance. Mr. Fechter was the chairman of the evening and introduced the speaker in a few well chosen words. Mr. Voorhees was looking well and in good health, but his voice showed the strain of his work in the campaign. He spoke of Mr. Snively and his legislative work frequently and in glowing terms and predicted a signal victory for the state ticket in November. Mr. Voorhees' speech was too long for reproduction but THE HERALD makes the following extracts regarding those more than criminal votes which the republican party must shudder:

In every country and in every age, where freedom has had an abiding place, the masses of the people have been compelled, sooner or later, to resist the unwarranted and iniquitous encroachments of wealth and power upon their rights. Sooner or later a point has been reached beyond which the burdens that attend the exercises of the powers of government in the interest of the favored classes become unendurable. At such a point, the people, remembering they are, themselves, the corner-stone of the government, have asserted their supremacy and have, by the peaceful weapon of the ballot, scourged from power faithless public servants who, forgetful of their duty to those who made them, have sold themselves to the enemies of frugality, economy and equality in governmental affairs.

"The multitude is patient to a certain point," but was betwixt the deceptions of improvidence, extravagance and inequality, who sue to the people for favors when such a point is reached. Certainly and surely it takes the thunderbolt of an outraged people's wrath, and justice, though some times long delayed, overtakes the betrayers of the people.

On the 18th day of November, 1890, there was born into the sisterhood of states, Washington, the fairest child of the far northwest. At her birth presided all the bright omens of a fruitful and prosperous future. A sturdy, intelligent, industrious and capable population applauded the event and, in the selection of the guardians, under whose guidance this fair young state should achieve greatness and distinction, they decreed such guardianship to the leaders of the republican party. Twice, during a period of three years, have the state's legislative guardians assembled in the discharge of their duties, and twice have the people been forced to the humiliating conclusion that this high trust has been faithlessly and imprudently executed. The performance of this trust has been accompanied by grave and well-grounded charges of corruption, the official atmosphere has been tainted with scandals so gross as to almost pass belief, and the reckless disregard of the people's money has been so

Certainly and surely it takes the thunderbolt of an outraged people's wrath, and justice, though some times long delayed, overtakes the betrayers of the people.

On the 18th day of November, 1890, there was born into the sisterhood of states, Washington, the fairest child of the far northwest. At her birth presided all the bright omens of a fruitful and prosperous future. A sturdy, intelligent, industrious and capable population applauded the event and, in the selection of the guardians, under whose guidance this fair young state should achieve greatness and distinction, they decreed such guardianship to the leaders of the republican party. Twice, during a period of three years, have the state's legislative guardians assembled in the discharge of their duties, and twice have the people been forced to the humiliating conclusion that this high trust has been faithlessly and imprudently executed. The performance of this trust has been accompanied by grave and well-grounded charges of corruption, the official atmosphere has been tainted with scandals so gross as to almost pass belief, and the reckless disregard of the people's money has been so pronounced as to become positively criminal.

Every measure passed by the legislature during this period of appalling misrule, having for its object the betterment and amelioration of the people's condition, withered and died under the baleful touch of a republican governor.

The world was filled with a senatorial scandal so rank and gross that the wonder grew that so young a state could be so steeped in infamy.

Where three years ago this splendid commonwealth sprang forward on its career, spottedly arrayed in all the possibilities which can make a state powerful and great, she stands before the world at this hour, her one-time spotless raiment in rags, her judicial ermine soiled and stained by contact with the lowest gambling halls, her legislative logs besmirched by the failure to expel a self-confessed bribe taker, and by a criminal extravagance and improvidence, and her executive mantle alive with corporate vermin.

In the presence of calamities such as these it is strange that the people are like Marius, weeping over the ruins of Carthage? Is it strange that that certain point has been reached beyond which the people can no longer be patient? Is it strange that a long-suffering people have at last arisen in their strength and might to denounce the penalty of overthrow to the architects of all this disaster, infamy and ruin?

Will anyone have the hardihood to controvert the conclusions I have drawn? Men do not gather grapes of thorns and figs of thistle.

Let there be they who will challenge this black and damning array, come with me into the bowels of one of the most abandoned, depraved and reckless administrations of public affairs, under which the people of a sovereign state have groined and staggered since the reconstruction days of the south.

On the 13th day of January, 1891, Hon. John L. Sharpstein, a democratic representative from Walla Walla county, introduced a bill, (House Bill No. 10), requiring railroad corporations to fence their track, House Journal, 1891, p. 43.

On February 21, 1891, J. M. Ready, the republican chairman of the republican committee on railroads in the house, reported this bill, so vitally important to every farmer and stock raiser in the state, with a recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed, but, on motion of Mr. Sharpstein, the house refused to adopt the report of the committee. (House Journal, 1891, p. 3-5).

Mr. Sharpstein moved that the rules be suspended and that the bill be passed. (House Journal, 1891, p. 358).

This motion, requiring two-thirds of those present and voting in its favor, was defeated by a vote of 34 yeas to 22 nays. Every democrat present and voting, voted for the passage of the bill. Upon motion of Mr. Sharpstein the vote, by which the bill failed to pass, was reconsidered and the bill was placed on the calendar as a bill upon this reading

HERALDINGS

Attorney D. H. McFalls, of Ellensburg, was in the city Monday.

Superintendent C. S. Prowell and Uncle David Murray, of Ellensburg, were in the city Monday.

The ladies of the Baptist church will give a dinner and supper at Murphy hall on election day, November 8.

A. D. Edlin sold sixty-five bales of his hops last week to Charles Carpenter for 20 cents. They were shipped Monday.

Percy Dickinson and Charles Kinz, leading citizens and contractors of Tacoma, were in the city on Saturday last.

Mrs. Ida J. LaCroix, who has been at the Hotel Yakima visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Shannon, left last week for the Sound.

Dave Correll, formerly a resident of this city but now of Wenatchee, was married at Ellensburg recently to Miss Anna Ross, also of Wenatchee.

The Oregon Press Club excursionists passed through Yakima, Sunday, on their return from Spokane. They report having been royally entertained.

The Tacoma Ledger notes the appearance in that city of one of the "grand-pas" hats, and says they were very fashionable before the state republican convention, but fell from popularity the day after as if struck by lightning.

R. F. Radebaugh, formerly of the Tacoma Ledger, is preparing to again engage in the newspaper business, and will begin the publication of an illustrated weekly to be known as the New West of Tacoma, early in November.

Hon. H. J. Sively bearded the lion in its den, Tuesday, by delivering his opening campaign speech in Pullman, the town of the agricultural college and the protégé of Attorney-General James, and Commissioners Conover and Black.

Self destruction seems to have extended itself into equine circles, for on Monday morning H. L. Tucker found that one of his horses had committed suicide by throwing himself, while hitched in his stall, in such a manner as to break his neck.

Attorney Frank Nash, of Tacoma, was here for a few days last week attending court, and spoke briefly at one of the republican meetings. He informed THE HERALD representative, previous to returning home, that he wasn't taking much interest in politics this year.

The feast of Succoth, which is observed for eight days by the Israelites, terminates to-day. This festival is celebrated in memory of the Jews when God commanded Moses to lead them from Egypt through the wilderness into the land of Canaan.

New York Sun: The name of the state of Washington is both agreeable at times, because it is apt to be confounded with the national capital. When we print news from Seattle and other places in Washington some people are puzzled by it or get mixed. Why not call it George Washington for the sake of convenience? Nine of the stages have two words in their names.

Matt Bartholet returned from Okanogan county on Saturday night of last week in time to take his place as one of the torch carriers in the democratic procession. He says that in Okanogan county Mr. Sively is strong, and that "Okanogan" Smith will be elected to the legislature over Charles S. Laughton.

Mr. Bartholet is looking well, and when he arrived here he wore a heavy beard, which soon was a sacrifice to the razor, and he is considerably bronzed. He brought some ore with him to have smelted at Tacoma, and has abiding faith in the richness of his mine.

The sharp clanging of the fire bell, about 2:30 Sunday morning, aroused and startled many sleepers, and in a short time the streets were lively with people. The fire was located in a shed in the rear of H. L. Tucker's residence and adjoining the livery stable, and when discovered it looked as though the block was bound to fall a prey to the flames, but volunteers worked with a will and soon succeeded in quenching the fire. The horses were all turned loose from the stable, the vehicles wheeled out and the furniture carried from the residence, and strange as it may seem the damage done in breakage and other ways could be counted up in dollars on the fingers.

Mr. Burleigh, of Seattle, who is the successor of J. C. Haines as corporation counsel of the Oregon Improvement company, appeared before a Yakima audience, at Mason's opera house, on Friday of last week, in behalf of John McGraw and the republican party. Mr. Burleigh confined himself mainly to the tariff and wisely neglected to speak of the republican administration of the state government. Mr. Burleigh is a lawyer, and no doubt a very able one, otherwise he would not be in the employ of a great corporation, and made an argumentative speech for the issue which corporations have a reason to favor. His audience was not a large one, as compared with those which have favored other political speakers in Yakima, but all listened with becoming attention excepting, an old ass named L. R. Freeman, whose interruptions were quelled only when the audience demanded that he be thrown out of the hall. Freeman is taking an active part in the people's party campaign, but his interest in good government is best illustrated by his bald-faced boasts that he has never cast a vote. Mr. Burleigh treated this fellow in a very courteous manner and his auditors would feel called upon for an apology were it not that the interloper is from the speaker's own section of the state.

While Ned Whitby and Henry Shock were duck hunting on the Moose side of the Yakima river, last week, Friday, they espied a large catamount making his way from one of the neighboring ranches, carrying a rooster in his mouth. Mr. Whitby opened fire with his shotgun and the "varmint" dropped the cockerel and started for the hunters, and it was only after several charges of shot had been emptied into him and he had reached within a few feet of Mr. Whitby, that the shot took effect, and he gave up the struggle. Mr. Shock is now engaged in dressing and mounting the catamount.

S. W. Maxey, World's fair collector of exhibits for Kittitas county, has gone far out of his way to make a stir at Yakima county for its creditable exhibit at the Tacoma exposition. He says that the exhibit is made in the interest of the Northern Pacific and with the company's money. Such petty jealousy is not creditable to Mr. Maxey, and especially so, he does not confine himself to the truth. The expenses of the exhibit were met by a general subscription, of which the N. P. & K. I. Co. made a generous donation, as did also the other irrigation companies.

W. B. Dudley, who recently arrived here from New York, has given A. F. Switzer the contract for a two story, fifty feet front brick building to be erected on Yakima avenue, adjoining the Lewis-Engle block. The building is to have an iron and plate glass front, and is to have a depth of sixty feet. The second story will be divided into ten large offices. The contract price is about $10,000, and Mr. Switzer is now engaged in moving White's tailor shop from the lots preparatory to excavating for the foundation.

Senator John B. Allen will address the people of Yakima on the 19th inst., and the republicans are pulling everything to make this the greatest political demonstration of the campaign. The following Saturday evening, October 22, that gifted and silver tongued orator, Hon. L. H. Plator, of Spokane, will speak for democracy.

Phil Stanton has been advised that in addition to the horses coming here from Tacoma and Spokane, to participate in the races beginning October 26, that LaGrande, Ozn., will send ten speedy animals. There are assurances that there will be upwards of sixty horses on the track from abroad before the opening day.

John G. Boyle says that the city council of North Yakima has not treated him with due consideration, and that his resignation will go before that body at its next meeting. Mr. Boyle claims that he has won every case for the city that has been carried into court, and if this is a fact his views should command respectful attention.

The case of the state vs. B. M. Howard, for burglarizing E. M. Dooley's saloon at Yakima City, was settled on Saturday last by Howard being sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary. Sheriff Simmons took the prisoner to Walla Walla on Monday.

Among the bets recently made in this city was one that McGraw would not receive 3 1/2 votes in Yakima county. If Mr. McGraw receives this number of votes THE HERALD will be inclined to lose faith in the intelligence and loyalty of the people of Yakima.

Adam Sherman, who stabbed Robert Risen some months ago in a saloon quarrel, is again at liberty. The defendant maintained self defense as the cause for the stabbing, and as the prosecution was weak the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

W. R. Lindsey, of Sumner, has been spending several days in the city this week. Mr. Lindsey is the owner of a couple of lots on Yakima avenue, and a business block thereon.

Al Katz and J. L. Smith have returned to Yakima. They claim to have no information regarding the resumption of the canal construction, but think it will not now be long delayed.

The dedication exercises of Ahtanum academy building will take place Wednesday Oct. 19 at 2 p. m. There will be addresses by Superintendents Bailey and Greene and others.

Mrs. F. R. Reed left for Portland, Wednesday. When she returns she will probably be accompanied by her mother, whose poor health is causing her family much alarm.

S. L. Versey, wife and daughter, of Danbury, Conn., are guests of the Hotel Yakima. Mr. Versey is viewing this section with a view to engaging in fruit growing.

WILL VISIT NORTH YAKIMA.

The Celebrated New York Optician Will Be Here in a Short Time.

At the earnest solicitation of a number of prominent ladies and gentlemen of this city, the noted expert optician, Prof. Seward, of New York city, will stop here for a short time while on the return trip east. He will arrive here in about ten days. The exact date will be published in this paper next week.

In the adaptation of spectacle, eye glasses, artificial eyes, cataract glasses, etc., and in the correcting of the most difficult cases of defective and weak eyesight, Prof. Seward has met with unparalleled success all along the north Pacific coast.

Among the prominent citizens of the state who are wearing glasses successfully fitted by Prof. Seward, are E. P. Ferry, governor of the state of Washington, Hon. T. M. Reed, state auditor; Senator Chas. E. Claypool, Judge Galusha Parsons, Judge J. C. Stalleup, Allen C. Mason, Tacoma; W. B. Blackwood, president Tacoma National bank; Gen. William McMicken, Olympia; Dr. Tuttle, Dr. Van Winter, Tacoma and a host of others equally well known.

Headaches of years standing have been cured in a day by glasses alone. Prof. Seward does not treat diseased eyes and therefore should not be classed among traveling or quack doctors. He is an expert optician who has few equals and no superiors in America.

Prof. Seward stops here at the request of some of our most prominent citizens and therefore the grand opportunity should be taken advantage of by every one who wears or needs glasses.

Prof. Seward will have parlors at the Hotel Yakima.

Pastry Without Butter.

Light, flaky and digestible pie crust and all kinds of fine pastry can be made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder without butter or with one half the usual portion, if preferred, or with a small quantity of lard or other shortening as desired. Pie crust made in this way is more wholesome and digestible besides being more economical and easier prepared in addition to saving all the butter if desired. One-third the flour is also dispensed with, and the crust is rolled that much thinner, the raising qualities of Dr. Price's Powder swelling it to the requisite thickness. Those who enjoy the appetizing qualities of the delicious home made pie will rejoice to know this secret.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the only powder that contains the white of eggs.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is reported by all authorities as free from Ammonia, Alum, or any other adulterant. In fact, the purity of this ideal powder has never been questioned.

THE MASSACHUSETTS MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

Invite the Careful Attention of the Insuring Public to Their New Policy Contract, Which Offer the Following Distinct Advantages, viz:

- 1st. It provides for insurance during the whole term of life.
 - 2d. It requires only twenty annual premiums, after which it is a source of income to the insured.
 - 3d. It is absolutely non-forfeitable by virtue of law and policy contract, without any notice to company, or act on the part of the policy-holder.
 - 4th. It combines the elements of a savings bank with those of life insurance, thus enabling a policy-holder to insure his life and at the same time save a part or the whole of his premiums for his own use in old age.
 - 5th. It guarantees a cash surrender value on any anniversary of the date of policy, after two annual premiums have been paid.
 - 6th. It furnishes a plain and definite contract of insurance and is within the reach of all.
 - 7th. It enables the insured to determine his rights without appeal to experts or negotiations with the company; the values for each year being clearly stated in the policy.
 - 8th. It treats all policy-holders alike; there is no preferred class.
 - 9th. Dividends will be paid in cash or in addition to the policy as the insured may desire.
 - 10th. It is applicable to every condition and circumstance in life, and there is little that is desirable in life insurance that cannot be obtained under this policy.
- Under this policy you "pay as you go," stop without loss; stop with profit, or continue with greater profit.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Paragraphs Regarding the County, State and National Campaigns.

The Indications All Point to the Success of Democracy—McGraw Will Meet a Waterloo.

Attorney-General Jones received a salary of $4,000 a year and is allowed traveling expenses. Jones is now earning his salary and taxing up expenses against the state, by stamping the state for himself—while Patrick Henry Winston, who draws a salary of $10,000 a year from the United States government, is paying this debt by devoting his entire time to making speeches for McGraw and the ditch.

The democratic county ticket is one well worthy of support. Each candidate is qualified for the office for which he has been named, and with the election of the straight ticket the people of Yakima may be assured of an efficient and obliging county government.

The trusts and combines could not survive without the aid of the republican party, neither would the republican party be in power today but for the support of the trusts and combines. The existence of one depends upon the existence of the other.

Vote for W. A. Cox for county treasurer. Mr. Cox is a thorough business man and accountant and he is in every way qualified to administer that office in a manner that will satisfy and please the taxpayers.

McGraw testified under oath, before the investigating committee that he "advised Metcalf to take a bribe." Will the voters of Washington accept such a man for their next governor? If they do they will be entitled to no sympathy or consideration when they cry out against ring rule and corruption.

McGraw, in his speech in Yakima, upheld the sterling and ruinous appropriations made by the last legislature, but the balance of the republican candidates have not had the nerve, and with the party's best speakers have marched through the state and have not even attempted to refute the figures advanced by the democratic press and speakers. Mr. Leadbetter says that seven gentlemen, all republicans, were gathered at Kennewick the other day when a poll was taken on the gubernatorial candidates, and every one of them expressed a preference and the intention of voting for Hon. H. J. Snively. Mr. Snively will be the next governor of the State of Washington. Laughtonism must no longer prevail.

During the first two years of state government it cost the taxpayers of Wash-ton $22,000 to keep their officials in postage stamps. This is republican economy. For the same period the democratic administration used but $6,000 worth of postage stamps.

Let the farmers of the state of Washington examine their pocketbooks and see how much money "protection" has put into them. To every farmer who can show that he has been benefitted to the extent of a single dollar THE HERALD will be sent free for one year.

"A HEAVY LOAD TO STAGGER UNDER."

Editorial From the Yakima "Republican" of Friday March 18th, 1901, L. E. Sperry, Editor.

"The legislature of 1891 has ceased by operation of law. The taxpayers of the state may well engage in thanksgiving and prayer for the cessation of the attacks upon overburdened pocketbooks. Extravagant appropriations, reckless increase of salaries, and a prodigious waste of public funds, with but little commensurate good, has characterized and stigmatized the second session of the Washington legislature.

"As a political body, it may be well described as a partisan mass meeting, in which a shrewd, combined and designing democratic minority persistently dug political pitfalls into which the credulous and blind republican majority have unhesitatingly plunged.

"The republican party of this state will have a heavy load to stagger under in 1902, and it will require close and careful work, to prevent our next legislature from sending a democrat senator to congress from this state.

"The past legislature has been conducted not in the interests of the taxpayer, but manipulated to insure the downfall of the dominant party and the success of its political antagonist, the democracy.

"Nothing but united, harmonious, persistent action on the part of the republicans throughout the state from now until the day of election in 1902, can save us from disgraceful defeat and overthrow.

"The party is pure, its members still numerous, loyal and patriotic. 'Metcalf' and 'Sachs' investigations to become a by-word and laughing stock for our political opponents.

"The legislature of 1891 has died a natural death; would that some of its noisome memories might be entombed in the same sepulcher, beyond the possibility of dread of resurrection."

"Save who can!" was the frantic cry of Napoleon to his army at Waterloo. Save health and strength while you can, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is advice that applies to all, both young and old. Don't wait until disease fastens on you; begin at once.

Take THE HERALD and keep posted.

HON. H. J. SNIVELY FOR GOVERNOR.

Reasons Why He Would Well Serve the People of This State as the Chief Executive.

Seattle Telegraph: Mr. Snively has many qualifications for the office of governor of this state. He is a young man, with a name and a career to make. He has begun well. In the years he has resided in this state he has had a full share of official responsibility, and whether as prosecuting attorney, member of the code commission or member of the legislature, he has shown that he appreciates the responsibilities of official position, has a high sense of the respect due to the law and of the necessity for careful legislation. He is a lawyer of excellent training, varied experience and sound judgment. For such a man there is a wide sphere of usefulness in the gubernatorial chair. The lack of such supervision as Mr. Snively would be able to give, is only too apparent in the work of the last legislature. In this respect neither of the other candidates has any of the qualification which professional training gives. This is really a matter of very great importance. In long established states, where the fundamental laws have become well settled and changes in them are only after long consideration, the necessity for having a lawyer in the governor's chair is not so great; but in a new state it is almost imperative that the chief executive have legal training so as to be able to recommend needed legislation and check the tendency to "prentice work" which has been unfortunately too common in Washington. The fact that Mr. Snively is a lawyer of excellent standing is a high qualification for the responsible office to which he has been nominated.

Mr. Snively will take into the office a reputation unimpaired by scandals. He will not be entangled by corrupt alliances. Let a politician strive as he may, he can never raise himself above the associations of his early career. If these have been unsavory their odor will cling to him no matter how he may strive to disguise it. If he has been a partner in corrupt and vicious bargains, there will always be pressure upon him from corrupt and vicious sources, and strive as he may he will be hampered by it. The silence of those, whose utterances can destroy a fabric of respectability reared by great expense and labor, may have to be purchased at great cost. The honor of a state has before now been sacrificed to save a carefully cherished appearance of respectability. Mr. Snively would be under no such temptation because he could be intimidated by no such fear of exposure.

Democratic Club Meeting.
The H. J. Snively Democratic club meets every Friday evening at Murphy hall.

PHIL A. DITZER, Secretary.

BOODLER LAUGHTON AIDING THE REG.

There Would Be No Change in Policy or Principle if McGraw Should Be Elected.

Of course Charles E. Laughton has the right to support any candidate for governor he pleases, but no candidate need allow Laughton to speak with him from the same platform unless he desires Laughton's influence, says the Tacoma News. This gives to the meeting of Laughton and McGraw at Pullman very great significance. Laughton asked that the people of Whitman county give to McGraw their votes. He was asked to make the speech, asked to take the platform with McGraw and give to the latter his support. What avail in future will it be for the republican party to pretend that Laughton is out of the running? How can McGraw any longer go about the state repudiating Laughton?

He has asked Laughton's support and received it. Laughton and he are politicians of the same school. They naturally would stand together. Laughton has been made a scape goat. Governor Ferry, when interviewed in Portland on his return from California, said in an interview printed in the Oregonian that Laughton had acted wisely and Laughton's acts met with his approval. Laughton is running for the legislature in Okanogan county and if elected expects to be the speaker of the next house.

Laughton asked nothing from the late republican convention but his own election as member of the state committee and the nomination of his particular friend, Dr. Luce, as lieutenant-governor. And Laughton with his usual good nature met with success. What a combination that would make—McGraw, Laughton's friend, for governor; Luce, Laughton's friend, lieutenant-governor and president of the senate, and Laughton, speaker of the house. There would be a hand that would cost something to see.

Dr. J. C. Hogan writes for the following: "I have used your Nerve Tonic for about 14 years, and I can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever used."

A Reverend Recommends It.
I had been ill for eighteen months with weakness and terrible nervousness when I commenced taking your medicine, Pastor Koehler's Nerve Tonic, and I often say for Pastor Koehler, as I think I could not have lived without this medicine. The people here have seen the good which I derived from it, and Rev. Koehler recommends it so highly that it is now getting very popular.

A LOST PEARL.

I do not know where I lost it. For it slipped from a broken string, And far and away from my sight today It lies a neglected thing.

Or worse, since it may be another Is wearing my pearl of price, And the gem that was my mine, with its lustrous shine, May be set in some strange device.

I do not know when I lost it; It was just as the dawning burst Through the crystalline bars of the lingering stars That with sorrow I missed it first.

Perhaps in the opaline twilight, Perhaps when the moonbeams lay With their delicate quiver over field and river And night was fairer than day.

I never dreamed half how precious Was my beautiful pearl to me Till the grief of its loss, a heavy cross, I bore over land and sea.

You marvel? You do not divine it! I have lost what I could not lend. What I'll mourn while I live; for no art can give, To the heart the lost heart of my friend.

—Margaret Sangster.

A FORTUNE

Inherited by few, is pure blood, free from hereditary taint. Catarrh, consumption, rheumatism, Scrofula, and many other maladies born in the blood, can be effectually eradicated only by the use of powerful alternatives. The standard specific for this purpose—the one best known and approved—is Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the compound, concentrated extract of Honduras sarsaparilla, and other powerful alternatives.

Dr. J. W. Shields, of Smithville, Tenn., says: "I regard Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best blood medicine on earth, and know of many wonderful cures effected by its use."

"For many years I was laid up with Scrofula, no treatment being of any benefit. At length I was recommended to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. I did so, and
