GREAT year for the "C's"—Cleveland, Connecticut, California, Chicago, Campbell, Croker, Corbett, Choyanski, Christopher Columbus and, well, Christmas will soon be here.

B. H. lost the nation, his state, county, city and ward. Mr. Cleveland carried the town and state (New Jersey) where he was born, Buffalo, his old home, every assembly district where he now resides, his state and the country.

WILLIAM M. STONE, of Iowa, has been appointed commissioner of the general land office to succeed Thomas H. Carter, resigned.

Our own tests have repeatedly proved the excellence of American Harviseid armor plates over all others. A recent test in England gave the same result.

It has generally been supposed that there existed a sufficient excess of women in New England and the east to more than make up for the deficiency in the newly settled states and territories of the west.

JUDGES FRYON, of New York, summarily dismissed a conubial infidelity action the other day by laying down the maxim that the lover who would kiss a lass and tell about it could not be believed under oath.

A RETROSPECTIVE glance over the result of national elections from 1860 through the contest just past presents some interesting features. November 8 was the ninth presidential contest since the first election of Abraham Lincoln.

ILLUSTRATIVE of the brightness and readiness of Bob Ingersoll, Joseph R. Banks says that Judge Jackson, of the federal bench tells this story:

"Ingersoll was employed to ask for a mandamus. The case came on to be heard in Cincinnati before the distinguished Tennesseean. In presenting his case for action Ingersoll collated all the American and English authorities favoring the demands of his client, and in conclusion said that the principle on which the mandamus was asked was as old as the Mosaic law, and after numerous quotations from the five books took his seat.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The day originally set apart by the pilgrim fathers as a fitting expression of public and personal gratitude to God, and a few years ago made national in its observance, has again arrived.

This, however, is a very low view to take of the case. If the pilgrims, a little band on a rock bound coast, far from home and kindred, enduring hardships to which about one-half their number had recently succumbed, could rejoice that thus far neither their persecutions from across the Atlantic or the savage tribes by whom they were surrounded had as yet harmed them, the average American of to-day can surely conceive that abundant harvests, reviving trade, continued peace, and thorough freedom are subjects for thankfulness.

Our of 585 votes cast in the Pullman district Mr. Seively received but 49. Even the Yakima people, for whom he so earnestly worked, gave him only a begrudging plurality of 100; but for all this the state gave him a plurality outside of King county.

THE Women's Christian Temperance Union of Seattle is actuating the question of giving the immoral man the same social recognition accorded to a fallen woman, and will petition the legislature to raise the age of legal consent from 12 years to 15, and there was a strong faction who advocated making it 18 years.

Notice is hereby given by the friends and relatives of D. K. Herron that he is subject to attacks of temporary insanity, and at times is utterly irresponsible for his actions.

HOP INTERESTS OF YAKIMA.

The Bulk of This Year's Crop Already Sold or Consigned.

Short Talks With Buyers and Growers—A Jump in Prices Looked for About May—The Acresage for Next Year.

THE HERALD reporter was somewhat astonished in conversation with A. B. Weed, the other day, to learn that the bulk of the Yakima hops had been shipped; and a little investigation soon proved this to be not far wrong.

Of the hops still remaining in the valley, the following are the owners and the number of bales, which will not vary much:

Table listing hop growers and their bales: Moose Company (20), Hiram Carpenter (100), A. D. Kellin (66), Eugene Fodda (50), Joseph Stephenson (50), David Ferguson (25), W. F. White (25), Dan Kinney (25), Anderson & Tracy (50), J. & H. Carpenter (62), D. V. Carpenter (25), Mrs. Jackson (15), Tom Nelson (24), A. J. Shaw (20), Hall & Stevenson (40), J. E. Peaton (20), John Javara (24), Barrie & Fleaming (17), Jacob Sicker (27), Mackison Bros. (16).

Chas. Carpenter shipped four cars of 248 bales to Milwaukee this week. They were furnished by the following growers:

Table listing hop growers and their bales: Andrew Marvin (25), W. J. Mackert (25), H. C. Kellin (25), Samuel Scarrow (25), Mose Adams (25), A. J. Peaton (25), George Byrns (25), William Steele (25), William Brown (25), W. W. Atherton (25).

There will be a large amount of new acreage devoted to hops next year, and some who keep well posted estimate that the acreage will be doubled. Robert McCook, who bought the Barrett place on the Moxee, last week, will plant 70 acres to hops; H. E. Scudder has prepared ground for a 50 acre yard; the Moxee company will largely increase its acreage; Dr. W. F. Morrison will add 12 acres to his yard, and A. B. Weed will plant ten additional acres; James Schutz will start a 40 acre yard, and Shadlow & McDaniel one of 15 acres.

A. E. Weed, who is giving much attention to the hop business, which he claims has greatly fascinated him, says that he does not believe that the present standard price of 20@21c. will be changed much this year, but that along about May he looks for a decided advance.

There seems to be a fight going on in the arena just now. The bull and the bear are pitted against each other, with the red flag of the so-called "situation" to spur them on, and an intensely interested audience watching the outcome of the engagement.

ing is more of a hand-to-mouth order. The American brewer largely follows this example, hence there is no longer reason, as formerly, for the grower to rush his hops upon the market in September and October, lest there should be no further demand for them.

In England the custom is obtaining of the brewers buying direct from the growers. An instance of this sort created great commotion in the thorough hop market, and brought forth the following comment: "It certainly seems reasonable that the ultimate buyer (the brewer) should not and then have a look around and take a peep at the article he will in due course be asked to purchase."

This suggestion is worth the thought of the American brewer and grower, for of late years there is so much competition between dealers that they are forced to adopt the motto Sauve qui peut, and become, whether they wish it or not, decidedly inimical to the grower's interests.

There is no question but that since times of short sales, which the dealer makes either from a false estimate of the crop or from his desire to ingratiate himself with some well known and influential brewer, and supplement his sales in his favor, having made these deals, naturally he wishes a margin of profit and brings every influence in his power to bear upon the crop and keep it within his limits.
