PREFACE

The Historical Records Survey Program was initiated as a Nation-wide undertaking in January 1936 as a unit of the Federal Writers' Project of the Works Progress Administration. The Historical Records Survey became an independent part of Federal Project No. 1 in November 1936. In the State of Washington the Survey began operations in March 1936 in conjunction with the State-wide County Records Project, an undertaking of a similar nature but of a lesser scope, which had previously been instituted under the sponsorship of the State College of Washington and under the direction of Dr. Herman J. Deutsch, Associate Professor of History at that institution. The two projects were combined for administrative purposes, and a working agreement was maintained until the local project was absorbed by the Survey Program in September 1937.

The Historical Records Survey ceased to exist as a Federal project on August 31, 1939. On September 1, 1939 it resumed operations as a Nation-wide series of locally sponsored projects. The Washington Historical Records Survey Project is sponsored by the State College of Washington. Many of the counties and other public agencies of the State are contributing active support as co-sponsors.

The present publication is designed to serve as a supplement to the Guide to Public Vital Statistics Records in Washington, which was published in June 1941. The present national emergency has created a widespread demand for vital statistics information, particularly information as to the sources of official birth certificates based on reported births and issued by states, counties, or cities. Recently, however, legislation has provided for registration of unreported births in many states. In Washington the 1941 State Legislature provided for the registration of unreported births upon application, accompanied by satisfactory affidavits or documentary evidence, to the superior court.<sup>1</sup> Then, too, documentary evidence of birth other than an actual certificate of birth is acceptable in many instances at the present time where formerly an actual certificate of birth was required.

One acceptable source of documentary evidence consists of the records maintained by the various churches. The present publication, the Guide to Church Vital Statistics Records in Washington, Preliminary Edition, presents a partial coverage of vital statistics records kept by the churches of the State of Washington.

The survey of the church archives was initiated by the Washington Historical Records Survey in 1936, and operations were suspended in the Spring of 1939. The surveys of five cities were published: "Survey of Everett, Yakima, and Wenatchee Church Archives." The Pacific Northwest Quarterly, XX, 417-436, No. 4, October 1939; "Survey of Spokane Church Archives." The Pacific Northwest Quarterly, XVIII, 383-403, No. 4, October 1937; "Survey of Seattle Church Archives." The Pacific Northwest Quarterly, XXVIII, 163-191, No. 2, April 1937. The field information for the remainder of the churches surveyed was retained in the project files. The contents of this volume were abstracted from the published inventories and from data in the project files in response to the current demand for information as to the sources of vital statistics records. It is to be noted that the information presented herein is based on a survey completed in 1939.

1. L. 1941, pp. 456-458, secs. 1-5.

Preface

The inventory is arranged primarily in alphabetical order by the counties in which a survey was conducted. Under each county the cities surveyed are arranged alphabetically, and under each city the denominations are arranged alphabetically. In the event that there are two or more churches of the same denomination in a city, an alphabetical arrangement of the churches by name is maintained.

The records are described in entries, the style of which is formalized to give the following information: The name of the church, the mailing address, the date of establishment or period of existence, description of the records, number of volumes, and address where available if the church is defunct. Two hyphens (--) following a date in the contents of the entry indicate that the record is current, that is, the record was actively maintained at the time of the survey. The abbreviation "vol(s)." is used to indicate "volume(s)."

The original survey included all records of the churches surveyed, but only such records as would tend to assist in the establishment of the facts of birth are listed in the present publication. In many instances the desired information is included in a more comprehensive record. For instance, a register of baptisms may be included, among a variety of other records, in the church minutes. If such is the case, the title of the major record and the number of volumes is given, followed by a listing of the vital statistics record or records with the statement that the information is included in the major record.

The inventory is served by two indexes, one of which lists the denominations alphabetically and the cities thereunder alphabetically. If there are two or more churches of the same denomination in a city, the number of churches of that denomination is indicated in parentheses following the city. The second index lists the cities alphabetically.

The State office editorial staff under the direction of Sterling S. Taylor, Project Technician, and Glenn H. Lathrop, State Supervisor, compiled, arranged, edited, indexed, and reproduced the volume for distribution. The entries were prepared by Grace P. Conkling and Rachel A. Robb and edited by Ada C. Benbow. The book was reproduced by the publications division of the project under the supervision of Sylvia M. Lusk.

The original survey was made and the inventories of the churches of the five cities were published in The Pacific Northwest Quarterly under the supervision of Mary W. Avery, former State Editor.

The various publications of the Washington Historical Records Survey Project are issued for free distribution to State and local public officials and public libraries in Washington and to a limited number of libraries and governmental agencies outside the State. Requests for information concerning particular publications of the project should be addressed to the State Supervisor, Washington Historical Records Survey Project, 819 Western Avenue, Seattle, Washington. A list of publications of the Washington Historical Records Survey Project appears in the addenda of the present publication.
