A Brown Bag Presentation
with Diane Hutchins, Marcea Horst, and Laurie Fortier from Preservation and Access Services at the Washington State Library

What do you do when you don't have the staff, training, time, or financial resources to tackle more involved conservation work to protect your collections? How do you extend the life of your materials without spending a fortune?

Diane, Marcea, and Laurie will don their aprons once again to demonstrate some techniques for creating a few simple archival enclosures. They will also give the audience some additional tips on caring for their collections.
