

Exhibit D – Library Data – Libraries in Washington State

Note: To participate in the Statewide Database Licensing Project, a library must have non-profit status, and must not be federally funded. Over the course of the Statewide Database Licensing Project thus far, participants from all types of non-profit libraries in the state were included, with the exception of the six state-funded universities, which were also eligible to participate, but chose not to. The latest total population estimate for the state, released April 1, 2015, is 7,061,400.

Currently, participating libraries include 61 public libraries and library systems, 34 community and technical college libraries (including Washington Online/WAOL), 23 private academic libraries, 26 tribal libraries, 28 medical/research/special libraries participate, as well as most of the 2200+ public K-12 schools, and some of the 500+ private K-12 schools, both through the 9 Educational Service Districts (ESDs). State agency libraries are also eligible to participate; currently only two do: the Washington State Library itself, and the Ecology Dept. Library. The data provided here is for reference purposes, and is not intended to suggest that all listed libraries or populations will participate. Contact the RFP Coordinator if you need details that are not provided below or on one of the cited Web pages:

Public Libraries:

The Washington State Library publishes an annual statistical publication with information about public libraries:

<http://sos.wa.gov/q/WAStats>. In particular, review Table 9: Outlets, Registered Borrowers and Staff, for information about the population served and service outlets (number of buildings). The WSL population served data is based on information taken from the Washington Office of Financial Management Official Population Estimates: <http://www.ofm.wa.gov/pop/>. This table lists 2014 population served figures for public libraries in the state. Total 2014 public library population served is 6,862,264.

K-12 Libraries:

The Washington Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction's (OSPI) web site: <http://www.k12.wa.us/DataAdmin/> has data regarding enrollment in Washington State public and private K-12 schools. Note: Currently, both public and private K-12 schools that wish to participate in the statewide contract join through their individual Educational Service Districts. Some private schools have participated including the Archdiocese of Seattle Catholic Schools. Total public school enrollment as of 12/10/2014: 1,074,057.

Note: the six state-funded institutions of higher education listed here have traditionally chosen not to participate in the SDL project although they are eligible to do so. For CTC FTEs, the Washington State Board for Community and Technical Colleges: <http://www.sbctc.ctc.edu>, specifically the Annual Enrollment Summary Reports found at <http://www.sbctc.edu/colleges-staff/research-data/annual-reports/enrollment.aspx>. The numbers provided include headcounts, and FTE enrollments when available. Important Note: FTE enrollments should be used as the basis for calculating proposal costs whenever possible. For CTCs, the State Supported FTE count is used for electronic resource licensing purposes.

Medical and other Special Libraries:

All Washington non-profit medical, hospital, research, and other special libraries are eligible to participate in the state contract. The following is a list of the libraries that are currently participating in the state contract. Information on staff and personnel is self-reported by the participating institutions, and was collected in 2011. More current data will be collected later, and may be available during contract negotiations. An institution that does not have affiliated physicians is marked "n/a". Note: The "calculated FTE" count for medical/hospital libraries has been defined as "total FTE employed by the hospital x 1/3 + total affiliated physicians." This definition was agreed upon by the community of Washington medical librarians. The calculated FTE count is considered equivalent to academic FTE enrollment.

State Agency Libraries, including the Washington State Library

In addition to the other libraries listed, the Washington State Library (WSL) itself participates in the contract as a user. Any citizen of the State of Washington can obtain a library card from the Washington State Library and access contract databases through the WSL website at <http://sos.wa.gov/q/newsdatabases>.

Several other state agency libraries are branches or affiliates of WSL, and have access to the contract databases through the State Library account (they use the same authentication). For a list of these libraries, visit <http://sos.wa.gov/q/branches>. These include the Washington Department of Transportation (WSDOT) Library, Natural Resources Building Library, which serves the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife, the Utilities and Transportation Commission Library, and the Department of Labor and Industries Library. The Washington Talking Book and Braille Library is also a program of the Washington State Library.

WSL Institutional branches include Department of Corrections Branches at the Airway Heights Correctional Center, Clallam Bay Corrections Center, Coyote Ridge Corrections Center, Stafford Creek Corrections Center, Twin Rivers Corrections Center, Washington Corrections Center, Washington Corrections Center for Women, Washington State Penitentiary, and the Washington State Reformatory. Department of Social and Health Services Branches are at the Eastern State Hospital, and the Western State Hospital.

State Agency libraries that are NOT part of WSL, but which are independently eligible to participate in the contract include the Washington State Law Library, the Office of the Attorney General's Research Center, the Department of Ecology Library, the Washington Geology Library in the Department of Natural Resources, the Department of Information Services, Computer Services Division Library, and the Washington State Patrol's Forensic Laboratory Library. Currently, only the Dept. of Ecology Library participates.

Tribal Libraries

Currently, only 4 tribal libraries (other than Lummi) actively participate in the SDL contract, although all of them theoretically have access. Some tribal libraries are only minimally staffed, if at all, and are often unaware of SDL services available to them. Populations served (enrolled tribal memberships) by tribal libraries in Washington State. Source: "Tribal Membership List," dated April 1, 2010, from the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs, Northwest Regional Office. Supplied by the Washington Governor's Office of Indian Affairs. Total tribal enrollment is 59,704. Note: The Northwest Indian College, operated by the Lummi Tribe, is also listed under Private Degree-Granting Institutions in Washington State, as the library serves a dual role as both the college and tribal library.
