Delsarte and Dramatic Art.

The May number of the Atlantic contains a most interesting article on Francois Delsarte, hereafter to be known as the founder of the science of Dramatic Art. He was born at Solismes, in the northern part of France, is now sixty years of age, and has led a life full of strange vicissitudes and romantic episodes. His father was a physician and his mother a woman of rare abilities.

Shortly after the battle of Waterloo a detachment of the allied troops were passing through Solismes, in the midst of a dead and sullen silence, when the commandant's quick ear caught the sound of a childish voice crying Vive l'Empereur! Vive Na-pole-on! Every one smiled at the juvenile speaker's audacity except the stern officer, whose name has unfortunately escaped the infamous celebrity it deserved. By his orders a platoon of soldiers sought out the child's home and burned it to the ground; and thus little Francois Delsarte became the innocent cause of the ruin of his family.

Thenceforward the family was in a most deplorable condition. One reverse followed another, till the mother and her children were on the verge of starvation. She soon died, and at the age of nine years the boy Francois began life on his own account. His first service was as a drudge in a shop kept by an old woman, but fate seemed against him in every way, and one cold night he was picked up in the streets in a half-frozen state by a chiffonier. "And so the future artist commenced his professional career as a Parisian rag-picker." The story continues:

While wandering about the great city in the interest of his employer, his only solace was to listen to the songs of itinerant vocalists and the occasional music of a military band. Music became his passion. From some of the gamins he learned the seven notes of the scale, and, to preserve the melodies that delighted him, he invented a system of musical notation. On a certain holiday, when he was twelve years old, while listening to the delightful music in the garden of the Tuilleries, the little chiffonier busied himself with drawing figures in the dust. An old man of eccentric appearance, noticing his earnest diligence, accosted him.

"What are you doing there, boy?" he asked.

Terrified at first, but reassured by the kind manner of the stranger, Delsarte replied: "Writing down the music, sir."

"Do you mean to say those marks have any significance? That you can read them?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Let me hear you."

Encouraged by the interest manifested in him, the lad sang in a sweet and pure but sad voice the strains just played by the military band. The old man was amazed.

"Who taught you this process?"

"Nobody, sir; found it out myself."

Bambini—for it was the then distinguished, but now almost forgotten, professor—offered to take the boy home with him; and he who had entered the garden of the Tuilleries a rag-picker left it a recognized musician. In the dust of Paris were first written the elements of a system destined to regenerate art. Bambini taught his protege all he knew, but the pupil soon surpassed the master and became his instructor in turn; for if the one had talent, the other possessed genius.

Bambini predicted the future of Delsarte, and seems to have recognized his merit in an eminent degree. His death left the boy poor and friendless. At fourteen, however, Delsarte managed to get admitted into the Conservatory, where, though he labored hard, he met with harsh treatment and discouragement. Thrown upon his own resources, he soon developed, by careful observation of nature and a constant study of cause and effect, a system and a style radically differing from those of the professors and their servile imitators.

The praises of Malibran and Nourrit gave him courage, and decided him to follow implicitly the promptings of his own genius. His extreme poverty compelled him at last, when eighteen years of age, to apply to the Conservatory for a diploma which would enable him to secure a situation at one of the lyric theatres. It was refused.

The autumn of 1829 found him a shabby, almost ragged applicant at the stage-door of the Opera Comique. Repeated rebuffs failed to baffle his desperate pertinacity.

One day the director, hearing of the annoyance to which his subordinates were subjected to by Delsarte, determined to abate the nuisance by one of those cruel coup de main of which Frenchmen are pre-eminently capable. The next night, during the performance, when Delsarte called, he was, to his surprise and delight, shown into the great man's presence.

"Well, sir, what do you want?"

"Pardon, monsieur. I came to seek a place at your theatre."

"There is but one vacant, and you don't seem capable of filling that. I want only a call-boy."

"Sir, I am prepared to fill the position of a premier sujet among your singers."

"Imbecile!"

"Monsieur, if my clothes are poor, my art is genuine."

"Well, sir, if you will sing for me, I will hear you shortly."

He left Delsarte alone, overjoyed at having secured the manager's ear. In a few moments a surly fellow told him he was wanted below, and he soon found himself with the manager upon the stage behind the green curtain.

"You are to sing here," said the director. "There is your piano. In one moment the curtain will be rung up. I am tired of your importunities. I give you one chance to show the stuff you're made of. If you discard this opportunity, the next time you show your face at my door you shall be arrested and imprisoned as a vagrant."

The indignation excited in Delsarte by this cruel trick instantly gave way before the reflection that success was a matter of life and death with him, and that perhaps his last chance lay within his grasp. He forgot his rags; every nerve became iron; and when the curtain was rung up, a beggar with the bearing of a prince advanced to the foot-lights, was received with derisive laughter by some, with glances of surprise and indignation by others, and with a sad and patient smile on his countenance, gracefully saluted the brilliant audience. The courtliness of his manner disarmed hostility; but when he set down to the piano, ran his fingers over the keys, and sang a few bars, the exquisite voice found its way to every heart. With every moment his voice became more powerful. Each gradation of emotion was rendered with an ease, an art, an expression, that made every heartstring vibrate. Then he suddenly stopped, bowed and retired. The house rang with bravos. The dress circle forgot its reticence, and joined in the tumult of applause. He was recalled. This time he sang a grand lyric composition with the full volume of his voice, aided in effect by those imperial gestures of which he had already discovered the secret. The audience was electrified. It declared that Talma was re-enscated. But when he was a second time recalled his tragic mood had melted; there were "tears in his voice" as well as on his cheeks.

After the fall of the curtain the director grasped his hand, loaded him with compliments, and offered him an engagement for a year at a salary of ten thousand francs. He went home to occupy his wretched attic for the last time, and falling on his knees poured forth his soul in prayer.

The next day Delsarte, neatly dressed paid a visit to the directors of the Conservatoire.

"Gentlemen," said he, "you would not give me a recommendation as a chorister; the public have accorded me this."

And he displayed his commission as Comedien du Roi. Delsarte remained upon the lyric stage until 1834, when the failure of his voice, which had been strained at the Conservatory, compelled him to retire. He continued, however, the study of music, and his productions, particularly a Dies Ire, placed him in the front rank of composers. At this period of his life meditation and study resulted in a firm religious faith, which never wavered afterward.

He now applied himself to the task of establishing a scientific basis for lyric and dramatic art, and after years of patient labor perfected a system on which probably his fame will ultimately rest. His Cours for instruction in the principles of art was first opened in 1839. From the outset he was appreciated by the highly cultivated few, nor was it long before the circle extended and the new master won a European reputation. Some of his pupils were destined for a professional career, but many, men and women of rank and fortune, sought to learn from him the means of rendering their brilliant salons yet more attractive. Malibran, Rachel and Macready were among his pupils, as were also Sontag the gifted Madeline Brohan, Carvalho Barbot, Hasco and Pajol. He was the instructor in pulpit oratory of Pere Lacordaire, Pere Hyacinthe, and the present abbe of Notre Dame.

Notwithstanding the labor exacted by his great speciality, he has done much good work in various other directions. Among his mechanical inventions are a sonatype, a tuning instrument, by means of which any one can tune a piano accurately, an improved level, theodolite and sextant, a scale for measuring the differences in the solidity of fluids, &c. Of the conscientiousness with which he works it may be mentioned that he devoted five years to the study of anatomy and physiology, to obtain a perfect knowledge of all the muscles, their uses and capabilities—a knowledge which he has utilized with remarkable success.

Delsarte has sought neither fame nor wealth. He could easily have secured both by remaining on the stage as an actor, after he had lost his power as a vocalist. He preferred to surrender himself in comparative retirement to the study of science and art, and the instruction of those who sought his aid in mastering the principles of the latter. To the needy this instruction was imparted gratuitously, and more than one successful actress has been raised from penury to fortune by the benevolence of her teacher. It would be easy to cite many illustrations of the goodness and tenderness of this man. Religious fervor has largely influenced his life and is the key note to his character; but his faith is not hampered by bigotry. Like all minds of high rank, he holds that science and art are the handmaids of religion.

The personal appearance of Delsarte is said to be very impressive; years have not dimmed the fire of his eye, nor deprived the massive form of its vigor. His excellent wife is still living, and they have two daughters and three sons. The war of last summer whirled the sons into the French army, while Delsarte with his wife and daughters sought refuge in the country. Their city house is probably destroyed, and the Atlantic writer thinks it quite possible that Delsarte may be induced to remove to this country.

THE CASE OF THE ANNA BECK

It appears that the venerable sagebrush who does the criticism of the Custom House, for the Olympia Transcript, has discovered a new mare's nest within the confines of that mysterious institution, and straightway hastens to expose it to the public gaze.

We are not at liberty at this time to present the facts of this matter, which will duly appear when the case comes before the Court, but will simply say, on this point, that they are such as not only to justify the Collector in his action, but such as imperatively required him to proceed in the manner he did, and we feel assured that he will be sustained by the Secretary of the Treasury, as he has already been in several like cases.

We have not time nor space to allude further to other manifest inconsistencies and absurdities contained in the article referred to. If the case of the Anna Beck is impartially and fairly tried, we feel confident that the Collector will be fully sustained in his action, and our spiteful critic as fully discomfited.

BISMARCK PROPHECIES.—To the deputations welcoming him at the Frankfurt railway station, he said: "You may rely upon it, gentlemen, none of us will live to see another war."

An Alaska Adventure.

There are many among the class of Indian traders who scour our coasts in little sloops and schooners who can, for hours, sit and tell of the hair-breadth escapes they have made from death at the hands of the bloodthirsty hordes at the north.

One of these little traders left Sitka for Takou, and on the passage it happened that the schooner was becalmed. It was a beautiful August morning, clear, and though not yet 4 o'clock the sun was well advanced on his day's march.

This in itself, under some circumstances would have been nothing to notice, but as the morning was bright and clear, I thought it a little strange.

"In the meantime the Indians conversing forward had awakened the Indian boy asleep below, who had heard enough of their talk to understand that the party had come off to the schooner to kill me quietly, take what they could get their hands on, and leave the schooner to drift till some one on board should awaken, when the mischief would be discovered, but it would be impossible to tell who were the perpetrators.

This conversation was wholly intelligible to me, as from boyhood I had been on the coast, and well knowing the character of the men with whom I had to deal, I simply laughed at them, and told them they were great cowards to come off to my vessel to kill one man.

"This cowed them. All the Indians at the north have conceived a great fear of the Government, and when I told them that the goods belonged to Mr. Seward, whose name was familiar to them all, they immediately left the vessel.

"My boy, who so bravely placed himself between the gun and me, I left ashore at Sitka, when I sold my vessel, and the other day, when I was there I learned that the little fellow had been killed."

GONE TO SAN FRANCISCO.—Lieut. C. L. Hooper, well known on this station, and who for some time past has been in command of the Revenue Steamer Lincoln, left yesterday on the steamer Isabel for Victoria, where he will take passage on the steamer Prince Alfred for San Francisco.

PIG'S FEET AND RAW ONIONS.—Did you ever eat pig's feet? Never did? Then you were never on a time. There is no stronger proof of the assertion that the devil's in a hog, than the fact that when a fellow is out late he goes for pig's feet.

Circular. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, General Land Office, May 6, 1871. The following is an act approved July 14, 1870, to extend the provisions of the pre-emption laws to the Territory of Colorado, and for other purposes.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the provisions of the Act of May thirtieth, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An act to reduce the expenses of the survey and sale of the public lands in the United States," be, and the same are hereby, extended to Colorado; and the proviso of the first section of the act of June second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An act to establish a land office in the Territory of Colorado, and for other purposes," is hereby repealed.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That settlers on the public lands of the Territory of Colorado, who have been required to make proof and payment for their lands under the act to extend the provisions of the pre-emption laws to the Territory of Colorado, and for other purposes, approved July fourteen, eighteen hundred and seventy, and by instructions from the General Land Office, under date July thirty, eighteen hundred and seventy, shall have twelve months' additional time given them under which to make such proof and payment.

Approved March 3, 1871. These statutes leave the provisions of the law as heretofore respecting "offered lands," viz: filing within thirty days, and payment within twelve months after settlement.

The settler on surveyed "unoffered land" must file his or her declaratory statement within three months from the date of his or her settlement on such land, and, within thirty months from the expiration of said three months, make the proper proof and pay for such land.

Where settlers had already filed before the passage of the act, they are required to make proof and payment within two years from such passage; therefore, all filings made prior to that date will expire, by limitation of law, upon unoffered lands, on the 14th of July, 1872.

The settler on "unsurveyed land" must file his or her declaratory statement within three months from the date of the receipt, at the district land office, of entry upon which he or she has settled, and, within thirty months from the expiration of said three months, make the proper proof, and pay for such tract.

The proviso of the act of June 2, 1862, requiring filing within six months from survey in the field, and providing for filing with the Surveyor General, is repealed.

The restriction as to construction of the act of March 27, 1854, is called to your especial attention. In cases governed by these provisions you will please conform your action thereto.

The steamer Grappler arrived from Victoria on Saturday evening with Captain Fletcher, agent of the eastern Board of Underwriters, who brought up a steam pump, diving apparatus, and a crew of men. The pump, diving bell, and men were brought over to pump out and take the ship Keeler to San Francisco, Capt. Fletcher stating that he was fearful that the vessel might be condemned and sold, as she was known to be a very fine ship, and it was not known what might be the disposition of her. The satisfaction of Capt. Fletcher may be imagined, when he saw the Keeler in tow of the Goliath, going down the strait, being kept free in the same manner that he had conceived she could be—by steam pumps. Capt. Fletcher expressed his satisfaction as to the conduct of Capt. Allen of the Keeler, who undoubtedly did everything in his power that was possible and compatible with honesty to save the ship, and also to save expense to the underwriters.

THE POWDER HOUSE.—Our City Fathers became alarmed at the presence of powder in the stores, and went to work, in order to insure the safety of the city in this respect, and built a powder house exactly in the center of the town. In the rear and front gables of this powder house are ventilation holes, and at the rear, a child, were it so disposed, could thrust matches, fire, or what not into it, and then up would go our apple cart. There are many possible ways by which this powder house might catch fire, and if it should what difference would it make to the town if the powder exploded in it or in the stores? In either case it would endanger the lives of our citizens. The purpose of a powder house is to afford safety to the community, a thing which the one in question certainly does not.

Capt. Roberts, owner of the barkentine Harrison, which was reported to have sprung a leak in the Strait some weeks since, arrived here overland on Thursday last. Capt. Roberts intends to put the load of the Harrison into the Iconium, which vessel is now some fifteen days out from San Francisco. The Harrison has now become tight, and does not leak, to speak of. It is said that the cause of her leaking was bad stowage. She will be loaded with lumber or coal and taken to San Francisco. Capt. Roberts is one of the wealthy ship owners of the coast, and owns besides the Iconium and Harrison, the Mary Belle Roberts, Grace Roberts, and several other vessels.

FARM PRODUCE IN PORT TOWNSEND.—New potatoes can be had at the market at the modest price of eight cents per pound. Cabbage and turnips, are plenty. Strawberries have been brought in small quantities. There will be plenty of the latter in a few days. Green peas have not yet made their appearance. From the dairy comes an unusual supply of butter, selling from 30 to 40 cents per pound, retail; cheaper than ever before here, 25 cents for fresh butter was the least ever paid before this summer. Eggs are plentiful at 25 cents per dozen.

THE SHIP JAMES R. KEELER.—This vessel, which it will be remembered put back some two weeks ago waterlogged, put on board steam pumping gear, which pumped her dry in four hours. She passed down on Saturday, in tow of the Goliath, bound for San Francisco, where she will be repaired.

The new M. E. Church in Port Townsend, will be Dedicated and opened for Religious worship, one week from the coming sabbath: Services to commence at 11 o'clock, A. M., and will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Devore, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Laubach. It is expected and hoped that the friends upon the Sound will universally be present, and that our citizens, one and all, will honor the occasion by meeting with us. We shall be much pleased to see all there.

A. LAUBACH, P. C.

ASHORE.—The schooner Experiment, which went to Ebey's Landing, on Whidby Island, to take in some hay, was caught in a stiff nor'wester, yesterday, and in attempting to claw off, was driven ashore. Fears were entertained here last night that the schooner would go to pieces, as the sea was breaking clear over her; but reports from her this morning say that she is all O. K., hard and fast on the beach, and don't leak a drop.

CALIFORNIA CHARMSCOPE.—This evening this pleasing series of views, collected with great care, and embracing scenes from all parts of the world, will be exhibited at Masonic Hall. From the manner in which the press throughout the country speak of them they are certainly well worth seeing. They will be exhibited at Port Gamble, on Saturday evening, for the benefit of the new Masonic Hall.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY.—Mr. Ford, who some weeks since was in town with an assortment of millinery, will be in Port Townsend with an extra selection of choice articles, by the first of July, and will remain until after the fourth. Those who are unacquainted with Mr. Ford can see the advertisement of his establishment at Olympia, in another column. 36w2

The schooner Walter Raleigh arrived in port on Saturday, from San Francisco, and left same day for Seattle, for a load of coal for San Francisco. She brought 50 tons of merchandise and 4 passengers.

From what we saw on the street to day we think that the city fathers would do well to employ an able bodied policeman. We coincide with them in the principle to help along the naimed, where it can be done advantageously; but it don't seem to work in the case in question.

ON THE BEACH.—The revenue cutter Reliance was put on the beach yesterday to have her bottom cleaned.

The schooner Greyhound arrived, today, from Tacoma, loaded with lumber, and is bound for San Pedro.

The bark Gen. Cobb has anchored in the offing this morning, from Seabeck, bound for San Francisco.

Col. Larrabee brought three thousand oysters from San Francisco, to plant in the Sound.

On Friday morning the ship Isaac Jeans, from San Francisco, passed up, for Seabeck. She had on board fifty barrels of flour for the Washington Mill Co.

PASSED DOWN ON FRIDAY.—The ship Grace Darling, from Seabeck, for San Francisco; the bark Jenny Pitts, from Seabeck, for San Francisco, and the ship Eldorado, from Port Gamble, for Callao.

The steamer North Pacific has not yet arrived, though she was telegraphed as having left San Francisco on last Thursday morning. We suppose the rough weather has kept her back.

Maj. Enoch G. Adams has sold out of the Vancouver Register. That paper will now, it is said, be conducted as a respectable journal.

The Revere, loading piles at Port Discovery, has been detained on account of the weather, which has been so windy as to make it impossible for the tugs to get the piles to her.

Peter Martin, for striking an Indian with a stone, was fined $15 and costs by the Justice, last week.

SMOKE.—Already has the atmosphere commenced to be burdened with smoke. Indications now are that we will have our usual spell of thick weather this summer.

The French ship Perou sailed from Port Discovery last week, for Callao.

CHESAPEAKE BAY OYSTERS.—Three thousand bushels of selected oysters are on the steamer North Pacific, consigned to Olympia. Col. Larrabee purchased these oysters and intends to plant them in Butler's Cove, a short distance below Brown's wharf. Such enterprises as this benefit the entire community. We hope the new comers will do well.—Tribune.

The credulity of our neighbor, the Tribune, is somewhat extensive. We should like to see a copy of the Tribune after the publisher had read the story of Aladin's lamp. The idea of three thousand bushels of oysters to plant. Go to sleep again, sir.

OYSTERS.—Indians are daily busy gathering the oysters in Mud Bay and planting them anew on the beds prepared for them in Budd's Inlet. Next winter our markets will be supplied with the delicious bivalves which have grown fat and well flavored from transplanting.—Tribune.

Knock-downs, drunks, and various other things of the kind which have occurred in the few days past, indicate an approach to the character enjoyed by this place in days gone by. How long before the Government will have to pay for printing comments on the "rough character of our beach combers?"

The agent of the underwriters of the ship Keeler brought up $3,000 worth of apparatus to raise and keep the ship free, besides 10 tons of coal from Victoria.

STRAWBERRIES.—Mr. Hunt, of the Cosmopolitan, placed upon our table, yesterday, a dish of luscious strawberries, which were grown on his farm on Long Harbor. We are very thankful.

Mr. Wm. Korter, at the store of O. F. Gerrish & Co., has been appointed agent for this place of the Muckilteo Brewery.

THE REV. MR. LAUBACH will preach at the Episcopal Church in this place on next Sabbath at 11 1/2 o'clock.

The infant son of Moses Eaton died on Whidby Island, yesterday morning, of brain fever.

The bark Glimpse passed up on Thursday, for Seattle. She carried about 15 tons of freight.

The brig Fauntleroy arrived last night from up the Sound.

The ship Sahara is still loading at Port Discovery.

The world of to-day laughs at the therapeutics of fifty years ago. Blistering the head emptying the veins, and rasping the bowels with cathartics as irritating as chestnut burrs, will soon be consigned by universal consent to the limbo of rejected fallacies. In the meantime DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, the true ally of Nature, are effecting by a mild and painless process, such cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint and periodical fevers, as the world half a century ago would have deemed miraculous.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Great Preparation well as the World's greatest Remedy for all the Diseases of the Blood, and all the Disorders of the System.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Pure Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," etc., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the off-springs of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pastules, Bolls, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.
