FROM DAILY OF THURSDAY.

DESPERADOES AMONG THE ISLANDS.—The B. B. Mail says:—For the last month we have heard several complaints of a gang of two or three desperadoes who roam among the Islands of the Rosario Straits, and are said to be a terror to the settlers in that vicinity. They subsist by plundering the homes and preying upon the stock of the inhabitants. We have thus far refrained from speaking of it in the hope of daily hearing of their departure. But a few days ago we learned that they were still annoying the settlers. Quite a sum of money has been subscribed by the people of Bellingham Bay to secure the capture of these outlaws. A party of well armed men are now on their track, who are determined not to return without them.

OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENCES.

Complaint was this morning entered before Justice Smith by a man named Norris, one of the ticket-holders, in the Seattle Gold Coin Lottery, charging B. Conkleman, the manager, with obtaining money under false pretences, in selling tickets for that concern. His preliminary examination commenced this morning before Justice Smith, and finally, on motion of Mr. McNaught, attorney for the prosecution, was adjourned until next Monday. I. M. Hall, Esq., appeared for the defence.

The bark Iconium, which has been repaired at Port Blakely, was this morning towed over here by the tug Blakely. She will take in a quantity of ballast from the bark Osmyrn, and be towed back to Blakely to load lumber for San Pedro.

ESCAPE OF A PRISONER.

Sheriff Williams of Kitsap County came over here this morning and reported the escape of one of the prisoners, named Chas. Watts, from the Port Madison jail under the following circumstances:—The prisoners were returning from the cook-house, where they had been to supper, at half past 6 last evening, headed by the guard, who went in advance to open the trap door. As they turned the corner of the jail, Watts, who was at the end of line, slipped away into the brush. The guard was unable to follow him, fearing the prisoners would all run, so hurried them into the jail, dropped the trap and started back after Watts. He was unable to find him, however, as the brush is very thick in the neighborhood of the jail. Sheriff Williams, who arrived a few moments after the escape, telegraphed to all the milling towns on the Island offering a reward of $200 for his capture, and came over to town to-day and got out handbills to that effect. The following is his description: He is 45 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height, slim build, and stoops slightly. His hair is black, tinged with gray. He wore a gray shirt, dark pants and a faded sack coat. Watts, it will be remembered, is the man who was convicted some years ago, of murdering a man on San Juan Island, and whose case has been repeatedly appealed since. It was just decided adversely to him and he would have been sentenced to be hanged at the next term of Court at Port Townsend, where he was originally convicted.

CHICAGO, April 5.—The town election yesterday passed off quietly. Party lines were not closely drawn, but it is believed the republican or municipal reform ticket, in the South and Western towns and that the vote was very close in the Northern towns.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—The election is progressing quietly. The vote is light. The latest reports indicate that Left, republican, for governor, will have a majority over both the other opponents.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Dispatches from New England this evening, report a furious storm during the entire day in some places a foot of snow fell, succeeded by heavy rain. Serious floods are apprehended. The storm is unequalled in April, for a quarter of a century.

In the suit of Frank Moulton against Rev. H. W. Beecher, the demurrer of the defendant has been sustained with leave to the plaintiff to amend his complaint within twenty days on payment of costs.

A Washington special, says the reported opposition of Butler, had no influence one way or another in determining his rejection, according to report, two letters are in existence, one currently known as the Dana letter and another published in the Boston papers; the latter being original and genuine, for which reason the members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, pronounced untrue the statement heretofore made, that Dana did not desire to go before the committee. Dana did ask through two Senators to be allowed to go before the committee, and moreover the letter published in Boston, as coming from Dana on the subject, did signify that he wished to appear before the committee, while that submitted regarding Dana's rejection, the Times Washington special, says the unexpected large vote against confirmation, shows how effectual are the means other than speech making to secure results in that body. The session was exceeding interesting and brought to light some new elements of opposition to the confirmation of Dana that had not been seen before.

The voice of Boo Toombs again re-sounds in the Capitol to-day for the first time since he left the city to go to the movement of secession. To-day he argued a cotton case before the Supreme Court His opposing counsel being Ben Hill.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—At 1 o'clock P. M., Chief Justice Waite appeared in the Senate accompanied by Senators Edmunds and Sherman, and was escorted to a seat on the right of the president pro tem, and the following oath was then administered, first to Ferry and then to the Senators who were called by the Secretary in groups of six:

You do solemnly swear that in all things appertaining to the trial and impeachment of W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, now pending, you will do impartial justice according to the constitution and laws.

After the oath had been administered, the Chief Justice retired and Freelinghyusen submitted an order instructing the Secretary of the Senate to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate is now organized for the trial of the impeachment of W. W. Belknap, and ready to receive the managers of impeachment. Agreed to. Following was agreed to. Ordered that a summons be issued as requested by the rules of procedure and practice, to W. W. Belknap, returnable on Monday, the seventeenth day of the present month, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, this being satisfactory to the managers, the Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment, adjourned until the 15th instant.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Citizens' Anti Chinese Committee of twelve, held a meeting this evening and completed arrangements for a mass meeting to-morrow evening. A number of prominent gentlemen of this city and other towns have signified their willingness to address the meeting. Every preparation has been taken to preserve good order. In addition to the regular police force of 150 men and the regular specials about 200, there will be 50 extra specials sworn in for 24 hours. This evening the Chief of Police has ordered every man of the regular and special police to report for duty. A chain of policemen will be thrown around the Chinese quarters, while pickets will be posted in the avenues leading to that locality. To-day the Mayor held a consultation with the six companies, and in accordance with suggestions, all chinamen have been instructed by the companies to keep in doors, and so far as possible within the limits of their quarters.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 6.—House met at 2 o'clock P. M. to day. All members present except Premier, Smith and Bryden. Humphrey moved to adjourn on account of Premier's illness till the 15th instant. Walkem speaking for opposition, regretted that adjournment was asked for and believed the government ought to have framed a policy before Premier's illness so as to have been able to proceed in his absence. The opposition did not, however, intend to oppose the adjournment, as such course might be thought harsh. Motion carried unanimously. A large number of notices of motions and questions handed in. No important business transacted. House stands adjourned. Premier Elliott moving.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Gold closed at 113.

PROVIDENCE, April 6.—The full returns of yesterday's election for governor, give Lippitt, republican, 8,357; Howard, prohibitionist republican, 6,385; Beach, democratic, 3,062.

CHICAGO, April 5.—At a meeting of the Independent National Committee held to-day in this city, the following resolution was adopted: In view of the failure of the present Democratic House of Representatives and the Republican Senate of the United States, to repeal the odious and oppressive specie resumption act of January 14th 1875, and to devise further financial relief to the suffering industries of the country, and in view of the alarming developments of fraud, bribery and official corruption that pervades and debauches every branch of the public service, therefore, be it resolved that the National Executive Committee of the Independent party, do earnestly appeal to the people of the United States in every state, to organize and send delegates to the National Independent Convention, to be held at Indianapolis, Ind., May 23d, 1876, as the only hope of securing that just financial legislation and pure government which is indispensable to their welfare.

The World's Washington special says the President is greatly annoyed at the resolution passed by the House on Monday calling for any information of any executive offices or acts being performed away from Washington. This would cover the President's summers at Long Branch. It is believed the resolution will not be answered, it being incompatible with the public interest. It has been developed through the elaborate investigations by the naval committee of the house, that the difference between Ex-Secretary Belknap and Secretary Robeson, is that the former received his percentages on contracts direct, while the latter had his paid to his best friend and confidential agent.

The Senate Finance Committee recommended that various important changes be made in the so called silver currency bill of the House of Representatives. LONDON, April 6.—A Berlin dispatch says Russia intends to open shortly negotiations in regard to the codification of the international rights in time of war, and hopes England will adhere to the amended proposals of the Brussels conference. The Russian telegraph agency says that despite the happy conclusion of the armistice, the general situation of the Oriental question has rather been aggravated.

Five thousand workmen in the coal mines of North Derbyshire, have struck work in consequence of a proposed reduction of wages.

In the House of Commons this evening, Jenkins gave notice that he would question the government about an Ottawa telegram published here reporting that Mackenzie Premier of the Dominion of Canada, had, in the Canadian House of Commons, on the 4th inst., complained of the construction by the government of the United States of the treaty of Washington, and said he would ask, if true, what course England would adopt. The under secretary for the foreign department in reply to a question by Goldsmith, said it is true that Spain claims arrears of war taxes from British and other foreign residents, notably Americans, while the French, German and Belgian residents are exempt. England had made a claim for the exemption of British residents, and correspondence on the subject progresses. Spain's latest note promised that serious consideration would be given the matter.

FROM DAILY OF SATURDAY.

WATTS' ESCAPE.—Sheriff Williams informs us that at the time of the escape of Watts from the Kitsap county jail, there were two guards over the prisoners. They were on their way from the jail cook-house to the jail, the two buildings being about ten feet apart and connected by a platform. One guard went in a canoe and the other in the rear. As they passed out of the cook-house, one of the prisoners loitered an instant in the doorway, obstructing the rear guard's view. Watts took advantage of this momentary stoppage to run along the platform to the rear of the cook-house and jump off into the brush. A fence around the jail would have prevented any such escape as this.

From Daily of Monday.

Mr. W. McFarland furnishes us with an item of considerable interest. He lives down the on the sea-coast near Grays Harbor and during the season makes a profitable business hunting sea otter along the ocean beach. On the 18th of last February he picked up, on the seashore, about five miles north of the entrance to Grays Harbor, a small black bottle that seemed to have recently drifted ashore, which contained a slip of paper on which was written the following: "Sunday, November 16, 1873, at sea, at 10 A. M.; bark Milan; Cape Mendocino bearing East 1/2 North; Dist. 68 miles; Lat. 40 deg., 44 min. N.; Long. 125. 45 min. West., pr. Sumner method. J. R. Snow.

Cape Mendocino is in latitude 39 nearly, and Grays Harbor 40 north, so the bottle had drifted in a direct line nearly 450 miles and no knowing how many more to and fro. We think the Milan was lost some time ago. Can any of our down sound exchanges add anything of interest regarding the matter. —Olympian.

The Milan was not lost at sea but took fire and burned to the water's edge in San Francisco harbor last summer. She belonged to the Port Gamble Mill Co. The bottle in question was probably thrown overboard to note the set of the currents.

The Seattle Coal Co. commenced a suit before Justice Scott this morning to have the land occupied by their railroad from Lake Washington to the coal mine, condemned and to have appraisers appointed to assess the damages. John Ross, one of the parties through whose land the line runs, demurred to this, but the Court overruled his demurrer and the following gentlemen were appointed appraisers; Messrs. George, F. Matthias and M. R. Maddocks.

A BOY'S IDEAS OF HEADS.—Heads are of different shapes and sizes. They are full of notions. Large heads do not always hold the most. Some persons can tell what a man is by the shape of his head. High heads are the best kind. Very knowing people are called long headed. A fellow that won't step for anything or any body is called hot-headed. If he isn't quite so bright they call him soft headed; if he won't be coaxed nor turned they call him pig-headed. Animals have very small heads. The heads of fools slant back. When your head is cut off you are be-headed. Our heads are all covered with hair, except bald heads. There are other kinds of heads besides our heads. There are barrel heads, heads of sermons—and some ministers used to have fifteen heads to one sermon; pia heads, heads of cattle, as the farmer calls his cows and oxen; head winds, drum heads, cabbage heads, at loggerheads. Come to a head, heads of chapters, head him off, head of the family, and go ahead—but first be sure you are right.

PASSING THE FAMILY.—The Aurora III. Beacon says, speaking of a certain railroad officer: Speaking of Cross reminds us that when he first removed to Riverside, numerous Irish women and colored men were employed for house cleaning, and they were sent to and from the city day by day on Mr. C.'s family pass. One day this pass was presented to Hi. Evans by a charming young lady. The affable conductor inquired, 'Are you a member of Mr. Cross' family?'

'Yes, sir,' was the reply, accompanied by a winning smile. 'Singular,' muttered Hi.; 'I have seen this pass several times, but supposed Mr. C.'s family were all Irish.' The young lady's eyes flashed fire and in a thoughtful mood Evans resumed his call for 'tickets!'

Next day Sam Crance was in charge of the train that conveyed the young lady to the city and the same pass was presented. 'Are you a member of Mr. Cross' family?' asked the conductor.

'I am, sir,' said the lady, in an irritated tone. 'I have the honor of being his daughter.'

Sam looked suspicious, but finally remarked: 'You will excuse me for being so particular, but orders are imperative. This pass has been presented to me several times of late, and I was under the impression that Mr. Cross was a colored man.'

The flash of indignation which overspread the countenance of the lady was more convincing than argument, and Sam abandoned his investigations.

Of course Miss C. related the occurrence to her father, and his rage knew no bounds. He registered a solemn vow to kill every conductor on the line, but what he would have satisfaction. Several weeks elapsed before he discovered the offending ones, and by that time his feelings were considerably mollified, and both Hi. and Sam still live.

When Gen. Jackson was President, Jimmie O'Neil, the porter, was a marked character. He had his foibles, which were offensive to the fastidiousness of Col. Donaldson, and caused his dismissal on an average about once a week. But in an appeal to the higher court, the verdict was invariably reversed by the good nature of the old General. Once, however, Jimmie was guilty of some flagrant offense, and was summoned before the highest tribunal at once. The General, after stating the details of the case, observed: 'Jimmie, I have borne with you for years, in spite of all complaints, but in this act you have gone beyond my power of endurance.'

'And do you believe the story?' asked Jimmie. 'Certainly,' answered the General. 'I have just heard it from two Senators.'

'Faith,' replied the porter, 'if I believed all that twenty Senators said about you, it's little I'd think you fit for President.'

'O pshaw! Jimmie,' concluded the President, 'clear out and go to your duty, but be more careful in future.' Jimmie remained with his kind hearted patron not only until the close of his Presidential term, but accompanied him to the Hermitage, and was with him to the day of his death.

There will be required at Fort Walls Walls during the fiscal year commencing July 1st, 1876, 2,600 cords of soft wood, 800,000 pounds of oats, 400,000 tons of barley, 1,500,000 pounds of hay, 400,000 pounds of straw, and 2,000 bushels of charcoal.

Paul Haupt, of Denver, served throughout the war without receiving a wound, and when his regiment was sent to Arizona he on one occasion fought five Apaches single handed, killing three of the number. The other day he was crushed to death between two blocks of ice in an ice house.

'Meet me by gaslight alone,' sang a Harlem swain beneath the window of his lady love. 'Now, you get out; I ain't no gas meter,' replied the gentle creature, throwing open the lattice, and sending down the contents of the tea kettle on his head.

BERRIAN BROWN, EDITOR

Seattle, W. T., April 13, 1876.

Public Demoralization.

There is probably no position in life, the choice of which is left to one's own volition, more thankless, less remunerative, and more unpleasant to a man of ordinary sensibility, than that of an independent editor. If he performs his simple duty to the public, honestly, fearlessly, and conscientiously, he is certain to incur the hostility not only of the vicious, but frequently of persons of the better portion of community—perhaps of his most intimate friends, whose personal interests may be damaged or personal schemes thwarted thereby. If he neglects or attempts to evade any of his duties as a voluntary sentinel of the public interests and public morals, he not only forfeits the confidence of those whose respect is worthy of esteem, but what is worse, his own self-respect, and renders himself liable to the imputation of acting from mercenary and selfish motives—the meanest characteristics which disgrace journalism; for there is no form of prostitution more detrimental to public morals than the prostitution of the public press, the great artery of popular intelligence. One of the most eloquent and distinguished divines of this country, once said in a public address: "Woe to the bad man who uses that place for bad ends! Woe to the liar who can use the mighty engine in his hands to spread his lies! Woe to the coward who occupies that post! Woe to the vile who poisons what should be a river of pure truth and good for the earth's refreshing—the river of the world's printed thoughts—with the poison of his villainies! No! let us bear hypocrites, and liars, and cowards, and venal time-servers in the pulpits, just as soon as bear them at the printing presses of this land!"

These sentiments commend themselves to every honest, intelligent and thinking man; and yet how thoughtless and lax we all are in accepting the practical test of this truth. For one, we are forced to acknowledge that we have not on all occasions maintained that standard which has the full approval of our judgment. A case in point is now agitating this community. At the last session of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory, through influences that are more easily understood here than explained to others, an act was passed and approved by the Governor, creating a lottery, ostensibly for the improvement of the Snoqualmie road. It provided that ten per cent. of the proceeds of any lottery organized under this act should be paid towards the contemplated improvement. The object was one in which the people of this city were greatly interested. It was generally understood at the time that the act was only intended to enable Mr. Yesler to dispose of valuable estate in this city in such manner as to enable him to endow the road fund with about $30,000 from the profits, while the entire proceeds from the sale of tickets would accrue to the advantage of Seattle, and none of the property to be drawn could be removed from the town. In this interested view of the matter it seemed as if the entire popular sentiment of the community approved the measure, and it would be folly or madness to oppose it. We had ever regarded gambling as one of the most debasing vices, the fruitful parent of all other crimes, and lottery gambling the most insidious and enticing phase of gambling, from its quasi respectability acquired by legal toleration. So strongly were we impressed with the immoral tendency of this system; so often had we witnessed its provocation to grosser forms of the same vice; that for forty years in which we have been practically engaged in publishing newspapers, we would not, under any inducement, permit a lottery advertisement to appear in our columns. Since we have published a newspaper in Seattle, we have rejected lottery advertising which would have netted us several hundred dollars, solely because we deemed it a wrong per se, and awful provocative of public demoralization. But in an unguarded moment, surrounded by a popular sentiment that it seemed folly to resist, urged by considerations of personal friendship towards parties interested, influenced perhaps by the example of men who held more influential positions, including preachers of the gospel and men high in civil office, we yielded our public assent to a measure which our conscience condemned. The result has been what ought reasonably have been anticipated. Seattle is to-day, under the color of law and the protection of the legal authorities, an open gambling hell, in which representatives of all classes in community participate. Under the act intended for the disposal of Mr. Yesler's property in a manner which would revert to a worthy and desirable object, the County Commissioners have licensed other lotteries which are mere gambling schemes. Among these was the lottery drawn on Monday last, upon the public square, in the central portion of the city, when was witnessed a scene which ought to shock the sensibilities of every citizen who has any regard for public or private morals. It had not a single redeeming feature over rondo, monte, faro, or any other gambling device ever invented, save its legal endorsement, and that was the very fact which made its influence more demoralizing than any illicit system of gambling which meets public reprobation. Among the hundreds of men, women and children, representing every phase of society, and brought upon a common level by a common lust for gain, we saw among other scenes of like character, a Christian minister and a notorious keeper of a squaw brothel in close conversation while eagerly watching the turn of the wheel in which they had mutually staked their money.

We mean to make no reflection upon the character of the men who conducted this gambling device. There were among them men of the highest business character and credit. They had sufficient credit to command an advance and certificate of deposit from the Bank of $20,000 in gold coin, without depositing a dollar. Upon this credit at the Bank, they guaranteed to the purchasers of tickets a like amount of prizes, with a license from the County Commissioners to sell tickets to double the amount of the prizes. Upon the day of drawing it was announced to the assembled masses of ticket-holders that but a little over one half of the tickets had been sold, amounting to $20,515, and that therefore, the managers could only pay 50 cents on the dollar of the prizes drawn. This was put to vote and assented to by those present; leaving to the managers of the scheme over $10,000 for the use of their credit and expenses. Their license allowed them one hundred per cent. upon the whole and they took it out pro rata. The drawing upon this basis was unquestionably fairly conducted; but a dealer of monte or faro who would compound with the winners for fifty cents on the dollar would be kicked out of the profession as a lik and swindler. But as to the dealings between the managers and their customers we have no business. It is but the system which we denounce as corrupting, demoralizing and fraudulent.

There is another gambling institution under license, carried on daily and nightly in a public room, opening upon the side-walk in the business centre of the city, which is constantly crowded with eager gamblers, many of whom probably never gambled before, the receipts of which are said to net $150 a day. The managers of this institution ply their vocation under license and the protection of the law, the same as the managers of the gold lottery.

A most solemn question of public and private consideration is: Where does all this money come from—not only the amount daily squandered in this open gambling house, but the $20,000 taken by the larger institution lately drawn? It comes mainly—though not entirely—from the most impecunious classes in the community. How many employer's tills have been rifled? How many innocent women and children have suffered for the money that husbands and fathers have squandered upon these gambling devices? How many honest creditors have been defrauded? And, alas! how many promising youths will get their first initiation in a vice the natural tendency of which is to the penitentiary or the gallows. The men who carry on no worse a system of gambling without the protection of law, and away from public observation, are regarded as criminals and outlaws, and when caught and convicted are subjected to the severest penalties and greatest public odium. The same public sentiment, the same public authorities, the same statutes, tolerate, license and protect, a more flagitious, because a more public system of gambling, not a whit better in any of its moral phases.

The history of the country proves that wherever lotteries have been tolerated by law, the victims of lottery gambling may be numbered by scores and hundreds. After the drawing of the great San Francisco lottery, which was under the patronage of the "Young Men's Christian Association," and intended for a most worthy object, the local papers of that State were teeming with reports of crimes, suicides and insanity, the direct result of that lottery. The same consequences are just as likely to follow here, and we shall be most agreeably disappointed if the crimes growing out of our present lottery system do not cost the County and Territory ten times as much as is received for their licenses.

The lust of gain, the greed to become rich without labor, is the consuming passion of the age, effecting every condition of society, from the highest to the lowest, and woe to that community, that society, which makes its statutes and popular sentiment pander to this unwholy passion!

PHYSICIAN TO THE INSANE ASYLUM.—We do not sympathize in the personal animus that manifestly prevails with the writer of the communication from Steilacoom; but agree entirely in his view of the impropriety of seeking a position like that of physician to the insane, through popular petition, or personal, or party favoritism. Nothing is more common than for the most pretentious empiric to be the most popular practising physician in a community, and nothing is deemed more unprofessional among learned and meritorious physicians than a manifest attempt to court popular favor by pandering to popular ignorance and credulity. The very fact of a physician seeking position in the line of his profession through popular petition, instead of through the endorsement of his peers of the medical fraternity, is conclusive evidence to the well-informed that he is unfit for the place. We have no personal acquaintance with this Doctor Ballard; but we know that a combined effort was made to perpetrate the system of keeping the insane by contract, with special reference to private interests, and that he achieved his present position by lending himself to the intrigue by which the object was to be accomplished, and thereby forfeited the confidence and respect of every respectable physician upon Puget Sound; and that he defended the system of brute force and punishment heretofore practiced under the contract system, which has been discarded in every respectable Insane Asylum in the land. We also know, from undisputable sources, that he holds to the theory that insanity is exclusively an inherent mental malady, entirely independent of physical causes; a theory which logically precludes the possibility of permanent cure. It is impossible for any physician to successfully "minister to minds diseased" upon any such absurd theory. From the foregoing facts and the estimation in which Dr. Ballard is held by the medical fraternity generally, we have been forced to the conclusion that he is a squirt, and we believe the Trustees of the Insane Asylum have too much sense, and too much regard for unfortunate insane, to place them under the care and control of any such man.

For the DISPATCH. The Asylum Ring.

A petition praying the Board of Trustees of the Institution for the Insane to elect a certain M. D. to the position of medical superintendent is being quite thoroughly and extensively circulated in this county, and probably elsewhere. The runners, hirelings and understrappers for the Ring are hunting up, imploring, begging, and importuning every man, woman and child to attach their signatures to this wonderful instrument of writing, which is to accomplish the work at one fell-swoop before the Board of Hospital Trustees.

Their efforts in this county, with the exception, perhaps of this place, have been attended with but very poor success, as the majority of the best citizens declined to sign any such document, very sensibly and appropriately assigning as a reason therefor, that they know comparatively very little concerning the qualifications, just claims and fitness or otherwise of this would-be superintendent for the position.

This is indeed a very artful and novel way to secure an appointment of medical Superintendent of an institution for insane. With propriety in this case the question may be raised, what do these petitioners, who have been urged to the action of petitioning, know of the qualifications, claims, etc., of Dr. Ballard to entitle him to the position? It will be remembered by not a few that this medical aspirant is the one whose record has been very seriously and justly called in question as a reputable physician. It will not be forgotten by those who were in attendance at the trial of Dr. Glass for murder in Portland, Oregon, that this Dr. Ballard and an old Dutch corn doctor were all that could be found among men known and styled as doctors, to testify in behalf of the criminal. It will not be forgotten also how the lawyers, who were engaged in prosecuting the case, assailed Dr. B. on the question of specific (?) medicines used in procuring abortions. Amongst the whole array of medical talent of Oregon brought on the witness stand, Dr. B., who made such a remarkable display of his very profound knowledge of Medicine, was the only one, with perhaps the exception of the old corn doctor, who stated that the oil of tansy was a specific (?) in procuring abortions!!

Perhaps such knowledge of the science of medicine would assign him to the front rank of the profession in the estimation of those whose signatures grace his petition. It is useless here to go further into the record of Dr. Ballard as physician, as his actions throughout the whole Asylum controversy show clearly his true character. It is notoriously known that he accepted a bribe from contractor Harmon to come over here to assume the championship of the barbarous plan of caring for the insane by the contract system.

Moreover it is well known to the public that he did everything in his power to prevent a proper hospital organization and now, forsooth, he turns around and has the impudence to ask—may even, to importune the people to come to his rescue by influencing the action of the Board in order that he may be placed at the head of the very organization which he so bitterly and vehemently opposed. Oh! Consistency, what a jewel! Have the people of this Territory, forgotten so soon the facts relating to the sudden accidental (?) death by poisoning of the convalescent patient Mitchell at the Asylum? Was this subject not alluded to in our legislative halls, and was it not clearly and truthfully demonstrated that if Dr. Ballard had been absent from his post of duty there would have been one less grave?

We opine that the Board of Trustees will heed these facts when they take into consideration the matter of electing a medical superintendent.

Respectfully yours, ONE OF THE PEOPLE. STEILACOOM, W. T., April 3, 1876.
