Note the Bright Hours Only.

BY MRS. BOLTON.

A lesson worth studying,
Is this, "I take no note of time,
Save when the sun is shining."
The motto words a kind benediction,
And wisdom never reaches
To human heart a better lore
Than his short sentence teaches:
As life is sometimes bright and fair,
And sometimes dark and lonely,
Let us forget its pains and cares,
And note its bright hours only.

There is no grove on earth's broad chart
But has some hint to seek its light;
So hope sings on in every heart,
Although we may not hear it;
No portion but the bitter,
Of sorrow is pressing,
Perchance to-morrow's sun will bring
The weary heart a blessing;
For life is sometimes bright and fair,
And sometimes dark and lonely.

We bid the joyous moments haste,
And then forget their gait—
We take the gift of life and taste
The sweets that heaven sends;
But we should teach our hearts to deem
Its sweetest drops the strongest;
To linger round its longest,
As life is sometimes bright and fair,
And sometimes dark and lonely.

Waterloo the Day after the Battle.

On a surface of two square miles, it was assessed that 50,000 men and horses were lying! The luxurious crop of ripe grain which had covered the field of battle was reduced to a litter, and beaten into the earth; and the surface, trodden down by the cavalry, and furrowed deeply by the cannon wheels, was strewn with many relics of the fight. Helmets and carcases, shattered fire-arms and broken swords; all the variety of military ornaments, lancer caps and Highland bonnets; uniforms of every color, plumes and pennons; musical instruments, the apparatus of artillery, drums, bugles; but good God! why dwell on the harrowing picture of a foughten field? Each and every ruinous display bore mute testimony to the misery of such a battle. Could the melancholy appearance of this scene of death be heightened, it would be by witnessing the researches of the living amidst his desolation for the objects of their love—Mothers, and wives, and children, for days were occupied in that mournful duty; and the confusion of the corpses, friend and foe intermingled, as they were, often rendered the attempt at recognizing individuals difficult, and in some cases impossible. In fact, the dead lay in long deep trenches on each other, marking the spot some British square had occupied, when exposed for hours to the murderous fire of a French battery.
Outside, lancer and cuirassier were scattered about in a wild confusion; and the dead lay serried bayonets of the British, they had fallen, in the bootless essay, by the musketry of the inner files. Further on, you traced the spot where the cavalry of France and England had contested. Chasseurs and hussars were intermingled; and the heavy Norman horses of the Imperial Guard were intermingled with the gray chargers which had carried Alibon's chivalry.
From the Highlander and the dragoon lay, side by side, together; and the heavy dragoon, with Green Erin's badge upon his helmet, was grasping in death with the Polish lancer. On the summit of the ridge, where the ground was covered with dead, the British and French were and gone; by the frequent rush of rival cavalry, the thick-stemmed corpses of the Imperial Guard pointed out where Napoleon had been defeated. Here, in column, that favored corps, on whom his fate had rested, had been annihilated; and the advance and reserve of the Guard was traceable by a mass of fallen Frenchmen.
In the hollow below, the last struggle of France had been vainly made; for there the Old Guard, when a mid-land detachment of government back, attempted to meet the British, and afford here for their disorganized companions to rally.
Here the British left, which had converged upon the British line, and had been scattered; and bayonets closed the contest.

We to-day give the 1st Resolution of the famous Kentucky Resolutions of 1798-99, (the original draft of which was by Thos. Jefferson) which was incorporated in the Chicago Platform upon which McClellan and Pendleton stand in accepting the nominations for the Presidency and Vice Presidency:

Resolved, That the several States comprising the United States are not united on the principle of unlimited submission to their general government; but that, by compact, under the style and title of a Constitution for the United States, and of amendments thereto, they constituted a General Government for special purposes, delegated to that government certain definite powers, reserving each State to itself, the residuary mass of right to their own self government; and that, whenever the general government assumes undelegated powers, its acts are unauthorized, void and of no force; that to this compact each State acceded as a State, and is an integral part; that this government, created by this compact, was not made the exclusive or final judge of the extent of the powers delegated to itself, since that would have made its discretion, and not the Constitution, the measure of its powers; but that, in all other cases of compact among parties, having no common Judge, each party has an equal right to judge for itself as well of infractions as of the mode and measure of redress."

The unprecedented prosperity and success of the people of the United States under their government for the past fifty years, has been so great that the political obligations and responsibilities resting upon them, have been so lightly regarded, that sectional agrarianism and strife has superseded that faith and reliance in the true spirit and genius of our institutions, which are alone the only means able to grasp and encircle within their folds all the aims and objects that would, not only secure national honor, but the greatest security, prosperity and happiness to all as one people; and the result has been, not only, civil war, with all its attending horrors, but the most fearful state of demoralization, and the people, blinded by passion, not only disregard the obligations of one section to another, even when there are reciprocal interests, but disregard the obligations of one to another which christian duties demand and society imposes, which evils, unless checked by some stronger influence than self-interest or political success for mere partisan purposes, will lead to anarchy and ruin.

The first duty of every voter is to thoroughly understand the peculiar formation of our political organization, its object and aims, and our relative duties in the premises. To do this, we must construe the Constitution of the United States—that chart of political liberty—in the spirit in which it was intended to operate—that is, the greatest good to the greatest number, and not accept theories claimed to be legitimate deductions from that wise instrument which, if practically demonstrated, would result in the concentration of all political power in the hands of a few, to the end, that the representative principle—the basis and main feature of our political system—might be by degrees circumventing all the wise purposes intended in the development of the science of free government, which for the period of three quarters of a century has been a success upon this continent; and the examples set by its beneficent influences, have done more to ameliorate the condition of the down-trodden and oppressed subjects of the despots of Europe, than the combined armies of the world could have accomplished for the same end, during the same time.

A more erroneous, or mistaken idea was never inculcated than that the United States Government was too weak—from the inadequacy of the strength of its center to sustain the weight of its extremities—for its own maintenance, by strictly confining the powers exercised by it, within the authority derived from the several States; for, its strength lies in the free circulation of those elements derived from the only legitimate sources of power—the people, in their free and just exercise of the representative principle, the principle that constitutes the life-blood of the nation. By reference to our statute books, it will be seen that our laws embrace all that wisdom could divine, and it is to their non-enforcement alone, that our present difficulties can be attributed. The demoralization of the times so perverted men's minds, that custom and evasion of law established precedents, in direct violation of law, which were made pretexts for designing men to judge of their own moral obligations as best suited the convenience and interests of themselves and followers, pandering to all the baser passions of man's nature, instead of laboring to instruct those less informed in regard to their paramount duties as members and component parts of our social compact. Many converts to the false, and apparently popular theory for a time, that this was intended for a centralized form of government, have become alarmed at the discovery that the federal government has not been able to fulfill its true mission as administered upon this theory, and in their apprehensions of anarchy, endeavor without inquiring into the causes or nature of the disease, to apply remedies, which, instead of mitigating only tend to aggravate and complicate. The machinery of our government, when in full and perfect operation, is the most simple and beautiful piece of mechanism ever devised by human understanding. The representative principle is the motive power and the States' right principle the moderator of the power applied, creating that beautiful equilibrium and harmony in its workings which has been unequalled in the history of the world and until recently challenged the unqualified admiration and respect of the present age. Destroy the motive power and the machinery would be worthless; destroy the moderator, and the machinery would be propelled with a velocity that would soon rack it to pieces, and nothing less than the power given by the interposition of divine Providence would save enough from the wreck to construct new machinery of the most ordinary character and capacity.

We must return to first principles and maintain the rights of the States as integral parts of the Union. Heed not the false teachings of those who claim and believe they possess a divine right to govern, regardless of all interests, opinions and feelings but their own. All who are oppressed through the mal-administration or perversion of national law must seek redress through the properly constituted authorities of their State or Territorial government, and not seek to take the law in their own hands. Individuals can commit treason but States cannot.

Fanaticism for a long time only rusted the polished parts of our machinery and marred its external beauty; but for the want of a seasonable application of oil, composed of conciliation and compromise with pure intents, the rusting has become so serious that the most important parts are affected and so disjoined and out of plumb that almost superhuman power is required to keep it in motion at all. Every man, woman and child living within the bounds of the United States has either a direct or indirect representative interest in the affairs of government, the maintenance of which in its integrity, is not only a right, but a solemn and imperative duty. We have already boasted that those who executed our laws were our servants; but unless we heed the warnings of the great and good man who bequeathed us this heritage, the servants will soon be come absolute masters.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.—The States excluded from participating in the approaching Presidential contest by act of Congress, are as follows:

Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, and Arkansas.

The President and Vice President are therefore to be chosen from the following States: Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, California, Oregon, and Nevada. Total, 35 States—Electorals 241. Necessary to a choice, 121.

The aggregate electoral vote of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois is 116—five less than a majority. All these States gave Democratic majorities in 1862. A fair vote in the States of Kentucky, Missouri, Maryland, Delaware, New Hampshire, and Connecticut, would give likely give a Democratic majority, making 159 electoral votes for McClellan and Pendleton. The Democrats of California have strong hopes of carrying that State, which would add five more electoral votes to McClellan's list. Oregon is not hopelessly Lincolnized and may yet cast her three votes for the young Giant, Little Mac; and Nevada, (if allowed her vote according to Republican agreement,) will give three votes to the Democratic nominees. Thus it will be seen that McClellan's prospects look very flattering, at all events, and what renders a Democratic victory still more probable, is that our exchange papers, coming from all parts of the States, speak of hosts of new converts to the Democratic faith from the Lincoln party.

SOME RESULTS.—The Marysville Express gives glowing accounts of the prospects for a Democratic triumph in California at the coming election. It states that former supporters of Mr. Lincoln's Administration are quitting the concern and going over to the McClellan standard by hundreds, throughout the State. Of the

Every day we have to record the capture of one or more by the Copperheads. Some of them are, like the Auburn Stars and Stripes, dismounted and spiked as worthless truck-wheels are wheeled about and turned on the enemy. Two days ago the Old Platte battery was captured, and is doing glorious execution in the ranks of the demoralized, beggarly remnants of Lincolnism in Nevada Territory. Yesterday the Alta California, the oldest paper in the State, the organ of Front street and the powerful monied interest of California, came out for Little Mac. What next?

We notice that the "Bulletin" is still blowing for Lincoln, though very softly, and with an apparent "don't care much" sort of a style. The party that offers the most "peanut" will get the Bulletin.

CHANGED.—Among the number of prominent men that have recently changed from Lincoln to McClellan men, in California, we notice the names of Louis McLane, H. H. Haight, W. T. Coleman and J. P. Hoge—all of these are wealthy and influential men. Of Louis McLane, the Bulletin says: "He is really a man of very great influence—perhaps he wields more power over political and public questions than any other man in the State. His position at the head of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, with all its extensive connections, gives him opportunity for exercising power in every village, town and city on the Pacific coast. But besides this, Mr. McLane is prominently connected with nearly every large corporation in the State."

Besides all these advantages of position he is possessed of a vigor and mental heat of mind, that in nine cases out of ten gives his opinion controlling influence wherever his advice is sought."

WITHDRAWAL OF FREMONT & COCHRANE.—The dispatches this week announce the withdrawal of Fremont and Cochrane as candidates for the Presidency. Fremont says:

"I believe I am consistent with my antecedents in withdrawing, not to aid in the triumph of Lincoln, but to do my part toward preventing the election of the Democratic candidate. * * * Lincoln's Administration has been politically, militarily and financially a failure, and its necessary continuance is a cause of regret for the country. * * * United the Union Republican party is reasonably sure of success; divided the result is at least doubtful."

This is a fair specimen of Fremont's consistency. To defeat the Democratic candidate, he would lend his influence to keeping in office a man whom he has denounced as wholly unqualified for the position, and whose Administration has been "politically, militarily and financially a failure." A failure in everything that tends to the good of a nation. But every one who has watched Fremont's course since the time when he first came before the people as a candidate for Presidential honors will agree that he is right when he says he is "consistent with his antecedents." But as to the success of the "Union Republican party," we opine the "doubt" will not be changed in its favor by the withdrawal of Fremont; for it is hardly probable that his party will long allow themselves to remain without a candidate. The free speech, free press wing of the party could with much more consistency vote for McClellan than Lincoln, and their organs have repeatedly asserted that the restoration of the Union upon the basis of the Constitution, with slavery, would be preferable to the extinction of the institution and with it Lincoln's abridgement of white liberty. We are much mistaken if such journals as Brownson's Review, the New Nation and a score of others that we might name can follow Fremont into the support of Lincoln. These publications have been severer in their denunciations of the Administration than the papers termed by the Republicans the "secess organs."

Eastern News.

The dispatches announce that the accounts of Indian depredations on the plains have been greatly exaggerated, and the reports of the massacre of large bodies of immigrants are without foundation. Probably not more than forty persons in all have been killed. The Superintendents of the mail routes have returned their stock to the road, and the mail lines are again in operation.

Sheridan has met the enemy in the Shenandoah valley and gained a great victory over them. Upon the recommendation of the Rumors are current that Jeff Davis has been making peace propositions. The reports are said, by some correspondents, to be without foundation.

A rumor is also current that Gen. Sherman is about to enter into peace negotiations with the authorities of Georgia, and that President Lincoln is engaged in a peace proposition to be sent to all the other commanders.

Grant is reported as continuing to express assurances that he has the enemy at Richmond within his grasp.

Firing upon Charleston has been renewed.

Why They Left.—In conversations held with different immigrants, just in from the Plains, we learn that the principal cause of their leaving comfortable homes in the Northwest, was on account of the insecurity of their lives and property, rendered so by threatened violence from the intolerant Abolitionists in that section. The negro-worshippers would not tolerate an honest expression of anti-abolition views from their opponents, and in many cases threatened to take the lives of Democrats unless they left the country. Accordingly, many have come to this country to escape oppression and secure themselves from the terrorism that surrounded them in their old homes. Think of it: that in what is understood to be a free country, men are driven from their firesides for the mere fact of differing in opinion with a fanatical set of abolitionists, upon questions of public policy! And what makes the matter more outrageous still, is that these same abolitionists pretend to be in favor of all men enjoying perfect freedom and equality throughout the land, and yet their tyrannical and proscriptive policy toward all who differ with them, constantly gives the lie to their liberty-loving professions.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the people residing upon this coast will never countenance such acts of intolerance as that we have alluded to. If ever the time comes when we shall become so intolerant as to ostracize men for the free expression of opinion, we should at once renounce all pretensions to the love of republican government and the love of liberty.—A people do not deserve to enjoy the blessings of liberty, who are not willing to let every individual exercise the free use of his tongue. We cannot all think alike; that is impossible, and as each person prefers to think for himself and to speak his own thoughts when he chooses, he will be willing to accord to every member of a community the same privilege, and especially should every one be allowed this privilege in our free country, where all are entitled to it by the fundamental law of the land.

Lewiston Correspondence.

EDS. STATESMAN.—A strange and most unaccountable suicide has happened in our midst. On the morning of the 22d, as Mr. Wallace Thompson, the book-keeper, was about leaving the store of Fitch & Co., to get his breakfast, he called at the bedroom door of Mr. Fitch, who complained of being unwell, and asked him if he should bring his breakfast from the Luna House for him. Mr. Fitch replied No, he did not wish any, and requested Mr. Thompson to close up as usual until he returned. Mr. Thompson took his breakfast and, returning, opened the store and went about his usual duties. Several customers called, and he thought nothing more about Mr. Fitch until nearly 11 o'clock. Although he had been partially in the room twice, he neglected to notice the position of Mr. F. or in fact the bed at all. About quarter to 11, and the third time he visited the room, he saw a pistol clenched by the barrel in his left hand. At this he sprang back into the store without making any further observation, and ran for help, thinking Mr. F. contemplated something desperate. Upon the arrival of a friend, it was found that Mr. Fitch had placed the muzzle of the pistol in his right temple and fired a ball through his head, killing himself instantly. The bed was completely saturated with blood, and the brain protruding on the right side some three inches. The pistol was a Colt's navy size revolver, which he usually kept under his pillow. Mr. Fitch was a temperate, shrewd business man, and remarkable for his energy, enterprise and zeal in all that appertained to the welfare of Idaho. Not the slightest cause has been discovered for the rash act, nor was it suspected by a single friend. His remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of people who seemed awestricken at so sudden and terrible a tragedy. Whatever may have been his secret trouble (he had any) he never divulged it to his most intimate friends; but certain it is, for the past month he has enjoyed poor health and been much depressed. He was formerly from Buffalo, New York, and more recently from California.

The anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution was celebrated here with great eclat. Not less than three-fourths of the entire vote of this precinct was in the pro-union. After a pleasant ride of seven miles we halted by a cool spring, and beneath the old cottonwoods on the "Haitwai," spread a most beautiful lunch, after which, listened to the reading of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and a few happy and well-timed remarks by Major McDaniel. The Star Spangled Banner was sung, and in a bumper we again pledged our faith to God, our Country and the Constitution. Three rousing cheers were given for McClellan and Pendleton and the procession again moved for town. Several salutes were given at the residences of "the faithful," after which the procession halted in front of Gov. Lyon's office, and three cheers made the welkin ring again. The Governor appeared and in a neat and most appropriate little speech thanked them kindly. Referring to the history of the Constitution and its adoption, he trusted that it might be transmitted unscathed to future generations, and wished all success in our efforts to commemorate the day of its adoption. Several remarks were made by the citizens, and this closed an event that will be a precedent for future generations who love the bond of our Union.

INDEX.

Trip to the Mines.

EDS. STATESMAN.—Having spent some weeks in the mountains of Owyhee and Boise country, I have thought a few items in regard to those regions and the intervening country would be of interest to your readers.

GRAND RIVER VALLEY.

Looked more lovely than ever, on looking down on it at sunset, from the heights of the Blue mountains of Owyhee and Boise country, and this closed an event that will be a precedent for future generations who love the bond of our Union.

POWDER RIVER VALLEY.

Has a small amount of very good land in it—mostly next to the mountains; though it is entirely barren, being several hundred feet higher than the Grand River.

BURNED RIVER.

Flows through the most barren, volcanic, mountainous country, containing some very fine appearing gold bearing quartz.

SHARPE RIVER VALLEY.

For the next 100 miles, is almost a barren sage plain, with scarcely a spear of grass, except on the margin of the river, in some places scarcely ten paces wide; although the soil is deep and composed of the elements of fertility, in places being ten feet deep and of a fine, friable, porous, shell, etc., forming a good proportion of carbonate of lime. With artesian wells it could be made to bloom and blossom as the rose, and the shade of trees and smoke from a chimney would soon cause the soil to be made into a habitable region. As it is, I think the foot of man never trod upon more desolate, peculiarly wild, and forbidding looking country than this. It is 30 miles from Snake River to the Owyhee mines. In ascending towards the mountains the rock has a peculiar metallic ring. When the horse's shoes strike in the dust one instinctively looks around to see what piece of metal it is.

THE OYWEHE MINE.

It is pretty well claimed on both sides of the river for 45 miles—from its mouth to 5 miles above Boise City. I think there has been as much as 75,000 tons of hay put up in that valley this season.

The crops look pretty well considering the condition they were put in—nearly everything being put in too late.

The overland stages arrive and depart regularly at Boise City also the stages from Placerville, connecting with the Walla Walla line.

PLACERVILLE.

Placerville is decidedly dull, on account of there being no water in the gulches. There is an immense amount of gold in these placers and of the finest quality. If they had water to work it out it would make this a very rich camp.

They have recently made a survey of the country in order to determine the expediency of bringing in the North Payette. The ditch would be 165 miles long and over an extremely mountainous country, and surveys estimate that it would cost one and a quarter millions of dollars.

NEVADA ELECTION.—The Marysville (Cal.) Express, of Sept. 17th, says the recent election held in Nevada Territory:

"Our Abolition neighbors on all hands were very much worried over the dispatches we published from Virginia City, saying that the Territory had gone overwhelmingly Democratic."

The Appeal was frantic, denounced the telegraph and threatened to expose the thing in a few days. We have been waiting quietly for the subject, and we are compelled to expose the matter—and such an exposure! According to the returns published in the Territorial Enterprise the vote from three wards in Virginia City, and including over one-half of the Gold Hill vote, was as follows: A. C. Bradford, Dem., for Delegate to Congress, 1,909; Fitch, Rep., 194; Creadlebaugh, Rep., 234. For Sheriff, Clark, Dem., received 1,607; Correll, Gege and Day received in the aggregate, 1,487. The closest vote was for Sheriff.

Mr. L. Halsey of the overland line, has arrived in Idaho.

Mr. Brigham, Division Agent of the great Overland Stage Line, has arrived with stock to stock the road between this place and the Payette, to connect with the line of stages running between Walla Walla and Idaho City.

THE NEW YEAR OF THE ISRAELITES.—To-morrow (Saturday) inaugurates the New Year of the Israelites. The Jewish Brethren of our city recognize its observance as commencing from this evening at 6 o'clock and lasting till Sunday evening. In the "old country," and in the larger cities of the Atlantic States, where the sons of Abraham are numerous and have regular organizations, the New Year is appropriately commemorated as a general holiday; there is a suspension of business among the merchants and traders and the occasion is spent in family reunions and social festivities. Of the nature of the programme, if any, decided upon by the "fraternity" in Walla Walla, we are not advised.

A dispatch to the N. Y. Herald, dated Sept. 18th, announces the resignation of Hon. Charles Francis Adams as Minister to the Court of St. James. The same dispatch says that Henry J. Raymond, (editor of the N. Y. Times, we presume) is to be appointed Minister to France.

October Term of Court.—The Fall term of the District Court will commence its session in this city on Monday next, October 24. Its near approach has already served to enliven our streets, inasmuch as a crowd of strangers from the upper country, from Portland, Dalles, and other points in the Territory, have made their appearance to transact during the term; others are here as attorneys, witnesses, pro and con, etc.

There are some two or three criminal cases to be tried, and cases of grand larceny, actions to dissolve co-partnerships and the appointment of Referees; besides several prayers for divorces from the matrimonial bonds, to be disposed of. Of these latter, a few are given: Sarah Scanlin, vs. Michael Scanlin—P. P. Dugan, Plaintiff's Atty.; Mary Ellen Brussa, vs. Peter Brussa—Lassater & Langford Attys for Pltff. Mary Jay Lee, vs. Thomas Lee—Dugan, Atty for Pltff. Angus Brown, vs. Elizabeth Brown—S. B. Fargo, Atty for Pltff.

More Yet.—Perchance our readers may consider that the oft-quoted item of "immigrant arrivals" is by this time pretty well "played out." Be this as it may, we have another local to chronicle on this score, for during the current week a number of six and mule teams—some 30 perhaps—found their way into the valley and camped on Cottonwood and Birch creeks. On Tuesday a train of six wagons passed through town, camping some two miles above the Bridge on Mill Creek. Belonging to this party were six families, thirty persons in all, men, women and children. These people started from the counties of Mercer, Harrison, and Madison, Missouri, and from Warren and Ottawa counties, Iowa. The major portion of those arriving this week appear to be in a more destitute condition than those who have arrived heretofore. Several of the new-comers were suffering from what is known here as "mountain fever," and one young woman, about twenty years of age, was completely prostrated and delirious from the effects of a fever of a malignant type. She had been ailing three weeks. Some of our physicians, on learning of the forlorn condition of these people, kindly volunteered their professional services and ministered to their physical wants.

The Valley Schools.—The District Schools throughout the valley are about to be re-opened for the Fall term. Some of the schools have already received teachers; others again remain vacant. The great reason why the public schools of our valley have been hitherto so irregularly kept, has been that many of them have not complied with the School Laws (as Superintendent Wood has time and again notified School Directors) which requires the Clerk of each district to make a return to the Superintendent of the number of scholars in their respective districts; besides, teachers must present a certificate of competency, certified by the Sup't. If the Directors will organize their schools in time to go to work as the law directs, they will not only secure an appointment of which, if we mistake not, is made in December.

A "feature" on Main street of late has been bands of raving Indians, some on horse-back arrayed in gaudy attire; others snarling around the store doors and street corners. They are mostly made up of Cayuses, and Nez Perces, a few Spokanes and Palouses—with renegades and stragglers from the Unmatta and Nez Perce Reservations. They look on in amazement at the wonderful progress the valley has made since they roamed at large over the domain, "monarchs of all they surveyed."

From the Spinkwater Mines.—A returned miner from the Eastern slope of the mountains, gives it as his opinion that as good mines as have been anywhere found are on Alder Gulch in the Spinkwater district. This is a branch of the Jefferson Fork of the Missouri river. The mines extend some fifteen miles and are said to be very rich; one day three persons "cleaned up" about $2,500. The average pay was $25 to $30 per day to the hand; $6 per day was the ruling price for laborers, and as high as $10 for good drifters.

Land Sales.—The following named farms in the valley changed hands last week; all of them have been cultivated for several years and have on them good improvements: Farm of G. W. Shoemaker—consisting of 140 acres, situated 1 1/2 miles west of the city, was sold to Mr. Simpson (for family just from Iowa) for the sum of $2,800 cash. Farm of Mr. P. Higgins—containing 160 acres of land, situated 3 1/2 miles south-east of Walla Walla, sold to the Walters Brothers, for $4,000; farm on the Touchet river, 160 acres owned by S. Caldwell—sold to J. P. Bouier, for the sum of $1,800.

Mr. G. D. Majors, having completed the Oregon and W. T. Boundary Survey, left this city on Tuesday last for the States. This officer has denoted the boundary line by leaving stone "Stake River" stone mounds" every half mile and every one mile. Throughout the mountains the line is marked by piles of stone left every mile.

Population of Idaho.—The Lewiston Age says: "A large immigration is pouring into the Territory who have not been enumerated, and undoubtedly there will be, by the time enumeration ceases for the season, as large a population as before the division of the Territory.—Population of Idaho, 21,700."

Election in Idaho.—The Territorial election in Idaho will come off on the second Monday in October; a new apportionment of the election precincts has been effected by Gov. Lyon.

Appointed.—The City Council have appointed Mr. Edward Ryan, City Watchman on the night police.

"AGE BEFORE BEAUTY."—Some persons far advanced in age—about three score years and ten—have lately made their way into the valley from across the Plains. One elderly dame—a matron of at least 70 summers—we noticed the other day tripping along, gay as a lark, and driving two yoke of cow-oxen, while a pert little miss of about sweet 16 and all of 200 pounds avoirdupois, sat snugly ensconced in the fore part of the wagon—thus furnishing live specimens of mortality following out the popular adage of "age before beauty." We "put it up" that the young fair one was the old lady's "darter," patterning in a large way on a small scale, after the delicate Misses of the far west—that is, to let their aged Ma's do all the work while they sit in an easy chair, all primped and pucker up, doing exquisitely graceful lounging. It's too ludicrous, to think about—a girl of unwieldy dimensions, assuming to be "oh! so nice," when she has nothing more to recommend her to be "the observed of all observers" than her great surplus of baby flesh and occasional ejaculations of such eloquent phrases as "whar," "thar," and with now and then the still more elegant and exquisite expression (signifying assent) of "Oh, Bully!"

Intelligence from Placerville, in the Kootenai district, furnishes a brief account of the doings of a redoubtable son of one "Johnny Bull," in the person of Mr. Commissioner Haines, who arrived in the mines on the 15th of August last. The presence of Her Majesty's servant in the mines seems to have created somewhat of a stir among such of the "boys" as had preconceived ideas of the policy he would pursue in carrying out the laws of British Columbia; this, however, soon gave place to order and quietude.—British authority is being exercised over the mining grounds in the Fisherville district. Each mine is allowed 100 feet square of ground; each is taxed $5 quarterly, for a license to mine, and $2.50 goes to the Recorder for entering it; each has to pay for single annual recording on this side, $3; for each separate, $1.50; for liquor, per gallon, $1.50; for all other commodities, 10 per cent. There is any quantity of mining implements and staple goods in the mines, making prices at comparatively low figures: Flour 35c. per lb; sugar, from 50 to 60c; Bacon, 60 to 70c. Vegetables were being brought in from the Colville and Walla Walla valleys in great quantities. Onions were worth from 25 to 35c. per lb; fresh beef, 40c; butter, $1.00; eggs, from $1 to $1.25 per dozen.

Better than gold. Better than grandeur, better than gold, Than rank and titles a thousand fold, A healthy body, a mind at ease, And simple pleasures that always please; A heart that can feel for a neighbor's woe, And share his joys with a general glow, With sympathies large enough to enfold All men as brothers, is better than gold.

Better than gold is a conscience clear, Though tolling for bread in a humble sphere, Doubly blest with content and health, Entrusted by the best and wisest; Lowly living and lofty thought Adorn and ennoble a poor man's cot, For mind and morals, or Nature's plan, Are the genuine test of a gentleman.

Better than gold is the sweet repose Of the sons of toil when their labors close; Better than gold is the poor man's sleep, And the balm that drops on his aching brow, Bring sleeping draughts to the downy bed, Where Luxury pillows his aching head; His simpler opiate Labor deems A shorter road to the land of dreams.

Better than gold is a thinking mind That in the realms of books can find A treasure surpassing Australian ore, And live with the great and good of yore, The sage's lore and that of God, The glories of empires past away; The world's great drama will thus unfold, And yield a pleasure better than gold.

Better than gold is a peaceful home, Where all the friends of charity come, The shrine of love and the heaven of life, Hallowed by mother, or sister, or wife, However humble the home may be, Or tried with sorrow by heaven's decree, The blessings that never were bought or sold, And center there, are better than gold.

Matrimonial. The following advertisement is taken from an eastern exchange: "I have lived solitary long enough—I want somebody to talk to, to quarrel with, then kiss and make up. Therefore, I am open to proposals from young ladies and fresh widows of more than average respectability, tolerably tame in disposition and hair of any color but red. As near as I can judge of myself, I am not over eighty, nor under twenty-five years of age. In height I am either five feet eight or eight feet five; I am not sure which. Weight 135, 315, or 531, one of the three; recollect each figure perfectly well, but as to their arrangement am somewhat puzzled. Have a whole suit of hair, dyed by nature and free from dandruff. Eyes butternut brindle, tinged with pea green. Nose blunt, according to the Ionic order of architecture, with a touch of composite. Mouth between a cat-fish's and an alligator's—made especially for oratory and the reception of large oysters. Ears plained, long and elegantly shaped. My whiskers are a combination of dog hair, moss and briar bush—well behaved and fearfully luxuriant. I am "sonnd" on the nigger question. Wear boots No 6, when corns are not troublesome, and write poetry by the mile, with double rhyme on both edges—to read backward, crosswise and diagonally. Can play the jewsharp, bass drum and whistle Yankee Doodle in Spanish. Am very correct in my morals, and first-rate at temping; have a great regard for the Sabbath, and only drink when invited. Am a domestic animal and perfectly doleful when towels are clean and shirt buttons all right. If I possess a predominating virtue it is that of forgiving every enemy whom I deem it hazardous to attempt to handle. I say my prayers every night, mosquitoes permitting, and as to snoring in my sleep, I want somebody to tell me. Money is no object, as I was never troubled with any, and never expect to be.

O. A. K.'S IN WASHOE.—The Virginia City Union of the 9th September says: We are credibly informed that an organization of the O. A. K. (Order of American Knights) exists here, which includes a large portion of our adopted citizens. They expressly declare that they are not secessionists, nor copperheads, but they are opposed to the war. We think that our intelligent citizens will see in this the cause of the result of the recent election.

RHEUMATISM—THIS DISEASE IS PRODUCED by impurity in the Blood, which clogs the circulation; and where there is pain it shows that something must be done to free the fluids. Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is one of the most valuable alteratives before the public. It will carry out of the system all impurities in the blood and leave the fluids active.
