THE OLD SCHOOL HOUSE. To think that forty years ago I read that book...

School-Room Perils. Dr. Richard McSherry, of Baltimore, has an article in the Sanitarium on the above subject.

What else can be expected when young children are imprisoned for long and weary hours...

What is the remedy? "Fewer hours at school," he says, "and fewer studies at any one time."

GRANT'S LATEST USURPATION. Sending Soldiers to Protect the Pre-termed Fronts.

Another step in the direction of a military despotism has been taken by Grant in the order that might properly have emanated from Cortina or Porfirio Diaz in Mexico.

This daring attempt to interfere with the freedom of elections and to subvert the people's choice, is the most revolutionary and dangerous of the many outrages on the constitution and law which Grant and his party have perpetrated.

This pretense of impartiality is only a cover for the worst design, and is intended to mislead the public into a mistaken confidence.

When Grant reckons on the army and navy to do the work of treason, and to execute the plans of an infamous conspiracy, he may, perhaps, reckon without his host.

CHOOSING A WIFE.—Never marry a woman merely because she has a handsome face or a well-turned figure...

It was at the funeral of the head of a family. A neighbor in the yard, while the service was going on inside, was speaking of the deceased...

Counting Hayes In. The desire and hope of every sensible and patriotic republican must now be that Samuel J. Tilden may be declared elected and duly inaugurated as President.

He is already proved to have one hundred and eighty-four undisputed, unquestioned electoral votes. There is every reason to believe that Florida has given him four more...

In this situation it is proposed to declare through the final canvassing authorities of the several States, all of these authorities being republican, and most of them proved to be unworthy of the least respect...

Supposing it is determined that Hayes shall be counted in after this style, the first obstacle to be encountered will be the determined resistance of the House of Representatives...

Nevertheless, if the scheme is carried through, and if, amid all the doubt, conflict, and alarm, Hayes is proclaimed President, we have no doubt that such a result, if accomplished with the forms of law, will be submitted to by all parties.

TOO MUCH PATRIDGE.—A man named Courboulon is before a Paris court charged with the death of his wife under extraordinary circumstances.

It is easier to enrich ourselves with a thousand virtues, than to correct ourselves of a single fault.

The European Situation. It now appears that the proposed conference will take place, but whether it will result in any agreement securing the peace of Europe is rendered doubtful by the intimation that Russia insists upon a preliminary conference...

The mobilization of the Russian army has been ordered, and the Porte is establishing a permanent camp at Schumala, and has ordered the fleet to sea from Sinope, and the memories of which place are ominous and disagreeable for Turkish mariners.

TRIM THE HOOF OF COLTS.—In many instances the insensible portion of the hoofs of colts and of young horses will grow out so round and flat that fragments sometimes will be broken off.

FOOD, WORK, AND SLEEP.—The things that a man most needs in this world, are food, work and sleep. He doesn't need riches, honors or office to live. He needs society because he is lonely. He needs love and he is loved for it; his life happiness are promised by companionship, mutual dependence and counsel enlarge hope and stimulate courage. Yet after all he lives if his friends die. There is no grief, no form of bereavement, but it has its consolation. The best preserver of a man's life is contentment. Nor is work destructive of strength. Men look forward to rest, to a life of ease, while to them means cessation from toil and from the cares of business. They mistake the cause of weariness. It is not work; it is care, it is over-taxation, it is ambition and desire after gain that bring worn and weary feelings. All we possess in life, the sooner we get through with life the sooner we relinquish our possessions. The faster a man lives the quicker he reaches the end of life. There are three ends to life, and death is the last and most desirable of them. One end is to live. That is why we were created to live, and as well as we can. Some go murmuring and groaning on their way, as though life was a burden, and that it is piteous to put a low estimate on it. The opposite is true. A man should seek to live out his days, and he cannot accomplish it in a better way than by using every means to promote life. Among these means are the three things mentioned at the head of this article. When a man denies himself sleep, food, and the exercise work gives, brain and body work, he robs his life of its full term. Let him be cheerful also. Contentment and cheerfulness are the oil which keeps the nerves from wearing out. Busy men and women think that time taken from toil for sleep and recreation is time lost. It is really the cement put in to fill up the joints, to keep out the weather, and preserve the building.—Prov. Weather.

PLANTS IN THE HOUSE.—But few things add more to the cheerfulness of a setting room than a few plants in healthy and vigorous growth. These may be of various kinds, according to the taste of the individual. Geraniums, pinks, ivy, and other common flowers are easily and cheaply grown. It is surprising what handsome foliage and what quantities of flowers can be produced in the sitting room under the care of the person who loves flowers. Such a person needs but little instruction, for what is done seems intuitive, the right thing at the right time. We have seen even the camellia grown finely in a sitting room, yet this is a rare case. The use of novelties always furnishes increased interest to the culture of flowers, and many novelties are readily procurable. For instance, take a large sweet potato, and place it in the mouth of a fruit can, or a small earthen jar filled with rain water, allowing the potato to dip into the water, say two or three inches. Set in a warm, sunny spot, and soon it will sprout. Break off all but three or four shoots and allow these to droop, or train on a trellis, or any other way that seems desirable. Nothing more is necessary to be done than to supply additional water as fast as evaporation diminishes the depth in the jar. The sweet potato is a vine, and a very pretty one at that. A sponge filled with seed of cross, and kept moist, will soon appear a ball of living green. A pot, or be a fan, filled with bulbs of oxalis offers a pretty sight. Whatever is selected, however, remember not to give too much heat. A cool temperature at night, and sunlight and warmth by day, with the ordinary care which the lover of flowers would exercise, insures success. Not every one can have a green house, but any one who chooses may share a portion of its delights in his or her own house.—Scientific Farmer.

TRUTH.—How beautiful is truth! In this world, where there is so much falsehood and deceit, whereby hearts are estranged, and recriminations, assaults and crimes engendered, how beautiful are the true thought, word and deed. Like the sun smiling out amid the angry storm, like the bright stars shining through the heavy night cloud, like friends clasping the hand of friends, like right rebuffing wrong, like the lance of virtue ringing on the shield of vice, like heaven upon earth and God in man—is truth: it is precious and priceless, dearer than smiles of friend, love or parent, or pomp or fame. Truth is all. By this we know the nature and value of things. Falsehood is a craven, a dastard. Truth is bold, noble, and God given, beyond every other attribute of the soul.

BREAKFAST BACON is made from young pigs or "shots," not weighing more than 175 pounds, and not too fat or too lean. The sides are completely boned and made into clean meat, cured with sugar, and smoked, as usual. The meat should be as nearly as possible of equal thickness all over, well streaked with lean, and carefully cured. A choice article is cut into pieces and canvassed, the same as hams. The main point in preparing this very choice article of bacon is to have the right sort of meat in proper condition, curing it carefully, using refined salt and white sugar in the pickle.

A child two years old has been poisoned at a village near Frodo-sam in England, by drinking from a hot bottle containing carbolic acid, which its mother had given it to play with in bed, "to pacify it."

Getting Married. This is the chief ambition of many young people, and the mania some times follows them through life. Hence we find them committing matrimony every few years, from the time they are "of age" until they turn the late corners of seventy or eighty.

But with all this marrying and giving in marriage, when the results are footed up, the product, in a majority of cases, is either indifference or misery. Out of this well known fact has arisen all kinds of theories in relation to social life, and any amount of abuse is poured upon the marriage covenant, especially by those who are unhappy in their domestic relations. It never occurs to them that they are responsible in any degree for the result of their actions, or that they are paying the penalty of their own rashness. Neither do the young, or even the middle aged, take any warning from the married lives around them, but rush into the bonds of matrimony with their eyes shut and reasoning powers entirely dormant.

Thus the tide rolls on and unhappy homes find place in every community, while the divorce courts pour out the disgusting tales of domestic infelicity. The marriage covenant is the highest and purest relation that God has given us. It is the bond of earthly happiness and the center of purity and truth; but unless its altars are lighted with love, its hearthstone is desolate and its very name is mockery.

The institution of marriage is in no way responsible for the accumulated misery that in many cases surrounds it. The trouble is that people will marry for anything and everything except pure affection. Girls will marry because it is fashionable, for the sake of having a wedding, to create a sensation, to get their names into the papers, or to keep from being an old maid. What they marry seems to be a matter of secondary importance, hence they will promise to "love, honor and obey" almost anything in the shape of a man or a dandy, whether his mouth is clean or defiled with tobacco juice, who her his brain is cool or soaked with whiskey, whether his morals are pure or whether he has no morals at all. And then, because they are not happy, they will declare that "men are all alike and that marriage is a curse to humanity." If a girl marries for money and gets it, she has no right to complain of the result. If love was not invited to the wedding, happiness will not come at the bidding. Money is good in its place, and a very convenient article in house-keeping, but it never purchases happiness, and nature seems to compensate by sending more love to the cottage than to the mansion.

A large exchequer is no detriment to a good husband, but don't for heaven's sake marry a fool or a brute, because, forsooth, he owns a few greenbacks. Wealth is safer after all in a man's head than in his pocket, for brains are not like other stocks, liable to go down in financial panic; and fire will sweep through a block of tenement houses while the investment under his hat is left unscathed. But woman is not the only victim who is occasionally "sold" in the matrimonial market. Men, who pride themselves upon their good sense, often marry for beauty and find it fading quickly on their hands.

Men who flatter themselves that they are very shrewd, will marry an idle, helpless girl, in order to get the few thousands that her father is willing to give to have her taken off his hands. If the bridegroom was as shrewd as he thinks he is, he would rather have his hundred thousand dollars all in wife, than to take one half in cash and the other half in dry goods and jewelry—weak nerves and neuralgia.

Another fatal mistake is for a middle-aged man to marry a young wife, and fancy that his happiness will be complete. The bride of course has made a foolish bargain, and one that coming years will charge with deep regret, but neither she or her friends need flatter themselves that the sacrifice is all on her side. Incompatibility affects both parents alike, and marriage if not harmonious and loving becomes a galling letter that both must endure until death severs the bond. True marriage is a union of hearts and hands, cemented with a love that is deep enough to make sweet the dark passages of life—a love that is brave enough to make cheerfulness dwell in the shadow of poverty and strong enough to make even a sacrifice for the loved one a pleasure. Then the years that go smiling by will strengthen the bond, and the great sorrows that haunt life's path away will bind the twin closer together, and they will walk through life with hearts so warm and hands so close together that outside storms and trials will beat upon them comparatively in vain.—Furner's Monthly.

This is the year of jubilee with the Texas farmers. Nothing like the crops on hand throughout the State has ever been known. An editor says he has been in Texas for thirty years, and it is the only universal fine crop year he ever heard of. Judging from the accounts in our Texas exchanges, the crops are good everywhere. Silenced wheat crops; corn so plentiful that farmers do not know what to do with it, and cotton promising a large yield.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO WORK.—A sarcastic young lady writer says: "Don't be afraid to work! It was never known to inflict any permanent injury upon anybody. To be sure, if you hide away or run from it, you'll have to stand it right smart when it does come up with you; but just j'in hands with work, and it is one of the best companions a body can have. It will set your blood in good running order, fix your appetite all right, digest your food in good shape, without a bit of doctor's stuff, it will give you a clearness of complexion, and tint your cheeks with a color which will not be injurious, nor rub off. Give me a boy or girl who loves to work. God will not forsake such a one. It is no excuse that one is able to hire servants. Nature requires the rich to work as well as the poor, and if we disregard her voice, she is sure to speak so that we shall be glad to answer. It is just like this: The rich may work or not, just as they please, and the poor may work or starve, and it is just as they please, too; but if the rich won't work, they needn't whine in my hearing about their poor health, for, just as likely as not, I should tell them that they had got too much dinner and advise a warm dish water bath for their hands, or a little pot and kittle exercise for the joints, or a sweat, not as some women give their husbands with the broom—but a real carpet dusting article. Work is his best friend. It brings food to the hungry, and health to the rich, although they will not believe it. Strange that women will prefer to be annoyed by faithless servants, and shut their eyes to their wasteful and, sometimes, dirty habits. Strange I say, that a woman will prefer this to a healthy, hearty exercise of her own strength. I wonder if God made you for the express purpose of carrying about dry goods, and illustrating fashions caprices. I'll own up to any quantity of female folly and fashionable sin, but, as heaven hears me, I'm not guilty of the sin of laziness, and I rely on that to cover a multitude of other sins. I admire industrious folks. I adore them, and, what is more, I love them."

CIDER WINE.—Cider for this purpose should not be made until December when it should be barreled and placed in a vault or cool cellar, and left there until February or March, when it should be bottled, using champagne bottles, well corked and wired. Use good sized copper wire, which requires only once passing over the cork. Then return the bottled cider to the cellar, laying the bottles on their sides, and it will keep for years. Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, they will not need Castor Oil, Worms, Eucalyptus, Sore Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphia, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, and has no gripes nor gripes.

Centaur Liniments. [Letter from a Patient.] "Messrs. J. R. Roe & Co., Astoria, Ill., Dec. 1, 1874. "My wife has, for a long time, been a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism. She has tried many physicians and many remedies. The only thing which has given her relief is Centaur Liniment. I am rejoiced to see this cure. I am thinking what I can do to extend its sale. W. H. KING." "This is a sample of many 'honest' testimonials received by 'our' firm effected by the Centaur Liniment. The ingredients of this article are published around each bottle. It contains Witch Hazel, Mentha, Aromatic, Rock Oil, Carbolic, and 11 ingredients the little known. It is an irrefragable fact that the Centaur Liniment is performing more cures of swellings, Stiff Joints, Eup joints, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, Catarrh Breasts, Lock jaw, etc., than all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments, and Plasters now in use. For Toothache, Earache, Wreck Back, Itch, and Catarrhs Eruptions, it is admirable. It cures burns and sores without a scar. Extracts poison from bites and stings, and heals frost-bites and chilblains, in a short time. No family can afford to be without the Centaur Liniment, white wrapper. The Centaur Liniment, yellow wrapper, is adapted to the tongue, skin, muscles and all of the animal creation. Its effects upon severe cases of Spavin, Sweeney, Wind Gall, Eye Head and Poll Evil, are little less than wonders. Messrs. J. R. Roe & Co., Druggists, cor. Elm and Front Sts., Cincinnati, O., say: "In our experience as a number of thousands are using the Centaur Liniment. They pronounce it superior to anything they have ever used. We sell each as four to five dozen bottles per month to those desiring it. We have thousands of similar testimonials. For Wounds, Galls, Strachles, Ring-bones, etc., and for Sore Throat, Sore Eyes, it has no rival. For Burns, Livery-ness and Stock-rings, have in this Liniment a remedy which is worth a hundred times its cost. Laboratory of J. R. Roe & Co., 46 DEWEY, NEW YORK. (25-3w)

Pacific Mutual LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY. Of California. Assets, $1,300,000. THE PACIFIC MUTUAL has all its funds on this coast. It has perfected a new plan of insurance called the Mutual Investment Plan. It guarantees a definite rate of dividend, and a definite Cash Surrender Value. Each applicant elects his own terms as he is not compelled to pay for insurance any longer than he needs it. It is a plain contract, easily understood, and possesses every element of safety, security and satisfaction. It shows not alone how to get 100 per cent. but how to get out pleased and satisfied. Unlike the old time policy, it does not bind the insured to an irrevocable contract, but the holder may realize his cash value at any time, and that cash value is expressed on the face of the policy, it being the 100th condition of the policy. To cover a mortgage, secure a debt, protect a family, to guard against withdrawal of business capital by a partner's death, or to provide for life insurance, it is pre-eminently, and surpasses all other plans. "WHEN A MAN DIES A FORTUNE PERISHES."—Declarer. "A Policy of Insurance is the Cheapest and Safest mode of making a certain provision for one's family."—Forsaker. How strange that men should be careful to insure their ships, goods and houses, with all the care and pains, but how to get out pleased and satisfied. Ayer's Cathartic Pills. For the relief and cure of all obstructions in the stomach, liver, and bowels. They are a mild aperient, and an excellent purgative. Being purely vegetable, they contain no mercury or mineral whatever. Much serious sickness and suffering is prevented by their timely use, and every family should have them on hand for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the safest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the obstructions of the system expelled, the bowels are kept in a regular and healthy state, and the whole machinery of life restored to its healthy activity. Internal organs which become clogged and sluggish are cleansed by Ayer's Pills, and stimulated into action. This incipient disease is changed into health, the value of which change, when reckoned on the vast multitudes who enjoy it, can hardly be computed. Their sugar-coating makes them pleasant to take, and preserves their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are ever fresh, and perfectly reliable. Although searching, they are mild, and operate without disturbing the constitution or diet or occupation. Full directions are given on the wrapper to take the box, how to use them as a Family Physic, and for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:— For Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Flatulency, Languor, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action. For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Stiffness or Green Stools, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for such cases, to correct the disorder, and remove the obstructions which cause it. For Hemorrhoids or Diarrhoea, but one mild dose is generally required. For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pains of the Heart, Pain in the Back, and Leg, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear. For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge. For Suppression, a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy. As a Diaper Physic, take one or two Pills to promote digestion, and relieve the stomach. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels, re-creates the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageously taken before a journey, to renovate the system. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. PREPARED BY Dr. J. C.
