Dead. Dead—dead—no matter, the skies are blue, In their fallowish depths above.

Death—death—there is music out in the street, A popular martial strain;

Lost—lost! Oh, why, when the earth is bright, And soft is the zephyr's breath,

Death—death! How wearily drag the days; And wearily life runs on;

Last year—nay, nay! I do not complain; Where I stood with another then;

One year! It is passed, and I stand alone Where I stood with another then;

Namely, yet never one less dear Than the dearest of all the dead;

came was quietly told, and once more the widow was in a torrent of tears.

"Oh, Mr. Robinson," she exclaimed, hiding her face in her cambric "why are you so unfortunate, and why am I? You know my esteem for you, but you are too late."

"I am already engaged. You know Counselor Ketcham?—my poor, dear dead-and-gone Hawkins' most intimate friend. He was with him, you know, when he was called away, and was the first to communicate the awful intelligence."

"He was the first to communicate the awful intelligence, and I have promised to have him this day."

"It was months before Peter offered to encourage hope, and even then it flickered. One day he was walking in despondent mood through one of the upper avenues, when he heard a sudden shout, and started. From a half-finished building just in front of him, he saw, as he raised his eyes, a stout Milesian making gyrations in the air, from a height of three stories, in company with a coping stone weighing something less than half a ton—the two having slipped together from a scaffold at that height."

A Man Without a Country. In the Atlantic Monthly for December is a story as terrible in its episodes as it is fearful in its warnings.

"Now, said he, after giving them a shuffle and slapping the pack down upon the table, 'I'll bet any man ten dollars I can cut the Jack of Hearts at the first attempt.'"

"Nobdody seemed inclined to take him up, however, till at last a weather-beaten New Englander, a tall, thin, stammered man by the name of Jonathan, stepped forward."

"Then taking up and inspecting it as if to see that there was no deception in it, he returned it to the table, and began to fumble about in a side pocket, first taking out a jack-knife, then a twist of tobacco, etc., till he produced a roll of bank notes, from which he took one ten dollars and handed it to a bystander; the gambler did the same, and taking out a pen-knife, and literally cutting the pack in two through to the middle, turned with an air of triumph to the company, and demanded if he had not cut the Jack of Hearts."

"No, I'll be darned if you have!" bawled Jonathan, "for here it is safe and sound!"

"At the same time he produced the card from his pocket, whether he had dexterously conveyed it while pretending to examine the pack to see if it was 'all right.'"

A DOG MAIL TRAIN.—The following extract from a private letter from Pembina shows how the mail is transported from that point to Crow Wing:

"I should have written to you four days ago, but the mail had to lay over one trip on account of the lameness of one of the carrier dogs. You will probably think it strange that the great United States mail should be delayed several days for such a cause, but it was. The mail is carried from here to Crow Wing, a distance of three hundred fifty miles, by dog trains, and if one set of dogs get foot sore when their turn comes the mail has to lay over. To-morrow they say the dogs will be right and the mail will go forward. I saw the first dog mail train leave here on last mail day. It consisted of three middling sized dogs. They looked more like wolves, than dogs. They had regular harness, very fancifully ornamented, and buckskin saddles gorgeously worked with beads. The dogs are driven in tandem style. They go from forty to fifty miles per day, the half breed driver trotting behind the most of the way—St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer.

Who is the laziest man? The furniture dealer; he keeps the chairs and lounges about all the time.

Who are the most dishonest people? Hardware merchants; they sell iron and steel for a living.

Who is the most liberal man? The grocer; he gives almost everything a weigh.

Who are the best natured men? Rebel surgeons; they are never out of patients.

Who make the best soldiers? Dry goods men; they have the most drilling.

Who are the most cunning? They quaff from the goblet afterwards appears in the mug.

The nicest things in bonnets. The face, of course.

A SINGULAR PROPHECY.—Just about the beginning of the present war, the following article appeared in the Courier des Etats Unis, published in New York:—"Although many of the predictions made by Nostradamus (especially concerning the deaths of Henry IV and Louis XVI) have been completely verified, they are generally discredited in our times. But in the 'Prophecies of Vaticinations' of that great man, vol. 2 (edition of 1000), we find the following, which would seem to deserve some attention:—"About that time (1861) a great quarrel and contest will arise in a country beyond the seas—America. Many poor devils will be hung, and many poor wretches will be killed by punishment other than the cord. Upon my faith you may believe me. The war will not cease for four years, at which time should be astonished or at all surprised, for there will be no want of hatred and obstinacy in it. At the end of the time, prostrate and almost ruined, the people will re-embrace each other in great love and joy."

"What's the use of living?" asked Jack Simmons, the other day. "We are fogged for crying when we are babies; fogged because the master is cross when we are boys; obliged to toil, sick or well, or starve, when we are men; in toil still harder when we are husbands; and, after-exhausting life and strength in the service of other people, die and leave our children to quarrel about the possession of father's watch, and our wives to catch somebody else."

A father being applied to for the reason of his son's absence from school, the school-master replied the following intelligent reply:—"Keptathometogasterin."

A Dutchman's heart-rending soliloquy is thus described:—"She loves Shon Mickle so better as me, because he has cut a couple tollars so more as I has."

Because a man who goes into the grocery business is a grocer, it doesn't follow that a man who goes into the horse business is a hawser.

Now, my dear husband, why don't you call me by such names as other men call their wives?"

"Why, what do other men call their wives, you fool?"

"They call them 'my duck,' and 'my dear,' and all such kind of words."

"Well, what is a duck—say?"

"Well, it's a foul, to be sure."

"Right; now, what's a deer—you goose?"

"It's a beast, certainly."

"Well, I'll call you 'my foul beast'—now go about your business."

Resolutions.
At a special meeting of Washington Engine Company No. 1, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Company be tendered to the officers and soldiers of Fort Walla Walla for the very cordial manner in which we were received and entertained by them on the 27th February; also for the very excellent "Commissary" furnished on that occasion.

Resolved, That the officers and soldiers of Fort Walla Walla are justly entitled to our best wishes for their prosperity and success; that we earnestly hope that the good fellowship and kindly feelings manifested on the 27th may be continued and strengthened as time rolls on, and that citizens and soldiers may ever meet in a like cordial manner.

CHANCE FOR A SPECULATION.—Some enterprising individual could make a good paying investment in this city by the construction of Water Works to supply the city with water from Mill Creek. We are told by competent engineers that water could be brought in pipes from a reservoir that might be constructed less than half a mile above town and forced over the highest buildings in the city. Such a work could be constructed for a small sum, and every house in town would pay handsomely for water thus furnished on account of the security it would render against fire, besides almost every house would use the water for domestic purposes.

NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION.—It will be seen by our despatches that the National Union Committee have issued a call for a National Convention to nominate candidates for President and Vice President of the United States. The call invites "all qualified voters who are for maintaining the Union, and the complete suppression of the existing rebellion, with the cause thereof, by vigorous prosecution of the war by all right and effectual means."

"The cause thereof," we presume will be defined by the Convention—whether it be slavery or a disposition on the part of the people of the South to set up an aristocratic Government. With the Republican party, at the commencement of the war, it was the latter; and with the radicals then and now, it was and is the former. The call, with the exception of these three words, reads eminently War-Democratic, and if the convention will only make the nice distinction upon this subject that the majority of the party which will compose it once did, the Conservatives will be left without a platform.

PACK TRAINS.—Three pack track trains, from Frazer River, arrived here this week; one of 70 mules belonging to Dr. R. Thibodo and Jas. Dobson, another of 70 belonging to Mr. Hewitt, and one of 90 belonging to Hawes & Kennedy. These mules were all purchased in that country and brought down to be used in packing to the Boise mines.

New Town.—Mr. McWhirk is having a new town site surveyed at the Snake river Ferry at the mouth of the Palouse. If the Kootenai mines prove to be as extensive as they now promise, the town will become a place of at least some importance, situated as it will be on the wagon road to that country and Coeur d'Alene. It will also have some claims to being the nearest point to the mines from steambost navigation.

BOISE STAGE LINE.—The first stage for Boise will leave this city about Thursday next.

REMOVAL.—Thibodo Bro's have removed their Drug Store up town—two doors above Brown Bro's & Co's Store.

Hon. E. P. OLIPHANT District Judge for this District arrived here on Wednesday last.

EMIGRANTS.—Some four or five wagons, with families, from the Willamette, arrived here this week. They come to settle in the Walla Walla and Touchet valleys.

We get the following items from the Louisville Journal:
Foots has assailed the rebel Cabinet. It ought to be assailed by every foot in the nation.

The Charleston Mercury says that "the wages of a Southern soldier for a month are not enough to buy a pair of gloves." Our Federal soldiers don't want such articles.—They can handle the rebels without gloves.

Gen. McClellan was removed because he didn't advance rapidly enough toward Richmond. Three Generals have since been tried, and more than a year has passed—and how much nearer are we to Richmond?

An "unconditional Union man" is now understood to be a man who won't have the Union except upon conditions of abolition.

The Cincinnati Gazette says that the Kentucky platform is dead. If it is, the Republicans and secessionists will find it a mighty difficult corpse to bury.

Andrew Jackson Donelson was arrested in Mississippi a few weeks ago on a charge of high treason to the rebel government.—He had his trial and was discharged. So he thought he had saved his bacon, but, on returning home, he found it had all been stolen by the rebels—and his corn too.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—The next term of the District Court will be held in this city, commencing Monday, April 4, 1864, Judge Oliphant presiding. Parties wishing to bring suit to be heard at that term, will find it necessary to hurry up, as the law requires service of the complaint to be made twenty days or more prior to the commencement of the term.

Fon KOOTENAI.—A party of fifteen men left this city on Monday for the Kootenai mines. They expect to meet a party from Colville at Antoine Plante's, from which place the company will number about sixty men.

A gentleman, writing to us from Grand Ronde valley, says: "The Copperheads and Woollyheads in that section are marshaling their hosts for the coming election in Oregon. All we have got to say, is, let 'em march."

DAILY TRIPS.—The stages are now making daily trips from here to Wallula, connecting with the steamers, which are also running daily between Cello and Wallula.

VALLENDIGHAM.—The case of C. L. Vallendigham has been dismissed from the U. S. Supreme Court, and he is left to while away his life upon a foreign shore or to return to the object of his peculiar solicitude,—the Southern Confederacy.

Flowers.—The prairies in this vicinity are almost everywhere covered with a beautiful carpet of spring flowers.

Dr. Baker's Pain Panacea the Greatest Healing Remedy Known.
REMARKABLE CURE OF A COLIC.
KOSMETH P. O., SALEM, Oregon Co., October 10, 1863.

Messrs. A. L. SCOVILL & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.—Gents:—One of my colics, while running with others in the field, struck a sharp stake that had one end in the ground, the other sticking up. It passed through the breast and came out through the shoulders, and I was wedged in so tight that we had to tie a piece of rope to it, and it took two men to pull it out. We first bathed it with water and afterwards with Dr. Baker's Pain Panacea, and by using two fifty cent bottles, to the great astonishment of myself and neighbors, the wound was entirely cured, and I felt as well as ever. It is decidedly the greatest healing remedy I ever knew. Yours truly, J. A. JONES.

I bought Dr. Baker's Pain Panacea of your agent, Wm. Gamble Kosmuth, to whom you can refer. Also, all my neighbors, who were witnesses of this extraordinary cure. J. A. J.

Dr. Baker's Pain Panacea is not only valuable for colics, but is warranted for all cases whether internal or external.

Sore Eyes.
HAMILTON, Ohio, October 6, 1863.
Messrs. A. L. SCOVILL & Co.: Gents:—My wife was afflicted with sore eyes for several years. I tried the doctors' prescriptions, and all the remedies which I thought would be her any good; but all failed to cure her. I got Dr. Mott's Liver Pills, and after the use of two boxes, she entirely recovered. I also find them the best I ever used in my family for a catarrh and breaking up fever and cold. Respectfully yours, WILLIAM POWELL.
