WALLULA!
A BROTHER'S REGULAR LINE OF STAGES leave Walla Walla for the cities of Astoria, Portland, and other points on the coast, every week on their way to the 40th parallel of latitude. They make this wide detour to avoid the Blackfoot Indians. Turning now north-west, and crossing the great ridge separating the waters of the Atlantic from those of the Pacific, they at length arrived at an old fort on the bank of a small river flowing west. Here they lay a company of trappers, and constructing canoes, embarked with high expectation of soon reaching the termination of their journey. But their trials had just begun. They soon found the stream impracticable, and abandoning their canoes and seeking their baggage, resolved to proceed on foot. Dividing themselves into four companies, for the greater expedition, they proceeded along the course of the river, two companies upon the right, and two companies upon the left bank. For twenty days they followed the stream, and those who have seen the barren, desolate region through which Snake river flows, need not be told that they were days of great suffering. Though the river was in sight, yet water could not often be procured, so precipitous and high were its walls of basalt. They suffered all the torments of Tantalus, only they had water beneath their feet, yet as inaccessible as if it had been in the sky. Food there was none. They ate a heavy skin, and at last their moccasins, roused by the fire.

[WRITTEN FOR THE STATESMAN]
MY SISTER.
Sweet sister, 'tis the hush of night,
The round full moon shines radiantly,
And that one star in beaming light
That ever best was loved by thee.
The world around so calm, so still,
Seems but to breathe of peace divine.
Oh, on such night how memory will
Go back to thee, sweet sister mine.

For like that star serenely bright
And radiant as you silvery moon,
Sister, was thy young morning's light,
The light without the glare of noon;
And mine as in this summer scene,
And gentle as this holy one,
Was all that joy of life between
The creek and thy early grave.
I sit me down and call to mind
The quiet walk, thy gentle ways,
Thy hair is full and rose are blent,
New lips art gone, and all has left.
How oft before thy gentle art
I sat me down and call to mind
The quiet walk, thy gentle ways,
Thy hair is full and rose are blent,
New lips art gone, and all has left.
How oft before thy gentle art
I sat me down and call to mind
The quiet walk, thy gentle ways,
Thy hair is full and rose are blent,
New lips art gone, and all has left.

HOURS.
Tripping lightly through the sunshine,
Creeping through the shadows grey,
Ever swiftly fitting, fitting,
Speed the golden hours away;
Laden they with joy or sorrow,
Till they reach the other shore,
All are made golden by the sun,
Down the oblique tide of years.
Hours are golden centers, bearing
Infinite of suffering, bearing
Shining out of suffering,
Till they reach the other shore,
All are made golden by the sun,
Down the oblique tide of years.

Beaver Head Mines.
The Portland Times of the 19th has the following:
"We have been sending a letter to a gentleman in this city, dated St. Louis, January 8th, 1863, which speaks as follows in relation to the Beaver Head mines: 'Wall has just got in. He brings a specimen of quartz from Hancock City, estimated at $200,000 per cord. The placer is paying from $20 to $100 per day.' In a postscript he adds: 'All the upper rivers are in fine order. The accounts from Hancock are very good. Owin writes that he has taken $1,700 out of Wm. Ed's claim, since he left. The quartz that Capt. Hall brought is pronounced by all miners the best ever discovered. I pulverized one pound in a mortar, and got 38 3-4 cents. Gregory, from Pike's Peak, says it is worth $30,000 per cord. We are adding 25 feet to the steamer Shreveport, and two new engines.' This letter is from Mr. James Harkness, of La Barge, Harkness & Co., the new American Fur Company, who are now engaged in running steamboats up the Missouri river, and Harkness is also interested in the contemplated stage line between Ft. Benton and the Bitter Root valley. He further writes that the emigration the ensuing year will be very large."

In connection with these mines, a correspondent of the Rocky Mountain News writes as follows: "Hancock City is located in Grasshopper Gulch, a tributary of Beaver Head or Jefferson Fork of the Missouri river, and is about four hundred miles north of Salt Lake; four hundred and fifty miles a little south of east from Port Walla Walla, and three hundred miles south-west of Portland. Hancock is a small town, but very pretty well cut off from all the world and the rest of mankind. The Snakes and Hanocks join on the South, the Pen d'Oreilles on the west, the Flatheads on the north and the Blackfoot on the east. The Flatheads are very friendly, and the Pen d'Oreilles are on the steel, and the Snakes and Hanocks are heavy on the shoot, 'bet your life.'"

"Our gulch contains one thousand inhabitants and nearly all are doing well, making from five to fifty dollars a day to the hand, in favorable weather. Even at present, some are making twenty dollars a day, rocking a little in the afternoon. In some instances as high as fifty dollars have been washed out of one pan. A few very rich quartz lodes have also been struck lately. The Dakota hills is paying on the discovery about eight dollars to the pan of dirt, taken from a cave to which no limits have as yet been found. Specimens of quartz are found covered with gold. The quartz will be easy to crush but so far we have no machinery to crush it. It would naturally be supposed that this country is very old in water, but it has proved otherwise so far. A little gulch mining is still done nearly every day. The ground is bare of snow."

At a national Union meeting, in Philadelphia, Hon. Charles Gibbons made the following beautiful and truthful remarks. Will laboring men ponder his words?
"This is a war on our part for the poor man. Because it is a war for the maintenance of the only government on earth that freely opens to him and his children the way to prosperity and honorable distinction. The school-house is free. Conscience is free. Every business avenue is free. He finds no gate to exclude him from any of the high roads to fortune or to fame. The doors of every profession open at the summons, and his children are welcomed at every portal. No privilege is denied him that is accorded to the rich, no restraint imposed upon him from which others are exempt. Here every man may raise, if he will, to the full stature of his manhood, and a man among men, a sovereign among sovereigns, bringing the invigorating air of liberty, may lead his children forth, free as the fledged eaglets of the mountains, to try the strength of their pinions, upward and still upward in the pure atmosphere of a Republic. The career of President Lincoln illustrates the argument. Beginning life as a poor and friendless boy—as poor and friendless as this ragged little boy who stands before me; in early manhood a laborer, in fields by day, and a student at night by the dim light of a tallow candle; then a respected member of an honorable profession; next a faithful member in Congress, and now the highest on earth—the President of the United States of America."

"If the poor man would find a better friend than such a Government as this, I am sure he must seek him in another and higher sphere than any within the dominions of mankind. And if he would find a worse enemy than the party demagogue who seeks to divert him from his loyalty by stringing up evil passions and criminal prejudice against the friends of universal liberty, who feignly offer their property and lives for the defence of the government, he must seek him, not on earth, but in the lowest depths of hell. He must drag up from the bottom of the burning lake, him who first made."

"Impious war in Heaven,
Against the throne and majesty of God."

Late Eastern News.
Dates to Feb 11th.
The Tribune's special dispatch from Washington says that the Joint Committee on the Conduct of the War, for prosecuting it with vigor and effect, are making inquiry into the subordinate influence which persuaded the President to countermand General Burnside's order to cross the Rappahannock and renew the Fredericksburg fight.—The investigation has already included the influence of one Cabinet officer.

New York, Feb. 11.—Five days before the steamer North Star sailed from Key West, a communication was received by Rear Admiral Bailey from our Consul General at Havana, stating that he had received by a telegraphic dispatch from the Consul at Trinidad de Cuba, that information was received from Kingston, Jamaica, that the Alabama reached that port on the 20th of January, and landed the remaining officers and crew of the steamer Hatteras, sunk off Galveston, over 100 in number. It was further reported that the Alabama had suffered severely in the fight with the Hatteras, that she had five shots in her hull, one of which (through the stern) was a very bad one. She put into Kingston to repair damages, and expected to be ready for sea again in four days.

Immediately on receipt of this news at Havana, the steamer Washburn and Oneida sailed directly for Kingston, and the Santiago de Cuba and R. R. Cuyler were ordered at once to the same port. The Tioga and Sonora also steered in the same directions.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says that one of the new iron-clad gunboats is on ship on route for San Francisco. There it will be used for harbor defense. The Navy Department will immediately order the construction of gunboats to replace the engines captured aboard the Princess Royal.

Yorktown, Feb. 9th.—A skirmish took place a few days since near the 9-mile Ordinary. We had 30 killed, wound and missing. The enemy's loss is unknown. The enemy is reported to be in some force at Burnt Ordinary, 12 miles from Williamsburg.

Nashville, Feb. 9.—Our forces entered Lebanon, Tennessee, on the 8th. They captured 600 men, most of them of Morgan's command.—Many field officers were taken.

Havana, Feb. 6th.—The pirate Florida, left Nassau a week ago, having sailed, etc. She reported as having made several prizes of Cuba and one of the Bahama Banks. No American war vessels are at or near Nassau.

Port Royal, Feb. 3d.—Most of Porter's fleet has arrived in good condition. The First South Carolina Negro Regiment arrived yesterday from an expedition sixty miles up the St. Mary's river to Woodstock. They repulsed the enemy and burned the town. After a severe engagement they burned the salt works. They fought like 'veteran' Monday, Feb. 10th.—The ironclads of the 9th have changed tone about raising the blockade at Charleston. The Wbig says the British Consul sailed in the steamer Cadmus from Charleston on the 7th. The officers of that steamer say the result of the late engagement was less substantial than was supposed. No vessels were sunk.

An impression prevails that Savannah will be attacked before Charleston.

Cairo, Feb. 11.—We have news from Vicksburg to Saturday, Feb. 7th. The new Queen of the West had returned from below. Her trip down the river was most successful. She met three steamers with provisions for the rebels at Vicksburg and succeeded in destroying all of them. She took fifty or sixty prisoners, one of them a Colonel. She went near one to Port Hudson to draw fire from the upper batteries.

Cincinnati, Feb. 11th.—Nicholas Longworth died yesterday, aged eighty-one. He leaves property valued at $15,000,000.

Cairo, Feb. 11.—Letters say the brilliant achievement of the Queen of the West in running the gauntlet of the rebel batteries at Vicksburg had a most beneficial effect on the spirits of the troops. The Vicksburg correspondent of the Jackson, Miss., Appeal says it is possible that Grant may make the canal a success, and suggests that Warren, Grand Gulf, Fort Gibson, Rodney, and other points between Vicksburg and Port Hudson to be fortified. De Soto, a small town opposite Vicksburg, has been burned by the Federals.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The Senate yesterday passed a bill remodeling the entire postal system of the country. It provides for the appointment of all Postmasters, with salaries of over $1,000 a year, by the President; those with salaries under that amount are to be appointed by the Postmaster General. All perquisites are abolished. Dropped letters are to be charged two cents, and carriers paid a salary from the revenue, instead of collecting a cent on each letter. Newspapers may be delivered to subscribers in the city by the Postmaster, by contract. A branch Post Office and depository are established.

Dates to Feb. 11th.
Boston, Feb. 12.—A letter from a Captain in the 42d Massachusetts, dated Houston, Texas, says he and two other companies were captured in the attack on Galveston, and conveyed to Houston. Ten men were killed on the Harriet Lane, including Captain Wainwright and Lieut. Lee. Ten were wounded, and the remainder captured and taken to Houston. All the prisoners were well treated.

Fortress Monroe, Feb. 12.—In reply to a demand for the release of Federal army officers, Col. Ludlow, the United States Commissioner, received information that all the officers captured before the 10th of December, 1862, the date of Jeff. Davis' retaliatory proclamation, would be immediately released. All sutler's clerks, Government employees, etc., confined in Richmond, have been released and have arrived.

Dates to Feb. 13.
Washington, Feb. 13.—The Senate last night passed Sherman's Bank bill by two majorities.—Its friends claim a much larger majority for it in the House.

Dispatches from Jefferson City, Mo., state that the joint session of the Legislature, for the election of a U. S. Senator, adjourned until the 17th November without having chosen a Senator.

Cairo, Feb. 13th.—The levee at Yazoo Pass, 60 miles above Vicksburg, on the Mississippi side, has been cut, by order of Gen. Grant, the object being to drive out the Guerrillas who infest that section and fire on passing steamers. The small-pox is prevalent.

A small force of Federals on Thursday night had a skirmish with a party of Guerrillas, near Dyersburg, Tenn., and succeeded in killing seven and capturing ten.

A dispatch from headquarters at Fayetteville, Arkansas, yesterday, says an expedition of 100 men to Arkansas river, had a skirmish with the rebels of Carson's command near the mouth of the river. They scattered them and destroying their teams and burning stores. On their return they attacked another body of rebels, 8 miles east of Van Buren, with like success, killing several and taking 40 prisoners, with quite a number of horses and mules. A considerable quantity of arms fell into our possession. The Federal loss was one drowned and one prisoner.

An army letter says despatches report that Jackson is in command opposite Fredericksburg, Lee having gone towards Charleston.

Washington, Feb. 13th.—From the tenor of dispatches by the late steamer, it is thought that the feeling in regard to the American war had slightly improved, not only in England but on the Continent.

The Navy Department has information of the capture of the Schooner Emma Tottle, flying the British flag, on the 27th, off Charleston. The cargo was mostly contraband, consisting of a number of bags of saltpetre.

A Court of Inquiry has been organized, to inquire and report whether any and what officers directly in traffic in cotton and other produce on the Mississippi or its tributaries. The Court will meet and organize at Cairo, and hold its sessions at such places as are most convenient.

The Senate Committee on Military Affairs reported adversely on the House bill for raising an army of 150,000. The Committee claims that sufficient authority is given to enlist negroes without limit, by the act of July, 1862.

The Senate passed the bill to-day reviving the statute of 1779—the one preventing correspondence with the enemy. It imposes heavy penalties, in the shape of fine and imprisonment, for violation of the law.

The report of the Committee on Territories, made by Senator Wade to-day, in answer to a resolution, shows that the Utah Legislature suppressed the Governor's message, and that no freedom of suffrage is allowed, or opinion tolerated in opposition to the church dignitaries; that polygamy is practiced to the extent of incest; that there is no law giving redress to the abuse of marriage relations, and that the Mormons are openly inimical to the Government of the United States though in a popular phrase steadfast adherents to the Constitution.

The bill to provide the ways and means for the support of the Government passed the Senate to-day, the amount of notes to be issued having been reduced from $300,000,000 to $100,000,000, and a tax being imposed upon bank circulation of one per cent. for 2 years, and 2 per cent. thereafter.

Dates to Feb. 14th.
New York Feb. 14th.—It is reported that General Cassius M. Clay has determined to resign his commission and return to Russia.

Accounts from New Foundland state that the inhabitants are suffering very much in consequence of the intensely cold weather.

A Panama letter of the 4th says the brig Hannah, which arrived at Aspinwall, reports that on the 7th of January, 20 miles south of San Domingo, she saw a ship burning and a steamer leaving her.

A British war ship had arrived at Panama, with $2,500,000 in gold which she smuggled out of Mexico ports.

Cairo, Feb. 14th.—The guerrilla leader Dawson and 30 of his band have been enforcing the Conscript Act in the vicinity of Dyerburg, Tenn. He was captured a few days since.

Washington, Feb. 14.—A Musfreboro letter says the reason why the army does not advance is that it is mud bound. The army is in excellent condition, but suffered considerably by desertion.

Memphis letters mention the probability of reinforcing Farragut by a portion of Porter's fleet, which will run the blockade of Vicksburg and Port Hudson batteries.

The Attorney General has decided that the Government is not liable for Floyd's acceptances.

The Senate has ratified the treaty by which the Kaw Indians are to be removed from Kansas as soon as arrangements can be made by the Indian Bureau.

Bills have been prepared, and only await the opportunity to be reported, appropriating $10,000,000 for the abolition of slavery in Maryland, $1,500,000 for Western Virginia, and $150,000 for Delaware.

The rebel Congress, on the 26th ult., repealed the act exempting the owner of 20 negroes from the conscription.

Dates to Feb. 15th.
New York, Feb. 15.—Kingston (Jamaica) papers by the steamer Tallman confirm the reported arrival there of the pirate Alabama on the 20th of January, with officers and crew, 195 in all, of the Hatteras. The Alabama was severely killed in the encounter. Two Federal men of war were reported off Jamaica. Semmes had a reception of a considerable number, at the Exchange, Kingston from merchants of the city, and was loudly cheered.

Dates to Feb. 16.
Chicago, Feb. 16.—The Illinois Legislature adjourned on Saturday. The resolutions demanding an armistice and convention, which passed the House some days since, failed in the Senate.

Senator's Concessions.

The Senatorial question in California has been decided by the election of John Conness. The Sacramento Union says of him: We congratulate the people of the State upon the termination of the Senatorial contest.

An Important Legal Profession.

The old Methodist doctrine of tithe, it seems all at once to have become popular among the legal profession of this Territory.

OVERLAND EMIGRATION.

The Portland Times says a private telegram has been received in that city, stating that the overland bill had passed Congress and that Medora Crawford has again been appointed to command the escort.

Home Again.

Hon. John A. Simms called in upon us yesterday morning having just returned from the capital. His good-natured spirit seems to have lost none of its old expression.

Legal Tenders.

Legal tenders—Legal tenders are still quoted at 65 cents in Portland. In this market they have fallen to five cents below the above figure.

The Consumption Bill.

The consumption bill, introduced into the United States Senate, or agreed to by the military committee of that body, is modeled in a great degree after the European law of consumption-making.
