

THE LOWER YAKIMA DITCH.—It will be remembered that in January of this year there was a great rush to file on desert lands along the line of the proposed ditch from Kiona to a point opposite Wallula.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.—Messrs. MacLean, Reed & Co. have made the following sales during the past week: To Major Biegler, Tacoma, 23 acres in Summerside orchard track, $3,000; Sprague parties, lots 3 and 31, block 250, and lot 1, block 52, $4,000; F. H. Luce of Davenport, lots 5 and 6, block 51, $65.33; Mrs. O. Wiswell and Miss Annie Mattoon, lots 3 and 4, block 50, $6,500; four lots in Capital addition, $1,375; Prof. Newman, lot 4, block 25, $600; MacLean, Reed & Co., five lots in Capital addition, $900; Chas. E. Hale, lots 10, 11 and 12, block 52, $2,400; Harry Spinning and Prof. Livermore, lots 19, 20 and 21, block 52, $2,400; W. L. Steinweg, lots 21 and 22, block 70, $1,000.

HAD A CLACK CALL.—It will be remembered by the readers of the HERALD that early this year the report was received that Adam Shuerman, formerly in the employ of the Moore company, was killed by the Apache Indians while working on a cow ranch in Arizona.

ENDS A MISERABLE LIFE.—This report was received by letter this week that Rufe Gray, who formerly resided here, and who had befriended citizens of Yakima and Seattle out of upward of $140,000 and skipped to Texas, had committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart, after being robbed in a gambling saloon of all of his ill-gotten coin.

HYMENAL.—G. A. Gano, of North Yakima, and Miss Eliza Spahr, of Forest, Ohio, were married at the residence of C. L. Gano, Wednesday, October 2d. A number of handsome presents were received by the newly-wedded couple, who start in their new sphere of life with the best wishes from a host of friends.

PERSONAL.

J. A. Bilger left for Portland Thursday. Dr. E. E. Heg returned from Tacoma Sunday.

Sam Vinsin and wife are back from Spokane. Mrs. Will Shearer has gone to Portland on a visit to her sister.

N. E. Mathews was married to Miss Emma Travis, Sept. 23.

Dr. G. W. Carey returned from the Sound country Sunday. F. B. Lippincott returned from the upper Sound country to-day.

Carl Jensen was up from Prosser Thursday, with the election returns. Fred E. Reed and Paul W. Law returned from the Sound Thursday.

E. S. Robertson has had a relapse and his life is now hanging in the balance. G. W. Cary returned from Pomeroy, and J. A. Taggart from Dayton, Thursday.

Joseph Bartholet and wife left Thursday for Portland to attend the exposition. E. H. Hobbs, a prominent republican politician of Brooklyn, New York, is in the city.

W. D. Beck will leave about the 20th of this month on a visit to his old home in Missouri. G. D. Kinnear, a leading grain merchant of Denver, Colorado, spent several days in the city this week.

Mrs. L. S. Howlett, whose condition for the past week has been critical, is reported much better to-day. Charles Owens, bookkeeper for George Kevin, is again out after a severe stage of sickness lasting several weeks.

Mrs. D. A. Toliver, of Wichita, Kansas, arrived in the city Monday, on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Henton. George Sloper and family arrived from Goldendale Thursday and have taken charge of the Model restaurant, on Second street.

Misses Frances, Estelle and K. Dunning, of Detroit, are here to make their permanent home, and are the guests of Hotel Yakima. Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Baldwin, of Corning, N. Y., ladies representing large capital for investment, are guests of the Hotel Yakima.

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Baldwin, of Corning, N. Y., ladies representing large capital for investment, are guests of the Hotel Yakima. Honey Schreiner, son of S. Schreiner, who has been out here for some time past on a visit, left for his Minnesota home Wednesday.

LOCAL BRIEFINGS.

—Pascos's new paper is named the Pilot. Politically it is of democratic faith. —W. H. Rowe has sold the Centennial lodging house to Jos. Postel, of Denver, Colorado.

—Shriver Bros. have the contract for painting the Lewis-Engle and the Syndicate buildings. —The desert land contest of J. D. McDaniel against Maria Ferguson is now being heard at the land office.

—Councilman A. H. Reynolds has been chosen acting mayor by his colleagues during the absence of Mayor Reed. —A. H. Reynolds has leased one of the store rooms in the Vining block, and will again engage in the furniture business.

—S. C. Henton was elected justice of the peace for the North Yakima precinct over J. W. Beck. His majority was four. —The council has passed an ordinance and it is now a law closing the saloons between the hours of midnight and 5 o'clock a. m.

—The new hotel, the Bartholet House, is being rushed rapidly to a finish. The third story walls are already up and awaiting the roof. —Dan Sinclair received from the east on Friday last, the machinery for a creamery which will be located on his Natchee ranch.

—Port Townsend has a new morning paper called the Leader. W. S. Jones is the proprietor and it claims to be an independent republican in politics. —Harris & Fitterer, until recently proprietors of the Model restaurant, will open next week, in the old postoffice building on First street, a fish and poultry market.

—John B. Deas, formerly employed by Vining Bros., died at the Bartholet house, Thursday evening, from typhoid fever. His mother and sister, residents of Portland, were with him at the last. —Jeremiah Delaney, formerly a citizen of Ellensburg, while delirious from fever cut his throat with a piece of broken glass, at Spokane Falls last Saturday, and died within a few minutes afterward.

—Shardlow & McDaniel are remodeling the building recently purchased by them on the corner of Front street and Yakima Avenue and will move therein as soon as the work is finished. They have concluded not to build until next spring. —The members of the firm of Adair & Co., of Spokane Falls, who have leased one of the store rooms in the Syndicate building, are here urging forward the completion of the work. They have four car loads of furniture now in transit from the east.

—Major Biegler of the firm of Biegler & Benham of Tacoma, bought this week through MacLean Reed & Co., 23 acres of orchard land in the Summerside tract, upon which he will build a handsome brick residence. The land will be put under thorough cultivation. —Two hundred and seventy-five children are now enrolled as pupils of the North Yakima public schools. This number will be increased by forty in a couple of weeks, and the directors are puzzling their heads where to put them until the new building can be finished.

—The contract for the new school house has been let to John Parrott. Work is to commence at once and the walls are to be up before the close of the year. The building is very badly needed as the present school house, which was built for 100 pupils, is now crowded by upward of 200 pupils. —On Saturday, Sept. 21st, George B. Kittling, the Seattle capitalist and real estate dealer, bought through MacLean, Reed & Co., of Shardlow & McDaniel, the two lots on the corner of Yakima avenue and Third street, diagonally across from the Hotel Yakima, paying therefor $400.00, or $100 per front foot.

—The new silver discoveries in the Natchee pass are showing up richer with every report. Many claims have been staked off, and old prospectors say that the indications point to these mines proving ahead of any on the coast. S. J. Lowe, Captain Simmons and several others leave for the mines this week. —Ellensburg worked all kinds of devices to catch the ballot in the capital fight. One of her latest moves was to send out printed cards to liquor dealers all over the territory asking for support on the grounds that the whisky business was fostered by Ellensburg and that the wholesale dealers were working for that place because it was to their interest and the interest of the trade to do so.

—A car load of furniture has just been received from the east by Lombard & Horley and will be sold at eastern prices freight added. The furniture is of the latest and most approved styles. —Readers, in our advertising columns you will see the generous offer of Goodwin & Pugsley. Six lots in the best part of town given away. This is an opportunity which should not be thrown away. —Having purchased the business and stock of hardware formerly owned and conducted by Mr. A. B. Weed, of this city, I return to the east to replenish the stock of goods, which will be very greatly increased. These goods will be bought in the best markets at the lowest possible prices, and we feel sure that we shall have some bargains that will be of interest to you. We shall aim to keep our assortment of regular goods complete at all times, and goods in our line not in stock will be procured from the nearest markets on the shortest possible notice at all times. Mr. Weed has kindly consented to continue in charge of the business until my return with my family, which will be in a few weeks, when I shall be most happy to make the personal acquaintance of all the good people of this vicinity. Soliciting a share of your patronage, I remain, very respectfully,

Wm. Sawyer, Of Sawyer & Pennington.

SHOOTING AT WENATCHEE.

George Radle is Shot and Dangerously Wounded by Peterson.

Ellensburg Sta's Register: Wenatchee furnishes a sensation in the form of a shooting affair in which one person was dangerously wounded. There was rumor on the streets that a woman was mixed up in the trouble, but this is denied by one of the principals, George Radle, who is now lying in bed at the Horton House. He makes the following statement: "Peterson and myself were talking yesterday in regard to $50 which he owes me. He refused to pay me and used insulting language when I struck him with my fist. He immediately pulled his gun and fired two shots, one taking effect in the left arm and the other in the hip."

Mr. Radle at first refused to make any statement but relaxed his reticence when informed that a report was in circulation to the effect that he had loved not wisely but too well. The doctors were unable to find the ball in the left hip and his condition is considered dangerous but not necessarily fatal.

The Why of the Wherefore.

EDITOR HERALD:—Why is it that in all our knowledge of the bright hereafter we find no gleam of humor? Nothing brightens this life more than wit, humor, healthy fun. Can it be that the sweet bye-and-bye is so sadly serious that no place is found for that quality, without which man is unlovely and unsafe?

The spiritualist wraps himself up in his trance as in a garment and permits the shades of the departed to converse through his eloquent lips. From Sheridan and Swift to Bunyan and Jonathan Edwards they come; they are evidently "just dying to talk." But who ever heard one of these emancipated beings indulge in a joke, even of a religious character? Why, one would as soon expect a prohibitionist to cast a reasonable vote.

Nature has a full-blooded tone of pleasure. Witness the sensuous delight of a summer day, the full-throated happiness of her songsters and the very joy of being which fills plant and beast and man, or the sweeter delight of her midnight hours as the stars move, twinkling, through their unthought measures.

She tones her joke, too, from the unexpected down-pour when the rain-slick has been left at home, to the grim pleasantry of "Jo-Jo, the dog-faced Russian boy."

The supernatural, however, seems to be devoid of humor. Is it really so? Is there no fun in the future? If it is so, why is it so?

One should really know in time, as in these b. s. (not b. and s.) days one might elect to drink of the liquid of life and remain here.

Now that the capital matter is temporarily settled, kindly cast the calm light of your editorial penetration on this not unimportant question. Should you not reflect back the power to throw a ray to the heart of the question, it may be that this may meet the eye of one who has more light.

Among the prominent people whom we all know and have been the guests of the Hotel Yakima during the past week are S. C. Hyde, of Spokane Falls; J. T. Ronald, Seattle; T. B. Brenta, Walla Walla; W. P. Gray, Pasco; Eugene Semple, Tacoma, and W. P. Haskell, Roslyn.

G. G. Cleland, of Minneapolis, has arrived and entered upon his duties as miller of the North Yakima roller mills. Mr. Cleland is a man of wide experience in his profession and was connected with some of the most celebrated mills of Minneapolis.

W. P. Sawyer, of Sawyer & Pennington, the successors of A. B. Weed in the hardware business, left for Minnesota Sunday, to return in a short time with his family.

General Samuel D. Sturges, U. S. A., died at St. Paul September 28. General Sturges was a veteran of the Mexican war, had command of the fortifications about Washington in 1862, and commanded the second division of the Ninth army corps at the battles of South Mountain, Antietam and Fredericksburg.

Butte City, Montana, is the latest sufferer from fire. The fire started at noon, September 29, and before it could be controlled had swept away two blocks from the business center of the city. The loss was about $500,000.

"The Tacoma" hotel has been sold. The purchasers are ten in number and include Allen C. Mason, N. Nelson Bennett, Paul Schulze, Walter J. Thompson and General Collins.

Change of Address. The undersigned having sold his entire hardware business to Messrs. Sawyer & Pennington, late of Stillwater, Minn., takes pleasure in recommending them to all his old patrons and the people of Yakima county generally as gentlemen of character, large business experience, and possessed of ample means to conduct the business in a manner conducive to the best interests of all persons who may patronize them.

Mr. Sawyer, their business manager, has returned to the east to purchase an additional stock and will be absent about three weeks, after which he will be found at their place of business (the old stand), where he will be pleased to serve all who may call on him, in an honorable and gentlemanly manner.

The undersigned will be in charge of the business until the return of Mr. Sawyer. Very respectfully, A. B. WEED.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at the regular meeting of Progress Lodge No. 61, I. O. O. F., on September 16, 1886:

WHEREAS, in view of the loss we have sustained by the decease of our friend and brother, J. W. Holton, and of the still heavier loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to him, therefore be it Resolved, That it be and it is hereby the duty of the lodge to extend sympathy to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting his removal from our midst we mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our respect and regard.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with the family of the deceased on the dispensation with which it has pleased Divine Providence to afflict them, and commend them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best, and whose chastisements are meant in mercy. Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be forwarded to the family of our departed brother and also a copy be forwarded to the papers of the city by the secretary of our order.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes or records of our lodge. JAMES H. BARNES, GEORGE GARDNER, JAMES C. BERRY, Committee.

A Different Try Fall. "George," remarked Mrs. Jacklight to her husband, "who is this Sam Taylor I hear you and Major Johnson talking about? Is he a good waiter?" "A good waiter, my dear? What do you mean?" "Why, I heard you tell the major that down at the club the other night Sam Taylor came in with a tray full and dropped his pile, and I thought he must have been very careless." And then George gazed out of the window with a far-away look in his eyes.

SOME FAMOUS DUELS.

Recalling Early Political Conflicts-- Aaron Burr's First Duel.

How Women Created Political Distinction--Reminiscences of Jackson's Administration.

The early history of the country affords various instances where politicians resorted to the French mode of deciding disputes and misunderstandings, and so the duel was no uncommon thing when we take into consideration the illfeeling and hatred often bred by differences in political opinion.

It may not be generally known that Aaron Burr, aside from his famous duel with Hamilton, was engaged in an affair about five years before. John B. Church, a prominent politician of the time, accused Burr of accepting a bribe from the state for legislative services rendered. Burr indignantly denied the charge, and Church being so persistent in keeping up the accusation, the former challenged him to mortal combat. It occurred while John Adams was in the office of president. But the performance was a ridiculous and laughable affair. Before Burr and his second--Judge Burke, of South Carolina--left for the battle ground the former told Burke that he had just discovered that the balls were cast too small for his pistol, and that chamois leather, cut the proper size, would have to be put around them to make them fit. So some leather and some grease were put into the case. After the principals were placed Burr noticed Burke endeavoring to drive the ramrod in with a rock, but without success. He saw that the Judge had forgotten the grease to make it slide. The next minute the pistol was handed Burr, but he saw the ball was not home. He apprised his second of the fact, when the latter said: "I know it," at the same time wiping the perspiration from his face. "I forgot to grease the leather; but you see your man is ready; don't keep him waiting. Just take a crack at it, and I'll grease the next."

The order was given to fire, when shots were exchanged without effect. Mr. Church then made the necessary apology, when the whole party returned to the city in the highest good humor. The affair was a standing joke for a long time.

During the first year that Jefferson held the office of president, Hamilton's eldest son, an intelligent, high-spirited youth of 21 years, fell in a duel. He had been to the theater, and after the performance, a number of his friends and associates repaired to a neighboring restaurant to partake of supper. The political controversies of that period rose to such a height as to be bitter and deadly. All young men when partaking of midnight suppers, are prone to indulge in wine to a certain extent; and we find that these young men were not exempt from the practice. A certain issue, concerning the character of Alexander Hamilton and his eligibility to office, came up, and, quite naturally, the son defended the father. The bitter feeling was expanded to pretty good proportions, when young Hamilton, who was a conservative and careful fellow, after mature consideration, challenged his opponent. He felt as though he could risk his life to defend his father. Two days after the principals met, and Hamilton fell and expired almost instantly. Unbiased judges proclaimed the affair a murder. Some time after the father was destined to fall the same way. Every school boy is conversant with that affair, so it is unnecessary to dwell on that subject.

The year after Hamilton's son was killed occurred the famous duel between De Witt Clinton and John Swartwout. Clinton was a big politician in his time, having filled many prominent offices. The Clintons were of Irish extraction, and they retained much of their fiery disposition that characterized their forefathers who came over here to permanently locate in 1719. They were all thorough whigs, though it was said that the founder of the family was a royalist in the time of Charles I. and fled to Ireland to avoid the enmity of the roundheads. De Witt's brother, George, held the office of governor of the state, on and off, for eighteen years, and was the undisputed leader of his party. The Clintons were not a family of wealth, having gained whatever they possessed by actual hard work. So much for their family history.

Swartwout accused Clinton of some unprincipled things, when the latter called Swartwout "a liar, scoundrel and villain." Whether such was really the case it is impossible to decide at this late day, nevertheless a duel was the result. It was one of the most remarkable fights of the kind in history, five shots being exchanged without effect. When the grounds were reached the men took their places and the order to fire was given. Shots were exchanged but no harm was done. The seconds asked Swartwout, "Are you satisfied?" "I am not," come the quick reply. Pistols were then exchanged and a second shot was fired without effect. Colonel Smith, who was Swartwout's second, at the request of Mr. Riker, asked Swartwout if he was satisfied, when the latter replied strongly in the negative. A third shot was exchanged. "Are you satisfied?" "No!" And he said he would not be until Clinton affixed his signature to a written apology that was handed in by the seconds. This Clinton positively refused to do, and so there was no alternative but to place the principals again. A fourth shot; then a fifth. The question was put to Swartwout: "Are you satisfied?" "It is useless to repeat the question--my determination is fixed. I beg we proceed."

Clinton now offered a verbal apology, saying that he was sorry for what had occurred, and added that he had no animosity toward Mr. Swartwout; proposed to shake hands and agreed to bury the circumstance in oblivion. In the meanwhile a ball had to be extracted from the leg of Swartwout, but he was pretty stubborn. Clinton then refused to continue the combat, saying that he had offered the necessary apology. Swartwout was surprised that his opponent would not offer the requisite apology and refused to fight any further, and so the seconds said there was nothing left for Swartwout to do but to have his wound dressed. The parties then returned to their respective barges. It was one of the most remarkable duels of modern times, five shots being fired without disabling or even a dangerous wound.

Coming further forward to the year 1826, during the administration of John Quincy Adams, we find that John Randolph had a conflict with Henry Clay. Both of these individuals were of southern blood, and pretty hot-headed. Randolph was rather a disappointed politician, and he had the consumption, so at times he was pretty irritable. In a fever heat he called Clay's progenitors to account for bringing into the world "this being, so brilliant, yet so corrupt, which, like rotten mackerel by moonlight, shined and stunk." For this blackguardism, and certain insinuations against his truth, Clay called him out. Randolph did not court a duel. He merely wanted to break Clay's influence, not kill him; but he could not refuse the challenge. Shots were exchanged, when a general handshaking took place and everything was amicably settled.

It did not take much to get a feeling of hatred to exist among politicians. In 1828 Jackson was elected to the office of president. There was some talk about the purity of the woman Jackson married and in the same strain certain accusations were brought forth saying that John H. Eaton, one of the cabinet officers, had no business to marry Mrs. Timberlake, a widow. She was the daughter of a Washington tavern-keeper, and was known as Peggy O'Neil. Before he married her he consulted Jackson, who, bearing in mind the case of his wife, chivalrously took sides with anyone whose character was unwarrantably assailed. Several people told Jackson that it would hurt the administration to have a man like that in the cabinet, whereupon he retorted that a man's wife had nothing to do with the cabinet. So Eaton was appointed, but the wives of the other secretaries and vice president would not recognize his wife.

At this time Van Buren was a widower, and he showed Mrs. Eaton courtesies, but to no avail. Finally the woman created such dissension that it appeared some serious difficulties would arise. Several challenges for duels were issued, but there was no fighting.

The transition from long and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of kidneys, liver or stomach, of long or short standing, you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at Jackson's drug store.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve
Is the best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by C. B. Bushnell, druggist.

Independence, Ore., Dec. 13.
Both myself and wife have been for some years afflicted with disease of the kidneys, and had tried many remedies without obtaining any permanent relief. About three months ago we were induced to try Oregon Kidney Tea, which has apparently entirely cured both of us, as since taking it two weeks we have felt no symptoms of the disease. We can heartily recommend it to others similarly afflicted as we believe it will do all that is claimed for it.
M. W. WATTS.
Sold by Allen & Chapman.

Do you feel dragging sensations in the back and loins, are you troubled with wakefulness, faintness at the pit of the stomach? Are you nervous or irritable? If so we would advise you to try Oregon Kidney Tea (purely vegetable). It never fails to effect a permanent cure of kidney and urinary complaint. Sold by Allen & Chapman.

Nothing is more disagreeable to a young lady or gentleman than to have the face covered with pimples, black heads and blotches. Dillard's Specific, the new skin remedy, will remove all disfigurements from the face and hands and produce a clear and beautiful complexion. Try it and be convinced. Sold by Allen & Chapman.

Many young children become positively repulsive with sore eyes, sore ears and scald head. Such afflictions may be speedily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old alike experience the wonderful benefits of this medicine.

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair, for a lady of her age, but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life, his head might, to-day, have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It's not too late yet.

If mothers studied their best interests they would find that Dr. Henley's Dandelion Tonic is the best household remedy. Many of the ills peculiar to females could be avoided by its use. It is as pleasant to take as a glass of wine. Sold by Allen & Chapman.

Goodwin & Pugsley's fire insurance companies do not cancel their policies. Give us a call.

The prices at H. Kuechler's are as low, in regard to quality as you can find anywhere.

THE COBYPHEE.

With complexion like the rose
Mid the snows,
Due to powder on her nose,
I suppose.
She twirls upon her toes,
In abbreviated clothes,
And exhibits spangled hose
To the beaux.
When cruel Time bestows,
Adipose,
Fair parts and all those
She catfrows.
Then murmuringly she goes
To the very hindmost rows,
With the crows.
When life has fled and faded grows,
Like her bows;
She in garret sits and sews
Furbelows;
Till her weary eyelids close
In the peace of Death's repose,
Is she sleeping what she sews?
Who knows?

A Bull Week for News.

Arkansas Traveler: "You must excuse me for my lack of interest this week," writes the Dry Forks correspondent, addressing the editor of the county paper. He then gives the following paragraphs:
Rain.
Picnic Wednesday.
Frothing at Round Pond Sunday.
During the services Zeb Phillips dropped his pistol on the floor. It went off and killed him.
Wheat didn't turn out so mighty well. Chicken cholera.
Measles.
Whooping cough.
Old man Blue and his wife have parted. Tobe Walker killed a coon.
Mat Morris shot himself Friday. He would have left a wife to mourn his loss but she died last summer.

THE ART OF POISONING.

Some Famous Life-Takers—Women Who Have Figured in Judicial Dramas.

The Popular Poison—Arsenic Always "Arrested" a Case of Arsenic "Not Proven."

Full Mail Gazette: In the good old days of the unrefined English criminal law the wife who murdered her husband was done to death with additional ignominy.

The "popular" poison, so to speak, has always been arsenic. It was a compound of arsenical neutral salts that Hieronyma Spira was accustomed to supply her clients, the secret society of young Roman matrons.

Coming to the present century, we find the story of poisoning by arsenic—arsenic, toujours arsenic—repeated with wearisome iteration. At Bristol, in 1833, Mary Ann Burdock was put on her trial before Sir Charles Wetherell for the murder of Clara Ann Smith by the administration of arsenic.

The case of the notorious Muse, Lafarge, in France, for the murder of her husband by arsenic, administered in cake and a fowl, attracted great interest in this country. Its most remarkable feature was the astounding disagreement between the medical men.

The next famous charge of poisoning recorded was again, as usual, by arsenic. Christina Gilmore was put on her trial before the high court of judicature, Edinburgh, on the 12th of January, 1864, for the murder of her husband just a twelve-month previously.
