This bibliography is a small subset of the 32 page “Whodunit in Washington State: A Selected Bibliography of Mysteries Set in the Evergreen State” issued in July 2006. The original bibliography grew out of Washington State Librarian Jan Walsh’s desire to select mysteries set in Washington State for one of her seasonal Washington Reads lists.

Books are listed by author and then alphabetically by title. Pseudonyms are noted when known. If a book is part of a series, the main character and the sequence number of the book are noted. When an entire series does not take place in Washington State, an indication of what portion of the series takes place in the state is given by phrases such as “some of the series is set in Washington State,” “most of the series is set in Washington State,” or “others in the series are not set in Washington State.” The primary setting of the plot must be in Washington for it to be included in this list, so not all titles in a series are listed. Also, books which begin with a Washington character who then goes elsewhere for the majority of the book are not included. Some authors write stand-alone mysteries as well as series mysteries. If a book is not part of a series but is written by a mystery writer who is known for a series, it is noted with the phrase “not part of a series.”

The State Library’s fiction is classified in its Dewey 800s collection. Using Dewey sometimes results in the splitting up of an author’s works. Those published during and after 2000 are usually in 813.6, while those published before 1999 are usually in 813.54. The call numbers for some books are being updated. Please check the Washington State Library catalog www.secstate.wa.gov/library/ to see if a book’s call number has changed.

Some titles have annotations in quotes. These annotations are from the Washington State Library’s online catalog record.

NW prefixed books are available for checkout and interlibrary loan. Rare and R (Reference) prefixed books are available at the State Library in Tumwater for in library use. The R books are shelved in the historic reference collection.

WR denotes a book selected previously by Washington State Librarian Jan Walsh for her Washington Reads program. These books were selected for other themes as noted, but they also happen to be mysteries. To read Ms. Walsh’s comments about a book go to: www.secstate.wa.gov/library/wa_reads.aspx/. Her comments can also be found by clicking on the Washington Reads link in the record for the book in the Library’s online catalog.
