The following criteria will be used to review and evaluate all parts of the application. In general, grant reviewers will look for:

- A clearly represented and concisely written proposal.
- Sufficient detail to understand the problem, need or opportunity.
- Sufficient detail to understand how the proposal will be implemented.
- Evidence of planning for the future in terms of project sustainability.
- Evidence that your project and library fits within the scope of the Washington Rural Heritage initiative and collection.

Please respond to the following:

1. What is your service area population?

2. Was your library previously involved with a Washington Rural Heritage grant award as either a project lead or partner?

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 10 points. Ten points will be awarded to those not previously receiving Washington Rural Heritage grant funding.

Yes

No

3. In two or three sentences, briefly describe the digitization project that you are proposing.

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 5 points

- What organizations are involved?
- What specific collection(s) or items are being digitized?

- 4. Please describe in more detail your proposed project and process of implementation. If you are partnering with another institution, please explain your role as well as the role or involvement of your collaborative partner. Note: Equipment used for this project must be able to produce items to the specifications noted (see grant guidelines).

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 15 points

- Additional details regarding the materials slated for digitization (status as original primary sources versus second-generation copies, material format condition, and current storage conditions).
- Current access to original items or collection you're proposing to digitize.
- Significance of items or collection to community.
- Means of digitization (list equipment or training needed, services contracted, etc.).
- Who will implement the project phases and activities (planning, selection, copyright vetting and documentation, digitization and file optimization, publicity and programming, administrative tasks)?

- 5. Please describe consideration of rights and permissions for digital publishing.

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 15 points

- Will your library only digitize material judged to be in the public domain/unencumbered by copyright restrictions, or will you be acquiring necessary permissions for items still under copyright?
- Will your library gain rights and permission from collaborative partner(s)?
- Other considerations: "Fair Use" as a provision to publish (steps involved in research); approach to digitizing "orphan works," etc.

- 6. How will this project help you to meet the needs of library patrons and/or serve the mission of your library?

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 10 points

- Alignment with library goals, mission, collection policy, strategic planning including digitization, etc.
- Who is the primary audience?
- Consideration of, and plans to address, increased requests for material (original as well as digital copies).
- Evidence of leadership support.
- Evidence of sustainability over time.

7. How will you determine if your project is successful?

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 5 points

- What is the desired outcome and how will you measure it?
- Use of qualitative and quantitative evidence to measure level of benefit to library, library staff, partner organization(s), and community.

8. How will your library use and promote the online collection?

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 10 points

- Description of planned publicity and promotional activities during and immediately following the grant period.
- Description of outreach activities, public programming, etc.
- Plans for sustained promotional activities following the grant period.
- Incorporation of both traditional promotional activities (e.g., press releases, library programs, printed materials) and online promotional activities (e.g., prominent links on library website, use of social media).

9. List the major activities or steps involved in completing the project. Include the name of the person responsible for implementation of the activity and when the activity is expected to be completed. Include evidence of grant administration requirements. (Limit response to no more than one page.) Note: see guidelines for sample work plan including all major activities involved in a grant project.

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 15 points

- A logical and sound process of implementation
- A description of the tasks to be performed from contract execution to project closeout

10. Describe the project's budget using the form below. Please include any digital imaging equipment provided by your library or another institution under 'Other Funding.' Each line of the budget form will contain two numbers; one number for "Grant Funds Requested" and one number for "Other Funding". Round amounts listed to the nearest dollar. Use the column labeled "Description" for very brief notes or to reference the narrative included on a separate page.

On a separate page, describe how the budget was determined and why this budget is appropriate. Also complete a short narrative statement for each of the budget categories, describing what items are included within the proposal. (No more than 1 page in addition to the budget form).

Review and evaluation:

Question is worth 15 points

- A budget that is complete and accurate
- A short narrative statement for each of the budget categories, describing what items are included within the proposal, and how the budget figure was determined within that category
