- She was just recently chosen by the Secretary of the Interior to serve on the Regional Advisory Board of the Bonneville Power Administration.

- She served as a member of the Walla Walla Family Guidance Advisory Board.

EXPERIENCE IN EDUCATION

Mrs. Hahner was the first woman ever elected to the Walla Walla School Board. She served effectively for seven years, two years as chairman, during a critical time when there was a necessary expansion of school facilities. She also played an important part in the founding of Walla Walla Community College.

* Jeannette Hahner Speaks Out On the Issues of Today

* NO NEW TAXES

Tax increases are not needed or wanted by the people. Because of a substantial up-turn in the state's economy, federal revenue sharing which will bring $80-million to the State, and careful management and economy on the part of Republicans, this "hold the line" policy is possible.

SJR 1 would be the first step in limiting property taxes to present levels.

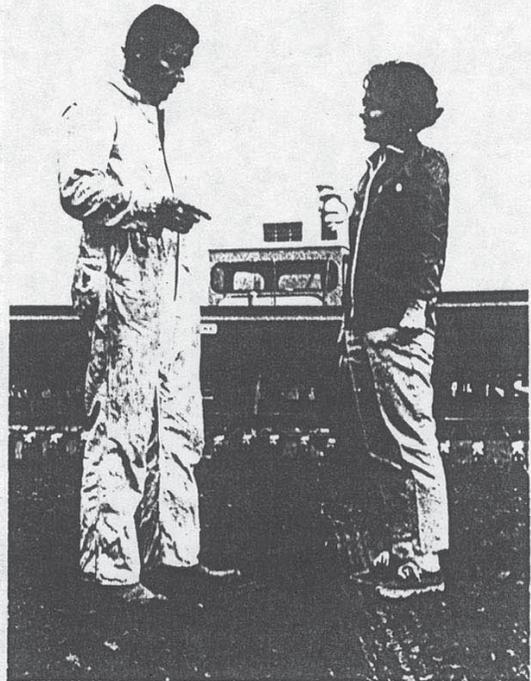

Some relief from the special levies on property to support public school can be found.

* PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Public assistance is an integral part of our social concern for our fellow man. Wherever possible we want to eliminate abuses of the system and encourage personal initiative. Retraining and apprentice programs should be encouraged to remove employable persons from the welfare rolls.

* WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

The employer should have the option of carrying state insurance, private insurance, or self insurance.

* ACCENT ON AGRICULTURE

Agriculture is vital to the economy of the 16th District. When agriculture prospers the entire District prospers.

Improvements must continually be made on farm-to-market roads. Agricultural growth must not be hindered by oppressive methods of farm taxation. The rights of the farmer and the farm worker must be protected.

* PRISON REFORM

Reform within the walls of the prisons is essential. Reform should not, however, be synonymous with permissiveness. Carefully administered discipline encourages responsible action on the part of inmates. No law abiding citizen should be threatened by release programs which are inefficiently or carelessly administered.

The superintendents of our correctional institutions should be given discretionary authority within certain broad policies. More emphasis and consideration should be given to programs to guide and help first offenders rather than waiting until they become habitual criminals.

* QUALITY IN GOVERNMENT

I believe in quality of government — not quantity! I believe we can cut down substantially on the number of people in government and improve the quality of the people who are employed by the state.

I ask that you join me to bring quality — not quantity — to state government.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE
Position No. 1—District 16—Republican

Paid Pol. Adv. By Committee to Elect Jeannette Hahner,
Peter T. Brooks, M.D., Chairman

Jeannette Hayner
for State Senator
16th District G.O.P.

She shares your views . . .

And she has the experience as a legislator to do something about them!

about education

Jeannette says, "Education is the number one priority. It should be considered for inclusion in the state budget first and improvements in the quality of education must be made." After four years in the State House of Representatives, and an impressive record of service to education as a school board chairman and member of the House Education Committee, Jeannette Hayner will also be a dedicated State Senator who has deep insight into the education issues. She strongly feels that education is the number one priority issue in this or any other campaign because it is so critical to improvements in society generally. Education will help solve problems of criminality; strong school systems restore moral values, family unity and offer effective solutions to problems of taxation, conservation, unemployment, nuclear power and transportation. These are all problems Jeannette Hayner confronts as an experienced legislator.

taxation

Jeannette Hayner on taxation, "Twice in six years, the people have rejected tax reform. Any plan that does not include constitutional limitations on the rate and types of taxes will be looked upon with suspicion by the voters."

justice

Jeannette Hayner, your candidate for State Senator in District 16, a lawyer and a member of the Organized Crime Intelligence Advisory Board for the State of Washington, on the subject of our criminal justice system: "The criminal offender must be punished for his unacceptable destructive behavior, and society must continue to seek effective methods of working with the offender if he is ever to become a productive, self-sufficient citizen." And, typically of Hayner, she integrates her views about the criminal justice system with her experience in education: "Ultimately, the reduction of the crime rate can be realized only by a return to emphasis on moral values, family unity and alternative forms of education for those who are incapable of functioning in the conventional public school."

unemployment

Unemployment compensation: "The taxpayer should not be required to finance a paid vacation for those who neither look for, nor want, to work." We must close the loop holes so we can provide adequate benefits for those who deserve it.

Democratic Club

government

Honesty in Government: Hayner supports a code of ethics for legislators to define conflicts of interest and ethical codes. She feels strongly that the governor and lieutenant governor should be of the same party for continuity of leadership for the State.

Limit the Legislature Sessions: Jeannette Hayner shares your view that sessions should be limited in length and that special sessions should be called only for specific purposes. It's extremely important that we maintain a citizen's legislature of individuals who share your problems and interests.

For your benefit, Hayner will maintain effective government at the local level and simplify government involvement in our daily lives. Vote Jeannette Hayner for State Senator, District 16. She shares your views and she has a record of four years of effective leadership in Olympia to prove it.

conservation

She shares your views, too, on some specifics . . . On water rights: Hayner feels the Department of Ecology has exceeded its authority by imposing time limitations on water permits. The Department of Ecology must be required to respect the parameters of the Water Resources Act.

nuclear power

Nuclear Power plants: Jeannette Hayner supports intelligent use of nuclear power to sustain a healthy economy, national and international commerce and our standard of living. This common sense approach to nuclear power will help avert an energy crisis and provide new jobs for a growing number of unemployed citizens.

transportation

Hayner encourages a balanced transportation policy which continues to provide the necessary funds for maintenance of our existing grid, but also provides for new construction which is the lifeline of Eastern Washington.

Vote Jeannette Hayner for State Senator. She shares your views and she has a record of four years of effective leadership in Olympia to prove it.
