The cost of the government for witnesses' fees in the prosecution of Captain Sparks and George Curtis, the second mate of the latter, has been $116.20.

The Mechanic's Pavilion will be all completed by August 1st. It is much handsomer inside and out than the old structure, and is an ornament to the section of the city it is located in.

The Supreme Court has decided that this city is not entitled to free water, and that the Board of Supervisors must proceed to fix water rates on the basis that all water must be paid for.

During the month of June the police made 2,434 arrests. During the month 118 persons were provided with lodgings. Over 700 were arrested for drunkenness, and 100 who violated the cubic air ordinance, and 100 were Chinese gamblers.

Saids W. Forman, who for seven years past has been the chief and popular Deputy Clerk to the Board of Supervisors, has retired from that position, to enter into a new enterprise, having associated himself with C. R. Sullivan in the formation of a new business.

A few days ago a Custom House Inspector noticed a number of large bamboo canes hanging from the side of the Tokio. Upon inquiry it was found that the canes were the silk cord, aggregating about forty pounds, and valued at about $100. They were promptly confiscated.

General Samuel W. Backus, the new Postmaster of San Francisco, has assumed his term of office. Before leaving the State capital General Backus resigned the position of Adjutant-General of the National Guard.

General John F. Sheehan was appointed Adjutant-General in his place.

Ex-Superior Frank Eastman died on the first of the past week, and was buried by the Knight Templars. He was a well known printer, and was much respected by all who had ever worked for him or had any dealings with him. A delegation from the Printers' Union took part in the funeral.

The Clerk of the Police Court No. 1 reports receiving $5,000 from fines and forfeitures during the past month. The Clerk of Court No. 2 received $3,312, which amounting to $8,312 went to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, $30 to the Park Fund, $2 to the Fire Department, and the balance to the City and County Treasury.

The denarmer in the case of Albert Lusk, John Kinkham and William Jacobs, arrested for failing to disinfect fruit boxes, was sustained in the Police Court by Judge Lusk, the law was unconstitutional, inasmuch as the disinfecting of the boxes was given to one man. The cases were continued indefinitely.

A seizure of $10,000 worth of opium occurred in the City of Tokyo this week. It was hidden in the hold of a steamer, and was discovered by accident. Some 15,000 ounces were also seized while being smuggled ashore from the steamer Mexico from Mexican ports. The second mate was arrested for complicity in this case.

The North Beach and Mission Railroad Company is laying tracks on Market street, between Fifth and Eighth streets, and on Eighth street, to connect with their line to the Mission, on Polson Street. The Market Street Railway Company have commenced work on the Twenty-third street and Market street line, to prepare their roadway for the wire cable.

The British ship Lammermoor was lost last week near the entrance to the Strait of Juan de Fuca, and she ran on the rocks near Bodega Bay, mistaking a light on an anchored vessel for the light of the strait. The crew, with their effects, were saved. The vessel was a fine iron ship, valued at $100,000.

Capt. Penwick, of the British coasteer Steamer Strathgairn, appeared in the United States District Court last week to answer to the charge of carrying an excess of passengers. On this point on his return, the defendant pleaded guilty to an excess of 225 passengers, which plea was accepted, and the defendant fined $1,120. In addition to these proceedings in the case was stayed for thirty days.

Some 300 licenses for Chinese wash-houses in the district east of Ninth and Franklin streets have expired, and according to the order passed by the Board of Supervisors, cannot be renewed unless twelve residents in the block in which they are located petition for the same. No such petitions have been received, so 200 laundries are now without license. The Chinese have secured counsel and will test the law.

The O. & C. Steamship Company's steamer Belgic, flying the British flag, arrived in port last week with 900 Chinamen. Twenty-three cases of small pox, which were only discovered on board, and she was quarantined. After lying two days in quarantine the Chinese passengers were taken to the small-pox hospital, the company agents for the Belgic were fined $100, and the captain and crew were discharged and allowed to dock and discharge their cargo. It is questioned whether such a safe proceeding.

Of the large number of Chinamen who left this port since the passage by Congress of the new treaty, which applied certificates insuring them the right to return, the reason given for this is that the 816 Chinamen do not wish the return of old or sickly friends to this country. In addition to these there are others who have either filled their "sack" or become disgusted and have no desire to return. The latter are being held in charge of the issuance of these certificates, report that little or no difficulty is now experienced in getting on every applicant some physical mark, scar or blemish, by which he can be identified at any time. No attention is paid by the Custom officials to the passports issued by the Chinese Consul.

The new steamship Queen of the Pacific built for the Pacific Coast Steamship Company by Messrs. Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia, to ply between Portland and San Francisco, will reach San Francisco in the latter part of September. She is half-rigged, with iron masts in one piece, and carries eight boilers, which consume about sixty tons of coal a day, affording an average rate of speed of sixteen knots an hour. Captain J. E. Alexander is in command, with C. Erickson as chief officer. She is 330 feet long, 38.7 feet beam, 22.6 feet deep, 50 feet of awning deck, 2727 tons tonnage, and carries 1000 passengers. Her cargo capacity is 100 tons bunker capacity, or 10 feet draught. The propeller which was made in England at a cost of $15,000, is the largest of the kind. The total cost of the vessel was about $500,000.

Fong Lee and Shun Fook, arrested for running retail liquor without license, have secured their licenses, and paid the additional fifty per cent. penalty. The number of these Chinese retail liquor stores is rapidly increasing. Chinese gamblers, in consequence there is a noticeable spread of the vice of drunkenness among these people. Going to some extent, the Chinese are full-blooded Chinamen, after deep potations, almost invariably exhibit the symptoms of intoxication known as "Chinamen drunk," which would set a white man howling, has no other effect on the besotted cooie than to make him look as sadly morose as a "straw" captain who has run against an American court. With the cooie, however, there appears to be a disposition to quarrel and fight, at this may possibly be due to the affectation of the style of American drinks. The disposition is fast becoming common with this class of cooies.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET.

WHEAT—During the week shipments of the following amounts in barrels, have been made to the destinations named: Sydney, 975; Liverpool, 6,500; China, 5,500; Khabul, 125; Victoria, 50. Offerings are not large, but there is an abundance of good quality.

Prices are steady, with no prospect of any speedy change. During the past year 90,000 barrels were shipped from this city. The amount forwarded overland from San Francisco and interior, exclusive of June shipments, was 50,913 barrels; the majority of these were of the following quality: Choice, $3.75; extra choice, $4.50; Superfine, $4.00; extra superfine, $4.50; (55.00) choice and extra choice, 5.25; $3.75; Oregon, $3.75; choice and country grades, $4.75; $5.00.

WHEAT—At this date last year the situation as compared with today was as follows: 1881. 1882.

Liv. quotations, 9s 0d to 9s 10d 11d. Freight rates, $1.37; $1.43; $1.50; $1.70.

The prices above are for spot lots of average California in Liverpool, and for good to choice in London.

The volume of transactions in wheat is not at present large, but the tone of the market is to accept of a higher price for the select stocks of old wheat are tolerably well reduced. There were probably not to exceed 60,000 tons of wheat, the majority of which is of the previous season was not less than 65,000 tons. This year's crop is thought to be about 100,000 tons, but the majority of it is of a poor quality, which it is hoped it will, there will still be good prospects for farmers to accept

JAMES POWER, PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1882.

Mr. Brent's Admission Speech.

The speech delivered by Delegate Brent, on June 28th, upon the admission of Washington Territory is a very able and elaborate affair, and fills twelve pages of the Congressional Record.

The House being in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, for general debate—Mr. Brent said: The first bill introduced by me in the 45th Congress, and indeed the very first bill ever introduced into Congress, was a bill for the admission of the State of Washington into the Union.

Mr. Chairman, over thirty years ago, and in less than four years after the making of that compact, I became an inhabitant of that far away portion of our vast country, and I know by experience some of the dangers and difficulties encountered, and the hardships and privations endured by some of these early settlers.

For three years they have had the requisite 60,000 people, the maximum number required by the compact you have solemnly made with them, more by the last census than any State has had at the census preceding its admission except Vermont and California, and now have more than double the required 60,000; more, sir, than any other State ever had when you admitted them into this Union.

For three years in gross and inexcusable violation of that compact, in gross and inexcusable violation of the spirit and genius of free government, in gross and inexcusable violation of the fundamental principles of the Constitution, and of right and justice, you have kept them in provincial subjection to the rest of our fellow-citizens of the United States, and have denied them the just participation in the government of their common country.

For three years they have had the requisite 60,000 people, the maximum number required by the compact you have solemnly made with them, more by the last census than any State has had at the census preceding its admission except Vermont and California, and now have more than double the required 60,000; more, sir, than any other State ever had when you admitted them into this Union.

For three years in gross and inexcusable violation of that compact, in gross and inexcusable violation of the spirit and genius of free government, in gross and inexcusable violation of the fundamental principles of the Constitution, and of right and justice, you have kept them in provincial subjection to the rest of our fellow-citizens of the United States, and have denied them the just participation in the government of their common country.

the year our climate is mild, equable, and wonderfully beautiful.

Mr. Chairman, until within the last forty years but little was known of our territorial acquisitions in the Pacific northwest. Lewis and Clarke in their celebrated tour across the continent, following the deep cavernous course of its great river, saw little but rocks and sand and silt. When Dr. Marcus Whitman, one of the early American missionaries to the Indians, whose name should ever be cherished as a great benefactor of his nation, arrived at this capital after his hazardous mid-winter trip from that far-off region in the spring of 1833, negotiations were in progress to exchange it all for a codfishery, which he succeeded in defeating. Obtaining through him more accurate information as to its character and value, and the progress made by our national rival, Great Britain, in colonizing it with its own subjects, our Government began to make strenuous efforts to rescue it from their thenceforth grasp. But it was too late; and when the boundary was agreed upon, we lost that valuable portion lying between the parallels of 49 and 54-40 north latitude, and began to have serious fears of losing the balance. Its speedy settlement and occupation by our own citizens became very important. Distance and danger intervened. The territory was very wild, and the Indians were swarming with hostile savages, must be traversed by slow and tedious modes of travel before it could be reached. Hardship, danger, privation and desolation, such as none save him who has undergone it can realize, awaited the intrepid emigrant all along his three-month journey and after he had reached the end.

Who, sir, was ready for the sacrifice—ready to give up home, friends, all the comforts of life, and all the privileges of citizenship? And yet, sir, it was necessary, in order to save this rich heritage of the nation for the benefit of its people, that some must go. Congress to encourage their going, granted them lands, promised them protection, and made it a legislative compact for the early restoration of their political rights, their early admission into the Union.

Mr. Chairman, over thirty years ago, and in less than four years after the making of that compact, I became an inhabitant of that far away portion of our vast country, and I know by experience some of the dangers and difficulties encountered, and the hardships and privations endured by some of these early settlers.

You terrible thing, With venomous sting— You rapacious, blood-thirsty critter; By whom you are called— Those whom you've appalled— The terrible Skagit Musketeer.

You drink of my blood, You feast on my food— You voracious man-eater; Your feet are like fire, Your hands are like steel— Sulphuric-skagit Musketeer.

You bleed to requite, Or, perhaps, my verse had been neater; But the faults of my muse, And spare me, O Skagit Musketeer.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

On the Island of Wallron, in the County of San Juan, at a lone point extending out into the Canal de Haro, from which may be seen by the American people, the last light of day as it passes over the western horizon, at the point which is washed at its base by the waters which mark the extreme northwestern border of the United States lays in a humble grave the remains of Yve Jeffret.

Mr. Jeffret was born in Landwian, Finistere, France, on the 14th day of February, 1847. He came to this country, the home of his adoption, in the month of April, 1882, and on the night of March 17th last was murdered by an old hermit, named Brown. La Marel, last the deceased went to La Conner on business, and while returning home to his family was secretly killed, and the once animated body of a handsome man was brought home a corpse.

To whom it may concern: We, the undersigned, citizens of La Conner, having known Yve Jeffret, (who was murdered on Orcas Island by Brown) for the past ten years, would say that we always found him to be a quiet, honest, hard working man:
