THE N. P. R. COMPANY'S POLICY AND DELEGATE BRENTS.

The following is a letter written by E. N. Sweet, of Colfax, to one of our exchanges. Whitman county has expressed its preference for Judge Sweet for Delegate, and his utterances are not only important in view of his possible candidacy, but because he is evidently a vigorous thinker who knows what he is talking about and is not afraid to speak his mind freely:

COLFAX, W. T., Sept. 4, 1882.

EDITOR PORT-INTELLIGENCE:

It is the settled opinion of many that the people have no rights which corporations are bound to respect, and while this may not be true in general, it is undoubtedly true in isolated cases. It is evident to the casual observer that the officers who have the management of the Western Division of the Northern Pacific Railroad have, by a species of false reasoning, drifted into the pernicious belief that the Northern Pacific is a magnet, around which all interests on the Northern Pacific slope must revolve. This belief is evidenced by their action relative to matters political and things material. In their zeal to shape and mould everything of a plastic nature to their aims and ends, these officers evidently lose discretion and partially overlook the natural position of the company which they represent.

This company has failed to carry out either the letter or spirit of the contract entered into with the government, a compliance with which guaranteed it a magnificent land grant. Knowing this the managers are straining every nerve and using every influence to induce members of Congress to assist in accomplishing desired ends, and in securing benefits which no court of equity could consistently allow. The fact that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company has failed to fulfill its part of the contract under which it was to receive millions upon millions of acres of the finest lands in the great Northwest, is patent to every man of average common sense, who can read the English language. In the first instance, the company has failed to complete its road within the time specified in the contract. A failure to comply with its very letter ought, perhaps, to be overlooked, were it not for the fact that it has failed, and will in all probability fail, to comply with its spirit. The charter under which the company is seeking to enrich itself by appropriating to its own use and benefit a tract of land upon which a populous and powerful nation could be established, provided for the construction of a railroad from Lake Superior to Puget Sound. This road is practically being constructed from St. Paul, Minnesota, to Portland, Oregon. At this juncture, so far as construction and apparent intent is concerned, the fact meets us and is forced home upon us, that the great Northern Pacific Company, whose wealth exists ostensibly in a "syndicate," but really in its vast land grant from the government is using a portion of its possessions in attempting to subsidize Congress to the end that it may evade the fundamental law which gave it existence, evade its legal contracts, evade its positive obligations, and build its road to Portland, thus avoiding the expense of construction through the mountains to Puget Sound. In doing this the company forces the citizens of Washington Territory to pay tribute to and to enrich the commercial (?) cormorants of a neighboring state, who are building a city at our expense.

Seattle is the natural and lawful terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and I but voice the sentiment of thousands when I say that congressional action should be taken to force the company to build and equip its road direct to the Sound, or construct it not at all by further government aid. The time has come when the Northern Pacific should fulfill the spirit of its contract, or suffer the consequences of its premeditated and wanton evasion. Let the Republican party—a party of noble deeds and grand achievements, whose record is written on the pages of history in lines of vivid light—promulgate a platform which shall be an irresistible force in shaping legitimate legislation in favor of Washington Territory, as against the unlawful desires of a bloodless corporation. The power which creates should restrict and dictate; let that power be the master and not the servant. Time is ripe, and the fruit for action is ready to be garnered. Let the watchword of the approaching Republican Convention for Washington Territory be: "A direct railroad to the Sound, or no land grant" beyond what has already been ceded to the Northern Pacific, or by that company sold. If the temper and intent of Congress be what it is believed to be, or what it should be, a proposition of this character, properly advocated and pressed, will meet with approval.

In opposition to this suggestion it may be urged that the Republican party of this Territory cannot successfully counteract the moneyed influence of the great Northern Pacific. Very well, if this be true, we can at least try, and if we fail let us try, and try again until the old maxim rex populi vox Dei is verified and established.

When a united party and a determined people arise in their majesty and in their might and demand that right prevail, they will succeed, even though corporations pour out and scatter their money like pebbles to carry nefarious ends. Money is power, 'tis true, yet I have an abiding faith in the intelligent and honorable efforts of the American people, and I believe that when the majority of the people of a State or Territory lend a united influence toward the recognition and establishment of sacred rights, that their will, founded upon the rock of equity, ought and eventually will become a law, even though the fiends incarnate who guard the gateway of perdition should be leagued against them. If a united people's proper desires may not be established, then indeed is a republican government in the New World banded upon the sand.

The Northern Pacific Company has evaded its contract and is making Portland its terminus; it has dictated where towns should be built, and even yet it is not content. It now appears in a new role. It attempts to dictate the policy of, and name the candidates for, the Republican party of Washington Territory. "The devil," it is said, "helps his people," and the political directors of the Northern Pacific help their own. They are for Brents first, last and all the time. Of him they by implication say: "Truly thou art a good and a faithful servant; great shall be thy reward, for thou art true to thy trust; thou hast often been tried and never been found wanting so far as our interests are concerned. Go in and win, tried servant, we will assist thee."

Shall we stop this presumption now? or shall we wait until the power has passed from us to stay the hand that is to lie heavily upon us? I say let us take time by the forelocks; let us strike now and win.

Local interests and sectional lines are as nothing when compared to the struggle which the managers of the Northern Pacific are forcing upon us, in a political sense, and to the vital interests which it involves. Brents is their man; he is their servant; they have captured him, and they own him; body and soul he seemingly belongs to them. Let Republicans see to it that victory be not theirs nor his. Be the delegate who shall be nominated Minor, be it Straue who shall be thus honored, be it Anders, be it Moore, Sturtevant, Stratton or Smith—be it any free, independent, untrammelled and capable man whom the Republican convention shall nominate, a favor will have been conferred upon the Republican party, and upon the people of Washington Territory. Even a chance of selecting a man who will stand for the interests of the people is by far preferable to one whom the Northern Pacific officers are using every effort to nominate. Let the people who compose and represent the rank and file of the Republican party of this Territory join hands and unite efforts for the interests of a common people, and for the true interests of the party. E. N. SWEET.

CLIPPINGS.

About 400 men are now employed in the logging camps on the Skagit river.

Mr. Thos. Calhoun has purchased the Decker lease of the Crockett land on the Swinomish flats.

SNOWBIRD NOMINATIONS.—The Snowbird County Republican Convention was held last Saturday. The following is a partial list: For Sheriff, Ben Stretch; for Auditor, J. H. Plasket; for Treasurer, Isaac Catheart; Delegates to Vancouver, Benj. Stretch, H. Jackson and Chas. Pierce.

DR. D. S. BAKER IN SEATTLE.—Dr. D. S. Baker, the most wealthy as well as the most enterprising man in Eastern Washington, is at present in Seattle. The Doctor is well on toward eighty years of age and is quite feeble. Among the enterprises he has been engaged in during the past ten years we will mention the building of a narrow gauge railroad thirty miles in length between Walla Walla and Wallula, recently sold to Henry Villard; the building of a flume from the Blue Mountains to within 11 miles of Walla Walla, with a railroad connecting it with the city. By this means the people of Walla Walla are largely supplied with wood and lumber; the cultivation of a 4000 acre farm and many other works too numerous to mention. He sold 33,000 bushels of wheat a short time since from this year's crop, which is now being loaded at Tacoma for Europe. Dr. Baker is accompanied by his wife and is traveling for his health. The present is his first visit to Seattle. He intends visiting the Newcastle coal mines today, and will go to Port Townsend and Victoria before his return to Walla Walla. —Post-Intelligencer, of 13th.

IMPORTANT TO BRITISH SHIPOWNERS.—Measures are being adopted to put into force the new federal law which provides for the annual inspection of foreign vessels touching at United States ports. The new provisions are important to Canada, as the law will affect lines sailing between our ports and those of the States. There are to be six special inspectors at New York, and two each at Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, and San Francisco. The new Act will place foreign vessels almost on the same footing as American steam vessels in regard to the maintenance of their proper condition of hull, boilers, etc., and their equipments to secure safety. Should foreign vessels refuse to submit to inspection after arrival in port, they will be refused clearance by the Custom house authorities.

The Washington monument at the national capital has reached an altitude of two hundred and ninety feet, and is plainly visible from all parts of the city. It is intended to make this tribute to the father of his country the loftiest architectural monument in the world, and at a recent meeting the commissioners having the work in charge determined to continue the ground shaft to an elevation of five hundred and fifty feet. The great altitude, it is thought, will place the Washington monument far above the loftiest pagoda monument or tower in the known world.

During the first seven months of 1882 the Northern Pacific Railroad earned $3,265,481, with 1094 miles of road, against $1,692,493 last year, with 735 miles. The increase was 350 miles of new road and $1,572,785. In other words the company earned 93 per cent. more money with 49 per cent. more road. That the earnings of the next year will increase even more rapidly in proportion to the building of the road is to be expected.

An exchange tells of a man who "cut his throat in the third story." What a beautiful neck that would have been for the enjoyment of ice cream.

Says the Texas Siftings: When the wife of a candidate begins already to pay back tea and coffee borrowed six years ago, it may be set down as a fixed fact that her husband will make the race even if he fails to get the regular party nomination.

"Student" wants to know what is meant by the word "loot" in the war dispatches. Why, a lute is a thing with strings that you can strum with your fingers. Hence, any thing that you can get your fingers onto, that is loot. For example: You deposit your money in a New Jersey bank. Well, that's loot, but you don't get any of it.

OUR REPORTER'S BUDGET.

PORT DISCOVERY, Sept. 12, 1882.

FRIEND ARGUS:—In the step forward taken by the country generally, the past year, this point has kept pace with the foremost, as its general improved appearance will at once show, and as the facilities for manufacturing lumber at this place will prove. This well appointed mill can now turn out 100,000 feet of lumber daily (12 hours), and with extensive additions, being added, will soon be able to largely increase that figure.

The company's splendid store, the large warehouse, machine, carpenter and other shops—in fact all that is necessary in their immense business—is seen on every side, and everything has a substantial look, showing lasting qualities.

Some elegant residences crown the bluff overlooking the mill and beautiful bay, and others have been built this summer, among which the 20x40 schoolhouse resplendent with new paint, is the most conspicuous.

But let me say something about the "OLYMPIC" CLUB. This is an institution here, its spicy entertainment giving great scope to native talent—dramatic and musical—and greatly relieving the monotony of saw-mill life. At an excellent entertainment on the evening of the 10 inst. in aid of the Discovery Library fund, a long programme was presented of light comedy, recitation, farce and music. The hall was crowded to its utmost, and the delighted audience showed appreciation of their splendid acting by frequent applause. More dramatic ability cannot be found among amateurs in the Northwest, certainly not on Puget Sound.

The political tendencies here are apparently strongly republican, but not so much so that a good man, a democrat, may not receive a large vote against an opponent. Let nominating conventions bear this in mind.

Of the fleet which has been loading here but two remain, the Glover and German bark Union, though others are expected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. The steamship Parthia has arrived, with Melville and other survivors of the Jeannette, and Captain Berry of the Rodgers on board.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The District Attorney acting upon information of foreman Dickson, will issue warrants for the arrest of Brewster, Cameron and Henry A. Bowen, to answer the charge of attempting to bribe jurors. Merrick is busily engaged in getting his information into shape to prevent the attorney from acting. So we are evidently on the brink of a very unpleasant scandal, involving charges and counter charges of bribery and perjury. The Court decided to take a motion for a new trial on Friday, when this motion will be disposed of. The Court will consider the question of releasing the prisoners on bail.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—The defalcation in the Washington Savings Bank amounts to $117,000. Ruth's confession was to $60,000.

DETROIT, Sept. 13.—Threshing in the southern tier of counties, according to the September report, shows the number of acres threshed to be 107,610, or seven per cent. of the entire acreage. The yield was 1,855,000 bushels less than the August estimate, when it was believed that one-third of the crop was injured. The damaged wheat that can be marketed at all brings 50 to 75 per cent. of the price of No. 1. Much is entirely worthless. Oats is the best crop ever grown. The yield is 31 bushels per acre. Corn promises to be an average. The barley estimate is 20 bushels to the acre. Meadows, pastures and clover are excellent, and cattle are fine.

DENVER, Sept. 9.—The Utah division of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway was completed today to Montrose, on the Uncompagme river, 552 miles from Denver. The link necessary to connect the Colorado and Utah systems is now reduced to 275 miles, for which distance work is vigorously prosecuted.

The Cutavaeo Cures

PTYRIASIS, or Dandruff, with which many are afflicted.
ALOPECIA, or Baldness, also dependent upon a fungus destroying the roots of the hair. A spot may first arise where first inoculated, spreading in a circular form, and so enlarging by degrees that the whole hair is swept away, leaving a glistening scalp; or, the disease may first appear in various places. The hair is dull and lustreless and easily extracted, or it begins to fall, and progressing by degrees is soon lost unless remedied.
The Cutavaeo will cause the hair to grow, because it at once destroys the offending cause which prevents; the hair is at once preserved, and the scalp and bulbs made healthy and vigorous. Parties from a distance must send the price of bottle with the order. Price 75 cents.

A strong fight is being made in King county over the office of treasurer. Capt. Hill, the present incumbent, has been adjudged ineligible by the supreme court of the territory, but an appeal has been taken to the United States supreme court, and he will legally hold the office pending the decision. The grounds of ineligibility, if any, are that he is still holding a government army office, though on the retired list.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE!—On Tuesday night last, about midnight, the store and goods of W. Gallick, Esq., trader at Neah Bay, were consumed by fire; the loss was complete. Store and goods were partially insured. Fortunately the wind was favorable, so that Mr. Gallick's oil warehouse and residence were saved, as was also the residence of Inspector Price, which was in imminent danger. It is not known whether the fire occurred through an incendiary act, or spontaneous combustion, but suspicion attaches to some of the Indians.

Willey, pioneer organizer of the College of California, will contribute an interesting sketch of what was proposed by the Trustees at that time for that institution; also a story from the pen of W. C. Morrow; poems by Elizabeth Stewart Phelps and Charlotte Perry; "Modern Ethics and Egotism," a philosophical paper by Milicent Washburn Shinn; Sketches of Early California by James O'Meara; a pathetic poem entitled, "The Baby on the Wall," by Dr. Gally, which will be welcomed by the many who followed the interesting chapters of "Sand" and "Big Jack Small"; a history of "The Vigilantes of Montana"; besides other stories, poems, sketches, &c.

THE Rev. T. J. Weekes and wife, of San Juan, are in town with their infant daughter, who accidentally fell from a window breaking her leg and dislocating the thigh. This occurred at 5 P. M. on Saturday, and the steamer Hope, owing to the adverse weather, did not arrive at San Juan until about noon on Sunday. After a stormy voyage over, during which the poor little sufferer was very sick and the parents also, it was found impossible to land at Port Townsend and they were taken to the garrison wharf where, being more sheltered, they effected a landing where, through the kindness of the officers the little girl was in a measure relieved and has been transferred to the excellent care of Dr. Mead. Mr. Weekes returns to his field of labor on Friday and his lady and child will stay at Mr. Thos. Drummond's. Mr. and Mrs. Weekes are well known and highly respected, and are receiving sympathetic calls from their friends. The question naturally arises, why should any one in San Juan county have to come so far for medical or surgical aid? Is there not a good field for a stirring young doctor? We often hear that the cities are "doctored to death?" probably not a few country districts would appreciate a good doctor.

Sunday Reading.

The first regular quarterly meeting of the current conference year, on the Port Townsend and Dungeness charges, will be held October 7th and 8th—Rev. A. Atwood, presiding elder.

Rev. H. K. Hines, D. D., is just entering upon his third year's work as editor of the P. C. Advocate, of Portland. Dr. Hines is a "power in the land" as a theological writer, and has done most effective work in his present capacity.

How beautiful our lives would soon grow if we carried always with us, and put into practice, the lessons we learn by experience! We look back at the end of the year and see many things that cause bitter regret, but instead of leaving them behind we go on repeating the same follies and errors in the new year. A little heroic decision would enable us to rise every day on the mistakes of yesterday.—Sunday School Times.

In the days of Tiberias it was thought a crime to carry a ring stamped with the image of Augustus into any mean or sordid place where it might be polluted. The Christian carries ever with him "the image and superscription" of a far nobler than Tiberias. He carries it, not set in a gold signet on his finger, but stamped on his inmost heart. It is an "image" sensitive and easily marred and dimmed. If it were a crime for one who wore the gold-set image of the emperor to enter any "mean or sordid place" it is a much greater crime for one who claims to bear the image of Christ to enter where he may not have that Christ beside him a welcome and willing guest.—P. C. Advocate.

ONE THOUSAND OF THEM.—Who are they? Grandfathers, fathers, sons, brothers. What were they? Merchants, bankers, mechanics, sailors, laborers. Where are they? In Glasgow city hall. What are they doing? Listening to Mr. Moody. Why? Because they have been drunkards. And what saved them? Believing (through Mr. Moody's preaching) that Jesus of Nazareth could save them, they tried if He could, and found "He is able to save unto the uttermost whosoever cometh to God by him." Grand testimony as to the power of the Gospel of Christ. Some of these men had drank "strong drink" for ten, twenty, thirty years, and although it had the mastery of them they now have the mastery of it.—Contributed.

WHAT IS NICKEL?

The Material Out of Which Our Five-Cent Coin is Made.

Since the convenient five-cent coin, which in common talk is called "a nickel," has come into general circulation, the question above is asked, either mentally or orally, hundreds of times every day, and but few get an intelligent answer. In China and India a white copper, called pack tong, has long been known, and has been extensively used, both there and in Europe, for counterfeiting silver coin. About the year 1700 a peculiar ore was discovered in the copper mines of Saxony, which had the appearance of being very rich, but in smelting it yielded no copper, and the miners called it kupfer-nickel, or false copper. In 1751 Constant announced the discovery of a new metal in kupfer-nickel, to which he gave the name of nickel. It was in combination with arsenic, from which he could relieve it only in parts. The alloy of nickel and arsenic which he obtained was white, brittle and very hard, and had a melting point nearly as high as cast-iron. It was not until 1823 that pure nickel was obtained by analysis of German silver, which had for a number of years been produced at Saal, in Saxony. Its composition was ascertained to be copper 10 parts, zinc 5 and nickel 1. If more nickel be used the alloy is as white as silver and susceptible of a very high polish, but becomes too brittle and hard to be hammered or rolled, and can be worked only by casting. Pure nickel is a white metal which tarnish readily in the air. Unlike silver, it is not acted on by the vapor of sulphur, and even the strong mineral acids attack it but slightly. Nickel has the hardness of iron, and, like it, has strong magnetic properties, but cannot be welded and is soldered with difficulty. Pure nickel has heretofore been used chiefly for plating, for which purpose its hardness and power to resist atmospheric influences admirably adapt it. The French have succeeded in rolling the metal into plates, from which spoons and other table furniture may be pressed. Nickel bronze, which consists of equal parts of copper and nickel, with a little tin, may be cast into very delicate forms, and is susceptible of a high polish. Mines of nickel are worked at Onstham, Ct., and Lancaster, Pa., and it is said to be found at Mine Le Motte, Mo., and at several points in Colorado and New Mexico, where but little attention is paid to it. It is extensively mined in Saxony and in Sweden, but the late discovery of a new ore (a silicate of nickel) in New Caledonia will probably suspend the use of the arsenical ore, and yet bring nickel into common use. Switzerland, in the year 1852, made a coin of German silver, which is identical in composition with our nickel coin. The United States made nickel cents in 1856, and eight years later coined the 5-cent piece. Belgium adopted nickel coinage in 1860 and Germany in 1873. England has lately coined pennies for Jamaica, but at home she and France adhere to the clumsy copper small change.

PUGET SOUND ARGUS.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1882.

Political.

Never before in the history of Washington Territory politics has there been such apathy as that displayed in democratic ranks this year. Brents' nomination for Delegate four years ago united the republican party as it had never been united before. Puget Sound did her best to prove that she was not ungrateful for past favors, and the result was a large republican majority. Two years ago the great presidential contest induced a heavy republican vote because of the prevailing impression that the national government would be again republican, and all were anxious to send a delegate to Congress in harmony with the "powers that be" in order that he might the more effectually aid us toward statehood; this, with Brents' two years' experience already gained, and the active zeal with which he had labored, induced such an increased republican majority that it completely took the snap out of democratic partisans. And well might this be, for the people of the territory have tried the republican party and found it entirely worthy of their support. Under its rule we have prospered beyond limit. Our financial condition and general prospects are today all that could be wished for. Why, then, should there be a desire for a change? The voter will trust that party he knows to be safe, rather than to aid in exchanging for another merely to satisfy the cravings of a few hungry office seekers.

But there is another side to this matter. It has been boastfully claimed that the republican party is now strong enough to elect anybody it has a mind to nominate. If this be true, then the republican party is in a dangerous position. An individual is never so liable to err in morals as when he is prosperous, and pride is said to go before a fall. So with political parties. The moment there is strength enough to begot carelessness, that moment danger begins. Just let the republican party make a serious mistake and see how soon it would go to the dogs. Let all good men in the party unite to see that its skirts are kept clear in the past, and no one need fear the result. Let us have the very best material in high position, and then hold our leaders to a strict account.

Editorial Notes.

From Saturday's Daily.

REFERRING to Judge Wylie's charge to the jury trying the famous star route cases, a part of which charge we publish elsewhere, we may say it looks as though there may be a conviction. It will be a grand thing for the country if these offenders are brought to justice.

THE Oregon legislature will meet next Monday. The first and most absorbing business will be to decide whether Hon. J. H. Mitchell will be elected United States Senator again, or whether some other republican will succeed. Hon. W. Lair Hill, formerly editor of the Oregonian, is the principal opposing candidate.

It now seems about settled that the war in Egypt is rapidly drawing to a close. Arabi Pacha has been driven to his last extremity. On the whole, no other result could have reasonably been expected. England will remain master of the situation.

SHALL WE HAVE A SCHOOL BUILDING?—It has been suggested that a petition be submitted to the city council at its next meeting, praying that the question of a special tax for the purpose of erecting a new school building in Port Townsend be submitted to the voters of this precinct for their approval or rejection. By so doing, the question could be at once brought to an issue. Now is the time to settle the question. It must be met, and that soon. At the opening of the school the other day there were 120 pupils in attendance; there is seating room in the building for 130; and there are now 274 children in the district who are drawing school money. Now, the question is, shall the old hundred and forty-four pupils, for whom there is not room, be denied the benefits of our school? If so, who shall decide which ones must stay at home? We might suggest that there is $110 on hand as a starter, being the money donated last year by a lodge of Odd Fellows that disbanded.

ELECTION news from Maine indicates the triumph of the republican ticket. A dispatch from Portland, yesterday, says that reports from 100 towns give the vote for Governor as follows: Robie, republican, 29,248; Plaisted, democrat greenback fusion candidate, 22,976; Chase, greenback, 314; Vinton, independent republican, 142; scattering, 72; Robie's plurality, 6,202; probable plurality after all votes are counted, 5,000. Democrats and greenbackers have been uniting their forces and carrying things their own way in Maine for the past few years, Plaisted being their governor elected last time. Much of the credit for the present victory is doubtless due to the able management of the campaign, by James G. Blaine, the "plumed knight." He opened the battle in a speech that went home to the hearts of republicans all over the nation and indicated an intention of dealing out thunder on all sides. His freedom from official cares this year enabled him to devote his entire time to home politics.

THE jury in the star route cases has rendered a verdict of acquittal as to Turner and Peck, and guilty as to Miner and Rerdell. As to the others, they were unable to agree, and a new trial will be had. On the final ballot the vote on Brady was 10 for conviction and 2 for acquittal; the vote as Senator Dorsey was 9 for conviction and 3 for acquittal; as to J. W. Dorsey there were 10 for conviction and 2 for acquittal; as to Vail, 11 for conviction and 1 for acquittal. It has been claimed that money could accomplish anything, and as the gentlemen (?) being prosecuted had plenty of it, the general impression has been that they would get clear in some way. But it seems that we have courts and juries yet who will do something near their duty.

County Auditors.

It having been customary heretofore for several counties we know of to elect the same individual to two or more county offices, as for instance, auditor and probate judge, we have thought that Sec. 2722 of the new code might be of public interest at this time. It reads:

"The person holding the office of county auditor or deputy, or performing its duties, shall not practice as an attorney nor represent any person making any claim against the county, or seeking to procure any legislative or other action by said county board. And the county auditor during his term of office, and any deputy by him appointed, is hereby disqualified from performing the duties of any other county office or acting as deputy for any other county officer. Nor shall any other county officer or his deputy act as auditor or deputy, or perform any of the duties of said office."

OLYMPIA Standard: It is remarkable what changes are affected by time. Two years ago the Transcript ran an Allen ticket in the Olympia primary against Brents, the office-holder's candidate. It was ingloriously beaten. This time that journal heads its ticket in letters big enough to make it top-heavy: "Brems Ticket," and the clique quietly go into convention with a list modestly headed "Republican Primary," and scoop the bolters by a vote of 95 to 24. Verily it seems that either the Ring possesses the touch of a Midas, or that whatever the Transcript supports is subject to inevitable defeat. Brents may well exclaim, "Save me from my friends!"

Mr. Brents has the earnest sympathy of the public in his affliction. We never knew of his having tried to injure the Transcript in the least. It is hoped that paper will, in pity, let up on him, so that he may have a fair chance.

THERE appears to be a strong sentiment in favor of the Postoffice Department putting a route agent between Port Townsend and Semiahmoo. The time has come when the present system of knocking the mail around from one post-office to another should be discontinued; and hence a route agent should be appointed for that route.—Mail.

[We would like to suggest that both the Neah Bay and Semiahmoo routes have attained sufficient importance to demand the services of a route agent, and that one agent could serve both.—Eds.]

The Townsend Argus is still "on the fence" regarding congressional situation.—Seattle Chronicle.

It is difficult to understand just what kind of reasoning our neighbor employs to arrive at his conclusion, after the reported and clearly stated position of this paper. If it has not declared for Minor as a first choice, and Brents next it has not declared anything.

European War Notes.

By Telegraph.

ISMALIA, Sept. 10.—We have not yet advanced beyond the ridge, two miles north of Kassassin, but our outposts have been doubled and are supported by the infantry.

KASSASSIN, Sept. 11.—Prisoners report the object of Saturday's operations was the capture of Kassassin, which, it was believed, would be weakly defended. The Egyptians lost over 1000 killed, number of wounded unknown. There is little doubt but that the first attack came upon us in the nature of a surprise. About 5 a. m. 30 Bengal lancers, who were out setting videttes, to their astonishment found themselves suddenly in the presence of a squadron of the enemy's cavalry and a number of infantry companies, advancing in regular attack formation.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 12.—Prominent financial estimates say Egypt will lose nearly £70,000,000 by the war. The cotton crop, which is entirely lost, would have been worth nearly £40,000,000. There is little hope of saving any of the sugar crop if the country is not within a settled condition in two months. It will be too late for saving next year's cereals, and several large failures are anticipated shortly.

KASSASSIN, Sept. 13.—Tel-El-Kebir was captured by a rush of cavalry this morning. The Indian cavalry is hotly pressing the fugitives on the south, and the British cavalry on the north of the canal. The enemy's killed alone numbered 2000. The retreat of the enemy on the north is cut off. The position was taken in a few minutes, we having surprised the enemy by a right march.

Later.—At the capture of Tel-El-Kebir the Egyptian loss is estimated at 2000. Our loss is probably 200, including many officers. The Highland brigade bore the brunt of the action. Another account says the attack was directed against the enemy's extreme left flank, four miles north of the railway. Heavy artillery and infantry fire is now proceeding. British troops are now advancing rapidly and are evidently turning the enemy's flank. The British armored train, with the forty pounder Krupp gun which was captured at Kassassin and the Gatling guns have just come into action. The fire of the enemy opposite the extreme right of the British is nearly silenced. The enemy are in full retreat.

In the United States there are thirty-eight establishments for the manufacture of fire-arms. Of this total twelve are located in Massachusetts, twelve in Connecticut, seven in Pennsylvania, five in New York, and one each in Rhode Island and Maine. The aggregate capital employed is $8, 315,289.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF PORT TOWNSEND.

LOCAL ITEMS.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The Dakota, arrived this afternoon. The Starr went to San Juan islands again today, after time.

You can see new tables for displaying goods in the front of Bartlett & Co.'s salesroom, which speak well for their increasing trade.

The schooner Reporter arrived last night from New Caledonia; also, the ship Harvester, from Philadelphia, for New Tacoma, laden with railroad iron. The bark Charles B. Kenny arrived today.

Any person wishing to purchase desirable farming land would do well to read the advertisement inserted elsewhere. The land is near enough to this place to make its location an important feature.

The jury in the case of Lars Brown, tried for the killing of J'Affret, brought in a verdict today of "not guilty" as to the charge of murder. The case was argued by Prosecuting Attorney Evans on the part of the territory, and C. M. Bradshaw for defendant.

Tomorrow morning the cutter Wolcott will leave here for San Juan islands, having on board Collector Bush, Special Agent Horr and Inspector Izett, who will proceed to locate the new port of entry. Choice will be between San Juan harbor, Friday Harbor and Roche Harbor.

DIED.

In Port Townsend, Sept. 13, 1882, after a protracted illness, William H. Newton, aged 61 years and 5 months.

Deceased was an old pioneer on Puget Sound, having come to this place in 1853, since which time he has resided here continuously. He was born in Warren, Rhode Island, April 14, 1821. He was well known among all the older settlers on the Sound, and possessed many admirable qualities, among which was his generosity.

The funeral will take place tomorrow (Thursday) at 3 P. M., from St. Paul's Episcopal church. All friends are cordially invited.

From Thursday's Daily.

Mrs. J. T. Norris is quite ill.

New goods by the ton at Bartlett's.

Sherman's circus will soon be here.

Oh, look at the new goods at Gerrish's!

MR. NEWTON'S funeral today was quite largely attended.

KING county has an independent republican organization.

The bark Revere arrived this afternoon, from San Francisco.

There was a donation party at the M. E. parsonage last evening.

We are pleased to note that Hon. H. A. Webster seems to be improving in health.

The Dispatch arrived early yesterday and brought a lot of passengers from Clalam.

The Chilean bark Avestrous, from Valparaiso, and the German bark Johan Ludwig, from Acapulco, arrived here last night.

If you are troubled with corns or warts call on Mr. Kenney, and get them cured. He is advertising to do that sort of thing scientifically.

REV. JNO. REID acknowledges with much pleasure and many thanks the generous gift of a baby carriage, from Mrs. Capt. Gilmore and others of his congregation.

REV. S. H. TODD, the new pastor of the M. E. Church, was not well enough to preach last Sunday, having brought over a full stock of Oregon malaria in his system. He hopes, however, to assume his regular duties next Sunday.

The jury in the case of John Kay, tried for the killing of John Anderson, on Lopez Island, brought in a verdict today, after a short deliberation, of murder in the second degree. Messrs. Bradshaw and Hanford argued the case for the defendant.

REV. JNO. REID preached at Port Ludlow last evening, when the majority of the new little town were present. As Whidby Island is not now an outpost (being occupied by Mr. Spangler), Mr. Reid intends to visit Port Ludlow once a fortnight, on Wednesdays.

MR. POOLE, of Port Ludlow, is utilizing his spare moments in amateur boat building. The framework is already neatly and strongly fitted together, and by next summer a neat sail boat may be expected to be seen skimming gracefully across that lovely bay. Port Ludlow patience and perseverance are of the kind that "accomplish much."

REV. MR. and Mrs. Weeks, who are in town with their little afflicted daughter, have (since their arrival) repeatedly expressed, with much feeling, their deep appreciation of the very marked kindness and sympathy shown them by the good people of Port Townsend, which has proved of great comfort in their present trial. The urbanity of Lieut. Fruit, U. S. A., with Lieut. and Mrs. Wittick of the Garrison, whose hospitalities they shared upon their arrival, they are deeply grateful for. They feel too, to have been particularly favored in having the efficient services of Dr. Mead, whose very kind attention and gentle treatment of the little sufferer from the first, the skillful and excellent manner in which the severe fracture has been tended and now doing so well. Mr. Weeks returns to San Juan today, to attend to his mission duties; his wife, with her little charge, will remain in town at the pleasant and quiet house of our respected townsman Mr. Thos. Drummond, where a month of patient watching awaits her.

Our neighbors across at Victoria are fixing their mouths for a big time when the royal party gets there next week. An exchange tells something about the big bugs with handles to their names, as follows: Her Royal Highness, Princess Louise Caroline Alberta, daughter of Her Majesty, Victoria, Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, was born on the 18th of March, 1848, was married to John, Marquis of Lorne, K. T. G. C. M. G., the present Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada. The Marquis is the eldest son of George Douglass Campbell, Duke of Argyll, a Scottish peer of the United Kingdom, whose ancestors date back to the 12th century. The Household of Her Royal Highness is composed of the Lady Sophia Macnamara, Lady of the Bedchamber; Capt. Arthur Collis, Controller and Equerry. His Excellency's staff consists of Col. F. DeWinton, R. A., Military Secretary; Hon. W. Bagot, Controller; Lieut. Hon. C. Harbord, Scots Guards, and Capt. V. Chater, Aides-de-camp.

COL. WOOD, U. S. Indian Agent in charge of the consolidated agencies of Quensault and Neah Bay, left on the Dispatch today for the latter place to take charge as Agent in place of Capt. Willoughby. Col. Wood will remove his family to Neah Bay as soon as he can arrange to bring them from Quensault.

Mrs. WEYMOUTH arrived home on the Dakota this week, after several weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Capt. Sorman, in San Francisco.

The steamer St. Paul arrived in our harbor this evening from Seabeck, lumber laden, bound for Ounalaska, Alaska.

The British war steamer Comus has gone to San Francisco, there to receive the Marquis of Lorne, Canada's Governor General, and the Princess Louise, his wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—British ship Celestial Empire, 1757 tons, wheat and merchandise to Liverpool direct; private. French bark Biobio, 600 tons, wheat to Cork, or the Continent between Bordeaux and Havre, $2 10s.

PUT BACK.—A private telegram from San Francisco states that the new barkentine Makah, with a full load of freight for the Sound, sailed from San Francisco on the 7th inst., and after proceeding some distance on her voyage was struck by a squall, and had her topmast head carried away. She put back, arriving at San Francisco on the 10th, where she is now undergoing repairs. Her freight is in perfect order. She will sail for the Sound on or about the 15th inst. The Makah is a new barkentine, recently built by Hall Bros., of Port Blakely, and is partially owned by her commander, Capt. Thompson.

The Eliza Anderson was launched from Mitchell's ways last evening. Her repairs thus far have consisted chiefly in a new copper bottom. Her upper works will now be torn away and new ones built in their stead, including cabin, etc.—Chronicle.

DR. HUNT, the dentist, after a very successful stay among us, is leaving again for other points. He advertises to be here again about the 24th inst. All who need dental work done will bear this in mind.

COURT is about ready to adjourn this morning. The case of M. Fleming, for escape, will go over till next term.

PUGET SOUND ARGUS.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1882.

What England is Fighting For.

The massacre at Alexandria took place on the 11th of June; the bombardment followed on the 19th of July. One whole month England was waiting for some atonement for that horrible outrage, some show of a disposition to punish such barbarity and crime. But instead of that the military party, which was now in full power, felt not so much shame at this inhuman massacre as annoyance at the continued presence of English ships in the harbor. They had a perfect right to be there, as American ships would have had a right to be there if Americans had been massacred in the streets of Alexandria, and punishment was so long delayed that the authorities, instead of punishing, seemed to justify the act, and to make it their own. Instead of seizing and punishing the murderers, they began to plot to drive out the fleet. If they had had torpedoes, they would have blown up the ironclads. As it was, they could only throw up breastworks and plant guns with the plain intent, as soon as they were strong enough, to open fire. Now it is not in human nature, least of all in the military nature, to see such preparations for attack with a tranquil mind, and Arabi Pasha was politely requested to desist. Not only did the English admiral request this, but the Khedive and the Sultan commanded it. The wily Arab professed compliance, and declare that all mounting of guns had been stopped; but when an electric light from the fleet was turned on the forts, the men were found as busily at work as ever. After this discovery of falsehood and treachery, the admiral thought it prudent to take some other security than the word of a Moslem; and we know the rest.

"But," we are often asked triumphantly, as if this single question demolished our whole argument, "what business has England in Egypt?" It may be well to answer this question before we go farther. Englishmen, as individuals, have just the same rights in Egypt which Americans have—no less and no more. We claim the right, which we have exercised more than once, of going to Egypt, as to any other foreign country, and going quietly about our business, asking nothing but the protection of its laws. We think it not an unreasonable demand of the Egyptian government to insist that it shall see to it that American citizens shall be protected in life and property, that they shall not be robbed or assassinated. If, in spite of all assurances of protection, they are robbed or murdered, the very least their government can do is to make a demand, respectful but determined, that the robbers or murderers shall be punished. The most violent denunciations of English intervention can hardly deny that in this respect Englishmen have the same rights as Americans.

But farther, beyond these general rights, which are common to all foreigners, England as a country has some special claims to consideration. England has fought for Egypt and for Turkey again and again. Indeed it may be said that both owe their continued existence to England. When Napoleon invaded Egypt in 1798, he would have taken the country and kept it if it had not been for England. The Egyptians could do nothing. Napoleon swept away the Mamelukes at the battle of the Pyramids. It was an English fleet under Lord Nelson which fought the battle of the Nile. It was an English general who gained the final victory on land which drove the French out of Egypt. Napoleon invaded Syria, and carried everything before him till he encountered the English at Acre, who soon put a stop to his victorious career. Again in 1831 Ibrahim Pasha invaded Syria, and would have marched on Constantinople if he had not been stopped by the European powers. In 1854 England and France went to war with Russia to preserve Turkey. Thus often has England fought for Turkey and for Egypt, and the bones of her soldiers who have fallen in defending those Moslem powers, are scattered on many battle fields in three continents—in Europe, in Asia and in Africa. It is not yet five years since England put forth her powerful hand to save Turkey, which was at the feet of Russia. A Russian army was at the gates of Constantinople. It had always been a mystery to us why it did not enter. There was no power to oppose it. Russia could have planted her guns on the heights overlooking the Bosphorus, and the Russian flag might have waved from all the minarets of Constantinople. When lately in that city, we had pointed out to us the position of the Russian army, which was camped almost under the walls, and again we asked, as we had so often before, Why did not that great army march in and take full possession? In every case the answer was the same: It was stopped by the English fleet, which came up the Dardanelles and through the sea of Marmora, and anchored in sight of Constantinople. The Sultan, who has lately protested so energetically against an English fleet in the harbor of Alexandria as an invasion of his sovereign rights, was not at all disturbed at the sight then, but on the contrary felt an immeasurable relief, as if he had been relieved from a sentence of death, when he saw the flags of the great English ironclads from the windows of his palace. After thus saving both Turkey and Egypt again and again, we think it not a great presumption for England to ask whether she has not some rights in the East which Turk and Arab are bound to respect?

England has great material interests in Egypt. We say nothing of the interest of bondholders, of money loaned for internal improvements—for railroads and canals, and piers and ports. This very harbor of Alexandria, which has been the scene of such great events, was built largely by English money. But leaving aside all that, the interest of England in the Suez canal is greater than that of all the world beside. Eighty or ninety per cent. of all the ships that pass through that canal, are English. It is the highway from England to India. The distance from London or Liverpool to Bombay is nearly five thousand miles less by the Suez canal than by the old route around Africa. The control of this therefore is not only a commercial convenience; it is a military necessity. Suppose there were another nutting in India, and Arabi Pasha had command of the Suez canal, and should think it a good time to "get even" with England by stopping all transit, and that the English troops should have to be sent around by way of the Cape of Good Hope, the two or three weeks' delay might cause the loss of the English Empire in India. Is England going to leave a matter of such vital interest to the chance of the caprice of a military adventurer?

Now we think it is not difficult to understand what England is fighting for. She has immense interests in Egypt, and Egypt is in a state of anarchy, which threatens to destroy those interests. England is fighting to put down that anarchy, and to restore order and good government. In this she is fighting for the real interest of Egypt as well as her own. If the present state of things continues, Egypt is utterly ruined. The only hope is in prompt and decisive action, which shall crush rebellion and re-establish order. At the same time England is fighting for the Suez canal, as she would fight for Malta and Gibraltar, as outworks of Britain, whose preservation concerns the integrity and safety of the British Empire.

For these reasons, which might be enlarged to any extent, it is clear to us that England has a right to send her troops to Egypt to settle this business between a faithful ally, the present Khedive, (whom the military party would sacrifice simply because he has been such a friend of England,) and his rebellious soldiers. She has a right to go there, if she has a right to go anywhere, to fight for the security of her Indian empire. In the battle which she has undertaken, she is fighting for our interests as well as her own; to make it safe for Americans to visit Egypt, and go up the Nile, and to pursue their lawful callings—their travels, or their business affairs, or their missionary enterprises—in the East.

Opinion of Judge Greene.

Fred Kross et al. libelants, vs. schooner Dakota, her tackle, &c., respondent.

Articles being read only, and that to men imperfectly understanding the language, were not binding on the men. But assume they were binding. Then the question arises, were they binding so far as they provided for a forfeiture of half or whole wages in case of refusal to reshew. Forfeitures are not favored in the law. They must be fairly agreed to, on a clear understanding, and for good consideration, or they will not be enforced. Specially true is this in case of a forfeiture of wages against a sailor.

These articles were either for a round voyage from San Francisco to Puget Sound, thence to New Caledonia and back to San Francisco, or for a mere coasting voyage from San Francisco to the Sound. If the former, then the signing of new articles was a mere formality, for default of which a forfeiture were preposterous and outrageous; if the latter, then the signing of them was, except in one view, a thing entirely irrelevant to the voyage they actually shipped for, and a forfeiture on account of a refusal were impertinent and absurd. The view in which the signing would not be irrelevant to the latter voyage is, that Puget Sound were a point where a crew going foreign would be hard to get at the wages named. But in that view, the provision for forfeiture was in effect a stipulation determinative of the amount of wages for a foreign voyage and entered into without the presence of a shipping commissioner. If the terms of shipment for a foreign voyage can be fixed in the articles of an antecedent domestic voyage, then the statute requiring articles for a foreign voyage to be entered into before a shipping commissioner can easily be evaded or rendered nugatory. A provision intended to effect that is against public policy and void.

But these articles cannot be considered as an agreement for anything but a voyage to Puget Sound. This is not because articles valid and binding could not be made, under U. S. statutes, from San Francisco to Port Townsend, thence foreign and back to San Francisco; for the statutes do not affect to curtail, in the slightest, the natural right of the sailor to contract to perform any voyage of what courses and duration he pleases—they only seek to surround him with such safeguards in the making of his contract as shall tend to secure him against imposition and oppression. But it is because these shipping articles, if New Caledonia were to be touched at in course of the round voyage, should have been executed like those for any other foreign voyage, that is to say, in the presence of a shipping commissioner.

The receipt of the sailors, signed under the circumstances disclosed in evidence, is of no binding force upon them as a release of wages.

As regards the boarding-house order, it was payable to Peter Witt's order. It does not appear to have been so paid. Peter Witt has not endorsed it. There is no proof of its payment. It does not appear to have been accepted or agreed to be paid, by master or owners. It is now on the files of this court to all appearances unpaid. But I am of opinion that if the libelant Kross credits the amount of this order on his claim against the vessel it will be a perfect bar to any suit by Witt against him. Decree accordingly.

C. M. Bradshaw for respondent.

The Charge to the Star Route Jury.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—In the criminal court this morning Judge Wylie, after some explanatory remarks to the jury, began his charge. He said:

By the act of March 3, 1879, Congress appropriated $5,900,000 for maintenance of the Star Route service. That appropriation was for the fiscal year 1880. The appropriation was all that was asked by the department. The records of the Treasury and Post Office departments showed that for three previous years there was an unexpended balance of nearly $4,000,000 to the credit of the department. There was in evidence a statement showing that the postmaster general, on December 8, 1879, had asked for a re-appropriation of $2,000,000, to meet deficiencies in the appropriation for the Star Route service. This was a statement calculated to arrest the attention of Congress, for it showed in five months after the beginning of the fiscal year there was a deficiency of $2,000,000. That was a fact to alarm the country. Investigation followed, and an additional appropriation was made, with a provision for limited expedition and increase of service upon routes. That was as far as the action of Congress ought to have gone. Other circumstances were fit subjects for judicial investigation. This investigation followed, and an indictment was found against those alleged conspirators. This indictment might be said to have five features:

First, historical; second, describing conspiracy; third, the means; fourth, overt acts; fifth, partition of money.

The historical part was well known. As to the means used to carry on the conspiracy, the jury need not trouble themselves about that. Whether or not they were sufficiently described in the indictment was not theirs to consider. The division of money depended upon the question of the existence of a conspiracy: That was really the only consideration for the jury. Whether there was a conspiracy followed by the commission of an overt act. The false papers and petitions were the means used, and it never has been held that the government was required to accurately describe the means. Whether parties were mutually interested in the several contracts was of course no consequence. Their interest in the conspiracy must be considered. The parties were, according to the indictment, individual owners of contracts, and mutually interested only in the conspiracy. Any overt act under any one of the contracts was an overt act under all of them.

Referring to the prayers, Judge Wylie said: The conspirators were jointly united for one purpose and several for others. Each man stood on his own defence. The jury could not convict one man of a conspiracy, but they could convict two of them. If there had been only one overt act committed, and the jury acquitted the party committing it, then the defendants must all be acquitted. Brady, who had been called the key—the master key—to whom conspiracy and no overt acts were shown to have been committed by any other of the defendants, then they must all be acquitted. The position taken by the defense, that all the defendants must be shown to have been interested in all the contracts, was false. It had been shown that they were criminally interested in only one, that was sufficient, and the commission was established. Surplusage in the indictment could not vitiate it. This indictment charged but one offense and one conspiracy. It could not comprise two conspiracies. Part of the defendants might be wholly acquitted and part convicted, but if the jury found two conspiracies, three of the parties guilty of one and the remaining four guilty of another, then indictment failed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—In the freight market a very fair business was done during the week, thirteen spot charters having been drawn at steadily declining rates. Exporters still act with a great deal of caution, however, and manifest a disposition to await some sort of an adjustment of the Liverpool market before commencing operations on a large scale. Arrivals of the past day or two have been heavy, and confronted by the circumlocution of adverse influences the prospects are not by any means encouraging. The total disengaged tonnage is 69,468, against 52,420 tons during the same time last week. The market closed weak and unsettled, at about £2 10s iron ships for orders, and this it is not by any means certain could be obtained.

The new bark Newsboy will carry a cargo of lumber from the Tacoma sawmill to Australia.

TIMBER ON HOMESTEADS.—The following is the latest ruling in regard to cutting and disposing of timber on homesteads: Timber land embraced in a homestead, or other entry not consummated, may be cleared in order to cultivate the land and improve the premises, but for no other purpose. If after clearing the land for cultivation there remains more timber than is required for improvement, there is no objection to the settler disposing of the same. But the question whether the land is being cleared for its timber for legitimate purposes is a question of fact, which is liable to be raised at any time. If the timber is cut and removed for any other purpose, it will subject the entry to cancellation, and the person who cut it will be liable to civil suit for recovery of the value of said timber, and also to criminal prosecution under section 2461 of the Revised Statutes.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE third Judicial District of the territory of Washington, holding terms at Port Townsend for the counties of Jefferson, Clallam, Island and San Juan.

Lotie Williams, plaintiff vs. Harry Williams, defendant.
Action brought in the District Court of the third Judicial District of the territory of Washington, holding terms at Port Townsend, for the counties of Jefferson, Clallam, Island and San Juan, and complaint filed in the county of Jefferson, in the office of the Clerk of said District Court.

To Harry Williams, defendant.
In the name of the United States of America, you are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the third Judicial District of the territory of Washington, holding terms at Port Townsend, in Jefferson county, for the counties of Jefferson, Clallam, Island and San Juan in said territory, and to answer the complaint filed therein (a copy of which accompanies this summons) within twenty days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but within the third judicial district, within thirty days; or, if served out of said district, then within sixty days—or judgment, by default, will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between the plaintiff and the defendant, and that the custody and control of the minor child, Maurice Winfield Williams, be adjudged to the plaintiff, and for such further equitable relief as may be by the court be granted, and for costs of suit, on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment of plaintiff by defendant, continuing during their cohabitation as husband and wife; and you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint as above required, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Witness the Honorable ROGER S. GREENE, Judge of the said District Court, and the Seal of said Court, this 10th day of August, A. D. 1882.
26-6w JAMES SEAVEY, Clerk.
C. M. Bradshaw, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodine of potash and iron, all powerful blood-purifiers, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and in every way the most effective alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scaled-head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood, and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and enlivens the vital functions. It promotes energy and strength. It restores and preserves health. It infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair, who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. Remember, the earlier the trial, the speedier the cure.

Its recipe has been furnished to physicians everywhere; and they, recognizing its superior qualities, administer it in their practice.

For nearly forty years AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has been widely used, and it now possesses the confidence of millions of people who have experienced benefits from its marvellous curative virtues.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR.

Exhausted physicians report the obtaining of purgative effects from the external application of castor oil over the abdomen.

If the skin of the head becomes very tender during confinement to the bed make a narrow pillow, cylinder shaped, and unite the ends. The head can rest on such a pillow and the ear not come in contact with the surface. The ears suffer most when the skin of the head is tender.

Sprains are always promptly relieved by allowing the coldest water to fall upon the part steadily, until no discomfort is experienced. It is put as often as necessary; keep the sprained part elevated if about the limbs, and horizontal if about the feet, so as to promote the flow of blood from the parts by gravity; and live for a few days on fruits and coarse bread mainly.

Dr. GILLISS, of the French navy, reports that in the early stage of the disease coffee is almost a specific against typhoid fever. He gives to convalescents two or three tablespoonfuls of strong black coffee every two hours, a term of one or two weeks, with a diet of Burgundy wine. The beneficial effect is immediate. A little lemonade or citrate of magnesia should be given daily, and after a while a little quinine.

A SUFFERER remedy for a sore throat is, on retiring to rest, to rub on the outside a little volatile liniment, and swallow slowly a few drops of paregoric, letting it dissolve in the saliva and spread along down the larynx and parts. The liniment is generally sufficient alone. Volatile liniment is simply a mixture of sweet oil and aqua ammonia (called liquid hartshorn). These are put into a vial and shaken, using such proportion as to form a semi-thick soap. An ounce or two can be used cheaply at the druggists; and, if tightly corked, it will keep for months. Rub it on with the fingers. This is a good remedy for soreness of the chest or joints, or for lameness, stiff neck, etc.

NASAL CATARRH.—Snuff up a certain amount as much as you can in a 3 penny piece. I find this about 11 o'clock in the evening, and about 11 o'clock I was immediately relieved, so that the cry was made by dimmish. In that short time my head had been transported from the cold stage to the stage of resolution. Next morning I was almost well. I resolved to try this on various friends and patients, and have done so with great success. The cryza and accompanying pain and discomfort disappeared in a few hours or in the course of a night. In cases of nasal catarrh I found it made the symptoms a great deal worse. I generally find one application enough, and give a smaller quantity than I used myself.—British Medical Journal.

On the subject of preparing drinks for fever patients, an exchange says: "Drinks made from fresh or preserved fruits are sometimes useful in fevers. Bladder tea is a very refreshing spring beverage. Since about two pounds of bladder, and boil for a quarter of an hour in a quart of water; strain the liquor into a jug, adding a small quantity of lemon peel and some sugar to taste; when cold it is fit for use. Apple water may be made in the same manner. The apples should be peeled and cored. Sugar should not be added to either of the above until after the liquor is removed from the fire. In the absence of fresh fruit, a pleasant beverage may be prepared by a strong succulent raspberry jam or currant jelly into the required quantity of water, straining the liquor before giving it to the patient."

Remember, Young Men.

Young men who are intending to be farmers should remember that agriculture is both a science and an art, to be carefully studied, and then practically carried out. The day has gone by when he ignorant can become successful farmers. Within the past ten years agriculture has undergone a great revolution, but the next ten years will see greater changes than have yet been witnessed. The leading agriculturists will be the leading men of the country.—Prairie Farmer.

A NEW YORK firm sends us a double-stamped "ad." of a new stenographic system, for the insertion of which in the city for three weeks the firm agrees to send us a pen. No, thank you. We had one autographic pen. Just sold it to a druggist for a soda fountain. If she is down soda as fast as she did the ink, no man will be drowned at that fountain before the middle of June, and you'll you forget it.—Burlington Hawk.

MAN'S value is in proportion to what has courageously suffered, as the value of the steel blade is in proportion to the tempering it has undergone.

Kissing.

A lady of experience gives advice on kissing to a younger lady friend, as follows: "Be frugal in your bestowals of kisses. In the first place I would kiss all my uncles, cousins, and brothers-in-law; then kiss their own wives and daughters; and I would not kiss the minister, or the doctor, or the lawyer who gets you a divorce." You see this lady understands her business, and does not let out the editor; he of all others should see these oscillatory attentions to lighten up the gloom; she's a jolly, sensible woman, with a heart in the right place.

The Darna canal, for connecting the ages and Agra canals, India, extends, including branches, to 625 miles in length, the distributory channels being 38 miles over all, and the area to be irrigated covers up to the present 1,182,000 acres. This great work was commenced about forty years ago, and is nearly completed.

Notice is hereby given that, in compliance with the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 3, 1878, entitled "An Act for the sale of Timber Lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," JOHN HENRY, of King county, Washington Territory, has this day filed in this office his application to purchase the s. e. q. of sec. 20, t. 20 n., r. 2 w., of the Willamette meridian.

WANTED.

A good Farm Hand who understands milking cows, or a girl who can do housework. Wages fair. Address at once, HALL DAVIS, Dungeness, W. T. June 9th.

PUGET SOUND ARGUS.

The Younger and the Elder Booth.

From an early age Edwin Booth was associated with his father in all the wanderings and strange and often sad adventures of that wayward man of genius...

The elder Booth was a short, spare, muscular man, with a splendid chest, a symmetrical Greek head, a pale countenance, a voice of wonderful compass and thrilling power, dark hair, and blue eyes...

The Utilization of Blood, Bones, Etc.

In our city abattoirs very little of a slaughtered animal is allowed to go to waste. The hoofs are sold for glue stock, and bring about 40 cents a set...

As to Wives.

It is only when a woman becomes a wife you can see her true character. Before this epoch she is so cramped in conventionalities that her very soul is kept covered up...

Possibly some of his over-weening conceit is thus laughed out of him, and he agrees to take his proper place as his wife's husband, giving up with a sigh the good old copybook and church-service mottoes about being her lord and master...

Women are not generally humorists; but they cannot help feeling the fun of the thing when they so successfully manage their husbands, who all the while think they are managing them.

THE LEADING SCIENTISTS OF TODAY agree that most diseases are caused by disordered kidneys or liver. If, therefore, the kidneys and liver are kept in perfect order, perfect health will be the result.

READ THE RECORD. "It saved my life." - E. B. Lakely, Selma, Ala. "It is the remedy that will cure the many diseases peculiar to women." - Mother's Magazine.
